We're in an awful mess --but you'll still enjoy shopping at Zeller's

The builders, painters, electricians, plasterers and plumbers are having a field day on our second floor. You will occasionally have to dodge a two-by-four carried by a carpenter - - - The continual banging and noise is distracting to our customers, we know - - - but if you will bear with us for just a couple of months all this mess will be cleaned up and out of it will emerge one of Canada's finest shopping centres.

It will have double the floor space, an escalator, air conditioning, new lighting, new show cases — everything new.

In the meantime we'll try to make your shopping in Zeller's as pleasant as possible - - - and as always give you value.

HAPPY REUNION — A quarter-century of separation ended in Edmonton for Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Butkovic, kept apart by debts, war and government regulations, when Mrs. Butkovic arrived from their native Yugoslavia. Mr. Butkovic is working in an oil refinery at Norman Wells, N.W.T. All the money he had when he first came to Canada in 1929 was used to pay debts and help support his wife and daughter in Yugoslavia. Mrs. Butkovic said she had no difficulty recognizing her husband. With them is their grandson, Jolip, who arrived with Mrs. Butkovic and whose mother felt would have a better future in Canada. The trio will settle in Norman Wells.—(CP Photo).

Mass-Producing New Type Gyroscope

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A new-type "floated" gyroscope, capable of such minute jobs as measuring off the width of a city block on the moon, is being mass-produced here.

The ultra-precision instrument, cylindrical and weighing less than three pounds, is claimed by engineers to be the most sensitive airborne implement ever devised.

Officially called the hermetic integrating gyro, the device is capable of detecting motion 3,000 times slower than the movement of the hour hand on a watch.

It was designed for the United States Air Force for use in automatic flight control systems for supersonic and pilotless aircraft, and for bombing and weapon-firing controls.

Engineers said today that the near-miracle performance is due to the fact that friction among moving parts has been cut almost to zero. This was accomplished by floating the gyro's delicate, jewel-mounted spin mechanism in a special oily fluid.

DUST AND GRAVEL

If a boy on a sled could reduce friction comparably, these experts said it would be possible for him to coast about 1,000 miles from a hill only one foot high.

So sensitive is the mechanism that one speck of dust weighing 1-1,000 of a gram would have the same effect as the dropping of a handful of gravel into an automobile transmission.

A spokesman for the producing company, Minneapolis - Honeywell Regulator Co., said "fantastic" was the only way to describe the small gyro's capabilities. For example:

If a man standing in Los Angeles could read a newspaper held up in New York, the instrument could detect the angle of change of his eyes as they travelled from the first column to the eighth.

THE POSTMAN WILL BE LATE—Frank Kalivoda looks at a snow-covered helicopter that was forced down by a heavy snowfall that hit Chicago. The helicopter was bringing mail into Chicago from the suburbs when it made a forced landing in a yard. The pilot, Edwin Packer, was uninjured and the craft was not damaged. The snow, which topped 12 inches, was the heaviest snowfall to hit the city since January of 1939.

Tasty Treaters Club Holds 7th Meeting

NORWOOD (ENS) — The seventh meeting of the Norwood Tasty Treaters Club was held at the home of Marie English on March 2. The treasurer, Colleen English, reported an account of $4.80.

The tea biscuits, which the members brought, were judged and commented on. Mrs. John Knox, took over the business section of the meeting, the main topic being "Home Table Service and Table Manners." Marie demonstrated a salmon loaf and the results were very satisfactory.

A meeting for March 9 was planned to be at Mrs. Knox's residence where the group are going to prepare a supper. The main dish in the menu will be meat pie with a biscuit top.

Mrs. English served lunch.

Three Canadian Destroyers To Visit Tokyo

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's three destroyers in the Far East will congregate at Tokyo for four days next week during Prime Minister St. Laurent's visit to the Japanese capital.

It will mark the first time three Canadian destroyers have called at Tokyo at one time. It also will be the first visit to Tokyo for the Haida, Cayuga and Crusader during their current tours of Korean duty.

Meanwhile the destroyer Huron is headed for Halifax via the Mediterranean after her second tour of duty. She is due on the east coast March 17.

Aboard as a passenger is a 30-year-old Canadian Army lieutenant, Bill Howe of Sudbury, who has completed a year-long Korean hitch with the 4th Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery. He is realizing a 14-year ambition to travel around the world.

Howe saw seven years' service with the navy during and after the Second World War before joining the army in 1950. At a leave centre in Seoul, he met one of Huron's officers, Lieut. George Schober of Toronto, and learned that the destroyer was going home by travelling west. He had reached Korea by sailing the Pacific.

Howe obtained the necessary approval to join Huron for the trip home.

Toronto Theatre $70,000 In Red

TORONTO (CP) — Melody Fair, Toronto's summer musical theatre went $70,000 into the red last year, general manager R. Stuart Lampard said Thursday.

Mr. Lampard said a new company will be formed in the hope of paying off the debts this summer. Shows will probably be moved indoors.

For the last three years shows have been staged arena-style in a big tent, first at Dufferin Park and later at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds.

Choir Disappears

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A massed junior farmers' choir assembled on the stage, the conductor raised his hand, there was a crash and part of the choir disappeared. Part of the stage at the Middlesex seed fair collapsed upsetting 50 choristers on tiered stands. A few members sustained bruises and Robert Buck suffered a sprained ankle.

Twenty For Tea! . . . Your last guest said goodbye less than an hour ago, yet you have dinner ready for the family. That's excellent organization . . . but most of all, it's the Heinz time-saving main-course dishes . . . the two delicious kinds of HEINZ COOKED SPAGHETTI and HEINZ COOKED MACARONI. With these four favourites you can prepare appetizing meals almost as fast as you can say, "Dinner will be ready soon!". What's more, you can make your food budget look pretty as a picture by serving Heinz Cooked Spaghetti and Macaroni a couple of times a week. They're every bit as delicious and nourishing—and popular with the family!—as more costly foods. One more thing I've learned from experience—stock up with several tins of these Heinz main-course dishes. It will save many a rushed trip to the stores.

When I Was A Little Girl and was bothered with symptoms of a chest cold, Mother would massage MENTHOLATUM into my throat, chest and back . . . then massage until my skin was glowing . . . cover my chest with a warm flannel cloth . . . tuck me in cosily . . . kiss my forehead, and tip-toe gently out. Oh! so comforting . . . Soon Mentholatum's medication would be helping to loosen tightness and ease soreness. Now I think of this when I use Mentholatum for my own children. Won't you send for a FREE GENEROUS SAMPLE of this fine product today? Write Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal.

Sing Irish Tunes

Mr. and Mrs. H. Barnard's group were in charge of the meeting of George St. United church Mr. and Mrs. Club Wednesday evening. The men donned green top hats and large bow ties and sang Irish folk tunes. Mr. S. Gilmore accompanied at the piano.

During the devotional, led by Mr. and Mrs. J. Weir, hymns were sung and a story read about how the season of "Lent" began.

Business concerned the tea held last month, and it was reported a great success. Mr. S. Bowman introduced two new members. Mr. Ron Gardiner showed colored slides and gave an interesting talk on the care of plants and shrubs. During intermission an "Irishman's" contest was held, and the prizes won by Mrs. W. Cleveland and Mr. S. Bowman. Delicious refreshments were served to 73 members. The Rev. Arnold Mathews pronounced benediction.

Czech Minister Challenges Protestant People

A great challenge to the Protestant people of Canada, and particularly to the people of Baptist churches, regarding the European immigration to Canada, was presented at the annual thankoffering meeting of the Mary Nicholls Mission Circle by the Rev. Mr. Zeman, of Toronto.

Mr. Zeman, who is minister at the Bethlehem Czechoslovakian Baptist Church, spoke with great feeling of concern for his fellow countrymen. He feels something should be done to maintain the Protestant faith in Canada. "Every Christian mother's conscience should be wakened regarding the living conditions of some of these people," he said.

"Everyone in Canada must be a missionary as God has brought pagan Europe to our doors. More prayer is needed," said Mr. Zeman, "but prayer is not enough. More personal contact with new Canadians is necessary." He suggested groups should sponsor some new Canadians at summer camps, giving them some insight into Christian living.

"We should be more selfish about Canada, and we have a right to protest against the type of imigrants which are being allowed into our country," he added.

Mr. Zeman was introduced by Miss Marjorie Stenton and thanked by Miss Mary Ellis.

Mrs. S. Malsch presided for the meeting with Mrs. H. Sellon and Mrs. A. H. Campbell taking the devotional. Mrs. S. Holmes delighted with a vocal solo, accompanied by Mrs. P. Johnson.

Guests present were from Gilmour Memorial, Lakefield, Norwood and Park St. churches and were entertained at tea following the meeting.

Corbett-McMahon

At the Immaculate Conception Roman Catholic church, on Tuesday morning, the Rev. J. G. Weis said the nuptial mass and performed the marriage of Mary Teresa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David McMahon and Kenneth Robert Corbett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Whatman, all of Peterborough.

The bride chose a suit of navy blue and matching navy and white accessories and carried a nosegay of white hyacinths and red roses. Her cousin Mrs. Earl Cumming was bridesmaid, wearing a powder blue suit and white accessories and carrying a nosegay of pink roses and white hyacinths.

Groomsman was Walter Woodhouse.

A reception followed at the groom's' home, 668 Hawley St.

The couple later left for Buffalo, the bride wearing a powder blue topcoat over her suit and a corsage of pink carantions.

They will live at 476 Driscoll Terrace after April 1st, and prior to that at 323 Simcoe Street.

Spring Footwear Colors Are New

Fashion interest in shoes this spring is four-fold. Major attention is focussed on: New leather colors—many never used in shoes before; lighter, tropical-weight leathers; the tapered toe and the open-look silhouette.

There are more than fifty leather colors in the new shoes, according to the official leather color chart. These include the harlequin shades of parakeet—a deep turquoise; tangerine—a hot orange; and coral—a pinky-orange.

In addition you'll find panama, butter yellow, white bark, a variety of pinks from the palest to the most shocking, a myriad of pastels from the off-whites through the banana to beige to tan family; reds and greens, mauves and purples, various tones of greys and blues into the gun metals and bronzes.

The coming of the shorter skirt has also had its effect on footwear fashions. First because it focusses more attention on the feet and, second, it brings about a need for more patterns with higher rising vamp interests.

This has been accomplished in many different silhouettes. In shoes with the open look for afternoon and evening we've seen many intriguing variations on this theme. One in stitched coral suede leather forms a tapered leaf design in assymetric vamp bands on a sandal with a sling back and slim stiletto heel.

Another in gun metal patent leather has a double peaked vamp trimmed with black bugle beads and rhinestones. Here, too, the slim heel and sling halter back line are highlighted. Still another version of the sling-back has a closed tapered toe front and a high vamp with standup buckle-like detail. This shoe in a pale honey-beige aniline calf has a gold nailhead trim.

Canada's population passed the 15,000,000 mark for the first time in December, 1953.

Institute Plans To Honor Two School Girls

KEENE (ENS)—The women's institute met in the Institute room on Wednesday evening with 29 members present. In the absence of the president, the first vice-president, Mrs. E. Anderson presided. The roll call was answered with 'What I like about the Institute'. Mrs. J. McFarlane reported on the meeting held in Peterborough to arrange for the exhibition exhibit. The theme for the exhibit is to be 'Lets have a Bazaar'. It was agreed that an exhibit should be entered again at the 1954 Peterborough Exhibition and the committee named to look after same was, H. Bidgood, Mrs. R. Frankish, Mrs. H. McPhee and Mrs. H. McFarlane. The ladies who donated articles to the 1953 exhibit were asked to bring them to the next meeting, so they can be in readiness for display at the district annual convention.

The name of the Keene Institute president has been accepted as a delegate to the conference in Guelph, May 6 and 7 next. Mrs. Charles Mather reported that a loose-leaf scrap book can be purchased at a cost of $2.50 for purpose of compiling a Tweedsmuir history, and permission was given for purchase of same.

Pink sheets containing a list of extension service subjects were distributed to each member. These are to be studied and returned at the April meeting, when a vote will be taken on the topic for the 1955 course. It was announced that the WI badges have arrived and are available to the members at a cost of $1.20 each.

The ladies named to cater for the next Lions' dinner were: Mrs. R. Wood, Mrs. H. Manley, Mrs. R. Frankish and Mrs. Wm. Drummond. It was decided that the nominating committee for the forthcoming election of officers be comprised of the old executive and that this committee be given authority to present the slate of officers at the April meeting.

It was agreed that the two young girls in the community, namely Janet Wilson and Isobel Irwin, should be remembered in some tangible way for their heroic acts in the saving from drowning of two smaller school girls. Mrs. H. Bidgood is to be in charge of the matter. A letter of resignation was read from the president, Mrs. M. Maloney. The meeting was turned over to Mrs. A. Eason and Mrs. R. Wood, conveners for community activities and public relations. Games of bingo were enjoyed and prizes awarded. Refreshments were served by the lunch committee, Mrs. Charles Mather, Mrs. F. Blackbourn, Mrs. E. Wilson and Mrs. P. Oke.

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL

A capacity crowd attended the meeting of Confederation Home and School Association on Tuesday evening, many of them not being able to have seats.

The feature was a play demonstrating family troubles in bringing up youth is this modern day. It was titled "The case of the missing hand shake," and was directed by Miss E. Carroll and Mr. G. Hagerman. Characterizations by Mrs. D. Watkins as the mother, Mrs. C. Jones as the father, Heather Powell as the daughter and Mrs. Harvey Sutton as a camp director were well portrayed.

Discussion on the play was led by Mrs. L. Raper, education convener of the Home and School Council.

Parents afterward visited the children's rooms to inspect their work.

President Mrs. Suttton presided for the business period. Principal Mr. J. Nichols spoke briefly on Education Week.

West Germany's Prospects Improve For Young Ladies

By MICHAEL WEIGALL

BONN (Reuters)—West German girls will soon find it easier to get married.

Statistics published here show there will soon be more men than women on the marriage market.

Every year since the war, during which Germany lost 3,250,000 men, more boys than girls have been born. In 1952, boys outnumbered girls by 14,000. Statistically speaking, 107.1 boys were born to every 100 girls.

Less than three years ago, West German girls still had poor prospects of getting married. Statistics showed that 1,362 girls had to choose from among only 1,000 men in each of the age groups 27 to 31—those worst hit by the war.

In 1951, taking all age groups over 20, there were nearly 18,000,000 women against 14,892,000 men in West Germany.

Officials of the families ministry say that it may be years before the new odds take effect. But they do predict that girls now reaching their teens can look forward to something of a field day when they reach marriageable age.

COUNTRY GIRLS HARD HIT

Until now, girls in outlying country villages have had to pay the heaviest price for the unequal distribution of the sexes. For it was the countryside which, proportionately, sent most young men to Hitler's war.

An added complication on the marriage market is the wish of many of the more than 4,000,000 war widows to remarry.

With 15.7-live births per 1,000 inhabitants, the birth rate has sunk well below the pre-war level of 19.6 in 1938. Officials say it has now reached "an alarmingly low" figure.

To meet this challenge, the government has set up a ministry to encourage larger families by economic inducements. But officials say that there is no intention of re-introducing the "mutter kreuze" (mothers' crosses) which were Hitler's special reward for large families.

ST. ANNE'S SCHOOL

The role of the public health nurse as a city service was outlined by Mrs. Charles Rowe, school nurse, at the meeting of St. Anne's Parent-Teacher Association this week. "Our aim is to help maintain good health in all stages of life. This is begun at the Well Baby Clinic, continues with supervision of health and health records for the school child, and geriatrics or health of the aged" she said.

Dr. John Neville, assistant MOH, explained to the parents points concerning the physical examination of the school child. He stressed the importance of making the child health-minded and how brief reminders for children soon become habits. Proper care of primary teeth was also emphasized.

Ways in which a parent can help the adolescent through his vital period of growth by encouraging his interest in sports and hobbies were pointed out by the doctor.

Mrs. Frank McCarthy thanked the two speakers. President Gordon Burns presided.

Attendance prizes were won by Miss English's kindergarten room and Sister Gervais' grades 4 and 5.

Lunch was served by Mrs. S. Lucas, Mrs. J. Russelle, Mrs. C. McNicholl Mrs. E. Allen and Mrs. N. Stover.

Luery-Patrick

Dunsford United church, scen of the wedding of Patricia Joan daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A Patrick of Dunsford, to Dougla Luery, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Luery of Stirling. The Rev. E. E Pugsley officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a redingote gown of white French lace over satin and carried pink Sweetheart roses and white hyacinth petals.

Mrs. John Stark of Ottawa was matron of honor and Miss Ailene Patrick, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, both dressed in claret and green irridescent taffeta and carried yellow 'mums and Princess Elizabeth roses.

Mr. Robert Luery of Stirling was groomsman, and ushers were John Stark of Ottawa and Douglas Bastedo of Stirling.

Miss Marilyn Taylor sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because" before the ceremony and during signing of the register.

The reception was held at the New Royal hotel at Lindsay. The bride's mother received in a navy dress with matching hat and pink accessories and corsage of pink carnations. Assisting was the groom's mother, in a grey two-piece dress with black accessories and corsage of Sweetheart roses and red garnets.

After their honeymoon the couple will live in Toronto.

Grandmothers and Young Housewives Prepare Join Search For Uranium

By PAULINE KENNEDY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Geiger counters in hand, grandmothers and young housewives may soon be tapping Canada's uranium and mineral wealth. They're preparing now with lessons in prospecting.

Prospecting classes, an annual feature of the Ontario department of mines since 1927, have increased attendance this year in all centres where they have been given. More women than ever before seem to be bent on chipping rocks, instructor Dr. W. D. Harding said.

Previously one or two women might stray in for a few lectures in the week-long series, but this year some centres have registered up to 10.

IN EIGHT CENTRES

Intensive courses in practical prospecting have so far been given in eight centres this year, ranging from Toronto to Blind River, Sudbury and Port Arthur.

Toronto had a record of 400 students, 17 of them women. Often as many as 30 women pour into evening classes, on an off-and-on basis, Dr. Harding said.

Provincial geologist Harding said the increased over-all attendance may be due to recent mineral strikes at Manitouwadge in northwestern Ontario.

"Everyone wants to get rich quick," he said.

Toronto women students won't admit to downright fortune hunting.

INVESTMENT ANGLE

A career girl, a tall blonde beauty who preferred to remain anonymous, admitted her interest in the course was purely from the investment angle. She is a Czechoslovakian who has been in Canada for eight years, has a master's degree in economics and works for a Toronto investment firm.

"The first part of investment is the prospecting, so I thought I should learn about it first hand," she said.

She plans a prospecting hunt next summer in northern Ontario.

Mrs. W. H. Higgins, a soon-to-be-grandmother, says she has been collecting rock specimens for years. The whole backyard of her home is littered with them. After years of agitation her husband finally gave her a prospector's pick for Christmas. Her side of the bargain was to take prospecting classes.

ACADEMIC INTEREST

Mrs. W. R. Collins, who has two grandchildren, said she has been vacationing in the Muskoka region for 10 years and is getting an inferiority complex because she can't tell one rock from another.

Another student, Mrs. Kathleen Huggett is taking the course so she can relay the information to her husband who hasn't time for classes.

"We have 400 acres of pure rock in Muskoka," she said, "and who knows what might be hidden there?"

A grandmother five times over, Mrs. L. Hope said: "I just want to refresh my mind with something else besides housework. I need something fascinating to think about."

She's going to do her prospecting from the air. She often flies over northern Ontario with her son, a forestry engineer at Haileybury. She plans to take a pair of strong binoculars along to see if she can spot some interesting rock formations.

DOROTHY DIX

Girl And Her Two Beaux She Is Quite Undecided

DEAR MISS DIX: Since I am 26 years old, you may think I should be able to handle my own problem—but this one has me stumped. It's simply that I don't know which of two men I love.

Last summer I met Michael, who appealed to me very much. He had every quality a girl could want in a husband, but he is Italian and I have heard that men of that nationality are very fickle. Other than that, he's A1.

Rob came into my life just recently. My girl friend has known him for some time, and was determined to have us meet. He's a very nice young man, and I know he would always be reliable. He has been married before and knows just what the responsibilities of marriage are. I really can't make up my mind between the two men, and I must decide soon. Fay.

IS SHE IN LOVE?

ANSWER: Some people seem to make life a very simple matter. By attributing definite qualities to certain races or nationalities, they figure all personal quotients are solved. This is a fallacy that is far from fact. Stop and consider a moment. Have you ever known fickle men who weren't Italian? You bet your life you have. In fact, your Rob, with a broken marriage behind him, is much more likely to be an offender in that department.

No, dear Fay, I'm afraid you'll have to decide between your beaux on other grounds. The one you've chosen is most undependable.

The probability is that you're not in love with either man. Each has qualities that appeal to you; each has characteristics that aren't harmonious? I suggest that you keep both as friends, for a while, and see if the decision doesn't come of its own accord. See other men, too, and perhaps your dreamboat will arrive — a third party. But do rid yourself of any notions based on such vague ideas as ancestry being responsible for capriciousness.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 49, the mother of three married children. My husband and I have been happy and devoted for 30 years—until he had an affair with another woman. He talked about divorce, but suddenly realized what a fool he was, said he was sorry, and is trying to make it up to me. What should I do?

Ina.

ANSWER: Get down on your knees and thank God your husband was returned. The man has confessed to you, is contrite, and making amends. The slate of the past can't be wiped clean, but it needn't break up the rest of your life.

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 15 years old and going with a boy the same age. Recently he asked me to go to his house to meet his parents. I managed an excuse, and he hasn't asked me again. We argue about this frequently because I think I'm too young to go to his house.

ANSWER: The boy couldn't give you a more gracious compliment than inviting you to his home to meet his folks. You were foolish to turn him down. I think you should apologize, and hope for another chance. Conscientious parents are always anxious to know the company kept by their young. Extending hospitality to you is certainly preferable to refusing to let their son date you, isn't it?

TWO CREATIONS BY DIO: "Nuit de Versailles" (left) in navy faille shown at a recent fashion luncheon in Montreal. The neckline is a more glamorous adaptation of the halter. "Slashings" borrowed from medieval fashions gave the skirt extra billow and fullness. The other called "Tour du Monde" is of dark gray pin-striped flannel with wide-collared jacket that covers a cocktail dress.

Readers' Friday Column By Mary Moore

QUESTION: May I have your instructions for party sandwiches such as checkerboard, ribbon, etc. and open-face sandwiches . . . Mrs. Stanley W.

ANSWER: I have mailed you the release on canapes and one with rainbow sandwiches.

CHECKERBOARD SANDWICHES

(1) Trim crusts from thinly sliced white and whole wheat bread (or use unsliced bread and slice it thin lengthwise. Put 4 square slices together, alternating white and whole wheat having spread them with (2) Tart Butter: Mix ½ cup butter with 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley and a dash of red pepper. Wrap this 4-slice square in wax paper then in slightly damp cloth and refrigerate until cold. Now slice in ¼-inch slices and spread sides of slices with same spread. Put 4 slices together again, alternating white edges with whole wheat edges. (3) Wrap in wax paper, damp cloth, and refrigerate again. Chill well. Slice in ¼-inch slices. Serve with tea or on assorted sandwich plate.

QUESTION: I am a faithful reader and as my husband is a cook, we both enjoy reading your recipes and discusing them . . . my problem really isn't in the cooking line but still I thought you might help me. Do you know any good methods for bleaching the letters out of sugar and flour bags? I can never get them to suit me. I washed some recently and then boiled them with both Javex and detergent in the water and although the bag comes white the letters don't come out to suit me.—Mrs. Helen S.

ANSWER: Because the contents of sugar and flour bags are edible the Food and Drug Act requires that the printing dyes be fast. The chemist at one of our local laundries tells me sometimes they can "strip" the dye out of bags and sometimes it is so fast it never comes out. When a garment is to be redyed another color they use tiranus chloride, but this is imported from New York and is expensive. Keep on washing and boiling the bags, but don't use too much bleach or you will weaken the cloth.

QUESTION: My problem I think is unusual. A friend of ours had a prize sheep killed by dogs, and although the animal was badly mauled, the front quarters were untouched. As this was in very cold weather and the carcass was frozen solid it was easly to see the undamaged areas. So our friend dragged the carcass to the garage and with saw used for cutting wood, cut off the front quarter. He brought the meat to us, skin and all on, frozen. We have skinned and butchered it into chops and roasts, but they are ¾ fat and very large portions. I have cooked the pieces slowly and rendered out the fat and the meat has been of an exceptionally sweet, tender quality. I have 8 to 10 cans of fat varying from 28 to 15 ounces and don't know what I can use it for . . . it doesn't make good gravy . . . I have already scraped, stretched, washed and cleansed, beaten and oiled the skin and expect to make a pair of ski socks from the hide with the soft leather soles. Let me inform anyone thinking of doing this that it is a messy, smelly, tedious job and not worth the effort. It would be easier to process it for a chamois to wash the car, which is much different than trying to retain the wool on the skin. I make use of many of your recipes.—Irene L.

ANSWER: Your description was so graphic I could just see you struggling with that sheepskin. Make soap, my friend. I have sent you a very detailed recipe.

QUESTION: Would you spare me a moment to tell me what happened to this recipe . . . it does not call for shortening and rather than experiment leaving it out I risked ⅓ cup margarine. The finished product held together but the chocolate bits fell.—Virginia.

ANSWER: The recipe is fine—it was the additional margarine that made the chocolate bits sink. But do beat the eggs longer than 2 minutes—more like four. This is much like a sponge cake. The nuts in it do make it a delicate party cookie as you say.

6—In Memoriam

BURNS—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Ralph G. Burns, who passed away suddenly March 5th, 1950.
Quickly and sadly came the call,
His sudden death surprised us all.
Only a few saw you suffer,
Only a few saw you die,
But you left many aching hearts,
Without even saying goodbye.
Every day brings sweet memories,
Every memory brings a tear,
Deep within our hearts we carry
Thoughts of one we loved so dear.
—Sadly missed by wife Olive and sons Gordon and Douglas.

HEWETT—In loving memory of a devoted husband and father, Cecil Douglas Hewett, who died March 8th, 1950.
—Wife and children.

McGEE—In loving memory of Andrew McGee, who passed away March 5, 1953.
Oh what would I give to clasp your hand,
Your dear kind face to see,
Your loving smile, your loving voice
That meant so much to me.
No one knows the silent heartache,
Only those who have such can tell
Of the grief that is borne in silence
For the one I loved so well.
—Ever remembered by his wife, daughter and son-in-law.

MEEHAN — In loving memory of a dear son, Kenneth Ross Meehan, killed in action March 5, 1945; buried in Netjmegen, Holland.
Our thoughts wander as daylight fades
To the land of long ago,
And memory paints the scenes of old
In the gold of the twilight glow.
We seem to see in the soft dim light
A face we loved the best;
And think of him when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the far-off west.
—Mother and John.

RUSAW—In loving memory of Mrs. L. Rusaw, who passed away March 5, 1953.
Eternal rest grant unto her O Lord,
And let perpetual light shine upon her,
May she rest in peace. Amen.
—Ever remembered by her daughter Jean and family.

7—Card of Thanks

I wish to take the opportunity to thank doctors and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital for kind attention; also friends for their thoughtfulness in sending cards, flowers, etc. Rev Patterson and the WA of Mark St. Church, the management and staff of Trent Valley Bakery.—Jack Donaldson, 384 Welch St.

The Rev. Ernest E. Pugsley of Dunsford, desires to express his deep gratitude to brother ministers of all churches and to the many friends of present and former charges for their many deeds of kindness of word and deed at the time of his recent bereavement. God bless you all for your kindness.

Warkworth People Honor Newlyweds

WARKWORTH (ENS) — The Rev. T. E. Kennedy, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, was master of ceremonies for a program in the town hall, when a large representation of community friends assembled to honor Mr. and Mrs. Don Weatherson (nee Wylanne Hermiston) with a presentation party in honor of their recent marriage.

The program opened with "O Canada", with Garth Allen as pianist. Linda Nelson of Dartford gave a piano solo and Misses Lois Fowler and Marlene Wartman, played a piano duet. Miss Ruth McCubbin and Miss Eleanor Calder each sang a solo, with Miss Feren Killingbeck as piano accompanist. Miss Marjorie Honey gave an appropriate humorous reading.

The high school orchestra presented several numbers. The orchestra leader was Billy Isaac and Ferne Killingbeck, pianist. Other members were Bill Ward, Peter Morgan, Don Phillips, Garth Allen, Edward Thompson and Sylvia Wigmore.

A balloon stunt was conducted by Billie Isaac and Garth Allen, with Mrs. Norman McCleary, George Potter and W. F. Buckley taking part. Misses Ida and Clarice Honey sang a duet. Miss Ferne Killingbeck was piano accompanist.

An address expressing congratulations and best wishes to the honored couple was read by A. B. O'Connor, manager of the local Royal Bank with whom the bride and groom had been employed.

A walnut china cabinet was presented by Kenneth Menzie and Edward Thompson, a walnut console table by Garth Allen and Billie Isaac and an end table and purse of money by Betty Brenton, on behalf of the community. A smoker's stand was presented by Jean Allen on behalf of the charivari party, who had serenaded them a few nights previously. The groom replied on behalf of his bride and himself. All joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows".

The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Weatherson are now living in Odessa, where the groom is employed as a bank clerk.

Euchre Party Held In Parish Hall

DONALDA (ENS) — Eight tables of euchre were played at St. Mark's, parish hall Monday night. There will not be any more card parties during the Lenten season.

Mrs. Melbourne Martin held the highest score for the ladies and Mrs. William Neal, playing as a gent, held the highest for the men. Mr. Wagg of Springbrook won the door prize.

Farmers Near

residents who work in other municipalities pay taxes on their residence only, and have the same educational opportunities, while the share of business tax, which may by paid indirectly for them by their employer in business tax, goes to support a much more elaborate school system in another municipality. In many small municipalities too, there is no business tax collected on other businesses than farming.

We think the money for educational purposes could be more fairly collected in all municipalities by having an equal fee charged against each dwelling unit, and have no share of business taxes earmarked for educational purposes in the municipality."

Martha Graham Confounds Press Critics

LONDON (AP) — Martha Graham, known in the United States as high priestess of modern dance, made her first London appearance this week and confounded the critics. Most of them admitted they didn't know what it was all about.

The audience was enthusiastic—10 curtain calls at the end—but The Daily Mail, which called Miss Graham the "Picasso of dancing," was inclined to blame that on "the large American contingent" in the house.

The Daily Express critic, however, applauded Miss Graham's intricate and symbolistic dances, all of them explorations into the human emotions.

The Daily Telegraph sounded the dominant newspaper note of bewilderment.

SYMBOLISM ELUSIVE

"There was no doubt of the earnest intention of the evening's entertainment," The Telegraph wrote, "but the precise significance of the symbolism remained obstinately elusive."

Said The Daily Herald critic: "I saw vitality, but beauty—never."

The Times complained that Miss Graham's themes are all so sad and tragic. And pointing out that Miss Graham and her company danced in bare feet, The Times said:

"The re-entrant big toe, though an honorable member of that extraordinary efficient piece of engineering, the human foot, is not in itself an object of contemplative delight."

Search Started For U.S. Plane

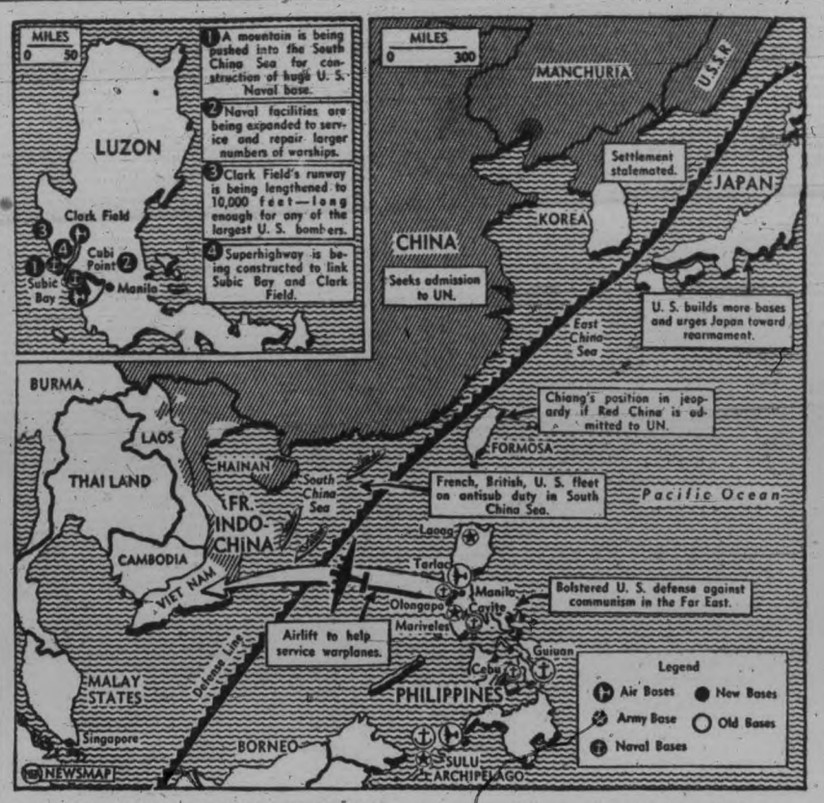
NICE, France (AP) — A broad search was pressed over the Ligurian sea and the French Alps today for a United States air force C-47, missing with 20 men on a flight from Rome to Germany.

USAF headquarters at Wiesbaden, Germany, said the C-47, whose flight was believed to have originated in North Africa, carried a crew of four and 16 passengers.

Want Finance Deepen Harbor

WASHINGTON (AP)—Money to deepen Buffalo, N. Y., harbor was urgently requested Thursday by three Niagara frontier congressmen.

Representatives John Pillion, William Miller and Edmund Radwan, New York Republicans, told a Senate appropriations sub-committee the work should be started immediately to enable Buffalo to accommodate the shipping that will move the St. Lawrence seaway when it is built.



They said in a joint statement "it is reasonable to assume" the seaway will be completed in 1961 whether or not the United States participates in building it.

The statement said present authorizations provide for a general deepening of the harbor to 22 feet with earth bottom and 23 feet in rock, with small areas being deepened to 25 and 26 feet.

"The estimated cost to complete these projects is $11,953,800. The Niagara frontier is in dire need to have this project completed by 1961. This would mean an annual appropriation of two million dollars."

Publication Record Holds

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—A 104-year-old record at the Savannah Morning News was jeopardized Thursday night, but a slow auxiliary press finally got the situation well in hand. A fire in the press room put the paper's presses out of commission shortly before midnight and endangered The Morning News' record of daily publication without interruption since 1850. But hearty efforts by employees put the auxiliary press into action.

PHILLIPINES ANCHOR FREE NATIONS' DEFENCE CHAIN—Above Newsmap shows strategic situation in the Far East and how the U.S. is planning to use the Philippine Islands to bolster its defence pattern against Communism in Asia. Not only are American air and naval facilities growing in the western Pacific defence chain but a strategic supply centre is also being developed for nations battling Red aggression. Insert map shows portion of the Philippine Islands where facilities are now being rapidly expanded by U.S. military forces. According to military technicians, if the Communists move further into southeast Asia, these Philippine bases may be the nearest ones left from which anti-Communist fighters can be supported.

Parking Signs Change May Ease Problem

The problem of parking school buses for PCVS pupils may be solved if a recommendation of the board of education's supervision committee is accepted.

After consulting Acting Chief John Naples board officials have come up with this tentative plan:

Change the "no parking" side of Murray St. from the south to the north side of the street. This means that ordinary traffic would park on the south side of the street only, and the buses could pull into the north curb.

Pupils wouldn't have to cross Murray St. if this plan was adopted.

Entrance would be from the east, that is from George St.

The board as a whole must still approve the plan and the next step would be the approval of the city's traffic committee.

Stop Gofrey's Certificate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board decided today to suspend Arthur Godfrey's pilot certificate for six months, effective March 16, as a penalty for careless flying at Teterboro, N. J., airport Jan. 7.

The action came in the form of a recommended decision by C. A. B. safety examiner Albert H. Ruppar. Godfrey has the right of appeal, but a recommended decision by a safety examiner customarily is adopted by the board as its own decision.

The recommended penalty was surprisingly severe in view of the fact that the Civil Aeronautics Administration had asked for a suspension of "at least 30 days."

Jews Rap Girls' Service

JERUSALEM (AP)—Ultra-orthodox Jews held protest meetings in synagogues Thursday night against the national service law for women. Later, demonstrators marched in the streets and seven persons were arrested after a scuffle with police. The law conscripts girls for service in the army, hospitals, and immigrant camps. It has been bitterly opposed by some groups as contrary to Jewish religious tradition.

Attempt Delay Dairy Bill

TORONTO (CP) — Four dairy manufacturing and processing associations today appealed to the Ontario legislature's agriculture committee to postpone passage of the new dairy stabilization Act until the next session.

Earl Drope, a member of the legislative committee of the Ontario Creameries' Association which made a separate appeal, said the legislation "just might legislate us out of business."

"We find the more we look at the bill the more we find out about it."

In presenting the manufacturer's brief, Lyle Chapple, vice-president of the Ontario Milk Distributors' Association, appealed for more time to study the legislation.

The brief said copies of the bill, given first reading in the House Feb. 26, were not available to the four groups until last Wednesday.

RADICAL IMPACT

"Such brief perusal, however, convinces us that the proposed legislation is of very great importance and that enactment thereof would have far reaching consequences of a provincial, national and international character. Furthermore, it would have a radical and as yet undetermined impact on the interest of milk and cream patrons, manufacturers and processors, and consumers."

Hope To Tell

Clotilde There will be daily, half-hour radio broadcasts featuring speakers, panel groups and musical numbers. And there will be special emphasis on the importance of Education Week in the schools.

"In this modern age of television, jet planes, and atomic power, education is a vital force," said Sister Clotilde. "If we are to meet the demands of our age and produce wise leaders, we must educate our youth to become well-developed individuals. The whole man — spiritual, intellectual and physical—must be cultivated so that in each a well-rounded personality may develop. Our educational philosophy must be soundly based on unchanging principles and ultimate values.

Two observations on education were then made by Sister Clotilde:

"1. We are sending our young people out into a world which offers ever-increasing leisure time. It is essential that that leisure time be used profitably. They must learn to read, to think, to appreciate moments of silence and reflection.

"2. We are a growing nation and are welcoming to the shores of our great country newcomers from many lands. It is essential that they learn to know and love the history of their lands, the nature of their culture, if we are to understand these people and help them to become happy, well-adjusted Canadian citizens . . ."

Sister Clotilde said that there is much criticism today of the present curriculum, methods of education, and of teen-agers. Much of the criticism is helpful, she said, and should stimulate, not discourage, teachers.

"It is inspiring to work with our teen-age group. The teacher of English, the directors of various extra-curricular activities cannot but be impressed and encouraged by the eager response of our youth to beauty, to truth. Their honest and swift recognition and admission of true values, their scorn of the false and artificial are heart-warming. Their minds are grave as well as gay. Their courtesy and their frankness are genuine.

"We must have great faith in them. They need and welcome our guidance and assistance; but they seek and need our confidence in their endeavours."

Miss Betty Lapp, a pupil of St. Cecilia's school of music, gave a piano solo. Four uniformed Sea Cadets served as ushers: Brian Philcox, Joseph Murdock, John Martyn and Campbell Rowatt.

Measure Berlin Conference By What Happens April 26

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

MOSCOW (AP) — Foreign Minister Molotov today said results of the Berlin conference will be measured solely by what happens when the Big Four meet April 26 with Communist China and other powers at Geneva to discuss peace in Asia.

In a 7,500-word report on the Berlin talks, which ended 15 days ago, Molotov reiterated Soviet charges that Western defence preparations point to a third world war. He blamed the United States, Britain and France for East-West disagreements that remain unsolved.

The statement, played up in all Moscow newspapers and broadcast by Moscow radio, criticized State Secretary Dulles of the U. S. for making speeches about the conference "representing himself as a zealous champion of the freedom of peoples and the champion of free elections."

Molotov added: "Certain defenders of freedom like such freedom as gives exploiters and militarists a free hand and a life of plenty, while the laboring people live under the constant shadow of war and fresh annihilation."

Molotov said the Berlin conference was worth while because it aired various world questions and cleared the road to the Geneva parley—"of definite international significance"—on Korea and Indo-China.

On this first anniversary of Stalin's death, the Soviet foreign minister also took occasion to say in his statement:

1. U.S. claims to world leadership "are naturally groundless," American bases abroad are directed against the Soviet Union and the American position-of-strength policy means preparing for another war.

2. The fate of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will be no better than the fate of "the well-known anti-comintern pact, concluded in 1937 by Hitler Germany, militarist Japan and fascist Italy.

(Molotov made no mention of the 10-year non-aggression pact he himself signed with Hitler Germany in 1939. It went down the drain in 1941 when Germany invaded the Soviet Union.)

3. The project European Defence Community, which would line up West German troops with those of five other west European countries, blocks German unity, harbors "the revival of German militarism" and "to follow this path means to embark on preparation of another war in Europe, which leads to a third world war."

4. France, a prospective EDC partner, "is grossly undermining the very foundations of the French-Soviet treaty of 1944, which is intended to prevent fresh aggression on the part of German militarism."

Making Unfair Profit On Milk Sales

TORONTO (CP)—J. F. Edwards, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario legislature for Perth charged today that Toronto restaurants were making "an unfair profit" on milk sales.

He told members of the legislature's agriculture committee that the restaurants were selling a glass of milk for 15 cents while in his town of Palmerston it was sold for seven cents. "Now that's away out of line . . . that's unfair profit," he said.

The charge arose when Albert Wren (Lib-Lab—Kenora) wondered if a maximum price could not be set on the price of milk sold by the glass.

T. L. Kennedy (PC—Peel) said it would be a difficult thing to do.

"The liquor board does it," said Mr Wren.

"Yes, but it hasn't the same kick," replied Mr. Kennedy.

Nurses Witness Electrocution

COLUMBIA, S. C. (CP) — Two men died today on the state penitentiary electric chair in a double execution witnessed by 63 student nurses from the nearby state hospitals.

Several of the girls cried as they watched the electrocutions and one male witness fainted.

Lander Gantt, 31, and Shelton Gainey, 24, were executed for the murder of a taxi driver.

Hospital officials said the nurses attended because of "an unusual interest in the sociological aspects of community life."

Henry Gerald Higgins

The Rev. F. G. Ongley of St. John's Anglican church conducted the funeral service from Nisbett's funeral home Monday for Henry Gerald Higgins, Chemong Park. He died at his residence on Saturday. Pallbearers were Mr. Higgin's fellow employees at the DeLaval Company. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

RoK Army Trimmed

SEOUL (AP)—The Republic of Korea Army will discharge about 100,000 troops this year and put them in a reserve corps, defence authorities disclosed today. The army chief of staff, Gen. Chung Il Kwon, and the defence committee of the National Assembly have agreed to discharge 7,000 soldiers monthly from April.

Woman, 71, Set Afire

BARI, Italy (AP)—A band of boys showered a 71-year-old woman with firecrackers and flaming paper and set her afire Thursday night in her home. Mrs. Annunziata Vericelli, drove out the boys, but fell in the chase and broke a leg. She rolled on the floor to put out the flames in her clothing and that set the house afire. Neighbors rescued her in critical condition.

To Visit Washington

LONDON (AP) — Air Chief Marshal Sir William Dickson, chief of air staff, will fly to Washington Saturday for talks with senior American air officers on co-operation between the United States strategil air command and the RAF.

All By Himself?

LYN (CP)— Members of the congregation of Lyn United church honored Harvey Dunster Thursday night for not missing a Sunday at church since he was three weeks old. They presented him with a gold pin. Harvey is now 14 months old.

Food, Fuel Short As Winter Batters Turkey

By GERALD LONG

ANKARA (Reuters) — Turkey's worst winter in 25 years brought shortages of food and fuel and the spectacle of hungry wolves prowling the outskirts of Ankara near the presidential palace.

In Istanbul, the acute shortage of fuel took precedence over all other news, including the Berlin Big Four conference, on the front pages of the city's newspapers.

Queues of shivering Turks formed every day in front of the woodmen's yards in the hope that trucks would arrive with wood from the forests. Coke and coal were scarce.

The shortage of fuel for bakeries threatened Istanbul with a bread shortage.

MEAT TRAINS OFF

The harsh winter in Anatolia resulted in the cancellation of 15 trains a week which brought meat from Asiatic Turkey. As a result the price of mutton doubled.

Fahrettin Kerim Gokay, the mayor of Istanbul, appealed to his fellow-citizens not to attempt to hoard fuel and to eat meat only twice a week.

The newspapers were filled with bitter attacks on the city council. One cartoon showed the mayor trying to heat an enormous cauldron, marked "Istanbul," with a tiny candle held six feet below.

Wolves, also short of food, roved in packs close to the cities. Three men disappeared from a village within 25 miles of Istanbul and presumably were killed by wolves. The only trace found was the coat of one of them, ripped to shreds.

9 Months Jail For Receiving

TORONTO (CP)—Terence Smith, 21, of Rosebank was sent to jail Thursday on a charge of receiving a $3,000 mink coat he said he thought was muskrat.

Magistrate T. S. Elmore sentenced him to nine months definite and three months indeterminate.

Smith said he bought the coat from a man in a pool room for $20. He sold it to a woman who also thought it was muskrat and who took it to a fur shop for alterations.

Police said the mink coat had been identified as that stolen from the car of Mrs. William Pride of St. David's, Feb. 21.

Suggest Lack Finance Housing Bill

Opposition Critical Of Government Construction Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — The opposition suggests money may be lacking to finance home construction under the government's new housing bill.

The suggestion was advanced Friday by Donald Fleming (PC—Eglinton) during clause-by-clause study of the government's new housing bill. He noted that the government will withdraw from the lending field and the chartered banks take over. But, he said, the banks aren't enthusiastic about it.

Criticism also was offered by CCF and Social Credit spokesmen as the bill faced its first test in the Commons since detailed examination by its banking committee. The committee heard witnesses from banking, mortgage lending and housing fields.

Mr. Fleming said the expected value of the new bill has been exaggerated. It was cruel to raise the hopes of those anxious to own a home.

Alistair Stewart (CCF—Winnipeg North) described the bill as a "shabby piece of wool" pulled over the eyes of Canadians by the government.

C. E. Johnston (SC—Bow River) agreed with Mr. Stewart's charge that half the population — those earning less than $3,000 a year—will get no benefit from the bill.

The bill would lower down payments and lengthen the time in which a morggage must be paid off.

TWO-FOLD PURPOSE

Mr. Fleming said the bill's purpose is two-fold—to maintain and possibly increase home construction and to make it possible for more Canadians to own homes.

Income And Outcome

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — The internal revenue office has sent back the calendar a taxpayer sent in instead of an income tax report. On the 1953 calendar, day by day, were notations like these: "Hauled wood—$5, feed for horse—$5, fishing today—no work." Officials urged the man of good intent to file an ordinary return.

Asia Won't Turn Communist Says St. Laurent

MANILA (CP)—Canadian prime minister St. Laurent said here today: "I don't think the people of Asia ever will be Communist."

"Happy people are not interested in communism—the people of Asia are naturally happy, and they have opportunity for future happiness."

The 72-year-old prime minister looked fresh as he stepped down from the special RCAF C-5 plane which brought him here from Jakarta, Indonesia on his world tour.

He shook hands with the chiefs of missions of the foreign diplomatic corps, members of the Philippines government led by foreign undersecretary Leon Guerrero, and spoke to members of the Canadian community here.

The prime minister will be only overnight in the Philippines. Sunday he takes off for Seoul, where he will visit the Canadian infantry brigade in Korea, and then will go to Japan for a visit with the Emperor before flying home via Honolulu and San Francisco.

Hewound up a whirlwind visit to Java this morning when he took off from Jakarta after a brief stay as guest of President Soekarno of Indonesia.

Unionists Apply Decertification

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—A Company official said Friday that a large majority of workers employed at the Nesbitt - Labine mine in Saskatchewan's northwestern Beaveridge uranium area for the third time have applied for decertification of the leftist union there.

William Norgrove, company accountant, said 46 of 55 mine employees are covered by the International Union of Mine, mill and Smelter Workers of America (Ind).

"Of these, 96 per cent have signed an application for decertification and wish no link with communism through this Communist-sponsored union," Mr. Norgrove said.

He said the Saskatchewan labor relations board considered the case this week and adjourned it until April.

One Other Injured In Collision Brantford Crossing

BRANTFORD (CP)—Two persons were killed today and two died later in hospital after their car was struck by a Canadian National Railways passenger flier as they set out on a trans-continental motor trip to Vancouver. Another occupant of the car was injured. Dead are Olga Camulak, 19, of Vancouver, Walter Wusyk, 26, William G. Jackson, 22, and Rudy Tokash, 22. The latter three all are from Toronto though papers on Jackson and Tokash showed they had lived in Edmonton.

Ambulance crews, police and railwaymen worked for more than an hour with blow torches, hacksaws and crowbars before all the victims were removed from the crumpled wreckage of the 1948, two-door coupe which Jackson bought in Vancouver last month. The car bore British Columbia licence plate A-9460.

DESTINATION B.C.

Wusyk and Miss Chamulak were killed when the flyer struck the car and carried it 150 yards down the track. Jackson and Tokash died later in hospital.

Severely injured was Andrew Lucyk, identified as from Edmonton. Hospital authorities said his condition is "only fair."

Rescuers said the crumpled car in which the five were setting out on a trip to Vancouver, was "welded" to the front of the locomotive by the force of the impact.

Firemen were on the scene with an ambulance within five minutes of the emergency call—about 15 minutes after the crash. They worked for more than an hour to free the dead and injured.

First removed was Jackson, whom police said was in the driver's seat on the side of the car away from the train. He was out in 10 minutes and taken to hospital where he died an hour later.

Miss Chamulak was the second taken from the car. She had been sitting in the front seat, police said, and was pinned by the smashed dashboard. So severe was the im-

Egypt To Elect Assembly Of 250 Members

By ROBERT B. HEWETT

CAIRO (AP)—Egyptians are to elect a constituent assembly in July. This step toward restoring the Nile nation's parliamentary life was announced by the reunited military regime Friday night.

It promised also to end local press censorship immediately, except for defence matters, and to wipe out the martial law instituted when King Farouk was deposed and exiled in 1952.

The 250-member constituent assembly, to draft a constitution and serve as an interim parliament, will be inaugurated July 23, the second anniversary of the start of the bloodless coup that dethroned Farouk.

These decisions were reached by the 12-man Revolutionary Council in consultation with two of Egypt's

Found Guilty Of Negligence

VICTORIA (CP) — A royal commission has found the three-man British Columbia power commission guilty of negligence in failing to take steps to avert a landslide that smashed a multi-million dollar power project in B.C.

Cleared of blame was H. G. Acres and Co. of Niagara Falls, Ont., consulting engineers who helped plan the project. Engineering advice on which the commission had acted in building the plant was "sound," the report, tabled in the legislature Friday, said.

Supreme Court Justice J. V. Clyne said in the report that the commission and its chief engineer were "negligent in failing to take reasonable steps" to prevent the danger of the slide at Whatshan, 250 miles east of Vancouver.

Two mudslides last August crashed down on the $5,800,000 Whatshan power project on the Lower Arrow lakes, causing damage unofficially estimated at more than $1,000,000. Work of clearing tons of mud from the site still is under way.

Contempt Action Against Strikers

NEW YORK (AP) — National Labor Relations Board officials today studied a possible contempt action against wildcat longshore strikers, defying a federal no-walkout order.

The strikers, members of the now - independent International Longshoremen's Association, (ILA) quit work Friday and quickly brought loading and unloading operations to a halt at about half of the port's 159 piers.

ILA president William B. Bradley and other union officials said they will try to get the strikers back to work.

The walkout is the latest phase in the continuing struggle between the ILA and the AFL, a struggle that has brought a number of brief work stoppages to the port of New York.

SHOWDOWN SEEN

Some waterfront observers sensed in this walkout the long-awaited showdown between the ILA and the federation.

A dispute involving the ILA on the one hand, and the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters (IBT) and the AFL International Longshoremen's Assn. (AFL-ILA), on the other, resulted Thursday in the NLRB going to federal court for an injunction against ILA strikes or activities interfering with normal waterfront loading activities.

ILA officials called this discrimination and said the court order should have covered the AFL unions as well. The officials said they had not authorized a protest walkout, but Friday the ILA dockers refused to work.

"You can blame the NLRB for giving us a dirty deal," an unidentified ILA officer said. "The AFL started this business and the NLRB lowered the boom on us."

Friday night the New York Shipping Association, an employers' group of 170 shipping and stevedoring firms, criticized the NLRB in telegrams to President Eisenhower and the governors and other officials of New York and New Jersey.

Concerned At U.S. Policy

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—There is uneasiness in Canada's capital concerning United States defence policy. This uneasiness springs mainly from the recent "retaliate instantly" speech of John Foster Dulles, U.S. secretary of state. Canadian officials say they are still trying to figure out exacty what Mr. Dulles meant. They added that this should not be surprising because the Americans themselves are apparently still trying to figure it out, too. The chief questions in Ottawa are: Would the U.S. be prepared to "go it alone" under certain circumstances of aggression? And before the U.S. took any action, would Canada and other U.S. allies be consulted?

Canada was not consulted before Mr. Dulles made his New York speech Jan. 12 in which he said:

"The way to deter aggression is for the free community to be willing and able to respond vigorously at places and with means of its own choosing. . . .

"The basic decision (of President Eisenhower and his advisers) was to depend primarily upon a great capacity to retaliate, instantly, by means and at places of our choosing."

CANADA INVOLVED

The "free community" presumably would include Canada and other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. But officials here asked, would they be consulted, or how could they, if the U.S. decided to "retaliate instantly?"

For instance, if the Chinese sent troops to help the Communists in Indo-China and the U.S. decided to retaliate instantly with an attack on Russia, other NATO countries might be unwilling to go along with such a decision.

Certainly Canada would want to be consulted about any action that would result in a major war.

In discussing the so-called "new look" of U.S. defence policy, officials here do not see any major change.

During the regime of President Truman, the U.S. followed a policy of containment of communism or periphery defence. In the Ottawa view, this policy has not been abandoned but [illegible] emphasis to creation of a strategic reserve in the U.S. which could be moved quickly to any theatre as well as a buildup of the strategic bombing force as a deterrent to war.

Drew Asks Protection For Western Gas Market

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition leader Drew Friday asked the government to promise that western gas will not be frozen out of the Ontario market by constuction of a Niagara-Toronto pipeline. Acting Prime Minister Howe agreed that nothing should jeopardize the all-Canadian gas pipe line but that the government couldn't give such a promise on technical grounds.

The exchange came in debate on a bill to incorporate Niagara Gas Transmission, Ltd., which proposes to build a gas pipeline from Niagara Falls, Ont., to the Toronto area. Mr. Howe adjourned the debate, which probably will be resumed next week.

The bill is sponsored by J. W. G. Hunter (L—Toronto Parkdale).

Mr. Hunter said the company, owned by Consumers' Gas Company of Toronto and Tennessee Gas Transmission Company, would be able to deliver Texas gas to the Toronto area by the end of this year.

Once the $300,000,000 Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., line was completed from Alberta to Toronto and Montreal in about two years, the Niagara company could switch to carrying Canadian gas.

Mr. Drew said that the federal government should insist that, with completion of the all-Canadian route, gas from western Canada will be used in the area to be served by Niagara Gas Transmission Ltd. The government should make a definite undertaking to this effect.

Press Freedom Not Involved

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Garson said Friday a current court case involving a magazine writer's sources of information does not involve federal jurisdiction on freedom of the press.

He was commenting on an action in which Gordon Wismer, former attorney-general of British Columbia, is suing the Maclean-Hunter Company and Blair Fraser, Ottawa editor of Maclean's Magazine, for libel. The Supreme Court of Canada refused Monday to allow an appeal from a B.C. court ruling that Mr. Fraser must name his informants in connection with an article on Mr. Wismer.

John Diefenbaker (PC—Prince Albert) asked the government if it would take action to protect a reporter's right to keep secret his sources of information.

Mr. Garson said the Canada Evidence Act does not apply to civil actions launched in provincial courts. An amendment to the federal statute would not apply to cases such as the Wismer-Maclean's action. Any relevant amendment would have to be to the Brit-

Brakeman Killed Oil Cars Crash

HAMILTON (CP) — One brakeman was killed and another injured today when a Canadian Pacific Railway fuel tanker train broke into sections and ran away down a grade, strewing overturned tank cars along the right of way.

Two of the ditched tankers caught fire, throwing flames and clouds of dense black smoke into the air.

Dead is brakeman W. C. Arnold formerly of Woodstock and now of St. Thomas.

Slightly injured in the wreck was brakeman R. A. Phillips of London, Ont.

The train broke apart on a grade just north of Hamilton's city limits. At least five cars jumped the rails in the runaway.

Brakeman Arnold was killed when the caboose in which he was riding jumped the track, hurled itself into the air and then crashed across the track.

Two loaded fuel oil tankers also overturned and immediately burst into flames. The flaming cars jumped the track just east of Highway 6, eight-tenths of a mile from the overturned caboose.

BURNING CARS

The flames and dense smoke from the burning cars attracted hundreds of motorists to the scene and caused a major traffic tie-up.

Further down the track another fuel oil tanker jumped the rails and came to rest on its side in a farmer's field. Its contents of fuel oil spilled out over the field and threatened a barn but it did not catch fire.

Still further down the track a gasoline car overturned and poured its heavily - inflammable contents over a field but did not catch fire.

Peterborough Rink Defends Trophy

GUELPH (CP) — Mrs. G. McCartneys' Peterborough rink successfully defended the W. E. Hamilton Trophy by posting a repeat victory in the Guelph curling club fillies' bonspiel Friday night.

Mrs. McCartney went through the 24-rink event unbeaten in two days play and defeated Mrs. J. Dingman of Guelph 15-5 in the title match.

Mrs. M. Sayles of Brantford and Mrs. Cully Schmidt of Kitchener won the second and third events respectively. Mrs. Sayles defeated Mrs. A. Fair of Owen Sound 12-9 and Mrs. Schmidt won over Mrs. Bert Walker of Guelph 12-5 in the deciding games.

Police Search River For $4,000 Jewels

OTTAWA (CP)—Police here are searching the bottom of the Rideau river for $4,000 worth of jewels.

They said a 16-year-old Ottawa youth gave himself up Friday night in connection with the burglary of Ralph Pilon's jewelry store Feb. 20.

Police quoted the youth as saying he had thrown the jewelry, sealed in a strong-box, into a slit cut in the river ice.

$24,000,000 Order For Jet Aircraft

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadair Limited today announced receipt of a new $24,000,000 order from the federal government for F-86 Sabre jet aircraft.

Canadair has already produced more than 900 Sabre jets, used by Canada's 12 operational RCAF squadrons in Europe.

Canadian IUE Becomes Self-Governing Unit

NEW YORK (CP) — The International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO) announced Friday that its Canadian district has been organized as an autonomous and self-governing unit within the union.

The Canadian district, which claims a membership of 10,000, previously has operated under administrative guidance from the union's New York headquarters.

At the same time the IUE announced an organizing campaign in Canada against the rival United Electrical Workers, an independent union which was ousted from the CIO and the Canadian Congress of Labor on charges that it was Communist-dominated.

Union Predicts 700,000 Unemployed Gregg Describes Figure As 'Away Off'

OTTAWA (CP) — A left-wing labor union claims Canadian unemployment will be more than 700,000 by mid-March, but Labor Minister Gregg described the figure as "away off."

The International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.), evicted from labor congresses in Canada and the United States because of Communist domination, came to Parliament Hill with a brief seeking federal action on an unemployment "crisis."

"It is safe to say that by the middle of this month there will be between 700,000 and 750,000 workers looking for jobs," said the submission of the union operating in Canadian metal mines and smelters.

The government's latest figures show 524,000 persons looking for jobs through National Employment Service in January. The bureau of statistics estimated 280,000 actually were out of work.

"The figures on persons seeking employment through NES will be higher, but nothing like that," Mr. Gregg said.

The union, which claims 33,000 members in Canada, said "crisis and heavy unemployment" have hit such industries in this country as base metals, textiles, farm implements, coal, lumber, fishing, clothing, shoes, fur, heavy machinery, electrical equipment, railways, shipbuilding and shipping.

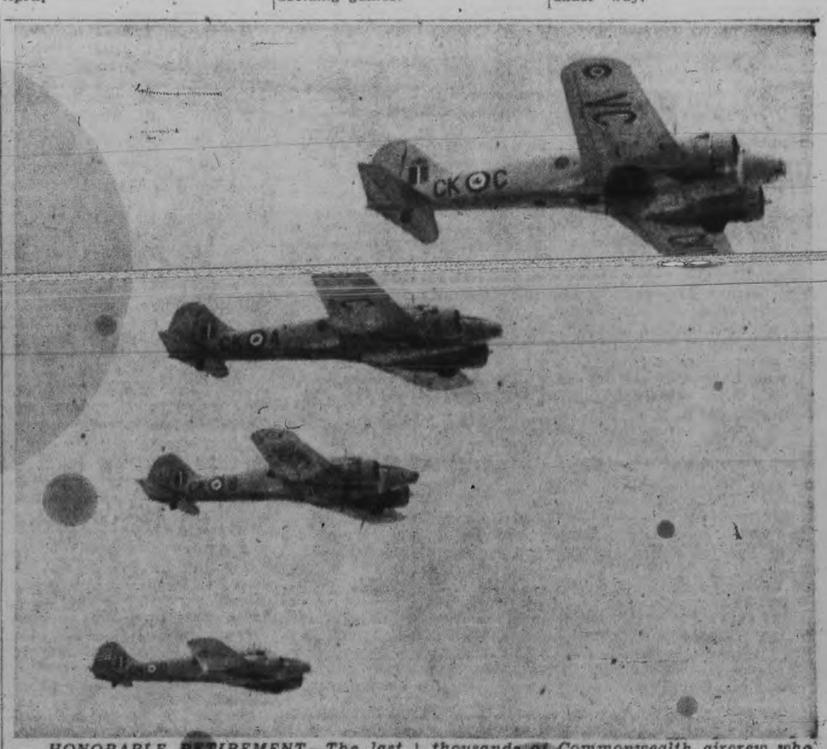
"If nothing is done," its brief said, "the plight of these industries will spread to others and millions, rather than thousands, will be thrown out of work."

The brief — which individual Mine-Mill members spread among Commons members in a mass lobby—also said that in many mining communities "the situation is as bad as it was at the depth of the depression."

In non-ferrous metals, there was a "crisis." Lead and zinc markets had fallen off, with prices slumping. Copper was threatened. There also was need for measures to "restore" Canada's gold industry.

The union recommended:

1. Government assistance to the base metals industry, based on costs of production in each operation.



2. Federal construction of a lead-zinc smelter in western Canada to free small producers from dependence on the big Trail, B.C., smelter of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company. Mr. Gregg said the government would not do this.

3. Broadening of Canadian export markets overseas, particularly in the Commonwealth and Europe with arrangements for payments being made through increased mutual trade.

4. Launching of such projects as the St. Lawrence seaway, the proposed natural gas pipeline between Alberta and the East, the South Saskatchewan river power-irrigation development, more housing and also completion of the trans-Canada highway.

For the gold mining industry, the union proposed that Canada demand the United States pay a higher price than the present $35 an ounce and, failing action on that, withdraw from the International Monetary Fund that sets world policy on gold.

It also asked that federal aid to "marginal" gold mines—now about $15,000,000 a year — be tripled. There should be a broad federal inquiry into the gold-mining industry.

HONORABLE RETIREMENT—The last of the "old faithful" Avro Anson aircraft that played a vital part in the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan are being retired from RCAF service. The RCAF's last four Ansons, seen here over RCAF Station Uplands, are slated to leave that station early this month for Station Trenton, where they will be turned over to Crown Assets Disposal Corporation. Widely used by the RCAF during the Second World War as a training aircraft the merits of the Anson will long be remembered by the thousands of Commonwealth aircrew who trained in Canada during the war years. It was used to train pilots, navigators, wireless operators, and bomb aimers, and achieved a lasting reputation for reliability. A regular "work-horse", the Anson also had its moment of glory when, during an engagement over the English Channel in June, 1940, three RAF Ansons were engaged by nine Messerschmidt 109 fighters. The Ansons succeeded in shooting down two of the enemy and damaging a third.

N.Y. Police Seize Hidden Arms

Find Ammunition Rifles, Mortars In Store Hideout

NEW YORK (AP) — Police seized an arsenal in a deserted-looking Manhattan store Friday and placed two Cubans, alleged opponents of the Batista regime, under arrest.

Detectives swooped into the store, on West 99th street, and came up with crates of mortar shells, anti-tank guns, Garand rifles, grenades and shells.

Later Mario Cruz, 34, and Roberto Oscar Acevedo, 36, were booked on charges of violating the weapons law.

Police commissioner Francis W. H. Adams described them as members of a Cuban organization opposed to the regime of Fulgencio Batista, president of Cuba.

Eight other persons were questioned by police and released. Among these, Adams said, were six men and a woman known as members of anti-Batista organizations.

The arsenal is the second discovered in the metropolitan area since Carlos Prio Socarras was ousted as president of Cuba by Batista in March, 1952.

Adams and other police officials gave these details on the latest arms seizure:

UNLOAD CASES

Cruz, a bus boy ordered by immigration officials to leave the United States by April 22, and Acevedo, a garment cutter resident here since 1945, rented the store for $75 a month last November. They said it was to be used to manufacture crates. Recently trucks started unloading heavy cases outside the store, the lone window of which had been painted black.

The Cubans contacted an employee of a stevedoring firm several days ago with a view toward possible shipment out of the country. The stevedoring employee tipped police.

Friday about a dozen detectives raided the store while some 70 others fanned out over the neighborhood and covered the raiding party from nearby rooftops and windows.

A check showed the arms were U.S. made and packed professionally for shipment. A preliminary count revealed 27 large-calibre anit-tank guns, 24 cases of ammunition for them, 25 Garand rifles with four cases of bullets and 250 hand grenades.

Adams said he saw no link between the arsenal and the recent Puerto Rican shooting in Congress.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Trading was dull and prices continued to hold close to previous levels yesterday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

All months of flax closed higher. Barley attracted a few orders credited to American interests. Support in both oats and barley, however, was mostly domestic. Rye followed U.S. markets. Prices at the Lakehead for the top grades of Class 2, IWA and domestic wheat advanced one-eighth cent, except Class 2 durums which remained unchanged.

With The Boy Scouts

8th PETERBOROUGH

The 2th Peterborough Boy Scout troop met Monday night in St. Andrew's church hall. The St. Andrew's troop was re-formed shortly over one year ago, and have been making good progress after having been disbanded for many years.

Vernon Chiles received his second class badge, and thus becomes the first second class scout in the current troop. It is expected that there will be at least four more within a few weeks. Allan Campbell completed his tenderfoot training and will be invested next week. In all, eleven tests were completed.

In a special court of honor meeting, it was unanimously decided that the troop would adopt blue and white neckerchiefs to replace the present grey ones.

Plans were made to visit shortly the new camp site on Lovesick lake, permission to use the property being possible through the kindness of Ernest Braund.

McCarthyism Great Liability

TORONTO (CP) — M. J. Coldwell, national CCF leader, said Friday that McCarthyism is the greatest liability the democratic nations have in fighting communism" and "something similar is inherent in the philosophy of the Social Credit party."

He said in an interview that Canada has so far managed to maintain enough of its British traditions so that the country as a whole rejects McCarthyism.

"But there could be a real danger from the Social Credit party because of their attitude towards freedom of the press as indicated by the Alberta Press Act of 1937. This attitude has an insidious appeal because they wrap it up in the cloack of religion," he said.

The Alberta Press Act of 1937, an act "to ensure the publication of accurate news and information," never became law. Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen reserved assent on the bill and the Supreme Court of Canada later ruled the federal government alone has power to curtail the freedom of the press.

Refuses To Play Football 1954

HAMILTON (CP) — Queen's University athletic board of control has sent a telegram to McMaster athletic board reaffirming Queen's refusal to play McMaster in senior intercollegiate football in 1954. Similar action is expected shortly from University of Toronto and University of Western Ontario, two spokesmen for the McMaster athletic board said today.

Dr. E. T. Salmon and Ivor Wynne, the spokesmen, said McMaster circulated a schedule last week, including all traditional home and home games of the original league members without lengthening the season or using mid-week dates.

Despite the unfavorable reply from Queen's, McMaster has no intention of abandoning its constitutional rights, the spokesmen said. They urged that McGill, which has supported McMaster, agree to play in the loop in 1954 regardless of the outcome of the CIAU meeting on March 20 at which the issue will be decided.

CNR Employee Badly Injured

BRANTFORD (CP) — Henry Koch, Canadian National Railways employee critically injured Friday in an accident in the railway yards here, was moved to Toronto General Hospital Friday night.

Koch had his head pinched between the left main rod and side-rod of a standing yard engine on which he was working, when another man shifted the engine's reverse lever. The other worker was not aware that Koch was working when driving wheel.

Koch's condition was described as only "fair."

Hog Producers To Collect Trust Fund

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Hog Producers' Association Friday approved a plan to collect a fund to be placed in a trust account and used for marketing hogs in times of surplus production.

The association, which praised both its marketing board and its sales agency, also voted to try to keep producers better informed of the benefits of selling through the Ontario stockyards in Toronto, rather than directly to packers.

The hog producers asked that the federal department of agriculture look into the matter of sending representatives to the United Kingdom and elsewhere to study the best means of selling Canadian pork, requirements of the United States market should be kept in mind, as it is the handiest.

LOWER WEIGHT

One resolution proposed lowering weights of select hogs from 140 pounds to 130 and from 170 to 160. However, since the U.S. prefers larger hams and backs, the producers compromised and asked that weights for selects be lowered five pounds—to 165 and 135.

Another request was for a price spread investigation.

The meeting decided the advisability of establishing other stockyards should be looked into.

It gave the marketing board a free rein to increase its revenue by putting up the toll from two cents to five cents a hog if it feels such a move necessary.

The view was expressed that the control and direction of hogs marketed in the province should be in the hands of a central marketing agency and marketing board. Delegates asked that the problem "be pursued with vigor."

They voted in favor of increasing the premium on grade A hogs to $3 and dropping the $1 premium on B1 hogs. Delegates also said they believed they should help in any way possible producers who have to move from some areas where hog feeding is prohibited.

Earlier, Ralph Bennett, chief of the federal marketing service, urged more quality in hogs and said the public does not want fat.

Charles McInnis of Iroquois was re-elected president.

Queen Enjoys Short Rest

WARBURTON, Australia (CP)—Queen Elizabeth, touring Australia's bush country, strolled today through Dowling forest, once the haunt of Capt. Midnight, a notorious bandit of the gold rush days.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh appeared happy and refreshed after their stopover at the quiet wooded retreat near Ballart, in central Victoria.

The royal party also visited the town of Geelong today.

There, excited new migrants from Europe booed and jeered mounted police obstructing the view as the Queen mounted a platform in front of the town hall.

The Queen, surprised, instructed the police to move on. She stood and waved to the migrants, some of whom had been waiting all night.

The Queen and duke will spend the remainder of the week - end resting in a chalet on the stores of nearby Lake O'Shannassy, 50 miles from Melbourne.

Use Indian Example Hastings Prayer Day

HASTINGS (ENS)—The World Day of Prayer Service was observed in Hastings at an afternoon service held at St. George's Anglican Church with a very good attendance.

Mrs. C. M. Baker president of St George's WA presided.

Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe of Trinity United gave a brief sketch of the life of Dr. Sarah Chakko of India. The service followed today was adopted from a service prepared by Dr. Chakko.

Mrs. C. Dodd of St. Andrew's Presbyterian had charge of the intercession and prayers were offered by Mrs. Leonard Metcalfe, Mrs. Harvey Youngs, Mrs. Scott Fife, Mrs. J. C. Taylor, Mrs. E. Smullin and Mrs. A. J. Patstone.

The theme "That they may have life" was very interestingly given [illegible] A duet "Lift Up Thine Eyes", by Mrs. R. Johnston and Mrs. E. Hess, was accompanied by Miss D. Plant.

Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe lead in prayer, and Hymn "The day Thou Gavest" was sung — and the Benediction pronounced.

World Day Of Prayer Marked At Westwood

WESTWOOD —(ENS) — The World Day of Prayer was observed in Westwood Presbyterian church on Friday afternoon by ladies of the three local churches.

Mrs. James Clysdale took charge of the service, prepared by Dr. Sarah Ghakko of India for the women's Inter-Church Council of Canada.

Prayers of intercession were offered by Mrs. H. Pacey, Mrs. W. Shearer, Mrs. A. Patterson, Mrs. F. Godfrey, Mrs. R. D. Duncanson and Miss J. Davidson.

The Rev. R. D. Duncanson was guest speaker and based his remarks on the theme of the meeting "That they may have life."

Mr. Duncanson compared the numerous modes of life, from liberty in the more civilized countries to the tyranny, hunger and oppression of the underprivileged. Our prayers are needed for all, he said.

Mrs. G. Warner was organist.

BARE(FOOTED) JUSTICE — Common Pleas Judge Parker Fulton reads some papers in his Cleveland, Ohio, courtroom sans shoes and socks. The jurist was recuperating from an ankle-deep plunge into a slush puddle during the height of a blizzard which dumped 18 inches of snow on the city. The missing link in his judicial attire was demurely hidden by the bench from litigants in his divorce courtroom.

Economic Heresy But Kenya Plans Forced Wage Hikes

By HUGH LATIMER

NAIROBI (OFNS)—No country, say the economists, can increase its standard of living solely by legislation. But Kenya, it appears, is going to try.

In the Colony's large towns, Nairobi and Mombasa, live thousands of ill-clad, half-starving, feckless and unskilled African men and boys, of whom the greater part, if employed at all, do not earn as much as one pound a week. The statutory minimum wage is about fifteen shillings. They can just feed themselves on that, but not support a family as well, so the urban worker feels it essential to keep a firm foothold in the African reserves, where his wife and family live on their small patch of mealies and beans. The loss of this plot would mean disaster to them.

Unfortunately the population is outgrowing the land available, and an agrarian revolution is concentrating land in the hands of the more successful peasant farmers. Before ever Mau Mau claimed its first victim, the Kikuyu already feared and hated these encroaching peasants of their own tribe, and hated also the neighbouring European farmer whose, to the Kikuyu eye, unused lands stretch over broad acres where Kikuyu herdboys used to lead their own cattle fifty years ago. One clear way of drawing off some of this bitter hunger for land is to give the town worker wages high enough to keep his family in town.

Then there is another problem peculiar to Africa and not found in the same degree in Asia or Europe—the laziness of the African peasant, and his inefficiency in the first generation, even when trained to skilled work. Steady sustained work is foreign to the environment in which the African has been bred. The answer, all industrialists in Africa are now agreed, is to draw on labor born and bred in an industrial environment; migrant labor, though cheap, is inefficient and with the increase of technical requirements becomes more so every year.

A committee of all races, appointed by the Kenya goverment under the chairmanship of Mr. F. Wingate Carpenter (a cousin of General Wingate), has suggested a revolutionary answer to these problems.

"We cannot hope to produce an effective African labor force until we have first removed the African from enervating and retarding influence of his economic and cultural background," comments the committee. It then proposes a planned increase of the minimum wage till it reaches, in eleven years' time, the highest level in Africa. It will be over three times as great as the existing minimum in Kenya. The statutory minimum will have to be paid by African and Asian employers as well as [illegible] peasant it will include domestic servants, but not labor employed outside the towns.

At present th eminimum wage in Nairobi is fifty-nine shillings and sixpence a month for an adult male. Fifty-four per cent of the employees are paid under four pounds a month. The committee recommends an immediate increase of fifteen shillings a month, and on January 1, 1955, the introduction of a new minimum wage formula for a single man, which, in Nairobi, would increase the minimum by a further six shillings and sixpence.

After January 1, 1955, the latter formula will apply to workers under 21 or to those who have come from the native reserves less than three years previously. All others will receive the "family minimum" irrespective of whether they have a family, which in the first year is to be fifteen per cent higher than the "bachelor's." In the second year it is to be thirty per cent higher, in the third year forty-five per cent and so on until in the tenth year it reaches two hundred and fifty per cent of the bachelor figure. In Nairobi this would amount to £11 12s. 6d. a month, or £2 14s. a week on present prices. If prices rise it would be increased automatically. This is slightly higher than the basic wage at present paid in industrial cities in South Africa, namely two pounds five shillings; but no-one can quarrel with the committee's view that it is the lowest level on which a man can decently support a wife and family. In South Africa he cannot do so; the wife too is forced to go to work.

Unfortunately the plan will be rank heresy in the eyes of the economists. Kenya's economics do not support these rising compulsory wages; instead they run counter to them. There is no scarcity of labor. Kenya is a farming country; cooks, carpenters, drivers, hotel servants make up the bulk of the urban "industrial employees." If the wages of these workers are increased out of proportion with the wage-level of the country, experience in Northern Rhodesia has shown that towns fill up with unemployed persons queuing for a job.

The committee's plan is a brave attempt at raising Kenya from a low-wage economy to the highest wage economy in Africa. But it will not work unless the colony can at the same time create a competing demand for its labor either by introducing industry or by supplying emigrants to industrial areas elsewhere in Africa, or, most natural of all, by so developing the land that it can provide a good livelihood for all.

Told Reeve To "Get Out"

BOURNEMOUTH, England (AP) Lord Lyle, British sugar magnate, died today at the age of 71.

Lord Lyle was a champion of free enterprise and spent £15,000 in 1950-51 on the "Mr. Cube" campaign against the Labor government's proposals to nationalize the sugar industry.

The fight ended in victory for Lyle, and the costs later were upheld as admissible deduction from profits for income-tax purposes.

26 Years Principal Thomas Moffat Dies

TWEED—Thomas E. Moffat, who served as principal of Tweed High School for 26 years and was active in all community and area affairs, died Friday.

Mr. Moffatt retired in 1949 and for two years after his retirement he was supervisory principal of Centre Hastings high school area. He was interested in sports and acted as coach of the Tweed High School hockey team and served as president of the Tweed Tennis Club for 10 years. For 30 years he was chairman of the Tweed Library Board. He was also chairman of the Tweend Community Bank.

Other community activities included membership on the [illegible] of St. Johns United Church and service as president of the Tweed Board of Trade for five years.

Mr. Moffat came to Tweed from Campbellford 31 years ago. He leaves his wife, the former Jennie Harris, and six daughters and nine sons.

Jet Flies 3,000 Miles Non-Stop In 6 Hours

MANBY, England (Reuters) — An RAF Canberra bomber, returning from Britain's first Arctic jet flying trials, flew 3,000 miles nonstop early today from Montreal to its base here in about six hours.

The plane arrived here this morning.

The Canberra, first jet plane to make a non-stop flight from Montreal to Manby, carried only sufficient extra fuel to give a margin of 10 minutes flying time.

Since leaving the RAF flying college here two weeks ago, the bomber has made a series of flights over or near the north magnetic pole in northern Canada to test secret navigational techniques.

$2,000 Theft

STRATFORD (CP) — Thieves broke into the Simpson-Sears store here early today and stole a safe containing about $2,000 in cash and a number of cheques.

The thieves are believed to have loaded the safe on to a truck.

Grabbed Wheel Caused Accident, To Pay $5,658

Floyd Dunford of 135 Westcott St. has been awarded $5,658 and costs against Mack McKenzie of Colborne as a result of an accident near Cobourg last August in which a heavy dump truck owned by Dunford was wrecked.

McKenzie was the owner of a car that came into collision with the truck and Douglas Gray of Newcastle was the driver. Gray was also named as defendant but the case against him was dismissed.

Judgment was handed down Friday by Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow who presided earlier this week at the Supreme Court non-jury sittings in Peterborough. Reasons for judgment were not available at press time.

The dump truck, loaded with 12 tons of cement, was being driven west along Highway 2 by another Peterborough man, 27-year-old Ernie Ferren of 511 Cross St., on August 4, 1953. He was taking the load from Point Anne to Oshawa.

Ferren, an experienced driver, said that the McKenzie eastbound car swung across the highway toward him and he swung to the right to avoid a collision; but the car struck the truck which swerved off into the ditch.

Gray said the accident was caused by McKenzie who suddenly reached over, grabbed the steering wheel and swung the car to the left.

Damage to the 12-ton tandem-drive truck was more than $3,900. It had to be dismantled before it could be removed from the ditch.

Dunford also asked compensation for the loss of the truck's use during the two months of good season, and other related expenses.

R. A. Pringle, QC, was counsel for Dunford; Arthur Greer, QC, for McKenzie, and Lawrence C. Mason for Gray.

elder statesmen. The elder statesmen were ex-premier Aly Maher, appointed months ago to head a 50-man committee to consider a new constitution, and Abdel Razak Sanhoury, president of the Egyptian State Council (supreme court).

Both President Mohammed Naguib, a major-general, and Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser, a lieutenant-colonel, central figures in the council shakeup last week that stirred the nation, attended the meeting at Nasser's home in suburban Heliopolis. They appeared on the best of terms.

The premiership as well as the presidency was Naguib's until young officers on the council stripped him of his titles Feb. 25 and made Nasser premier and acting president. Two days later they bowed to pressure and restored Naguib, a popular idol, as their figurehead.

The liberalization of policy does not mean Egypt is to get a democratic government as such a term would be understood in Canada. Observers view the decisions as intended both to reinforce the council's unity and woo public support.

Speaking to newspaper men from the steps of his home, Nasser said the Revolutionary Council will run Egypt until a regular parliament is elected later. He said he considers the council "a caretaker government."

"The Revolutionary Council is gradually handing over power to the people," he said, "but the army is determined to see proper parliamentary life restored to Egypt."

Egypt has been operating since last January under an officially decreed three-year transition period in which political organizations were banned and popular elections tentatively scheduled for 1956.

pact that even a mirror and a bottle of nail polish in her purse were smashed.

It was more than an hour before Walter [illegible] moved.

He was sitting on the right side of the front seat where the train hit. A section of the car's body and seat had to be cut apart before his body could be removed.

Mr. Lucyk and Mr. Tokash, riding in the back seat, were both found alive and were taken to hospital where Tokash died five hours later.

Hospital nurses said Lucyk suffered head, chest and internal injuries.

The train was held up for 1¾ hours. It continued on its way about 4 a.m.

The train crew said the car driver apparently made no effort to stop. They said the car was "travelling fast" but they could not estimate its speed. They said they believed the driver apparently tried to beat the train across the crossing in the belief he could not stop on the icy roadway.

Ernest Pell, a Brantford taxi driver was the first man to reach the scene. He used his taxi radio to send an emergency call for ambulances, doctors and police.

A second radio call brought a Brantford fire department truck with the cutting and sawing equipment to tear the wreckage apart.

However, the head of the government's housing agency, D. B. Mansur, president of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, told a Commons committee that the housing bill probably would result in between 5,000 and 15,000 more persons seeking to build homes. That was about an eight-per-cent increase over the present rate of construction of 100,000 homes a year.

"In the light of that evidence, it becomes immediately apparent that the bill is not going to work all the wonders held out for it."

The first result of the bill would be withdrawal of about $60,000,000 in the amount of mortgage money available. That was the amount now being contrinuted through CMHC which no longer would enter into joint loans with [illegible] cial lending institutions.

This money was expected to be replaced mainly by the chartered banks whose mortgage loans would be ensured by the government. But the banks hadn't asked for the power to make such loans and were not consulted by the government before the new housing bill was announced.

The part the banks were to play was vital to success of the plan but "there was no enthusiasm on the part of the banks made evident in any degree for the scheme of the bill."

Police Capture Fanatics After Gunplay

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Police captured Pedro Albizu Campos, 62-year-old chief of the Nationalist party, after gun play at his San Juan apartment early today during an island-wide roundup aimed at the three dozen persons within the fanatical independence group.

Tear gas finally routed Campos, who gasped: "I am asphyxiated." He was removed by ambulance.

The apartment, set afire during the action, also yielded Doris Torresola, one of five women named in police warrants. The raid was officially described as having no connection with the Washington shooting which wounded five United States Congressmen March 1.

Firemen got the fire quickly under control.

Miss Torresola is a party secretary and sister of Griselio Torresola, who was killed in Washington in making an attempt on the life of President Truman in 1950.

38 SOUGHT

Police raids were launched today to arrest Campos and 37 other nationalists.

Police chief Salvador Roig said several shots were fired from Campos' apartment as the police closed in.

Asked by reporters whether there had been a plot here, Roig refused to say. He said Governor Luis Munoz Marin has revoked a pardon that freed Campos from jail last September. He had been given prison terms totalling 54 years following a revolt he led in 1950. Fifty persons were killed in that outbreak.

Plan Auto Racing At Aintree Track

AINTREE, England (CP)—Aintree, home of the world's most famous steeplechase, is to have a £100,000 auto-racing track built around it.

Mrs. Mirabel D. Topham, chairman of the controlling company, said the move was a "dire necessity" because horse-race meetings did not cover high costs of operation.

"Aintree is an expensive child," explained Mrs. Topham, "and it is idle for a large part of the year. I had to look around for some other sport that would keep it busy in the summer."

The auto circuit will surround the horse track and is expected to be opened by May 29. It will be 35 feet wide and three miles long with speeds of 150 miles an hour possible on the straight stretches.

Aintree accommodates 200,000 spectators.

Unless a "most rigid" assurance was given, the all-Canadian pipeline might be endangered. First consideration must be given to Canada and employment of Canadians — a "Canada-first" policy. The United States could not object because it had built its own "great wealth and strength" on this proposition.

Mr. Drew said he still regrets that the oil pipe line from western Canada was built south instead of north of the Great Lakes.

Interprovincial Pipe Line Company, which built the oil line from western Canada, should have disclosed in the first place its intention to build south of the lakes. It constructed the line first to Superior, Wis., then announced it would complete it to Sarnia.

Mr. Howe said that if Parliament passed the bill, the government itself would have no further control over the situation. But the board of transport commissioners would have full jurisdiction over the company.

25-Mile Tunnel Proposed Through Mts.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 25-mile tunnel through the mountains immediately north of Vancouver has been proposed to bring the provincially-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway into the city.

An engineer, who asked to remain anonymous, said a tunnel would be less costly in the long run than open trackage along the shores of Burrard inlet and through heavily populated West Vancouver. The latter route, proposed by the government, has been bitterly opposed by residents of the municipality.

To offset cost of the tunnel, estimated between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000, the engineer said there would be about 2,000,000 yards of crushed rock removed worth $3 a yard in Vancouver and $5 in Seattle.

Extension over the old right-of-way would cost $12,000,000 and require 32 men for maintenance. A tunnel with straight trackage would decrease wear on rails and rolling stock and require only four maintenance men.

Sale of right-of-way in West Vancouver would also help defray cost.

New Ambassador Presents Credentials

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW (CP) — John Watkins, newly-appointed Canadian ambassador to Russia, Friday paid his first call at the foreign office.

He lodged the customary request with the chief of protocol to be received by Foreign Minister Molotov when convenient.

Protocol requires that he first see the foreign minister, who arranges an audience with U.S.S.R. President Marshal Clementi Voroshilov, to whom Watkins will present his credentials and a lettre de petraite of his predecessor, Dana Wilgress.

Both visits likely will be made next week.

GEORGE WHEELER.

Bridgenorth Resident George Wheeler 90 Years

George Wheeler of Bridgenorth will be 90 years old on Sunday. His family helped him celebrate the occasion today when they invaded his modest home in the village and held a dinner party for him.

Coming out from Tunbridge Wells, Kent., with his bride, the former Sarah Clarke of that English town, settled in Smith township; both of them were 23 years of age. For many years they farmed on the 7th Line and following this Mr. Wheeler "hired out by the day" for several members of the Mann family; there was William, Allan B., Gordon and Thomas R. Mann who employed him and found his work good.

About 25 years ago he bought a house in Bridgenorth, and, following the death of his wife 17 years ago, has lived alone. But he was not left alone for he has a large family that call on him several times each week to see that he is comfortable.

There are three daughters; Mrs. W. J. Robinson (Hattie) of Cavan, Mrs. W. A. Heard (Mary) of Smith township and Mrs. E. H. Sisson (Sarah May or Daisy) of Peterborough. A son, Roy, also lives in the city and another, William, in Belleville. Two sons, George Jr., and Harry, and three brothers, William John and James Jr. have died. There are 19 grandchildren and 17 great-grand-children.

Though Mr. Wheeler neither reads or writes and has indifferent hearing he enjoys the radio "when it's tuned up real loud." He has a small vegetable garden and enjoys smoking his pipe.

Mr. Wheeler is still a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters, Lodge 315, Bridgenorth, formerly attended Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church and Lakefield Baptist Church. Occasionally, he can be enticed to the city to see organized sports but a wrestling match he witnessed this winter did not appeal to him as very exciting.

Enjoying remarkably fine health during his long life he sees no reason why it will not extend well past his 90th birthday on Sunday.

Campbellford PUC Makes Grant of $10,000 To Town

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The Campbellford utilities commission made a grant of $10,000 to town council Thursday evening after listening to a request from Mayor R. J. Locke, who said the town would need as large, or larger, grant than they received last year, if they were going to hold the tax rate.

The auditor's report was received but, as the chairman of the board, A. J. Meyers, was absent, it was decided to leave the discussion of the report until the next meeting, when Mr. Meyers will be present.

Commissioner R. J. McGregor read a letter from the Orillia water, light and power commission, in which a number of questions, asked previously by Mr. McGregor, were answered. The questions dealt with various methods of producing power, the cost of production and similar items.

Commission McGregor, in a registered letter to the clerk, gave notice of four motions which he intends to make at the next regular or special meeting of the board.

POWER PROPOSALS

The motions dealt with the propositions now before the board outlining the various methods and terms of supplying power to the town by the HEPC.

Mr. McGregor's first motion will be that the first proposition outlined, whereby the town would buy a block of power from the HEPC but continue to maintain and operate their own plant under their own jurisdiction and set their own rates, be further discussed at a joint meeting of the PUC and town council and that the people of Campbellford be given the privilege of voting on it.

Mr. McGregor said: "I wish to point out the sound and economical advantages of proposition one over proposition two, which has been considered by the board, in that a small block of power can be purchased from the HEPC and classified as Department 1.

"Department 2 would be our own generating output. Department 3 would be emergency power. Department 4 would be our distribution system. Department 4 would pool the resources obtained from Departments 1, 2 and 3, and distribute it to our consumers at a profit.

"This would enable us to carry on with little or no change in our present annual grant to the town, a grant which is going to be needed to help council pay for our present very excellent hospital."

JOINT MEETING

The second motion the commissioner will make is that a joint meeting be held to discuss all aspects relative to putting the present power plant in first-class shape and further consider the installation of a third generating unit, to increase the power output and as a standby source of power.

He pointed out that the power site is capable of developing approximately 6,000 horsepower with the present regulated stream flow of the Trent waterway system.

Motion number three points out the advantage of retaining the rural power lines as consumers. The peak load on the rural lines comes at an earlier hour than on the town lines. The PUC can sell this power at a profit.

The fourth motion asks a joint meeting of council and the PUC to discuss the PUC being permitted to establish a sinking fund to take care of old and obsolete machinery.

Commissioner W. Witthun said he was not in favor of Mr. McGregor's motions, and maintained that the questions should be discussed first with the HEPC. A meeting is set for early in April, when the HEPC will meet with the PUC and further discuss the power situation.

Manager P. C. Denyes told the board of a report he had received from the department of health relative to the condition of the drinking water in the town. He also reported that the meter feeding No. 11 power house had been inspected and found to be running 1.4 per cent slow. This has now been adjusted and left to run .6 per cent fast.

Describes Expedition To Arctic Lands

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The Business and Professional Women's Club met at the Trent House Thursday evening, when five members of the Campbellford council, Margery Pewtress, provincial president and five other guests were present. President Eve Spencer presided.

Barbara Smith, Fannie Peters and Peggy Davey were appointed the nominating committee. The club is planning a tea to be held at the home of Fannie Peters shortly after Easter. Jean Morrison welcomed the guests and proposed a toast to the town council, to which Isabel Tatham replied.

Dr. R. S. Robertson of Cobourg, who has visited the Arctic with the C. D. Howe expedition several times, was introduced by Flossie Scott and proceeded to take the audience on a 15,000 mile trip, through the medium of colored pictures, up the coast of Labrador, in and around Hudson Bay and as far as Baffinland. Dr. Robertson also gave a descriptive commentary on the life and habit of the Ehkimo and the Indian.

Firemen Show Films At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Members of the councils of both the town of Campbellford and the township of Seymour, as well as the boy scouts and others were guests of the Campbellford fire department this week when four films were shown in the fire hall.

The films were loaned by the fire marshall's department, and dealt with various methods of fighting fires.

Th audience was shown the correct method of ventilating certain types of fires. The films warned onlookers at a blaze with regard to interfering with or hampering the methods and movements of the fire fighters.

The guests were served coffee and sandwiches, prepared by the firemen, who take pride in their fire hall and have expanded a great deal of effort in decorating the interior.

In Car With Dead Geese Asks 'Don't Be Hard On Me'

COBOURG (ENS) — "Don't be too hard on me, I am a stranger here," said Harold Hammond of Belleville, when he appeared in police court yesterday on a drunk charge.

"We don't make any distinction here between strangers and local people, although we do expect local people to know better," said Magistrate R. B. Baxter, imposing a fine of $10 and costs.

Provincial Constable C. Meadows testified that he received a call on March 2 to an accident in Haldimand township where he found a car in the ditch and Hammond jammed in the front seat. There were two dead geese in the car. He was taken to the hospital where he became abusive to the doctor and nurses and was transferred to the county jail. It was pointed out that it was not Hammond's car and that he was not the driver.

Herbert Perfect, 67-year-old Cobourg man, was found not guilty when he appeared in police court yesterday on a careless driving charge laid after an accident which occurred in Cobourg last December. Magistrate R. B. Baxter found that the evidence did not indicate sufficient negligence on the part of the accused to warrant a conviction.

R. Maybee of Port Hope told the court that Perfect backed out of his driveway on William street into the path of his light truck. Maybee said that he was slowing up for a level crossing just as Perfect's car "popped out" in front of him. The accused said that there was no sign of an approaching vehicle as he was backing out on to the road from his driveway.

Peeks Backward

LONDON — The Rev. Geoffrey Earl, vicar of St. Mary's church in Peckham, challenges any belief that most great-grandparents were regular churchgoers. He says only 18 per cent of Britons attended church in 1901, and just 10 per cent in 1930.

Albertans May Get Cash Share From Rich Oil, Gas Deposits

EDMONTON (CP) — The possibility of a cash share for Albertans in their province's rich oil and natural gas resources emerged today from a $205,000,000 budget placed before the legislature Friday by Premier Manning.

In a 1954-55 budget that featured increased pensions for the aged and the blind and higher indemnities for provincial lawmakers, he also raised the possibility that the foreseeable future would bring the elimination of all existing municipal, school and hospital taxes.

Bringing down his 10th budget, Mr. Manning announced that the province will increase by $5 monthly—to $15 from $10—its supplementary payments to recipients of old-age security pensions, old-age assistance and blind allowances. The ceiling on their allowable annual income will be increased by $60.

For members of the assembly, he announced an increase of $600 in their sessional indemnity, raising it to $3,600. The total will include $2,400 of indemnity and $1,200 of expenses.

EQUITABLE SHARE

Then, in a gesture that recalled the late premier William Aberhart's promise of a $25-a-month Social Credit dividend for Albertans, Mr. Manning took this peek into the future:

"It is well within the realm of possibility that in the foreseeable future revenue from further oil and gas development will be . . . sufficient to eliminate all present municipal, school and hospital taxes with a balance of approximately $30,000,000 available for debt retirement or such other purposes as may be considered in the public interest. . . .

"It may be that the time is coming when the interests of self government will be better served by levelling off the measure of provincial financial aid (to municipalities) and distributing directly to the individual citizens of each community an equitable share of the revenues accruing from the development of their natural resources in the form of 'citizens' participation dividends."

This policy would "recognize each citizen's personal stake in the natural resources of the province and his right to an equitable share in the benefits accruing from their orderly development."

Induct New Dean

OTTAWA (CP) — Very Rev. J. O. Anderson of Winnipeg Friday night was inducted as new dean of the Anglican diocese of Ottawa.

The ceremony in Christ Church cathedral was conducted by Rt. Rev. Robert Jefferson, Bishop of Ottawa, and the sermon was preached by Ven. Archdeacon C.G Hepburn.

TV NEWS

By KEN McCANNAN

If there is still the odd person about these days who thinks that TV is costly entertainment then they just haven't been keeping up with the latest studies of the statisticians.

According to recent surveys the average adult views television entertainment worth $1,346 during the course of a year if the same entertainment was paid for at the ticket office. To this add the number of viewers in your family counting the children at half price and it's simple to see how a TV set in your living room will pay for itself in ONE OR TWO MONTHS! And if that's not money in the bank we'll eat our hat.

It's no wonder that TV is growing steadily, and, as any of you regular viewers will testify, getting better all the time. It's expanding and expanding, as one industry official said recently, like a plump lady in a candy shop. If you're missing out on a ringside seat at most of the best entertainment available these days then you literally owe it to your pocketbook to discover the savings and fun to be had from a big screen set in your living room.

But whether you decide on a 21 or 17 inch screen you'll find the widest selection of models to choose from at McCANNAN ELECTRIC, 274 George Street. And before you make any decision have a good look at ADMIRAL, a set that offers a reflection-free screen, a clear picture and sound reproduction and has no peer in the industry. You'll find it's an integral part of the business and a plus-value you can count on at all times. WHEN IT COMES TO TV COME TO US. YOU CAN PUT YOUR CONFIDENCE IN KEN McCANNAN.

Give Once, But Generously

The Red Cross and Community Fund campaign which opened yesterday and will continue for a fortnight has already been well begun. The canvass of factories and schools and other groups has been under way for a week, and the organizers have been active for a month. The pre-campaign and the scope of the canvass indicate how big and important the job is. The objective is to raise $100,000. It is a lot of money, but Peterborough has a lot of people needing the help of the ten agencies included in the Red Cross and Community Fund budget, and the city also has a lot of people able, and we think ready, to contribute to the Fund. In fact more people need help than ever before because there are more people in the city. At the same time, since the population is greater than ever, there are more people to contribute their money. So important is the work, so necessary the $100,000 and so vital is it to the welfare of Peterborough that every Peterborough person who is not a pre-school infant is being asked to donate.

* * *

The cause is worthy. Actually it is ten causes, for the money will go to ten different agencies promoting the health and welfare of the children and adults of this city. The ten are: The Red Cross, Children's Aid Society, St. Vincent's Orphanage, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Victorian Order of Nurses, Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A., St. John's Ambulance Corps, the Salvation Army and the Humane Society. Although some of these organizations are branches of Provincial or national societies, the money contributed to the Community Fund will go entirely towards their local work, and be spent in Peterborough on Peterborough children and adults needing care, guidance or help.

* * *

The Red Cross and Community Fund is competently administered, its monies fairly and efficiently distributed, and donors are assured that their money, so charitably given, will be well and properly used. One great advantage this campaign has is that it relieves the city and people of ten different campaigns to solicit money for ten different groups. It is a handy, responsible and easy means to make one's contribution to local charities. It may be of assistance to our readers now deciding how much to give to remind them that it is really ten gifts in one, so should be ten times as big as one gift. Further, the amount of the donation can be deducted from one's taxable income, when making out tax returns next year.

Who Pays The Most Income Tax?

Some people think that despite the high rate of income tax imposed on large incomes, most of the tax which pours into the Federeal treasury is got from people of relatively small means. They consider that there are only a handful of millionaries to be taxed at eighty per cent of their total incomes, but that there are hundreds of thousands who, only paying at a rate of five or ten per cent., contribute a really great amount because there are so many of these smaller taxpayers. The assumption is wrong.

Acording to a statistical analysis of the 1951 returns—the latest figures so to be analysed—people with incomes of over $5,000 paid more than half the income tax collected in Canada that year. The biggest single bite on one category of income taxpayers was made on those with incomes ranging between $25,000 and $50,000. These 6,690 individuals paid ten per cent. of all the income tax collected in Canada. In contrast with this, the 104,940 persons whose declared income was between $2,500 and $2,600 paid little more than 1½ per cent. of all the income tax collected in this country that year.

These figures are not peculiar to the year 1951. In fact, the tax structure now is such that even more of the tax burden falls on persons of high income, and less of it on those of modest means. The statistics show that the rich are indeed soaked, and that persons of small or medium-sized incomes pay in comparison very little of the Canadian income tax. In 1951, in fact, 88 per cent. of all income taxpayers paid only 45 per cent. of the taxes collected. That 88 per cent. included those whose declared incomes ranged up to $4,500 a year. The remaining 12 per cent. of the taxpayers were those whose incomes were above $4,500 and they paid 55 per cent. of the Canadian income tax.

Some dollar figures are further proof that the burden of income tax does not fall on persons of either low or average income. Most people whose income was only $2,000 that year paid no income tax at all, because of exemptions. Yet there were 65,020 taxpaying people whose declared earnings were between $1,900 and $2,000. Their incomes totalled $130,800,000. Out of this they paid income tax totalling $9,100,000, which was only about one per cent. of the total tax collected from all income taxpayers. Now, take another group, a much smaller one. This group had a smaller total income—$105,400,000. But these few—11,080 people—paid nearly twice as much tax—$16,700,000. Why this inequality? Because this group of people had incomes ranging between $9,000 and $10,000.

The most telling figure is this. The 1,570 Canadian income taxpayers whose incomes were in excess of $50,000 paid as much income tax as all the hundreds of thousands whose incomes were below $2,000.

We cite these figures not to arouse pity for poor rich people or out of any belief that persons with low incomes should pay more tax, but merely to show that the income tax structure of Canada is sharply graded so that the rich are heavily taxed, persons of small means very lightly taxed, and persons of incomes between $4,000 and $5,000 not burdensomely taxed.

Cheating The Public Who Eat And Drink

It now seems that the whisky the Ontario Liquor Commission sells contains something beside water. The Ontario Minister of Health says that there is fusel oil in the Ontario whisky and that fusel oil is poisonous. The Liquor Commissioner admits that there are minute quantities of fusel oil in the product it markets, but not enough to be harmful. How is the consumer, who buys the stuff at the high price of 15 or 20 cents an ounce, water and all, to know who is right?

Any edible or potable goods sold in this country, including beer and spirits as well as custards and curry, should be labelled so that their full ingredients are known to the consumers. A bottle of whisky should show on its label how much alcohol there is, what proportion is water, and what other stuff, including fusel oil, the bottle contains. That it the only fair way to treat customers, the good honest merchandising way of displaying goods for sale openly and fully. The Liquor Commission does neither.

The Provinces and the Dominion have Pure Food Laws. Either these are not extensive enough or they are not being enforced. In the United States you can read on the label what you are buying. Not so in Canada, even in small print. Compare, for instance, the information about the ingredients and amounts of each which the label on an American bottle of catsup gives, and the lack of information on the Canadian catsup bottle. There is a similar lack of information and honesty about whisky and beer sold in this Province. Whisky bottle labels do not tell you what "proof" the contents are. Beer bottles no longer are labelled to show their alcoholic content. Is this to allow the beer to be watered in the way that the Government waters the whisky it sells?

Are manufacturers and producers of food and drink in Canada deliberately trying to keep the consumers in the dark, and are our governments conniving in this shady practice? It seems so. We have pure food laws in this province, do we? Laugh if you like, but it is not funny. We even get poisonous fusel oil in the whisky sold in Ontario. Food and drink in containers should be fully labelled so that the customer can know what he is paying for and that he is being neither cheated nor poisoned.

INDIAN NEWS-LETTER

Family Rule Below Everest

By PHILIP DEANE

THE LITTLE Himalayan Kingdom of Bhutan has been giving the Indians the same sort of diplomatic headaches which the Indians give to the United States. Bhutan is a buffer State between India and Chinese-controlled Tibet. India wants to arm Bhutan and make it strong against Communist infiltration. Bhutan has replied that following the example of its greater neighbour India, it too wants to remain uncommitted, adding that it considers arms aid from India would bring the cold war to Bhutan's frontiers.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANOTHER Himalayan Kingdom, Nepal, whose proudest possession is Mount Everest, is having democratic teething troubles and has suspended its Constitution. This mountainous home of Britain's famous Ghurka soldiers had been ruled by a hereditary Prime Minister since 1857. In 1950 the present King of Nepal, tired of being a puppet, allied himself with the intellectuals in his country who wanted a democracy and ministerial jobs. With Indian help the Prime Minister and his relatives were fired. (They had occupied every post from postman up.) An assembly was convoked and a supreme court established. But the King soon found that the democratic institutions he gave had produced virtual chaos.

THE POLITICIANS of Nepal did not allow their lack of experience to cramp their style. Being apparently all relatives, they transposed their family feuds into public life, and by last week they had fought one another to a standstill. All Government decisions were invalidated by the supreme court—all supreme court decisions were invalidated by the Government. The King, on India's advice resumed the exercise of absolute power and continued his equisitely oriental diplomacy with China.

The King jails all the infiltrating Chinese Communist agents he can catch. Meanwhile he implies that his honourable friends the Chinese Communists can infiltrate all they like. In exchange, Mao Tse Tung's China goes on paying to Nepal a vassal's tribute which was exacted from Tibet by the first of the now-deposed hereditary Prime Ministers.

INDIA'S TEMPERANCE workers are up in arms. Andhar State is considering repealing prohibition.

A committee formed by that State to examine the results of prohibition has now issued a report which speaks of bootleggers, gangsters, smugglers, illicit stills, bath-tub brews—all the ingredients of a growing and flourishing racket which "has corrupted the State from top to bottom." The committee advises the repeal of prohibition, and this advice has incensed the puritanical revolutionaries who fought for the independence of South India and who now rule the two important States of Bombay and Madras. The inhabitants of these States, who have to register as alcoholic addicts to get an honest drink, are jubilantly predicting that the example of Andhra will be catching. The Press, thirsting, among other things, for the blood of the temperance workers, is gleefully rubbing in the strongest argument of anti-prohibitionists: Prohibition has weakened the finances of the 'dry' States of India. These States have had to scrap economic development projects, while their alcoholic and gangster-free neighbours have been building dams with the proceeds of the tax on liquor.

THE GOVERNMENT of Calcutta has just lost a round in its continuing fight against Communism in India's largest, noisiest, dirtiest and most sinful city. After using armed force for a week to quell riots sets off by a teachers' strike for more pay, the chief Minister and political boss of Calcutta, Bidhan Chandra Roy, gave way to the teachers' demand and even released arrested rioters. By resisting the teachers' demands at first, and by using force, Bidhan Chandra Roy gave the Communists a chance to take over the command of the strike. The Communists were the only ones who knew how to organise street fights, provide acid bombs and scare State officials. By giving way after violence had started, Calcutta's chief Minister has enabled the Communists to point out that they can and do achieve success when they fight the Government. "Let us lead your struggles" the Communists proclaim now, "we will get you raises, just as we got a raise for the teachers."

THE FABULOUS Maharajahs of India face a cut in the pensions which they receive from Nehru's Government. When India had just gained her independence she faced the problem of assimilating the independent princely States within her territory—States which ranged from the 82,168 square miles of Hyderabad to the five square miles of Banka Pahari. The rulers of these States could have made trouble by resisting the incorporation of their States into the Indian union. In exchange for their peaceful cooperatio: they were granted privy purses, proportionate to their riches, by Nehru's predecessor, ever since, there has been pressure by India's parliamentarians for the reduction or abolition of these privy purses which can be anything up to a tax-free million dollars a year. Nehru has refused to denounce this agreement between his Government and the Maharajahs. Instead he is suggesting to them, by letter, that it would be in their own interest to accept a cut. If they accept, say the Maharajahs, then the trick will be tried again. Yet how can they refuse since it is Nehru who holds the purse strings?

TEA FOR TWO

Two sisters had lived together for many years. Then, when one was 98 and the other 96, the elder died. The doctor who undertook the task of breaking the news to the survivor feared that the shock might have serious results.

But the old lady bore up wonderfully. "Ah, well," she said, "now I suppose I shall be able to have tea the way I like it."

SAVING

A young husband realized it was time to start saving money. He decided that he would not use the bus any more when returning from his office. He ran behind the bus, arrived home gasping and said to his wife: "Darling, I saved 10 cents this morning by running behind the bus!"

"You're a fool!" said his wife. "Why didn't you run behind a taxi and save half a dollar.'

Gathering Of Irish Clans

(SPECIAL FROM DUBLIN)

THE programme for Ireland's spring festival, An Tostal, which opens at Easter, suggests that the organisation has improved considerably since last year's rather scrappy initial effort.

The opening date is a fortnight later than in 1953 and this promises better weather. Again the three-weeks' period covers the principal established event of this season, Dublin's Spring Show.

An Tostal opens on Easter Sunday with a pageant representing the landing of St. Patrick at Easter 432 and the lighting of a Paschal fire on the Hill of Slane, beside the River Boyne, a symbolic act which opened Patrick's campaign to Christianise Ireland. Dublin, on the following day, will have a pageant of flowers, presumably an offshoot of the now flourishing bulb-growing industry. Killarney will have a pan-Celtic festival, at which musicians and dancers from Brittany, Scotland, Wales, Cornwall, the Isle of Man, and Ireland will compete. Cork has a choral music and dancing festival, and Athlone a festival of amateur drama.

General MacNeill, the organiser of An Tostal, has high hopes of the rally of Donegal clans: this year it will centre on the royal house, the O'Donnells, but in subsequent years, it is expected to bring home thousands of American MacSweeneys, MacManuses, O'Dohertys, O'Doyles and Wards.

SPORTING events are legion, ranging from the Irish Grand National at Fairyhouse to an international bridge contest in Galway. They will include a Tour of Ireland bicycle race and an international angling contest in four classes — salmon, trout, pike and perch, with prize-money of more than £500. An event which offers a view of the most picturesque side of Irish life is theCurragh racing championships to be held at Galway. Curraghs are the home-made boats of tarred canvass stretched over wooden frames used by fishermen of the West Coast.

The Spring Show in Dublin, always the biggest agricultural show of the year, will feature horse jumping competitions, including a special international competition for An Tostal cup. Finally, golfers will have an opportunity to beat Joe Carr's score of 52 in the Golden Ball competition, played on a one-hole course in Kildare, with five miles of open country between tee and green.

And Now A $55,000 Rink

(NORTH BAY NUGGET)

ACTION by the Canadian International Paper Company to remove the "company town" label from Temiskaming, the lively community on the Quebec side of the Ottawa river 43 miles from North Bay, is to be commended.

Now all the streets, water lines, sewers, electric light facilities, parks and playgrounds in Temiskaming belong to the people of the town. The big pulp company, which spent more than $1,000,000 developing these services, is handing them over to the municipality free of charge.

Residents of Temiskaming will welcome the move, which certainly gives them a new voice in the handling of their community's affairs. It should serve to spur civic pride and bring about a better deal for the new owners.

This is not criticism of the way CIP ran the town affairs. The company's handling of town affairs was solid and efficient. But we're inclined to think that the people of Temiskaming will be able to do the job just that much better.

It certainly puts Temiskaming in an enviable position. Here is a community which has all its services — water, sewage and light — installed and operating yet doesn't have one cent in debenture debt. Few municipalities can boast a record like that.

The town's proposal to install an artificial rink sounds like a popular one that should receive support. The cost will be about $55,000.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

Now Moses kept the flock of Jethro his father-in-law, the priest of Midian: and he led the flock to the backside of the desert, and came to the mountain of God, even to Horeb.

And the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a flame of fire out of the midst of a bush: and he looked, and, behold, the bush burned with fire, and the bush was not consumed.

And Moses said, I will now turn aside and see this great sight, why the bush is not burnt. And when the Lord saw that he turned aside to see, God called unto him out of the midst of the bush, and said, Moses, Moses. And he said, Here am I . . .

And the Lord said, I have surely seen the affliction of my people which are in Egypt, and have heard their cry by reason of their taskmasters; for I know their sorrows . . . Come now therefore, and I will send thee unto Pharaoh, that thou mayest bring forth my people the children of Israel out of Egypt.

And Moses said unto God, Behold, when I come unto the children of Israel, and shall say unto them, The God of your fathers hath sent me unto you; and they shall say unto me, What is his name? what shall I say unto them?

And God said unto Moses, I AM THAT I AM: and he said, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, I AM hath sent me unto you. (Ex. 3:1-4, 7, 10, 13, 14.)

V.O.N. DISSOCIATION FROM OUR ZEAL

Sir: In view of the fact that my name was used so freely in a recent Community Chest Article on behalf of VON, I feel I must correct a few statements that appeared therein.

First of all, may I say that I realize that the reporter was only trying to "boost" VON services and I appreciate that fact—but I am afraid I must disassociate myself from any statements or inference involving other nursing groups and other professions.

We in the VON are very happy to recognize the many excellent and well-prepared nurses in this Community who are giving a service that can not be referred to as other than "tops" in their field.

I am sorry that the zeal of the reporter on our behalf was used to draw comparisons of any kind and we would like to assure the public and the other members of our profession that these grandiose ideas of our status are not ours.

The Medical Profession was not referred to by me in the interview other than to say that we worked under the direction of the family physician. We as a nursing group realize more than most others the very personal concern the Medical Men have for their patients.

I thank you Sir for this space—and hope that I have not sounded ungrateful for the reporter's efforts on our behalf.

Sincerely,
HARRIET McGEARY

City Trust Made Big Money While Paying Off Town's Bonds and Debts

By HARRY THEOBALD

(This is the seventh in a series of articles on the Peterborough City Trust.)

Investment in Canadian Victory Loan bonds of World War I was the first extraordinary use of its increasing funds made by the Peterborough City Trust Commission.

By 1919 the Commissioners had subscribed a total of $270,000 in the loans floated by the government. Canada was drawing on the resources of its people and their institutions, including city and county councils.

City Trust decided in November 1919 to gather up its bonds, consolidate their sale, and reinvest the proceeds in the new Victory Loan of that year. In that package was $50,000 at $97.50, five per cent debentures. Another in that amount at $98.25, $70,000 at $104.50 and $100,000 at $103 and three-eighths with interest at 5½ per cent. The motion that day authorized sale of these bundles, followed by reinvestment, "and to borrow from the bank so much of the purchase money that may be necessary to pay in full for the subscription as well as subscribing $75,000 in the same bonds."

This is a forgotten detail of the Trust's years of financing the municipality's borrowings. The members that year were: W. H. Moore, chairman; Vincent Eastwood, E. A. Peck, Richard Hall and John J. Hartley.

TRUST EARNED MONEY

To many citizens the earnings of the Trust were something of a discovery. Meetings were never reported, although news bulletins were handed out from time to time when Trust affairs were considered of sufficient importance.

As already mentioned in these flashbacks from the minutes of the Trust, its primary business was to requisition the municipal council for whatever money was required to meet the community's obligations on its borrowing. Part of that was the annual interest charges. The other part was the sinking fund as it is called, as annual amount to be held by the Trust until the debentures were maturing. Then the money was available and on hand to repay those who had bought the debentures, in other words had lent the town the funds for capital expenditure.

In the beginning the annual demand on the council was a trifle—seven or eight thousand dollars, and it was under the Trust chairmanship of Vincent Eastwood that this annual levy on the council first passed the $200,000 mark. The council raised the money in the annual taxes.

With sinking funds for deposit and keeping, and increasing year by year, in proportion to the city's spending and borrowing, the Trust put that resource to work, and gradually acquired a surplus. And it was from that source the Trust could divert its credit to the necessities of the federal government during the war, lending to the country and getting paid for it at the fixed rate of interest.

TRUST'S END

(By the way, T. A. Mckay, the last secretary of the Commission, closed out his temporary office at the city hall Wednesday. He had remained beyond the end of the year and the evanishment of the Commission for some details of the disappearing sinking fund method of retiring municipal debt. That is the last episode in the story of the City Trust. Don Hill, assistant treasurer, has placed these records in a basement storeroom.)

ARCADE, 1914

Back in 1914 E. H. D. Hall,, solicitor, informed the Trust they appeared to be empowered to buy waterworkks debentures without consent of the municipal board. Mr. Eastwood gave notice of motion to close the arcade—on the east side of George St. leading through to the market,, three or four stores up from the town clock corner.

Another question was renewal for 21 years of the Thomas Bradburn estate ground lease. The city had the right of purchase if they wished to exercise it, but the Trust decided that it was inadvisable at the time and arranged for renewal of the lease at $14.95 a year. There had been an earlier lease in Jan., 1896.

The Trust transformed its account to the Bank of Montreal in September, and decided to buy $10,000 waterworks debentures and $7,957.68 local improvement debentures issued by the council.

Charles R. Banks in October assigned his store lease, north of the present Anthony corner store, to Boston.

He introduced the chair arm cafeteria, a new system that was certainly here before it appeared in Montreal, and was one of the very first departures in Canada from the long established dining table. Here, people shied away from the innovation.

MARKET PAVING

City council asked the Trust to lay a wide concrete walk across the market square. They did so, providing extra space for farm produce display tables. The pressure of the city's need of parking space swept away the farmers' outdoor market several years ago.

Ald. Albert H. Stratton and City Treasurer F. H. Adams asked the Trust to buy $21,523 sewer debentures. Mr. Stratton was chairman of the finance committee. Provisos to the request were: that the consent of the Railway and Municipal Board be obtained, and that there was sufficient money in the Trust's account.

W. H. Moore, chairman, reported that he had bought on behalf of the Trust $20,000 Dominion government 5 per cent bonds at $97.50, ten-year term. His action was approved, and he was authorized to buy an additional $20,000 of the government loan "without breaking faith with the city".

The first investment in war bonds was in Jan. 1915, the amount $30,000 at $97.62½. To an'equiry from the Board of Education about use of the council chamber, the Trust replied that they had "always considered the council chamber to be under control of the council".

In the following year the Trust asked the Bank of Montreal to buy $50,000 of Dominion of Canada war bonds, and hold them until paid for. The instalments were $5,000 down, the balance to be paid by the Trust between Sept. and the end of the year, evidently depending on anticipated receipts.

In Dec. 1916, Ald. Stratton and Frank Adams were a deputation asking the Trust to buy $30,000 waterworks debentures at 5¼ per cent.

1917 AFFAIRS

That kind of borrowing was actually keeping the money here at home. The Trust's demand on the council for 1917 was $173,177.28, a new high.

City Treasurer Adams reported to the Trust some deficiencies under certain bylaws, and ask them to make up the amount. The Trust's solicitor advised that "Trust authority precluded such action."

A letter from the council urged that the Trust account be returned to the bank of Toronto.

Evidence of the changing times and the enlarging of the council's responsibilities is noted in the record of the deputation from the council: Ald. Frank Dobbin, chairman of the fire and light committee, City Solicitor G. N. Gordon, City Clerk Armstrong, and Treasurer Adams, urging the Trust to pay from its surplus $13,000 for a motor fire engine.

Trust was advised by its solicitor that it was not justified in expending the principal of the G.T.R. mortgage, an old debt to the city, unless by bylaw in accordance with the Act, and for a purpose approved by council and commission. It transpired that all money received on the G.T.R. principal account since 1908 had been appropriated to purposes designated by the city council.

In Dec. 1917 the Trust bought $70,000 of the war loan, and received the council's approval of the Eastwood suggestion to close the arcade and replace it with stores fronting on George St.

PROPOSAL TO SELL

James Kendry suggested sale of the leasehold properties. His thought was that better types of buildings would be construeted if the land was owned outright instead of on 21-year leases. He was referring to the stores on the east side of George St. in the Charlotte-Simcoe block. His proposal was "left over for consideration". Nothing ever came of it.

The city still owns the entire block through to Water St.

First lease of a store in the old arcade area was taken by E. F. Mason.

In Oct. 1918, the Trust bought an $80,000 block of war bonds. Commissioner James Kendry died. The minutes record tributes to his work. He was once Conservative M.P. for Peterborough and was head of the old Auburn Woollen Mills, and greatly esteemed by his staff and the citizens as a whole.

In Jan. 1919 the secretary reported $51,400 on hand. To meet interest due at June 30, the sum of $30,200 was set aside, and V. Eastwood moved that $20,000 of the 1933 Victory Loan at 5½ per cent be bought at $101.

John J. Hartley, builder and contractor, was appointed by the council to replace Mr. Kendry. Mr. Hartley was for years president of the Trades and Labor Council, another fine citizen.

PROFITABLE USE

Such minutes as this one reflects practice of the Trust in putting their funds to the most profitable use. In Jan. 1920 they decided to sell $20,000 Ontario government debentures at $96.50 and buy $25,000 city of Peterborough 4½ per cent debentures at $89.14, and yielding 5¾ per cent.

W. H. Moore, barrister, died in April 1920. He was for years chairman. Vincent Eastwood was the unanimous choice for the chairmanship which was first offered to Richard Hall. He declined.

Mr. Eastwood continued as chairman from that year to the end of 1953. The minutes are catching up on fairly recent times. The police asked for a garage, and the Trust released the city's lots on Perry St. for use by Canadian Raybestos Co.

Car Invention Claim

A London engineer has invented a thing called a "Gyreactor" which, by conserving the amount of power required for starting, and wasted in stopping, a motor-car engine, may, he claims, reduce automobile fuel consumption by 50 per cent.

To understand how it works you have to consider what happens when you brake a car by changing into a lower gear: the car is then driving the engine, and the energy coming from the momentum is used up in taking up a heavier load. The main feature of the Gyreactor is a heavy, 250-pound flywheel, which you couple with the drive when you want to slow down. Instead of driving the engine, the momentum drives the flywheel, the energy being stored up, so to speak, in the spinning flywheel instead of being wasted in driving the engine.

The energy is stored for so long as you leave the flywheel spinning. You can leave it all night in the garage, and find it spinning almost as fast the next morning. You can then couple it to the engine, and use its energy to start the engine up.

The secret of the operation, of course, is the ease with which the flywheel will turn, and the power which a 250-lb. wheel can generate when revolving at speed. The ticking-over of the engine, I understand, is enough to keep it revolving at maximum speed. So far, apparently, the only objection to this remarkable invention seems to be that it sounds too good to be true. Experimentation proceeds, however, and a small company has already been formed to develop the invention.

Keeping Peterborough People Out of Jail

All of Canada has only 45 full-time probation officers to deal with adult offenders. One of them is John R. Twigg of Peterborough, who has offices in the City Hall. The Examiner went over to see Mr. Twigg at his office this week and here are some of the things it found out:

First of all, Mr. Twigg is not an employee of the city. Nor his small staff—Miss Marlene Stewart, receptionist-secretary. The Peterborough Probation Office (actually, two rooms on the ground floor of the City Hall) is an office of the Provincial Government. The costs of the office, including salaries, are met by the Provincial Government.

Mr. Twigg has been in Peterborough, engaged in his special legalistic welfare work, since January, 1947, when he was appointed Probation Officer under the Juvenile Court Act. His powers then were related to the Family Court and the Juvenile Court and the probation services he rendered were part of the general services of the Children's Aid Society of the City and County.

PROBATION NEW

In September, 1952, the Peterborough Probation Office became autonomous. On March 1, last year, Mr. Twigg was appointed Probation Officer under the Probation Act of Ontario, the official status he now holds. Prior to that all the expenses of probation for the two courts (Family and Juvenile) were underwritetn by the city and county, and until last March "there was no such thing in Peterborough as adult probation," Mr. Twigg remarked.

Peterborough's Probation Officer came from Toronto, where prior to 1945 he was with the Welfare Department of Toronto; and it was in the University of Toronto that he took his course in the School of Social Studies. Mr. Twigg was in Kingston, as an official of its Children's Aid Society and Juvenile Court, immediately before coming to Peterborough in 1947.

He is a friendly, quiet-spoken, deliberative man. His greying hair and years of experience, his characteristic of thinking before speaking, and his firm manner indicate some of the reasons for the success of his work in Peterborough. This work, here as in Toronto, has brought him in close contact with many of the sorry and sullied problems of human beings; he is by no means an arm-chair philosopher separate from the world of raw experience.

FAMILY COURT

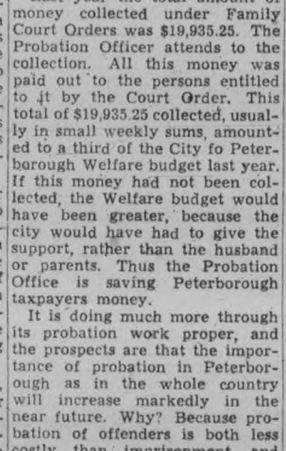
Although he is an appointee of the Provincial Government, a Provincial civil servant, Mr. Twigg's work continues to involve much Juvenile Court and Family Court matters. Each of these courts, with Magistrate Philp as judge, sits usually once a week in the County Court House. Much of their work comes to it by way of the Children's Aid Society, but where probation is likely to be involved, Mr. Twigg's office is central to the hearings.

Last year the Juvenile Court of the City and County of Peterborough held 59 hearings, and 26 juvenile offenders brought before it (girls and and boys under 16 years of age) were placed on probation. The uses of probation were apparent in this, for only three of the juveniles appearing in the court in 1953 had appeared in previous years. It may be deduced therefore that few probationers ever offended again. Mr. Twigg has some startling figures to prove this about adults put on probation.

COURT COLLECTIONS

Before going into this, the affairs of the Peterborough Family Court should be noted. These hearings also involve probation. Last year's sessions included cases of non-support, assault of the wife, deserting wives, not providing maintenance for children, cruelty to children, and the like—all told, 217 such cases came before the Peterborough Family Court last year.

One especially interesting case involved a person entitled to support but who lived in England. Under the "Reciprocal Enforcement of Maintenance Orders Act", it is possible for a court in England to hear evidence of a wife or husband there claiming support for himself, herself, or children. The English judge can order this money to be paid. A subsequent hearing is held in Canada, where the non-supporter lives. If the Canadian court decides that the non-supporter should pay the English court order, the Probation Office collects the payments and forwards them to the wife or husband in England.



Last year the total amount of money collected under Family Court Orders was $19,935.25. The Probation Officer attends to the collection. All this money was paid out to the persons entitled to it by the Court Order. This total of $19,935.25 collected, usually in small weekly sums, amounted to a third of the City fo Peterborough Welfare budget last year. If this money had not been collected, the Welfare budget would have been greater, because the city would have had to give the support, rather than the husband or parents. Thus the Probation Office is saving Peterborough taxpayers money.

It is doing much more through its probation work proper, and the prospects are that the importance of probation in Peterborough as in the whole country will increase markedly in the near future. Why? Because probation of offenders is both less costly than imprisonment, and achieves better results.

PAROLE AND PROBATION

Mr. Twigg made clear at the outset the difference between parole and probation. Parole is a "ticket of leave". It is "the conditional release of an offender after part of his sentence has been served". On the other hand, a person put on probation does not go to jail at all unless he violates the terms of his probation. Probation is "the conditional release of an offender under supervision, without his having served a jail or reformatory sentence". Mr. Twigg stressed the phrase "under supervision".

Despite its apparant advantages, Canada has made little use of probation up to the present time. There are fewer than 50 officers who work with adult offenders in Canada "in spite of the fact that in 1950 we had 1,215,376 convictions in Canadian courts and over 40,000 of the convictions were for indictable (i.e. serious) offences". Another point in the black record: over 40% of all crimes of violence were committed by persons aged 16 to 26. Mr. Twigg noted that 60% of all offenders committed to institutions of correction were put in for 90 days or less.

JOHN R. TWIGG

What is the purpose of sending a man to an institution? To protect the public. Does it, as a matter of fact, protect the public? The answer is that four out of five people who are incarcerated are some time or other again back behind walls. They are recidivists—repeaters.

WHY PROTECTION?

"Can we say that anybody who was committed to an institution for 90 days would be a danger to the public if they were allowed their freedom under proper supervision?" Mr. Twigg asked. His point is that if a crime draws only a 90-day sentence, it cannot be a violent or terribly serious one.

But Canada sends its guilt-proven offenders to jail, despite the fact that imprisonment results in 90 per cent. recidivism. Contrast this with the Canadian record of probationers. About 70% of persons put on probation never offended again.

PROBATION CHEAPER

And what about the cost? The cost of probation, for each person put on probation, is $50 a year. The cost of sending him or her to reformatory is $1,230 a year. The cost of putting him or her in penitentiary is $1,760 a year.

Canada has as yet had a short and small experience with probation, despite the fact that the Act providing for it has been in force since 1937. Until last year only Toronto, Ottawa, Windsor and Hamilton (in Ontario) had probation officers for adults.

The English record of the good uses of probation is clear. England has had a comprehensive system of probation since 1904. In 1950 there were 98,000 persons in Canada behind bars, out of a total population of 14,000,000. In England and Wales there were 34,825 persons behind bars, yet their population is three times as great.

In Canada in 1950, 3,361 adult offenders were put on probation (2,075 of them in Ontario). But in the same year in England and Wales 34,000 adult offenders were kept out of prison by being put under the supervision of probation officers.

Mr. Twigg says: "Probation is not for all offenders. There are people who must be isolated for the protection of the public. Probationers are necessarily a select group, mostly first offenders". This is one of the reasons that success is so high, because the probationers are a chosen group of offenders.

"We have thousands of officers engaged in catching offenders and caring for them in institutions, and yet we have fewer than 50 officers engaged in the rehabilitation of offenders in the area which offers the best chance of success—pre-institutional care and guidance and probation".

THEY RETURN ANYWAY

It is a well-known fact that first offenders and others whose crimes have not been serious learn much about how to commit crimes, and become more perverted in their conduct, because of association with other prisoners, old lags who teach the y[illegible]eir bad tricks. This happe[illegible]n in reformatories. Under a good probation system, minor and first offenders are not locked up to learn bad ways.

Regardless of who they are, offenders will eventually return to the community, unless they are hanged or sentenced to life imprisonment. "If the community is to be further protected from them they must be reclaimed as useful citizens".

How does probation work in Peterborough, what is the procedure? There are at present 25 adults on probation to Mr. Twigg—persons who have been found guilty of wife-beating; theft; breaking, entering and theft and of attempted suicide, and so on.

HOW PROBATION WORKS

If probation is contemplated, Mr. Twigg explained, "I supply the court with a pre-sentence report on the person's background and character. This report is available to counsel for the defence. The presiding magistrate makes use of this pre-sentence report in disposing of the case". If probation is not decided on, the man is committed, then a copy of the Probation Officer's report is made available at the jail, reformatory or prison to which he is sent.

The general terms of probation are laid down by the court in passing sentence; like this: "You are to report to Mr. John Twigg once a week (or whatever the frequency the court decides on), for a month (or six, or a year)".

If the probationer falls down badly in his obligations, he is brought back to court on a charge laid by the Probation Officer, and his original offence, as well as his violation of probation can be dealt with at that time. In others words, he can be sentenced on the same charge for which he was originally allowed probation and also for breaking probation. The whole book can be thrown at him.

QUALIFICATIONS

Probation officers need extensive experience in social work, as well as a theoretical knowledge of it

A·F·I·E·L·D with NICK NICKELS

Spring sneaked into the Kawarthas last weekend on a balmy south-east wind. You had to get away from the city and highways to feel her at work, preferably on some small river at the bottom of a deep rocky valley.

You parked the family car and followed old deer tracks down through the open bush to the river's edge. The snow was wet and granular and worked into the tops of your overshoes at each step. The river ice, though sound, was dull grey and with great wet patches on it. The kids tore across it with confidence but the old folks tested the edges for air holes, and found some.

There was summer music in the small falls that slid black and glassy over a ledge into the tawny whirlpool at its base. You could tell by the tracks around its perimeter that mink had been investigating the pool-locked Brown Trout there.

The kids tired of the rapids. They aspired to reach the rocky ridge above and raced up the steep slope through the shrunken drifts. The old folks followed, rested, went on and reached the top in time to see five deer mincing along the ice of the beaver marsh, far below. A shout and they shot away through the cedars in a twinkling.

The steady roar of High Falls came to you occasionally on the soft air currents. A pair of raucous crows tumbled across the valley and chicadees trilled from the underbrush.

As you drove home through the village you noticed hundreds of people lining the bridges, watching the freshet of the River roaring over the dam.

"Anything wrong?" you shout to a neighbor.

"No," he assures you, beaming. "The ice is coming down out of the Lake".

You could see ice floes of all sizes dotting the swift black water. You watched the strong current marshalling them down the channel and over the chutes. You noted the happy faces of the spectators and smiled, too, for you knew that the back of winter was broken. There would be dirty, mean weather throughout March but spring had made her first overtures in the Kawarthas.

FLUTTER IN THE FISHNET: Fishermen who threw all their gear into the garbage in protest of having to pay $1 for a resident fishing license have grieved it again upon learning that there will be no change. It was one of those periodic suggestions raked up in the House, one that has been turned down flatly ever since it reared its ugly head.

ON FEET OF SPRING: Some men take to drink, dope, chasing women and gambling, but our pet passion for years and years has been the accumulation of footwear. That seems to be the opinion of the women of the family, at any rate.

We have bought and worn moccasins, mukluks, hobnailed boots and shoes of all shapes and colors. They overflow the shelves and cupboards and we suspect some lefts and/or rights have disappeared in the garbage in a long-time discouragement program. Just when our passion for footwear seemed to be cooling off the devil popped up again on Charlotte St.

There is a Netherlands importing store where rows and rows of new wooden shoes. After furtive looks up and down the street we slipped into the store and asked Mrs. Margaret Goemaat for a pair, size 10½.

Before you could say "Zuider Zee" she whipped out a fancy pair of yellow KLOMPEN, size 26 centimeters. They fit like a glove, and would have been glov-ier, with an additional pair of socks. Light as a feather, too.

We klomped happily around the store and would have given them a trial run in the gutter slush outside had Mrs. Goemaat not been right behind us. We fiddled with the car fare in our pocket, took the Klompen off and side-tracked the sale with a lot of rapid questioning. We soon found that:

—There were 80 pairs on the store shelves in 40 sizes.

—The 700-odd Dutch farmer immigrants roundabout are buying them every day.

—Klopmen are made from one-piece willow wood blocks and cost, according to size, from 98 cents to $3 a pair.

—Klompen normally wear out in about three months, but an added rubber sole will stretch their mileage a bit. If well fitted they won't wear out the heels of your socks.

—Some women gardeners in the city are wearing them for work outside and have found them to be the absolute ticket.

We told Mrs. Goemaat that "we would be back". And we shall for no other reason than to see the expressions on home faces when we step out of the car at Wits' End some fine evening and kick them off outside the door just like the Dutch folk.

Trouble is we shall probably be kicked out after them.

Pontiacs Take Win Over The Petes To Sew Up Series

Orillia Pontiacs pounded out a 5-1 victory over the TPT Petes on Orillia ice last night to sew up the best-of-seven OHA senior "B" semi-final series at one win apiece. The third game is here tonight. Minus three of their regulars, the Petes were below form after a tough trip in a snowstorm, and only clicked for one goal in the third period. Meantime, Orillia, after a scoreless first frame, fired in three tallies in the middle heat, and added two more in the third before a hefty and noisy crowd.

The visitors were without Keith Montgomery (who couldn't get off work) and Gus Leonard and Denny Peterson, shelved with injuries. Monty will be back in action this evening, and Leonard may be ready, too. Peterson will be out for another game or two, anyway.

PLAYED RUGGED

Orillia played it rugged again and drew 13 penalties to just six for the Petes, but the latter couldn't cash in when holding a man advantage on the ice. Al Shewchuk was given a misconduct penalty on top of a minor for beefing too hard, and majors each were handed out to Don Floyd and Danny MacDonald for high-sticking and then breaking into a fist fight. The husky homesters used their extra weight to good effect all through.

Pontiacs' scorers were Vic Grigg, Bob Robertson, Johnny Woods, Moe Richardson and Ab Bowen. Two assists each went to Nelson and McCrone, and singles to Payne, Bowen and MacDonald. For the Petes, Don Floyd scored the only marker on a pass from Rod Belisle.

Collins drew an early slashing penalty and Shewchuk followed for roughing. Payne went next for high-sticking, but all were back with no damage done. Play was fast, even and pretty careful in the initial inning, neither side taking many open chances. The goalies were tested from time to time but no pucks got by them. Bowen later drew a sentence for hooking and was just back when Aitkin got the nod for tripping as the O's played it in rugged fashion. Donlevy had to step to hold out Ponties first line toward the finish of the frame.

SCORED THREE

A Hill-Crowley stab came close to open up the second stanza, but Orillia scored shortly when Grigg rapped in Payne's rebound at close range with Donlevy sprawled from making one save. Shewchuk was gated for tripping and Armstrong hit the trail for hooking. They were back and play was speeded up when Aitkin and Collins roughed it up to draw the referee's nod. McMaster had a fine try and then Robertson bashed in a screened shot from defence, McCrone and Nelson starting the play. Munro went over the wall for interference and Bowen followed for tripping. With less than half a minute left in the heat, Woods slapped in a hot angle shot on in-close combination with McCrone and Nelson to make it 3-0.

PETES GET ONE

Richardson's shot early in the third on a play with McDonald and Bowen was deflected in, after they intercepted a Petes' pass in Peterborough territory. A minute later, Bowen's angle shot beat Donlevy for their final tally of the tilt. Crowley was robbed as the Petes fought furiously. Shewchuk went over for holding, and had a misconduct tacked onto it. But the visitors couldn't cash in on that, nor a bit later on Robertson's charging sentence. Finally, at 14:35, Belisle stickhandled smartly down the ice and laid over a neat pass to Don Floyd, the latter getting away a whistling angle shot that caught a net corner for the final goal of the game, and the Petes' first one. Floyd and MacDonald tangled then and drew minor penalties for high-sticking and majors for a fight that followed on the ice, no damage resulting. Favero went over for hooking late in the fray.

Petes: goal, Donlevy; defence, Redmond and McMaster; centre, Greenlaw; wings, Fryia and Heffernan; alts.: Hill, Crowley, Collins, Belisle, Prentice, Floyd, Munro and Armstrong.

Orillia: goal, Shropshire; defence, Shewchuk and Robertson; centre, Bowen; wings, MacDonald and Richardson; alts.: Nelson, McCrone, Wood, Payne, Favero, Aitkin, Grigg, Desroches and Pearsall.

Referees, A. Bellemer and E. Hodgson.

PCVS Juniors Victorious To Gain COSSA

Pickering pulled out a 48-46 cage win over PCVS junior boys in Pickering last night but the Garnet and Grey squad captured their group playoff round by a tight round score of 79-76, as Collegians had won 33-28 here. It was as keen a two-game series as the two scores indicate, and play was at a hot tempo Friday night right up to the final whistle. The winners now go into COSSA playoffs.

Pickering led 10-8 in the first quarter last night, while PCVS drove in the next heat to lead 24-21 halfway through. After a 12-12 third quarter in which sizzling action was served up on both sides, Pickering made it mighty close on the series by outscoring the visitors 15-10 in the fourth frame.

Davis led the way for PCVS with 18 points, Bell clicking for 13, Dubay nine, Belamy five and Brown one. Tops for Pickering was Bibeau with 17 points, Tovey tallying 14, Cary 10, Newell four and Connolly three.

St. Peter's Gain Fair Lead Over Uxbridge

St. Peter's junior boys pulled out a 40-30 hoop victory over Uxbridge High on the latters' floor Friday night to open their lakeshore basketball final playoffs. The return contest of the points-to-count series will be staged in St. Peter's gym on Monday evening.

SPS swept to a 10-3 lead in the first quarter, and built it up to an 18-9 edge at the halfway mark of a speedy, clean tussle. The Saints were still in front by 27-18 going into the fourth quarter with some smart work under the hoop, and they opened it up in the fourth to tote home the 10-point lead, though Uxbridge gave them a stiff scrap in the late stages.

Dan Quinlan sparked the SPS attack with 17 points, while Bob Hickey was good for eight and Ron Board for six, the other points being pretty well spread around. Harris led Uxbridge scorers with 12 points, Fellows coming through with seven and Wallace with six.

Curling News

Next week we will have 56 mixed rinks competing in the annual open mixed rink bonspiel. There will be many rinks entered from this club, but the majority will come from curling clubs all over Ontario.

The bonspiel will run from Monday until Friday inclusive.

There are four events with a trophy for each event—the Empress Hotel Trophy, the Calvert Trophy, the T. Eaton Co. Trophy, and the Gordon K. Fraser Trophy.

The bonspiel is now considered one of the best of its kind in the province. There is no better place to renew old friendships and make new ones than at an open bonspiel.

On behalf of the bonspiel committee and the entire membership of this club we wish one and all: Good curling, good competitions, and a happy ending.

Sturgeon Trophy this evening: First draw 6:45 o'clock sharp, second draw at 9:00 o'clock.

Eric von Frenckell, president of the Olympics organizing committee, comments in his recent Games report. "This achievement proves that a small country and small town are in a position to organize the Olympic Games. The Tramways Company showed a profit of $12,000. The town of Helsinki, thanks to the Games, now possesses new auto bus, tramways and stadia, entirely paid for by Games receipts. They also proved an excellent form of propaganda for Finland, showing the world that it was a country which stands for free and progressive democracy." These comments should be of interest to Canadians who hope to have the Olympics staged sometime in this country. Canadian Olympic Committee is working toward this end.

With Toronto Lyndhursts meeting their big test in international hockey against the Soviet team tomorrow, this little item by Andy O'Brien (wro writes for our Weekend edition) may be timely. He writes: "They tell a story about a player who tried out for the Czechoslovakian hockey team—now in the world series at Stockholm. His name was Molotov but, two years ago, he went to the government department concerned and asked to have it change to Clancy. A year later, he was back asking that it be changed to something else. An official asked why. 'Because,' he replied, 'if I get into the world championships, the English reporters are bound to look at me suspiciously and ask what was my name before it was Clancy'."

Senior Playoffs Resume

Orilia Pontiacs play the TPT Petes at 8:30 tonight in Civic Arena, third game of their best-of-seven OHA senior "B" group semi-finals. Oshawa and Kingston, even at one and one, are at it tonight in the Limestone City in the other semi-windup bracket. Another keen, rugged encounter may be expected here this p.m. as the hard-hitting rivals rip into each other, with plenty at stake for both. Fourth fray is back in Orillia on Monday and fifth here next Wednesday. In league play, Petes and Ponties split evenly with each other on wins, losses and ties. The Redmond men scored 189 goals to 184 by Orillia in all scheduled tilts, while O's had 183 scored against 'em and the Petes 189. It'll be quite a series ere one is erased.

* * * * * *

Orillia had it and the Petes didn't last night on the northern cushion as Pontiacs earned a 5-1 decision. Well, maybe it should have been a 3-1 count as our side practically donated a couple of counters, but the O's were the better team on the night's play. Tossed in three tallies without a return in the mid session and that was the difference. Local club was minus Gus Leonard, Denny Peterson and Keith Montgomery — and you can't afford to lose this trio at the same time. Monty had to work but is available tonight, and 'tis hoped Gus Leonard's eye injury is healed enough for the third tilt. Peterson's knee isn't just right yet. Petes bucked a snowstorm going and looked below form most of the game. They also rode out a storm coming home, those who didn't stay in Orillia overnight.

* * * * * *

Club Wasn't Clicking

Drake Jopling and Ed Redmond inserted Kevin Heffernan into the lineup, and the husky junior did okay. But the club didn't click as well as in the opener of the playoffs. They should snap back to form tonight and, if they can win their home games, they'll take the set. Pontiacs played it hard last night — earning twice as many penalties, which Petes couldn't cash in on — and they deserved the verdict. They were deadly serious all the way and argued over everything. And their scoring was well spread about. Don Floyd got the locals' only tally from Rod Belisle. Much hinges on this third game, we'd say, as a loss for Petes here would put 'em in a real spot, Pontiacs always being tough on their own sheet.

BOMBERS SIGN PAIR

WINNIPEG (CP)—Flying wing Buddy Korchak and tackle Buddy Tinsley have signed with Winnipeg Blue Bombers for the 1954 Western Interprovincial Football Union season.

Korchak, 27-year-old homebrew playing his sixth season with Bombers, captured the WIFU individual scoring title last year.

Tinsley, formerly with Baylor University and the now-defunct professional Los Angeles Dons, has played four seasons with Winnipeg.

Marmora Gets Easy One From Vandorf

MARMORA (ENS) — Marmora Millionaires accounted for Vandorf Bruins on the home rink on Friday evening by the overwhelming score of 17-2. It was the first of the four out of seven series between these teams in OHA intermediate "C" hockey. The games started late and the visitors lacked a player of the allowed 12 for a team. The superiority of the homesters was not apparent in the first period.

In the second, penalties proved more costly to Vandorf and the 5-1 advantage that the homesters had in the first was doubled. The third saw Marmora indulging in a scoring spree yielding seven goals without response. K. Trumble led the home scores getting three goals and four assists. Also getting three goals with one assist was Jones. Lavender was close behind with three goals. Lovelers, Maynes and Mantle each netted twice and singles came the way of E. Trumble and Leonard. Due to the Havelock-Campbellford game at Havelock, the attendance was down to the 400 mark. The next game of the series is at Newmarket on Tuesday evening.

PCVS Cage Damsels Get Two Exhibitions

In exhibition girls' basketball last evening here, PCVS seniors defeated the Grads 20-13, while the junior PCVS lasses won 19-10 over St. Peter's juniors.

The senior Garnet and Greys led 11-9 at the half but finished stronger in this tussle. Bev Pollock counted six points for them, four going to Carol Hughson, three each to Esther Robinson and Marg Dobson, and two apiece to Janet Collins and Marg Raddon. Best for the Grads was Marnie Hollingsworth with six points, as Joan Pearson notched three, and Marg Galoska and Shirley Frost two each.

PCVS juniors built up a 12-8 lead halfway through in their exhibition, and had to hustle to keep in front in the last half as the Saints put on a spirited drive. The winners were led in sniping by Bernice Callan with 12 points, Gail Ferguson having three, and Joan Weir and Sally Fee two apiece. For SPS, Joanne Kearns clicked for six, two each going to Mickey McNaughton and Ruth Hickey.

Havelock Captures Series Over Campbellford In TVL

HAVELOCK (ENS)—Havelock ousted Campbellford in a TVL playoff here Friday by a score of 14-2 in the fifth game in a three out of five series. Havelock now goes on to meet Marmora for the championship of the Northern division. It was a fast game, rather rough, with 13 penalties handed out, two of which were misconduct penalties to Ruttan of Havelock and Simpson of Campbellford for fighting. Over 1200 fans, one of the largest crowds since the arena was built, was in attendance at this final game of the semi-finals, refereed by John Aquino and R. Carson of Belleville.

SOME OF STARS

The forward line of Mason, Eakins and Vitarelli of Havelock played great hockey with Mason and Vitarelli being tied as top scorers of the evening with three goals and an assist each to their credit while Eakins was credited with three assists. The line of Fred Mortimer, Kane and Doris also played fast hockey, getting five goals, three to the former and two to the latter. Nicholls played another of his spectacular net-minding games, only allowing the visitors to count one goal in the first period and one in the third. Nelson, in goal for Campbellford, also played a strong game, making many saves. Coach Doug Mortimer of the local team helped his team to victory, getting three assists, while playing strong defence. Hannah and Wootton also played good defensive hockey in addition to each scoring a goal.

Havelock: goal, Nicholls; defence, Hannah and Wootton; centre, F. Mortimer; wings, Kanes and Doris; alts.: Mason, Eakins, Vitarelli, Ruttan, Laing, Scott, D. Mortimer.

Haas Takes Lead In Houston Open

HOUSTON (AP)—Freddie Haas of New Orleans placed a rain-drenched 71 beside his first-round 67 Friday to take the lead at the half-way mark in the $30,000 Houston Open.

Haas' six-under par 138 for 36 holes left him one notch ahead of Jim Turnesa, Briarcliff, N.Y., who added a 70 to an opening round 69 that included a hole-in-one.

Defending champion Cary Middlecoff, opening day leader with a 66, jumped to a 74 to go into a six-way tie at 140.

Grouped with the Memphis dentist were John Barnum, Grand Rapids, Mich., Chandler Harper, Chattanooga, Tenn., Lloyd Mangrum, Niles, Ill., Bud Holscher, White Plains, N.Y., an Bill Nary, Tucson, Ariz.

Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., and John Hendrick of Ottawa, were tied at 149. Horvath added a 75 to his 74. Hendrick shot a 79 on top

The field was cut to 90 players, plus ties, for today's third round. A six-over-par 150 Friday was needed to continue into the second half of the tourney.

Four Canadians were eliminated, including Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont. His 75-79 put him four over the limit at 154. Bob Dean of Cornwall, Ont., also had 154 with rounds of 74 and 80.

Murray Tucker of Toronto shot 76-77 for 153 and Al Balding, Toronto, finished with 81-76—157.

Gravenhurst Wins

HAVELOCK (ENS) — Havelock were defeated in OMHA bantam "C" series by Gravenhurst by a total of 26-11 goals in a home-and-home series of two games. The score for the first game in Havelock was 16-7 and the second 10-4, both in favor of Gravenhurst.

No Definite Placing In Final Dash To NHL Playoffs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The National Hockey League heads into the last two weeks of its regular season this week-end with the two questions still to be answered. The final dash to the playoffs will tell whether Montreal Canadiens or Toronto Maple Leafs finish in second place and whether Boston Bruins or New York Rangers will be in post season action for the Stanley Cup. Friday night the Rangers missed a chance to move ahead of the Bruins into sole possession of the fourth and last playoff berth. The New Yorkers could only get a single point out of their 0-0 deadlock with Chicago Black Hawks and it deadlocked them again for fourth place with the Bruins.

The battle for second place is just as close with the Leafs one point ahead of the Canadiens. Both play two games during the week-end and neither has a soft touch. The Leafs tangle at home against the leading Detroit Red Wings Saturday night while the Canadiens take on the Bruins in Montreal.

Sunday night as the Canadiens move into Detroit the Leafs clash with the Rangers in New York. Boston also will see double action during the week-end, meeting the Black Hawks in Boston Sunday night after their Saturday game against the Canadiens.

The pressure is on New York and Boston for they have to fight for the last playoff spot. Both the Leafs and Canadiens are in, needing only to decide who'll get the extra money for finishing as runner-up and which club will meet Detroit in the Stanley Cup semi-finals. The third-place club will meet the Wings and both the Canadiens and Leafs will be playing all the harder to avoid that, in addition to trying not to miss out on the additional cash for a second-place finish.

Friday night at Chicago both Johnny Bowers of the Rangers and Al Rollins of the Black Hawks rang up their fourth shutouts as the teams played their scoreless tie. Bower stopped 37 shots, 10 more than the Chicago netminder.

The crowd of 4,804 had little to cheer about except for a third-period fist fight between Lee Fogolin of the Hawks and Ivan Irwin of the Rangers. Both were handed five-minute majors.

Hewitt Trophy Competed For First Time 1954

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Hockey Association executive announced Friday that the W. A. Hewitt Trophy will be up for competition for the first time this year.

At its monthly meeting the OHA said the trophy will be presented to the senior A team that wins the all-Ontario championships.

It was also announced that from now on "the person acting as coach" must sign the referee's report. It was decided that such a person shall be responsible for the team while it is in an arena for the game. The OHA will attempt to have the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association recognize this rule.

Earlier the executives handed out four-game suspensions to players Gord Fennell and Red Kelly for match penalties they received during an intermediate A game in Port Hope March 1. Kelly of Lindsay and Fennell of Port Hope were given match penalties for kicking and slashing at each other. They already have served two games of their suspensions.

A recommendation from the junior A council, pertaining to playoff fees for officials was approved after some objection from Frank Buckland, OHA vice - president "There's no point in us setting fees if they don't abide by it," Buckland said. He said he was surprised to learn that referees in senior hockey received $15 a game while those in junior A were paid $20.

The executive also agreed that goalkeepers who are elevated to a higher series in case of emergencies may revert to their original club when the players they are replacing are physically fit again. This will apply regardless of the number of games played by the replacement. The CAHA will also be asked to sanction this.

OHA president Tory Gregg was authorized to consult with designers to obtain a crest for officials. Gregg brought up the subject, saying he thought OHA officials should wear some identifying insignia on their jackets, especially when attending CAHA conventions.

A decision on the interlocking game between Hamilton Cubs of the OHA Junior A series and Montreal Canadiens of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association Junior league which was ruled "no contest" by the referee was held in abeyance. If the Cubs qualify for the playoffs the game probably will not be played.

Teepees Assured Winners Of OHA Junior 'A' Series

The Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series closes its 1953-54 schedule a week from Sunday but first and last place are the only two spots that have been decided.

St. Catharines TeePees, who have four games remaining in the schedule, are assured of first place. Galt Black Hawks, with four games left, will stay in eighth.

Toronto St. Michael's College, who broke their losing streak on the road with a 6-2 victory over the Greenshirts in Kitchener Friday night, are in third place and have five games left. They have a slight chance of catching second-place Toronto Marlboros, who defeated the Flyers 6-2 in Barrie last night. Marlboros have four games remaining.

The seventh-place Guelph Biltmores, who trounced Galt 12-2 in Guelph, still have a chance of overtaking the Flyers for sixth and last playoff spot. Barrie has a one-point margin and four games remaining while the Biltmores are scheduled for five more games.

Hamilton Cubs, idle Friday night, occupy fourth place and have four games to go. They can be caught up with by the Greenshirts who are two points behind with the same number of games left to play.

CAFFERY GETS TRIO

St. Michael's, who lately have been dropping a number of road games to second-division clubs, had no trouble Friday night.

Jack Caffery for Toronto, Paul Knox, Bill Colvin and Les Duff rounded out the total. Grieg Hicks scored both for Kitchener.

Sonny Larose was a three-goal man for Marlboros. Mike Nykoluk, Gerry James and Wally Maxwell were the other marksmen for Marlboros. Ross Graham and Jim Robertson shared Barrie's total.

Guelph players collected 31 scoring points in Galt. Bill McCreary scored four goals. Bob Attersley three, Hillary Menard two and John Gillis, Bill Sweeney and Bill Pirie one each. Rich Collins and Neil McDonald counted for Galt.

Kitchener is at Galt, Barrie goes to St. Catharines and Guelph is at Hamilton in games tonight. It's Marlboros against St. Michael's in Toronto Sunday.

Dutchmen Take Honors In Allan Cup Competition

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen took another step in the right direction Friday night towards repeating their performance of last year when they won the Allan Cup. But the stairs are pretty high yet.

The Dutchmen defeated Hamilton Cubs 6-2 in Hamilton to take the first round of their Ontario Hockey Association Senior A playoffs. The victory gave the Dutchmen the best-of-five quarter-final series 3-1. Kitchener now advances into the semi-final against the winner of the Windsor Bulldogs-Chatham Maroons best-of-five quarter-final. Stratford is leading that set 2-1.

Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds took a stranglehold in their Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern group playoff with Pembroke by edging the Lumber Kings 2-1 in Pembroke. The Greyhounds lead the best-of-seven semi-final 3-0.

In the other NOHA semi-final, North Bay Trappers shaded Sudbury Wolves 3-2 in overtime at North Bay to register their first victory of the playoffs. The Wolves still lead the best-of-seven series 2-1.

Hamilton could score only six goals in its four playoff games and two came Friday night.

Don Oberholtzer and Charlie Brooker notched two goals each for the winners. Others went to Jack McKenzie and George Scholes. Frank Liscombe and Sam Kennedy were the Hamilton snipers.

HOUNDS NEVER HEADED

The Greyhounds led during most of their clash with Pembroke. Terry Biocchio's goal early in the first period gave them a lead that stood up until the third period when Jack Carthy scored the tying marker for the Lumber Kings. The tie only lasted a minute before Ron Hurst scored the winner.

At North Bay the Trappers, tied 1-1 after regulation time, scored twice within 35 seconds in overtime to take the victory. Sudbury scored its second goal four seconds after the third North Bay goal to make it three goals in 40 seconds.

George Gosselin, the league's top goal scorer during the regular schedule, fired two goals for North Bay. Ab DeMarco scored the other. Tatter McLellan scored one goal for the Wolves.

Owen Sound Mercurys, who lead their OHA best-of-seven semi-final against Chatham Maroons 2-0, play host to the Maroons tonight. Windsor is at Statford for the fourth game of their quarter-final and a victory for Stratford would give Kitchener an opponent for the semi-final.

In the NOHA Sudbury is at North Bay and Sault Ste. Marie is at Pembroke.

Draw Style Helps Alberta To Win

EDMONTON (CP)—Veteran observers at the Canadian curling championships here are agreed on one thing—the West has learned to draw.

While they can still play the running game when it is expedient, most western rinks—particularly Matt Baldwin's Alberta crew and the Saskatchewan champions, the Campbell brothers of Avonlea—have brought the draw style of play down to a fine art.

Only one rink, Jimmy Welsh's Manitoba champions from Winnipeg, still favored the knockout style, almost to the entire exclusion of the draw.

Eastern rinks like Ross Tarlton's Ontario champions and the Reg Piercy outfit from Halifax also leaned to the drawing style.

Tarlton chalked up the only victory over Baldwin, 8-5, and Piercy nailed Saskatchewan 11-10 in a hard-fighting contest.

In general, the western rinks favor what Matt Baldwin calls "a moderate running game"—switching from one style to the other as it becomes expedient.

Canada Winner—On Paper

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Can Russia, playing in an international hockey tournament for the first time, beat the Canadians at their own game?

Pending the meeting Sunday (at 9 a.m. EST) between Moscow Dynamos and Toronto East York, the last two unbeaten teams in the world hockey tournament, the experts pored over the statistics of each club's six games in the eight-game round-robin series. The figures show that the Canadians have an edge—at least on paper.

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Switzerland and Finland played a 3-3 draw in the world ice hockey championships today.

Following are the comparative records of the two leaders against the other six teams:

	Canada	Russia
Czechoslovakia	5-2	5-2
Sweden	8-0	1-1
Germany	8-1	6-2
Finland	20-1	7-1
Norway	8-0	7-0
Switzerland	8-1	4-2
Totals	57-5	30-8

The worst blots on the Russian record are Friday's tie against the Swedes, whom the Canadians virtually skated off the rink, and their close call against the Swiss, who have yet to win their first game. Their best showing was against the Czechs, the pre-tournament favorites to take the title.

Thus far, the Russians' offensive has followed the European pattern, concentrating on a smooth passing attack to out-manoeuvre their opponents in contrast to the Canadian tendency to bore in for a maximum of shots.

The Czechs, who customarily play a similar game, switched abruptly to the Canadian style in the second period of Friday's battle with East York. The change set the Canadian club on their heels and it took them a full period to get their own attack rolling again. Canada won the game 5-2.

SECOND TO CANADA

Defensively the Dynamos have ranked second only to Canada. The average of 1.33 goals a game scored against them would do credit to a club in any league, being surpassed only by East York goalie Don Lockhart's phenomenal .83 record for the six games.

The Russians have made friends in politically neutral Sweden, where newspaper men have found them co-operative off the ice and gentlemanly in action.

By contrast, the Canadians' public relations have been strained since their first appearance in Sweden, when sports writers labelled the Senior B club inferior to past Canadian representatives and accused it of rough play in exhibition games.

Canada's answer to reflections on East York's calibre was the arrival of four "reinforcements" shortly before the tournament opened. All four have had experience in hockey classifications of Senior A or higher and two have had professional experience.

Right-winger Bill Shill, a regular member of the club who was unable to leave Toronto with his teammates, spent three years with Boston Bruins in the National Hockey League during the Second World War. Centre Eric Unger progressed as far as Philadelphia and Springfield, American Hockey League farms of New York Rangers.

The others were Lockhart, at one time the No. 3 netminder in the Toronto Maple Leaf farm system, and Tom Jamieson, a seasoned defenceman with Owen Sound Mercurys of the Ontario Hockey Association's Senior A group.

ABILITY IMPROVED

With the addition of the "reinforcements," there was less talk of East York's lack of ability. Lockhart was acclaimed as the best goaltender ever to appear in Sweden. Jamieson's effective defensive play and the smooth performance of Unger and Shill on a line with Vic Sluce also received favorable mention.

Unger, who spearheaded the Canadian attack in their early games, has scored eight goals in their six games.

But the charges of rough play presented a tougher problem. Accustomed to the relative freedom of Canadian rules, East York indulged in frequent body-checking themselves penalized for infractions that would have been considered legal back home.

Coach Greg Currie drilled his men intensively in European rules and the club has averaged only a few more penalties than its opponents.

But the press criticism continued, reaching a climax when Marcus Egen of Germany had several teeth loosened in a collision with a Canadian opponent. Ignoring Egen's statement that the Canadians were not to blame, one newspaper man termed the incident Canada's "worst crime" of the tour.

That brought a counter-blast from manager Don Preston of the East York club who said he would recommend that Canadians play in no future world tournaments because "we are not welcome here," accused opponents of using their sticks "for any purpose," and complained of abusive language directed at his players from the stands.

One of the Stockholm papers replied Friday that if the Canadians were not happy they could go home. But others called for an end to the anti-Canadian campaign, terming much of the rough play talk sensation-mongering.

Finnish and Czech team officials also deprecated talk of Canadian "gangsterism," although they described East York as the "toughest" team in the tournament.

DeMarco Wins World Lightweight

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK (AP) — It took Paddy DeMarco nine years of fighting to learn self-control, but when he did, it brought him the world lightweight championship.

Paddy, a little guy from Brooklyn supposedly on the downgrade as a boxer, won the title Friday night by decisively outpointing Jimmy Carter in 15 rugged rounds at Madison Square Garden.

It was an astounding upset in the eyes of the crowd of 5,730, which rooted DeMarco in, but Paddy had a simple and logical explanation for it.

"It was my smartest fight," he said. "I held control, did what I was told, boxed and jabbed him."

Carter, usually the calm, confident fighter, apparently didn't know what to make of all this. He was counting on DeMarco to fight in his usual style—bull-like rushes and wild swinging that left him open to hard counter-punching. Paddy just didn't.

The upshot was that Carter, a slow starter, never could catch up and DeMarco breezed in to win the unanimous verdict from referee Ruby Goldstein and the two judges.

Goldstein's card, the closest, gave it to DeMarco 7-5, with three rounds even. Judge Harold Barnes scored nine rounds for DeMarco and six for Carter while judge Arthur Aidala made it 9-6-1 in favor of Paddy. The Associated Press had it 10-4-1 for DeMarco.

NOT MUCH MONEY

The victory didn't bring any great financial reward for DeMarco, who at 26 has been fighting professionally for nine years. But it did bring a lot of satisfaction.

Oddly, it was DeMarco who was supposed to get the title shot when Carter won it from Ike Williams three years ago. But he was taken sick and Carter got the chance to win in an upset as surprising as his defeat.

Under contract terms, Carter will get a return bout within 90 days and they may do a little better business at the gate.

The slim crowd paid $23,727, to which was added $30,000 radio and television money. Of this, 40 per cent went to Carter and 20 per cent to DeMarco. Carter's manager, Willie Ketchum, said he had been guaranteed about $32,000 by president Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club.

Churchill Orders Wine

BERNKASTEL, Germany (AP)—A local wine company announced Friday that it has just received Prime Minister Churchill's third order for a shipment of Moselle wine. The company said he ordered three 1949 vintages named "Bernkasteler Doktor," "Zeltinger Himmelreich" and "Zeller Schwarze Katz." The quantity was not disclosed.

Italian Roads Blocked

TRENTO, Italy (AP) — Avalanches of snow and rock blocked roads today in northern Italy, killed two men and interrupted the Brenner railroad line. The snow has fallen steadily for two days in the Trento area, piling up to 13 feet in mountain passes. The Brenner railroad was interrupted at Fleres, near Trent. Two road workers were killed by another avalanche.

World Day Of Prayer Observed In Stirling

STIRLING (ENS)—The World Day of Prayer in Stirling was held in St. John's Anglican church, with a good representation from each of the churches of the village. Over one hundred ladies attended the service.

Mrs. J. S. Whitehead, president of St John's WA had charge of the service, assisted by Mrs. Louis Rodgers representing St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Mrs. George Labute representing St. Paul's United church and Mrs. C. Fitchett, representing the churches of the surrounding district.

An address was given by Mrs. E Eggleton and Mrs. G. Clapper rendered a solo before the offering was taken.

Prayers were offered during the service by Mrs. W. H. V. Walker, Mrs. T. Tammer, Mrs. H. Rodgers, Mrs. C. Tummon and Mrs. W. Elliott.

Collis Wins Title Over Black's In Girls League

Collis captured the Girls City Basketball League senior championship over Black's last night 38-22 to win two straight in the best-of-three finals. Black's now drop back into intermediate finals against Nurses. In the other game at the YWCA Friday night, Nurses won from CGE 22-18 to take their best-of-three semi-final intermediate series. Collis led 6-1 in the first quarter and 14-10 at the halftime rest. They rolled for a 25-15 lead in the third and almost doubled the fourth period count. They played fine basketball throughout in all departments to earn senior city honors. This team recently was ousted in a keen LOBA intermediate playdown series.

Though putting but five players on the floor, the Collis crew were too strong for Black's. Joan Dunk hooped 15 points, Pauline Stewart had 10, Nancy Rose seven and Marg McIlveen six. For Black's, C. Boswell led with nine points, R. Butcher getting eight, R. Naylor three, and M. Middleton and V. Barnett one each.

Teams: Collis—J. Dunk, P. Stewart, N. Rose, S. Dewarga, M. McIlveen.

Black's — R. Butcher, R. Naylor, C. Boswell, M. Middleton, V. Barnett, E. McIlhagga, M. Scallon.

The intermediate playoff was a close one most of the route. It was 4-4 in the first quarter, while Nurses went into the lead 11-7 halfway through. They were outscored in the third 8-2 but pulled out the win by a couple of baskets. Play was speedy and quite even, with some good hoop action served up between well-matched teams on the night's play.

Jean Bell led the way for the victors with 12 points. Dot Mark tossed in two baskets for four points, Marj Flavelle and Bev Dawe each got two points, and Sue Slater and Phyl Peryer one each. Four points apiece went to Dot Jackson, Helen Miller, Barb Luther and Joan Pearson of the Electrics, and one each to Kay Calladine and Mary Hodson.

Teams:

Nurses — S. Frost, P. Peryer, J. Bell, M. Flavelle, B. Dawe, S. Slater, D. Mark, B. Lewis.

CGE — D. Jackson, H. Miller, M. Jones, J. Brunt, B. Luther, M. Hodson, J. Pearson, K. Calladine.

Training Camp Notes

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Catcher Mike Sandlock, who cheerfully admits he wouldn't be a major leaguer if he wasn't an expert in handling knuckle-ball pitching, will get plenty of work with Philadelphia Phillies this season.

The Phils picked him up almost automatically last winter from Pittsburgh after the Pirates traded knuckler specialist Johnny Lindell to Philadelphia.

Besides Lindell, Sandlock will have to handle the flutterball deliveries of Murry Dickson and Bob Miller, as well as Steve Ridzik and Jimmy Konstanty, who use the equally unpredictable palm ball.

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Manager Walter Alston named Joe Black, Billy Loes and Don Newcombe to start the first three exhibition games as Brooklyn broke camp Friday and headed for Miami.

Black, the big comeback hope will open against Milwaukee today followed by Loes against the same club Sunday and Newk opposing Cincinnati Monday night.

COMMERCE, Okla. (AP)—Max Mantle, cousin of the New York Yankees' Mickey Mantle, has signed a baseball contract with the same club.

A former Commerce high school star, he was reported signed for a $1,000 bonus by Tom Greenwade, the Yankee scout who also obtained Mickey for the New Yorkers.

Max, 18, is an outfielder, bats and throws right-handed. Last summer he batted .336 for a district semi-pro team.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Someone may break Babe Ruth's home run record someday, but it won't be Al Rosen, says Al Rosen.

The Cleveland Indians slugging third baseman, who led the American League last year with 43 homers, said the man who tops Ruth's 60 "will be a bigger, stronger man than I am."

Furthermore, said Rosen, "he'll probably be an outfielder, who doesn't play nine innings under the pressure that's on the infielders; and he'll play in a home park which has at least one short field."

CLEARS HURDLES—Bob Lawrence, crippled as a result of polio when a child, is wowing gymnastic experts with his form on side horse for Penn State's team.

Varied Reports Criticism Canadian Team

TORONTO (CP)—Conflicting reports reached here Friday night on the treatment given Canadian players at the world hockey championships at Stockholm.

Don Preston, manager of the Toronto East Yorks, is quoted in The Telegram as saying in a trans-atlantic telephone interview that part of the crowd at the games calls the Canadian players "pigs" and "cry babies" and suggested that some of the rough stuff came from Communist sympathizers.

However, The Star quotes W. B. George of Kemptville, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, as saying by phone from Stockholm that the crowds are no worse than in "most Canadian small town rinks" and that he will recommend that Canada continue sending teams to the world tournament.

NHL CROWDS WORSE

"Naturaly they want their own team to win, but they haven't been bad at all towards us, certainly not as bad as I've heard at NHL games back in Canada," said George.

The Telegram quotes Preston as saying:

"Part of the crowd at these games is very rough on us. They call our players pigs and cry babies. The public is against us here. Most of it is the usual type of home-town rooting you find in Canada. But some is vicious. I think it comes from Communist sympathizers and by the criticism of some newspaper men. These writers may be Communists too, I don't know.

"But we are deep in a political situation."

The paper adds:

"Preston emphasized that the Swedish people at large have been 'wonderful.'"

Alberta Wins Fifth Annual Canadian Curling Championship

By JACK ENEFER

EDMONTON (CP)—Alberta won its fifth Canadian curling championship Friday when Matt Baldwin's rink from the Edmonton Granite Club defeated New Brunswick 10-5 in the last round of the five-day bonspiel.

Baldwin, at 27 the youngest skip to win the championship, went through his 10 games with nine victories and one defeat.

Baldwin, who favors what he calls a "moderate running game," got perfect support from his smooth-working companions who seemed to know every piece of heavy or fast ice on the huge surface at the Edmonton Gardens.

At times, Baldwin would play knockout, a favorite western style of play, and then abruptly switch to the draw. The change-over never seemed to bother the rink.

Lead Jimmy Collins, second Pete Ferry and third lenn Gray seldom lost sight of the broom or were too light too heavy with their rocks.

Baldwin's only defeat came on the eighth round when he bumped against 71-year-old Ross Tarlton of Hamilton, the Ontario champion.

ROUGH COMPETITION

Tarlton, a past-master at the draw, gave Baldwin his roughest competition and was ahead 8-5 when the last rock was thrown.

The final standings:

	Won	Lost
Alberta	9	1
Saskatchewan	8	2
Ontario	6	4
Nova Scotia	6	4
Northern Ontario	6	4
British Columbia	6	4
New Brunswick	4	6
Manitoba	4	6
Quebec	3	7
Prince Edward Island	3	7
Newfoundland	0	10

While there were no official figures, it was estimated more than 22,000 persons attended the bonspiel during the five days of play.

When Baldwin threw his last stone against R. T. McCully's New Brunswick rink Friday, an estimated 3,000 persons rose to applaud. Baldwin gave them a demonstration of the Winnipeg slide, going almost halfway down the ice as he released his rock—and it was a perfect stone.

It drew to the button behind a New Brunswick rock and counted one.

The Alberta rink then was presented with the Macdonald Brier Tankard, emblematic of Canadian curling supremacy, which has been won by the West 20 times in 25 years of competition.

It was won last year by Ab Gowanlock with a rink from Dauphin, Man.

FINISH SECOND

Second with eight victories and two defeats was the Campbell brothers rink from Avonlea, skipped by brother Garnet. The Campbells went down 12-10 to Baldwin in the first draw of the bonspiel and were edged 11-10 by the Reg Piercy rink from Halifax in the fourth round.

Saskatchewan, along with New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Newfoundland and Quebec, has yet to win the championship.

In the last draw Saskatchewan turned back Quebec, skipped by W. R. Tracy, 12-9 in their last game of the bonspiel; Manitoba, led by veteran Jimmy Welsh, got Newfoundland, skipped by R. J. Kent of St. John's 15-4; Ontario defeated Nova Scotia 13-7, and British Columbia, skipped by E. C. (Bung) Cartmell, of Vancouver, defeated Prince Edward Island, skipped by Dr. W. L. MacDonald of Charlottetown, 11-8.

FAMED SOCCER CLUB

TORONTO (CP)—New Zealand All Blacks, one of the world's greatest rugger teams, arrived here Friday on the last leg of their six-month, 35-game tour.

With 30 games under their belt, the All Blacks have three remaining games in Canada and two in the United States. They have a record of 24 victories, four losses and two ties so far.

The team leaves here Sunday for Vancouver where it will play Tuesday. The All Blacks then go to Victoria for a game Thursday before returning to Vancouver for their final contest next Saturday.

Two games in San Francisco close out their tour before they fly for home March 20. Their first 30 games were played in Wales, France, England, Ireland and Scotland.

The team, which received its name from a sportswriter in London in 1905 made its last appearance in Canada in 1935. Each member of the club wears black sweaters, pants and stockings.

GOLF BALL HEPPED UP

NEW YORK (AP)—Now they're applying aerodynamic principles to make your golf drives fly farther.

One golf ball manufacturer has come out with a "diamond" cover marking, in place of the usual round or square dimples, and promises it will ad at least 10 yards to any golfer's drives and that some will get a lot more distance.

This marking, said John Sproul, sales manager of golf balls for the United States Rubber Co., was developed by engineers "who applied the principles of aerodynamics to get greater lift and carry." The company's tests, he says, have shown that the new cover design makes the ball stay in the air almost a quarter of a second longer

Trainers Defend Hockey Team

STOCKHOLM (CP) — A Stockholm newspaper Friday called for an end to adverse criticism of Canada's team in the world hockey tournament.

Svenska Dagbladet, commenting on charges of rough play against Toronto East York which have appeared in Swedish newspapers since the start of the tournament, said the Canadians are the "toughest team" in the tournament, but added that to talk of deliberate "assaults" is sensation-mongering.

Officials of the Czech and Finnish teams, Canada's last two opponents, agreed that the Canadians play hard but that charges of "gangsterism," levelled against them in some newspaper stories are unjustified.

"It is absolutely wrong to describe them as 'gangsters,'" said Vladimir Bousek, trainer of the Czechs, who lost to the Canadians 5-2 Friday.

"They want to play hard, aiming straight for the goal, whereas Swedish and Czech teams play more at the sides of the rink."

TERMED GENTLEMEN

Bjoern Vahl, trainer of the Finns, who were beaten 20-1 by Canada Thursday, said the Canadians are "the gentlemen of the rink." He added that Swedish press reports are "surely exaggerated."

Meanwhile president W. B. (Baldy) George of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association said any decision to withdraw Canadian teams from the tournament would be made when the CAHA holds its annual meeting next May.

He declined further comment on an angry denunciation by Don Preston, East York manager, of the reception of his team by the Swedish papers and public.

A Community Fund Agency

Home For Children Provided At St. Vincent's Orphanage

Standing at the top of the hill on London St. there is a house which looks bleak and depressing from the outside, but which houses some of the happiest and best-adjusted youngsters in Peterborough. The house is the St. Vincent's Orphanage.

If there is one agency of the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign whose work is taken for granted by the citizenry at large it is the St. Vincent's Orphanage. How many realize that if this institution did not exist, the tenants would become public charges and the cost to the community would be multiplied many times over?

The Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign for $100,000 will commence on Monday, March 8, and continue for two weeks. Ten agencies, of which St. Vincent's Orphanage is one, all receive help from the fund.

This is an argument that has been used before in other communities where orphanages exist, but of itself it would not be convincing because there have been orphanages which have economized at the expense of the children.

Fortunately for Peterborough, this is not such an orphanage. It is operated at a lower cost than any government or civic institution of parallel purpose could be, because no administrative salaries are paid. The five nuns in charge, members of the Sisters of St. Joseph, have devoted their lives to this work and as a result administrative costs are kept at a minimum.

Sixteen children, most of them non-adoptable for one reason or another, live at the orphanage. Ranging in age from four to 16, their lives centre around the orphanage but are not circumscribed by it.

Perhaps the the best feature of life at St. Vincent's is the Sisters' stress on the need for the children to have as many outside contacts as possible, so that they may be able to make their way in the adult world later with a minimum of re-adjustment. Children go out to school at St. Peter's and St. Mary's and are also frequently out on social activities.

EMOTIONAL SECURITY

It is true enough that the orphanage provides food and shelter for all who need help, but its chief value is in less tangible things. The Sisters concentrate on the emotional security and stability of the child. This emphasis has given St. Vincent's an enviable 50-year record of no orphanage "graduates" becoming social offenders.

Sister Edna, a newcomer to Peterborough and the head of the orphanage, has travelled all over Canada in the service of God and humanity. She is not enthusiastic about the word "orphanage." Says Sister Edna: "Our aim is to create a family atmosphere in bringing up the children." This seems sound doctrine, for if the children did not have a homelike atmosphere now, how would they know how to create a home of their own in later years.

There are supervised study periods at the orphanage (which incidentally help these children to get better marks than many of their fellow-students at St. Peter's and St. Mary's) but perhaps even more indicative of the Sisters' contribution is the attitude of the children to their free periods. They pitch in and help keep the house in order, and take a personal pride in their home.

Last week Sister Edna took all 16 children to the movies. Last summer the police department took the boys and girls on a picnic. On most any winter day you can see the orphanage residents skating on the rink back of the building.

The government, says Sister Edna, is "very exacting" in its requirements for orphanages. Since St. Vincent's is a model for orphanages, there is a long waiting list of those who would like to have children admitted. But since the turnover rate at St. Vincent's is fairly slow, these may have a long wait.

When one thinks of orphans, one usually thinks of foundlings left in laundry baskets. Actually most of these children have parents who cannot or will not look after them. Typical cases are children of parents who are separated, of widowed mothers in sanatoriums and generally all those who have nobody to look after them.

The youngest child in the orphanage is four; proof that St. Vincent does not handle babies or house the children of unmarried parents, as is frequently assumed. There are three family groups at the orphanage, three brothers and two pairs of sisters.

At the other end of the age scale are two children aged 16. Soon they will be thinking about making their own place in society and in this direction they are given every aid by the Sisters of St. Joseph at St. Vincent's. They are advised on vocations and helped to find employment in line with their interests and abilities.

Even on the purely physical level, the children in the orphanage are far better off than they would be anywhere else. Meals are good, the home is comfortable, there is an infirmary in the institution and the services of a nurse are always available.

The nuns are reticent about their work at St. Vincent's, perhaps because they do not consider it work at all. Each day they are making an investment in personality which cannot be measured in dollars and cents. They are not "appealing" for help in the Community Fund campaign in the Peterborough Red Cross and usual sense of the word. They feel that the activities of the institution in providing an atmosphere of emotional stability speaks for itself.

St. Vincent's Orphanage is owned by the Episcopal Corporation of Peterborough, so there is no rent problem. But in comparison with the Sisters' work in moulding minds and souls, this would be a relatively small item in any case. They have little revenue from other sources and need the continuous aid of the community to survive.

An analogy can be drawn between the work of St. Vincent's and that of the Children's Aid Society. Perhaps the basic difference is that the Society's chief aim is the selection and supervision of foster homes for adoptable children, while the orphanage works on making solid citizens of the non-adoptable.

Someone has compared the aims of St. Vincent's with those of the Salvation Army. Though the Sisters and the Army are poles apart in theology, the point is a good one. Both groups believe that it is next to useless to fill a stomach without filling a soul. Both are completely dedicated to their mission. Both practice what they preach, and in this modern age that is perhaps the greatest rarity of all.

Mrs. Wood Hostess To Westwood WMS

WESTWOOD (ENS) — Mrs. Aubrey Wood was hostess to St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society. Ten members were present.

The theme of the service of worship was, "The Church in Their House." Two hymns were sung and a scripture portion read by Mrs. A. Patterson, with meditations on the theme by Mrs. Wood. The president, Mrs. C. Brackenridge, offered prayer and conducted a business period.

The topic for study was "Our Own Backyard." This took the form of a dialogue. Mrs. A. Wood and Mrs. E. Sargent represented Canada and the United States.

The hostess served lunch.

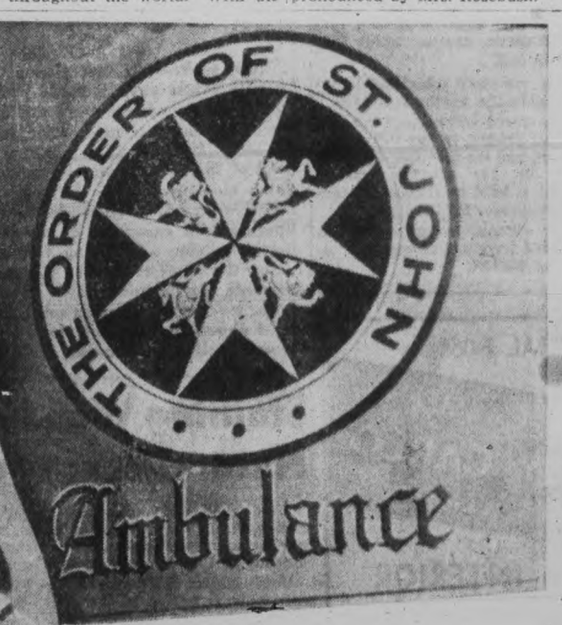
HAVELOCK — (ENS) — A good propagation of the Written Word, attendance of women from the she said, we are helping to bring various churches of the village assembled in Knox Presbyterian church, Friday afternoon to observe the World Day of Prayer.



They shared the service written in India by Dr. Sarah Chakko, principal of Isabella Thoburn College in Lucknow, who in 1948 was a delegate to the first assembly of the World Council of Churches at Amsterdam, and speaker at an evening service.

She was made chairman of the commission on "The Life and Work of Women in Churches". For two years she travelled widely in Europe and on this continent.

The theme for the service was based on Christ's words, "I am come that they might have life, that they might have it more abundantly". The address on the theme was given by Mrs. L. V. Bigelow.

Christ, Mrs. Bigelow said, was not speaking merely of physical life but also of eternal life. Daily fellowship with Christ will give this abundant life.

Mrs. Bigelow explained that collections taken at World Day of Prayer services are used in providing Christian literature throughout the world. With the

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE in Peterborough

In 1929 the St. John Ambulance Corps was formed in Peterborough. Since that time hundreds of people have been trained in First Aid Work by qualified St. John members.

DURING 1953 - - -

184 individuals received training in First Aid, locally, many of these were school teachers, and this training was given in conjunction with the Civil Defence programme.

The Nursing Division has given instruction in Home Nursing to 35 Peterborough women, in addition to 44 who have been trained in First Aid.

The familiar black and white uniforms have been seen at many local sporting events, where the members of the St. John Ambulance stand by ready to give vital First Aid treatment to the injured. Events at which they were in attendance include: The Water Ski meet, the Winter Ski meet, the Boy Scouts' Jamboree, the Peterborough Exhibition and the three large industrial picnics held by Westclox, Canadian General Electric and DeLaval, as well as major fires and other emergencies.

At the present time 44 persons are in First Aid classes at Nephton, the home of the American Nepheline Co., 22 adults are training in Norwood, and 32 seniors and 19 juniors in Lakefield.

Your dollars given to the Community Fund now will help the work of this program of mercy which began over 900 years ago.

A well-trained resuscitation team has demonstrated the new method of Artificial Respiration—the 'Holgar-Nielsen' method, to the nurses at St. Joseph's Hospital and at Lakefield and is anxious and willing to demonstrate to any other group.

South Korea 'Welfare State' With UN Paying All Bills

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SEOUL (CP)—The United Nations watchdog force is the biggest industry in this war-torn country. South Korea is practically a "welfare state" with the UN paying all the bills.

Even the country's best friends here tell you the most optimistic hope is only for a return to rice production and a few small industries. They say President Syngman Rhee is unrealistic when he speaks of going it alone to attain reunification with the industrial north and of grandiose schemes of economic development. The fanatical old patriot says he is prepared to commit racial suicide rather than give up his aims.

There is, however, a solid body of opinion which supports Rhee but says his more extravagant statements are mere tactics. These supporters form a dedicated band of intellectuals who impress you with their sincerity. They say the practical solution is a patient, long-term program of self-sufficiency based on a strong agriculture and production of some consumer goods such as textiles that are costly to import.

LOOK TO FUTURE

These Koreans are convinced reunification will be accomplished some day and only then can the nation establish itself as a world trader with practical economy.

When Prime Minister St. Laurent pays his visit this month it is certain President Rhee will try to enlist his support for continuing military commitments and the program of economic development that depends on foreign aid.

The Koreans—there are 22,000,000 of them in the 40,000 square miles of the south—have a healthy respect for Canada, its development and its know-how.

Most civilians in the various UN agencies here—some of them are Canadians — foresee the present stalemate and the partition of the country continuing. They can't see how either side can strategically withdraw. North Korea had the water power and some heavy industry that was complementary to South Korea's agriculture and light

DIFFICULT TALK

How will the South Korean economy be balanced? One informant told me it won't. This man has known the country and its problems intimately for 25 years.

"Even the enterprising Japanese were never able to run the country without heavy subsidies for consumer 'goods,'" he said.

What nucleus of small industry there is — textiles, pottery, ball-bearings and some poor quality coal—is run with most primitive equipment that's always breaking down.

"I think frankly the country's future lies in rice production and that's about it," he said.

The source, while admitting President Rhee seems to have the mass support of the country behind him, said there is an unorganized opposition that is highly critical of Rhee's dictatorial methods, ruthless purges and his unpredictable actions, refusal to take advice and handling of agency contributions.

TORN BY WARS

A Korean source, an editor of one of the important dailies and a known nationalist, said the Westerner must understand the frustration of Koreans through the years. One foreign influence succeeded another in blocking their national aspirations. Their recorded history showed that on average they had suffered a war or military engagement of some kind every three years. Their nationalism was democratic and there was no popular support for the heir to the throne who now lives in retirement in

A vital economy could only come after reunification and that was the goal of all Koreans.

Meanwhile, South Korea needs contributions of machinery, raw materials, technical skill and capable management.

"It will take at least two generations to create a human type competent to match foreign management," said a quiet Korean.

"For our practical program we feel we have a right to expect the sympathy and understanding of our allies who have long since evolved the sort of democratic economy we now are striving for."

Salary Bonuses Given Teachers

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—As a result of a recent request by the principal and staff of the public school for an increase in salary, bonuses will be granted to the amount of $100 to the former and $50 to each of the latter for the year 1954. These bonuses will be payable in September of this year. This matter was decided when the board met in regular session, with chairman Dr. R. H. Campbell presiding and all members present.

Frank A. Payne addressed the board regarding insurance policies now due and a committee of four, two from the finance and two from the property committee were appointed to meet with Mr. Payne and go over the contents of the school and make adjustments for insurance. The committee is composed of Ralph Millage as chairman and Mrs. Reg. Doubt, Mrs. Harold Wilford and the Rev. W. B. Walker.

The St. John Ambulance corps was granted the use of the school for their examinations.

Principal E. G. Sloan reported attendance for February as 344 pupils with average 304.21 and percentage 94.04. He also said a pupil unable to attend school was getting along well in a correspondence course which she was taking.

The treasurer submitted tentative estimates for the year 1954.

The board will request the municipal council of the village for $17,900 and the township of Douro SS No. 10) for the sum of $1,150, a total of $19,050 for current expenses for the year.

The finance committee recommended payment of accounts totalling $539.24.

Quiet Life At Woodbine

TORONTO (CP) — Harold F. Fishleigh, Progressive Conservative member of the legislature for Toronto Woodbine, Friday rocked the legislature over termites.

"Nothing has happened in my riding during the last year, except maybe more termites," he said.

The member pictured a flight of termites, which take to the air once a year, following their queen over Ottawa.

"They might say 'Let's drop down here. They say there's lots of deadwood here.' But no, they fly over to Lindsay (Premier Frost's home). They drop down there and start eating the churches and the buildings. . . . Mr. Speaker, do you think then we'll get any action in Woodbine?"

Will Try Raise 30 MPR Limit

TORONTO (CP) — Legislation to permit raising speed limits above the present 30 miles an hour on some thoroughfares in the Toronto metropolitan area will probably be introduced in the legislature next week, it is reported at Queen's Park.

It would take the form of an amendment to the Highway Traffic Act. It is believed a limit of 40 miles an hour would be established on Lake Shore road, east-west thoroughfare along the waterfront, after a traffic survey and that the present limit would be raised on part of north-south Mount Pleasant road and on north-south University avenue between Queen and College streets.

Other amendments would permit reduction of speed limits to 25 miles an hour in cities, towns and villages, and establishment of a maximum speed of 30 miles an hour instead of the present 50 in built-up areas outside of cities, towns, villages or police villages.

It is also reported new legislation under consideration would make the minimum fine for the first offence of leaving the scene of an accident $100 with a maximum of $500, not more than six months' imprisonment and suspension of licence for one year. At present the penalty is a fine of $25 to $100, imprisonment for not more than 30 days and suspension of licence for not more than 60 days for the first offence.

CPR Appeals Against Rate

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Pacific Railway Friday moved to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada against a board of transport commissioners' design shutting off a railway attempt to get higher revenue through a new freight rate system.

The company served notice on the court that it wants to appeal the board decision, and the court set March 12 for argument on the CPR's petition for permission to launch the appeal.

The railway's notification said it will ask the top court to rule on whether the board "failed to perform its duty" in turning down a nine-per-cent freight rate increase and in other aspects of its judgment delivered Feb. 15.

It is the fourth time that the railways or provincial governments have gone to the Supreme Court or the federal cabinet over judgments of the transport board in the long running fight over rates since the end of the last war.

Two provincial appeals to cabinet against board-ordered rate boosts have been turned down. The railways have won one appeal to the Supreme Court, based largely on the claim the board was slow in disposing of an increase application.

The cabinet and the Supreme Court have power to overthrow board rulings. It has been exercised rarely.

Citizens Approve Installing Waterworks In Lakefield

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — By an overwhelming majority, those attending the meeting called to discuss the proposed waterworks for the village, accepted the scheme as outlined by the committee appointed to study the matter. Held in Memorial Hall, the meeting was well attended and considerable interest was shown. Frank Payne was chairman.

Reeve William C. Grant explained that information had been obtained from municipalities in which waterworks had been constructed within the past six years. Examination of this information would indicate that waterworks are not only feasible but become self-supporting within one to three years.

In a report to council the committee recommended initial construction of a small portion of a waterworks system to consist of a pumping station with filtration plant, with intake in the river and of a watermain with necessary hydrants for fire protection, reaching from the Lakefield Boats Limited to the Lakefield District High school.

It further recommended that the construction be done under the Local Improvement Act with the corporation paying the cost of the pumping station and filtration plant, intake, hydrants, water main installation, and all intersections and the river crossing.

PROPOSED STREETS

The proposed route to be followed for the waterworks will be from the intersection of Queen and Strickland Sts., along Queen, Regent, Albert and Bridge Sts., to the intersection of Bridge and Hunter Sts. (opposite High school).

The estimated cost will be $80,000, of which approximately $48,000 will be borne by the village as a whole by 20-year debentures at 4½ per cent and the remainder by the properties fronting on the streets through which the water per foot, payable in cash or over a period of years with interest.

Reeve Grant further explained that the committee appointed to make these findings had been considered representative of the geographical areas of the village and were men holding various views on the question.

Several years ago the village had considered complete waterworks and sewage for the entire village, but the cost now made it impossible. Mr. Grant said he knew some would be disappointed that the scheme as a whole could not be considered, but felt that the project would never be commenced in the village unless it was started in a small way.

The question of the size of the mains was considered and the feeling was rather general that a 6-inch main was not large enough, especially for fire protection. E. J. Westall stated that he felt the matter should be carefully considered and Fire Chief Allen H. Clark said he would like to go on record as being opposed to the installation of mains of this size claiming that if both fire trucks were drawing from one it would be sucked dry. A recommendation was made that larger mains should be used.

In answer to a question Clerk Harry T. Hill said that the actual cost to the taxpayer would be $3.65 per $1,000 assessment for 20 years if the main did not run down the street. In streets where it did the amount would be upped by the $3.00 per foot frontage and the cost of the water which would, he considered, be about $2.00 per month.

The need for new industries for the village, and the knowledge that without waterworks the chance of getting firms to locate here was slim, seemed to give a tone of acceptance to the meeting that has not been too much evidenced in previous meetings for this purpose. As a result, the vote, taken at the conclusion of the meeting saw 61 in favor of the proposed scheme, four opposed and 10 not voting.

Staining Wood To Bring Out Natural Beauty And Texture

More wood, with natural grain visible through a variety of attractive pigmented stains, will be showing in 1954 house exteriors.

Home buyers are becoming increasingly receptive to the stain finish because the "do-it-yourself" trend has brought with it a demand for durable finishes which can be easily and quickly applied by the home handyman who lacks the training and skill of the professional painter. The absence of brush marks in the penetrating stain finish, the ease with which it can be brushed or sprayed and complete lack of peeling or blistering all have a practical appeal to the buyer who thinks ahead to the time when the house will need refinishing.

The idea of staining wood to bring out the beauty and texture of wood is far from new. Our ancestors developed the art through the use of vegetable, mineral and animal stains and crude linseed oil.

THIN PAINTS

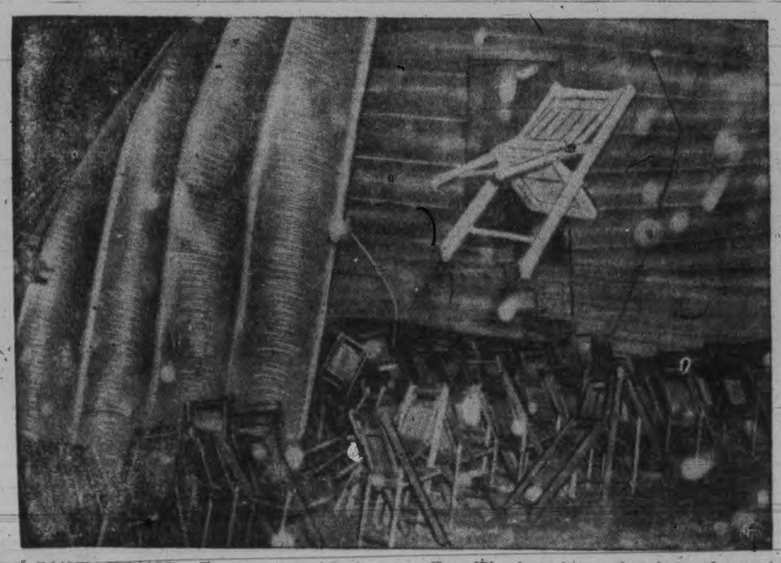
Pigmented stains are thin paints in which the amount of colouring pigment has been reduced to help absorption of the finish beneath the wood surface. In the case of the so-called oil stains, the thinner may be a petroleum naphtha similar to naphtha, although the latter is uncommon on account of the cost.

Turpentine, which would make an excellent thinner, is not used commercially on account of the expense. The other widely used type of thinner is creosote oil.

For rough surfaces, such as shingles or rough sawn clapboard, stains are ideal because they do not conceal the texture. Their flat finish is often more appealing than the glossy shine of a house paint on such jobs.

Stains also are coming into very wide use on smooth surfaces. For this purpose several special types of stains deserve mention. For example, there are the bleaching and weathering stains which bleach out the wood so that it attains a natural silvery gray color after a few months' exposure. Transparent finishes are not as durable as regular stains because, containing no pigment, they offer little resistance to the destructive action of the sun's ultra-violet rays and therefore need to be renewed at frequent intervals.

VARIETY OF COLORS



Originally available only in shades of red, brown or green, pigmented stains may now be obtained in a variety of colors. Penetrating creosote shingle stains, for instance, are now available in such colors as light medium and dark moss greens, spruce green, forest green, tile red, smoke gray, eucalyptus gray, etc. Heavy bodied stains (non creosote) that hide the surface and dry flat come in such shades as butternut brown, poplar gray, plus a variety of shades in red, gray and green.

Also popular are the ranch house hues, which, while having considerable hiding power, do not completely conceal the texture of the wood. Their attractive flat pastel finish gives a stain effect quite unlike paint. A variety of soft, lively shades are on the market.

Covering capacity for exterior stains is from 200 to 250 square feet per gallon for two coats on smooth surfaced siding. On rough or sawn siding—about 100 square feet per gallon for two coats. Shingles require around a gallon per 100 square feet for two coats. For dipping shingles about 2 to 2½ gallons per square is needed.

Goodwill Gift

BROMLEY, England (CP)—Mrs. Matsumoto, wife of the Japanese ambassador in London, has given five skeins of Japanese gold thread to the parish church here. The unfinished thread will be made into four frontals for the altar.

DUST DANCE—Farms weren't the only things that took a beating in the recent Texas dust storm. High winds (65 m.p.h.) twisted this Seventh Day Adventist Church in Fort Worth and sent the chairs skyward. The roaring winds picked up everything that wasn't anchored securely. White specks in the picture are debris carried by the winds.

Many Of Doctors Are Women In Russia Most Of Them Married With Children

In this story Bill Boss tells about a Moscow polyclinic. His visit was arranged by the Soviet foreign office and he was accompanied by an official who acted as interpreter. All news reports from Russia are subject to strict Soviet censorship.

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW (CP) — When Peter Sergeyitch falls ill he is treated by doctors from something like a medium-sized Canadian medical arts centre.

The difference is that the whole of the centre's collective experience is available to any patient at a moment's notice.

I visited one polyclinic serving a Moscow suburb and saw it at work. Patients leafed through magazines in the waiting rooms with the same preoccupied lack of interest to be found in any doctor's office back home.

Ordinary leather-cushioned straight-back chairs line the buff-colored walls, and the political and cultural reading matter is on a large table in the centre of the room. There were probably 18 patients in each room at 11:30 that morning.

A doctor's office is a one-roomed affair with the usual desk, chairs, examination couch, instrument cabinet and book case. It is bright, and the doctor wears a white clinical smock over civilian clothes.

The clinic's 37-year-old director, Dr. Paulina S. Petrouschko, said her 12 general practitioners serve a registered population of more than 10,000. Individual practices vary from 800 to 1,900 persons resident in the area each is allotted.

All the sector doctors are women. Most are married, with children. They work a six-hour day. They do most of their work in the home, to which they are summoned by telephone or a message delivered to the call office.

In the same building are the clinic's specialists. Also there are laboratories for the usual clinical analyses with x-ray and electrocardiograph equipment. There is an operating theatre for minor operations.

I entered the examining rooms of the ear, nose and throat specialist, the nerve man, the dermatologist, the opthalmologist and the physical culture specialist. All the specialists had the standard equipment of their fields, and radiated competence and enthusiasm.

The physical culture man was the only one with an unfamiliar role.

He was a bubbling 60, and was all set to head for Canada when told his would be a new field there. He appreciated the joke when told he'd be welcome—under certain conditions!

Every school in his area, every enterprise, ministry or other organization having organized sports teams in league or other competition must have its players examined by him.

While this clinic was one of the latest and most up-to-date, its services were said to be representative of the system.

Besides routine clinical work the clinic operates a motherhood school and public health lectures for citizens in the area.

Pregnant women attend the motherhood courses once weekly. Women unable to attend must follow correspondence courses. All Moscow women go to a clinic for their babies. Should a birth occur at home an ambulance is sent to fetch mother and child to the clinic.

POST-NATAL CARE

A mother leaves the clinic after the 10th or 11th day. The next day her polyclinic's pediatrician calls on the new mother with a medical attendant. For the next week or so the attendant gives the mother a hand in getting onto her new duties. The mother has two months paid leave from her job after delivery.

Pediatricians control the child's health from the day of its return home—administer vaccines, prescribe diet (filled inexpensively to specific prescription at the district milk kitchen daily) and keep track of its development.

Mothers are encouraged to continue breast-feeding throughout the first year. If a breast-fed baby falls ill or is removed to hospital, the mother goes onto the paid sick-list too, to feed it.

The clinic's dental staff numbers four—one male dental surgeon who does extractions only, and three women dentists in a three-chair clinic who do fillings, general prophylaxis and take impressions for dentures. False teeth are free.

Of the clinic's 150 doctors, technicians, assistants and cleaners, only five—all doctors—were men.

24-HOUR SERVICE

It is open for consultations from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., operates a round-the-clock call service and each doctor has a car and driver for calls.

The GPs make their rounds in the mornings, usually, prescribe immediately and if necessary put the patient on the sick list so that his pay continues.

All treatment is free. Prescriptions filled at the state drug store or "apteka" are paid for.

Two days a month are set aside by each practitioner for thorough examination of selected patients excused from work to go through the whole mill. Each examines 10 from her own practice.

Occasionally these checks find individuals improperly employed, besides detecting unsuspected ailments. For those in the wrong jobs the clinic's medical control and consultation commission makes recommendations binding on government or industry.

GUESTS FLEE FIRE — Firemen lead Boston's Parker House Hotel guests to safety during a fire that broke out on the fifth floor. Looking out the window at right is Joseph Fitzpatrick, of Coral Gables, Fla. The blaze caused only slight damage but about 500 guests were forced to leave their rooms.

May Study Lung Cancer

OTTAWA (CP)—The health department has money available and is prepared to back full research into any connection between lung cancer and cigaret smoking, a departmental spokesman said Friday. He said Health Minister Martin has prepared a statement on the government's position in connection with the matter and will deliver it in the Commons in the next week or two.

High Aroma

LONDON (CP)—The air is pungent over London zoo these days. To protect them against colds in the raw weather the zoo's five giraffes every day are each getting two buckets of raw, peeled onions.

Storm Holiday

MITCHELL (CP)—One hundred and twenty pupils were absent from Mitchell district high school Friday. The school has an enrolment of 285. Four of seven school buses which form the rural fleet of Mitchell high school did not attempt to operate and the other three buses made only partial trips because of snow.

Will Ask Nuns To Set Up College

OTTAWA (CP)—The Vatican's new apostolic delegate to Canada says one of his first jobs will be to try to convince the Ursuline Nuns of Chatham to set up a college in Peru.

Most Rev. Giovanni Panico, for 32 years a Roman Catholic Church diplomat, said he will attempt to press the case for Emile Vaillancourt, Canadian ambassador in Lima, Peru, "who is working very hard to bring the Ursulines."

The Ursulines operate Brescia Hall Convent, which is affiliated to the University of Western Ontario, London. There are 31 nuns at the convent.

Msgr. Panico, who holds the church rank of archbishop, said he came to know the Canadian ambassador while serving as papal nuncio in Lima before coming here to succeed Most Rev. Ildebrando Antoniutti, now nuncio in Madrid.

CANADIAN MISSIONARIES

"I hope the sisters will go soon," he said at his first press conference since arriving here last Tuesday. "They would do well."

Msgr. Panico said some 20 Canadian Franciscan missionaries now are in Peru and will open a new parish by the end of the year. The hospital sisters of St. Joseph, a Canadian order, also operate a maternity house in Lima.

Msgr. Panico, who will be 59 next month, said his appointment as apostolic delegate is a change from his former post as papal nuncio. He explained a delegate is not officially recognized by the country to which he is appointed. A nuncio has official relations with the government which, in turn, appoints an ambassador or minister to the Vatican.

which may be obtained in university courses. A minimum of five years' experience in social welfare work is now required in Ontario. Some of the present Probation Officers in Ontario are ordained ministers of religion, with a special capacity for the kind of work probation involves.

A probationer as usually required by the court to (a) make restitution and reparation for his offence (b) to pay the costs of prosecution (c) to provide for the support of any dependents he has (d) to keep the peace and be of good behaviour.

Mr. Twigg keeps a close eye on his probationers. They visit him in his office and he calls on them in their home. But his supervision is not so severe and omnipresent that it might deprive a man of all feeling of personal freedom and dignity. For instance, he never tells a man he must be in bed each evening at 10 o'clock, or that he must attend church every Sunday. (How could that order be enforced, anyway?)

The scope of the Probation Officer's work and ability is indicated by the fact that many people voluntarily come to him to consult about their marriage problems. He finds these problems in Peterborough, as they come under his ken, to be due chiefly to immaturity of the man or wife or both, and to alcoholism.

The interview ended with this general comment from Mr. Twigg: "The overall problem and picture in Ontario is this. That most of the missionary work with regard to the possibility of having Probation Officers in all courts has been done. Probation is very much in the public eye today. The Provincial Government has given its approval and the go-ahead signal in the matter of probation appointments. Many probation officers have been appointed in the last year; however, probation officers must be found as a first consideration. It is likely that within the next 3-5 years that there will be 300 to 500 PO's in Ontario. Great Britain is 50 years ahead of Canada in many respects in the application of the probation system".

Since probation is 70 per cent effective, and imprisonment 90 per cent ineffective in reforming people and since probation costs only a fraction of what reformatory or penitentiary terms cost, it seems well that at long last Ontario and Canada are trying to catch up to Britain in this important remedial welfare work.

Only three provinces have adult probation in their courts as yet: British Columbia, 12 probation officers; Saskatchewan, 2; Ontario, 31 full time officers.

PC Association 'Packed' Alleges Sudbury President

SUDBURY (CP)—Ralph Connor, president of Sudbury's Young Progressive Conservative Association, Friday night made public a letter in which he said he does not plan to attend the annual meeting of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada in Ottawa March 15 because he considers the meeting will be "nothing more than a formality."

Mr. Connor told his association Thursday night the party's policy and resolution committees have been "packed." He and secretary-treasurer Simone Lalonde of the Sudbury group said they have decided not to attend and the group backed their stand.

Mr. Connor's letter to Donald Hueston of Ottawa, executive secretary of the Young Conservative Association of Canada, said in part:

"I can see no constructiveness of the form necessary for a rebirth of enthusiasm among our party supporters forthcoming from this meeting.

"I have learned from authoritative sources that representation at the meeting will be more or less 'stacked' to accommodate those whom the party officials in Ottawa feel will be 'neutrals' in any attempt to call a nomination convention for the leadership of the party. . . .

"It seems that representation from our own province of Ontario does not include many of the highest and most capable officials of the Progressive Conservative Association of Ontario, one of the two governing PC associations in all of Canada.

"It is true that delegates may be chosen by all constituency associations and other larger regional and provincial associations. No doubt, many delegates who feel it is time for a change not only in the federal government but also in the hierarchy of our own party will attend the annual meeting.

"However, it must be remembered that these people will not have a position of activity at the meeting where they may effectively present their views. They must first be appointed to the limited resolutions and policy committee. This is an appointment which is not announced by officialdom until the day of the meeting.

"It is unlikely that these views could be acceptable to the small number of officials who are allowed to vote on final resolutions. It is obvious that any attempt to reorganize the party can be stopped at any level of committee by the very persons who might be objectionable to our party associations. This 'officialdom fear' within our party is the one deterrent to the reorganization of a strong national party which will win the next federal election.

"The Hon. George Drew (the party's national leader) is the one man available to our party who can win for us if we are willing to sacrifice our personal authorities and join a wholehearted, spirited effort to build his supporting party into a national conservative movement. However, I do feel that Mr. Drew and the national Conservative party officials need, more than anything else right now, a vote of confidence by officials from associations across Canada. This confidence vote could have come through the annual meeting until it was obviously 'stacked' into a session designed to accomplish none of these necessities."

WITHOUT GROUND

In Ottawa, Leon Balcer, president of the Young Progressive Conservative Association, said the charges that the resolution committee is "packed" is "absolutely without ground."

Mr. Balcer, member of the Commons for Trois-Rivieres, said in an interview that he is "surprised" by the charge brought by Mr. Connor.

All resolutions brought by local associations will be debated for a whole day—March 15—and all delegates have the right to take part in the debate, said Mr. Balcer.

No resolution was put forward by the Sudbury group. There was "no sense" to the charge the paid party personnel here were trying to build up the annual meeting to replace the party convention for fear a leadership motion might be introduced.

The 12-odd paid workers here took orders from the national executive of the Progressive Conservative Association.

It was understood that, as in past meetings, there will be a motion of confidence in party leader George Drew.

PC To Choose New President

OTTAWA (CP) — The National Progressive Conservative Association will choose a new president at its annual meeting here this month to succeed George Nowlan of Wolfville, N.S.

Mr. Nowlan, member of Parliament for Digby-Annapolis-Kings, has said he will retire after four years in office.

It is understood that two other members of Parliament will be nominated for the presidency, George Hees, member for Toronto Broadview, and Hon. Earl Rowe, from Dufferin-Simcoe. Others may be nominated at the opening day March 16-17.

The preceding day, March 15, will be taken up with the annual meetings of the party' national women's organization and the Young Progressive Conservative Association.

IN THE RACE FOR JET SUPREMACY —The wraps are off the early completed Boeing "707" jet transport, with which Boeing Aircraft expects to revolutionize air transportation. Engineers who designed the 128-foot plane expect it to fly at 550 miles per hour, at an operational ceiling of 35,000 feet. The military version will be used as a multipurpose tanker-transport. As a commercial airliner, it will be capable of transcontinental non-stop fights in less than five hours, and non-stop New York-to-London flights in less than seven hours. Construction schedules call for planes to roll off assembly lines in three years.

RED CROSS AND COMMUNITY CHEST dinner for canvassers at the CGE cafeteria, company guests, was held on Friday evening to spark the $100,000 fund-raising campaign which officially opens Monday. Penny-a-day drive division by city school children set the giving pace by going over the top with $762 in contributions. Two representative children shown in upper left photo with bulging penny bags are Margaret Bowman, Kenner Collegiate, and Gerard Begley, St. Peter's; with them is co-chairman Ernest Reid, left, guest speaker Don Henshaw of Toronto, second from right, and Alex Elliott, Q.C., campaign chairman. Among the 300-odd canvassers were, top photo, left to right, Mesdames Hugh Morrison, Fraser Dunfield, Gordon Minty and Harry Ward. —(Examiner Staff Photos)

Fund Contributions Debt Citizens Owe To Agencies

"I'm here because I'm in debt." With these words Don Henshaw senior executive with the McLaren Advertising Agency in Toronto, set the mood of the opening banquet of the Peterborough Red Cross and Community fund drive at the CGE cafeteria Friday night. "We're not giving to the Community Fund at all," said Mr. Henshaw. What we are doing, said he, is attempting partially to pay back a debt which "each and every one of us' owes to the ten Community Fund organizations.

Every citizen, said Mr. Henshaw, owes a huge debt to "the skilled minds, deft hands and devoted souls" of the members of these ten agencies. He predicted that in the coming year at least one of the agencies would be of direct benefit to "each one of you here tonight."

The work of the Red Cross is exemplified in Sunnybrooke hospital for veterans in Toronto. Here, said Mr. Henshaw, the "too often forgotten boys who participated in our protection" are cared for by voluntary Red Cross workers. The Red Cross also operates "the most beautiful little hotel I've seen" for wives and mothers of veterans in hospital.

Mr. Henshaw had a personal debt to the Red Cross too. He recalled that his nephew had been seriously wounded in the Battle of the Bulge and would have died "had it not been for the Red Cross blood donor service."

Blood for the donor service comes "from people like you and me," said the speaker in "unbelievable amounts." It's thus "up to us" to support an agency in which we have such a direct investment.

The Salvation Army, too, had helped Mr. Henshaw personally. Many years ago he was broke, friendless and hungry, and thousands of miles from home. He was a "magnificent failure" but the Salvation Army provided him not only with "wonderful kindness and courtesy" but also landed him a job.

After their marriage the Henshaws learned that they would be unable to have children of their own. They appealed to the Children's Aid Society and the result said Mr. Henshaw, was that "I owe the greatest debt of all to them."

Two years after the Children's Aid Society began an exhaustive investigation to "see what kind of people we were inside," they got their wish. Now they have a daughter, six, and a son, ten, who are "joys beyond all computing and as truly ours as if they had been born to us."

Mr. Henshaw came to Canada from the United States 20 years ago and stayed because he married a Canadian girl. "As I fell in love with my wife I fell in love with Canada". But living with her fast-moving, public-rela-

6 Cars Collide In Accident No One Hurt

Chain Of Collisions Started As One Started To Turn

Six cars were involved in one of the most spectacular accidents of the winter on Hunter St. near Driscoll Terrace early Friday evening. Const. W. G. Scott has recommended charges against drivers of two of the cars as a result of the automotive free-for-all.

The apparent instigator of the fender-bashing chain of events which followed was a car travelling east on Hunter and turning left into a driveway on the north side of Hunter. Police say the driver of this car, Fred Doherty, 24, RR 4, Lakefield failed to signal his intention to turn.

To avoid hitting Fred Doherty's car, a car travelling west on Hunter pulled over on to the south side of the road. This car was driven by David Theobald, 19, of 517 Albert St.

But there was a stream of eastbound traffic and Theobald found himself in collision with a car driven by Leo Doherty, 24, also of RR 4, Lakefield. Leo Doherty's car was damaged on the left front side and fender.

When the car driven by Leo Doherty was hit, it swerved to the right and struck a parked car owned by Arthur English of 520 Water St.

OUT OF CONTROL

Meanwhile, police say, Theobald's car out of control, sideswipped a half-ton pick-up truck also travelling east. This truck, one of the most seriously damaged of the six, was driven by Donald Adams, 23, of 629 Rogers St.

After this collision, Theobald got back onto the north side of the road and was in collision with yet another car, this one attempting to pull away from the curb in front of the Sunshine Dairy. This car, driven by William R. Love, 28, 820 Argyle St. suffered battered fenders.

Witnesses to the accidents were three passengers in the Theobald car. These were Ray Fowler of 195 Rubidge, Robert Boynton of 353 Reid and Robert Landley of 540 Chamberlain.

The damage toll follows: Adams, $250; English, $10; Leo Doherty, $75; Love, $200; Theobald, $100; Fred Doherty, no damage.

Tell Me It Isn't Snow

No it wasn't in a comic strip, it really happened. A Peterborough resident was shovelling out his driveway, today. After two hours of heavy going, his brow shining with perspiration, he stopped to inspect his work, when — Whoosh! — an avalanche of snow slid from the roof of the house onto his driveway below.

School Children Top Objective To Show The Way

The boys and girls have done it again.

At the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign Friday night, penny-a-day chairman Clare Collins told 300 canvassers and guests in the CGE cafeteria that the schools had raised a total of $762.80, an increase of $60.19 over the 1953 total. The boys and girls topped their $650 objective by more than $110.

As the first organization to go over the top, the boys and girls are to be warmly congratulated said chairman Alex Elliott. He expressed the thanks of the organization to Mr. Collins, to Ernie Reid and to the students themselves who made the penny-a-day drive even more of a success than usual.

Canvassers must be well informed on all the agencies, cheerful in their approach to prospects and alert for new subscribers, women's chairman Mrs. J. E. Watters declared. She called for "the wholehearted co-operation of all of you here" to put the women's section over its $7,250 objective, $1,750 more than last year. This can easily be done, she said, with the "full co-operation of well-informed canvassers."

"We have nothing to apologize for, and we must show subscribers that we are happy in our work." This, she said was the key point in canvassers' approach to prospects.

LABOR SUPPORT

Labor is solidly behind the community fund drive said John McPhee, president of the Peterborough local of the Trades and Labor Congress. He said that his union was "happy to assist to make the drive the outstanding success it should be."

George Wallace of the electrical workers' union endorsed Mr. McPhee's remarks and assured the audience that CGE workers would do "everything in their power" to help put the campaign over the top.

Although the campaign has just started, Canada Packers has already reached its objective said James Wharry, chairman of the

TREES GET TRIMMING

Parks Department men were busy Friday lopping a lot of the branches off the trees lining Little Lake bank at Crescent street. They are not cutting them down. Trimming the dead wood out of them and the low branches will make them safer to cars and pedestrians, also open up the view over the lake. They now look neat and tidy and the north wind sweeping across Little Lake is not going to bring a bough down on a funeral cortege.

MINOR DAMAGE

Only minor damage was suffered in a collision between a motorcycle with sidecar and an automobile on Park St. just north of the Albert St. tracks Friday. Travelling north on Park St., the motorcycle, driven by Gerard A. Hatton, 25, of 384½ George St., was in collision with a southbound auto driven by Leslie Thomas Murray, 23, 576 Howden Ave. The motorcycle slewed to the left, and when the drivers of both vehicles applied brakes to avoid a collision, they skidded into one another. Total damage was $45.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

The retail section of the Chamber of Commerce is launching an all-out membership drive, designed to bring each retailer into active participation in the chamber's work. A membership committee has been set up, and a series of monthly dinners for retailers is being planned. First of these dinners is scheduled to take place March 30 at the Empress. Friday a special retail committee, consisting of a few retailer directors of the Chamber of Commerce, and past chairmen of the retail section, met with Harry Cherney to spearhead this membership drive.

BEST WISHES

Personal greetings and a wish for the future of Peterborough have been received by Alf T. Pink, 124 Dublin St., from the Lord Mayor of Coventry, H. B. W Cresswell. During a trip to England and the Coronation last year Mr. and Mrs. Pink visited in Coventry and met Mr. Cresswell.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

Twenty ladies of the afternoon branch of the All Saints' Women's Association took part in the World Day of Prayer at Anson House on Friday. The theme address, "That They May Have Life," was given by Mrs. M. Poole. Those ladies taking a leading part were Mrs. P. Hughes, D. Gray, Q. Woods, H. Lowes, F. Edgar, R. Price, A. Beardsmore, H. Sloan, and C. Thackeray. Pianist for the occasion was Mrs. P. Hooper.

SURVEY SAGA

The leading article in the current issue of "Sylva Magazine" was written by Peterborough surveyor John Pierce. It tells in several hundred words and Mr. Pierce's photos of his job of cutting the electoral boundary line survey in the winter of 1953 between Thunder Bay and Cochrane districts. The drop heading of the article sums up the article by describing it "when the machines failed under nature's onslaughts, primitive sleds were loaded and hauled by human 'dog teams'— and the line went through."

KIN HEAR BAPTIE

The key to successful living is understanding, Harry Baptie, personnel manager of the Western Clock Co., told the Kinsmen Club Thursday. He was speaking on personnel work in industry, and how it co-relates with retail businesses and professions. Also on the program, arranged by Bell Keen, was Frank Booth of the Junior Chamber of Commerce speaking on behalf of the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign.

Prominent Couple To Mark 50th Wedding Anniversary

The 50th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Chris G. Graham, 595 Gilmour St., Monday March 8, will renew in the sentiment of their many friends an esteem that has deepened with the passing of the years. They have been prominent in the affairs of Peterborough since thier youth, engaging in many of its community interests especially during the more active period of their family life now close to that shining milestone of their golden wedding day.

Peterborough first knew Chris Graham as a teen-ager in sports emerging from junior hockey at the old Charlotte St. rink and from sandlot baseball around town, particularly on the site of the second rink, now known as Brock Ballroom. In the phrasing of the universal fan he was a "natural". In his twenties he was playing on every team in the city's organized sport; hockey, baseball, football and lacrosse.

Mr. Graham played right wing (and could switch to left in a pinch) on the hockey seven that won the Ontario intermediate championship first in 1902, repeating in 1906.

Recollections of that team in the first decade of the century could run off from the story that relates to tomorrow. The line-up was: Goal Ernie Wasson; point, R. M. Glover; cover point, Bill Crowley; spare defense, Melville (Jake) Moore; centre, Harry Morgan; rover, Fred Whitcroft; right ing, Chris Graham and left wing, Bill Cavanagh. They won the title in 1906 in finals with Goderich, 14-8 on the round, took a powerful Smith's Falls team, winners in the east, and wound up by beating a picked Toronto outfit of All Stars.

Roy Armstrong had played at left wing in 1902 and his brother Harold, was a flashing cover point. Harold moved to Toronto, and the game with the Toronto All Stars was his proposal. Modest as he was, Rollie Glover once said the Petes felt they could take any amateur team in the country, and give Ottawa pros a battle. It was a long season without a loss.

Chris Graham's recollection is that the final in Galt in 1902 stands out as the most satisfactory, and thrilling, in his memory. The score here was a win of 4-3, and the Galt club was so confident of upsetting it that they ordered a banquet to celebrate. On soft ice Peterborough held them to 3-3.

Those were hockey peaks in the career of the young Graham who started at the Collegiate, graduated to Charlotte St. and starred at the Brock when it used to be crowded to the rafters. Incidentally, Chris parted with three teeth in the final Toronto clash in 1906.

PLAYED FOOTBALL

Several months ago Arthur J. McClellan reminisced about the intermediate football team that won two Canadian intermediate championships. Chris Graham played under the captaincy of Rollie McWilliams, and missed a Canadian title final, side-lined with two cracked ribs.

In baseball Mr. Graham played behind the bat, catching for Dan

New Companies Explore Ground In Uranium Belt

The uranium staking rush that has blanketed several hundred square miles of marginal farms and crown lands has more than a dozen diamond drills probing likely-looking ground from Kinmount on the west, North Hastings on the east and Anstruther and Burleigh townships to the south. More mining companies are coming into the field weekly to acquire blocks of ground for immediate surface surveying once snow has left.

Among the newcomers are: Wadasa Gold Mines which has staked a 900-acre block in the southwest corner of Monmouth township. Surface exploration is to start soon. Brunsman Mines has a 15-claim group in Anstruther township and their crews are brushing out to get at the interesting ground under the overburden.

Another Anstruther township acqusition is by Crackingstone Mines, subsidiary of Dome Mines, on 40 claims. Their ground embraces several radioactive anomalies that were picked up in a recent aerial survey.

IN BURLEIGH

Pole Star Mines have a 16-claim piece of ground in Burleigh township. Line cutting is also under way to prepare for a ratemeter survey shortly.

Strategic Metals (Statmat) have been working ground in Cardiff and Monmouth townships for the past 6 months. Ground and aerial surveys have indicated the radioactive structure for three miles with two parallel zones flanking it, president J. C. Udd says. Besides uranium oxide it is reported that amphorous allenite, rare earths, thorium oxide, cerium oxide and lanthanum have been exposed in the 16 trenches laid down.

East of the pioneer properties of Centre Lake Uranium (Ventures) and Croft (Macassa) is the very active Faraday Uranium which have completed extensive diamond drilling from the ice of Bow lake. It revealed a 9-foot section of uranium that averages $27.98. Two other drills on the property are still testing ground on two interesting anomaly zones.

Centre Lake Uranium will resume underground exploration shortly and Croft, neighbouring property to the north, is starting an adit in preparation for underground work.

Woman Thrown From Car In Collision

Mrs. Mary Harran, 190 Lake St. was treated for lacerations over the eyes, after she was thrown from a car involved in a collision at the corner of Romaine and Aylmer streets at 11:40 p.m. Friday.

Melville Harran was driving east on Romaine with his wife when he was in collision in the intersection with a car travelling north on Aylmer. The second car was driven by Garnet McCabe of 56 Lawrence St. in Lindsay.

Harran was planning to turn left and north onto Aylmer while McCabe was travelling straight through. After the collision both cars ended up facing diagonally into the northeast intersection.

Damage to both cars was extensive, especially to the Harran vehicle. The left front end and the left front fender of the Harran car was stove in, while the McCabe car was damaged along the right side. Tentative total damage estimates are $450.

Victor Newton of 455 Reid St., a passenger in the McCabe car, told the Examiner that Harran did not observe the stop sign at the corner. Harran said that he did stop before making his turn.

Mrs. Harran's injuries were treated at the General Medical Clinic, conveniently located at the northwest corner of Romaine and Aylmer. Attending her was Dr. Robert Young.

Const. Wilf Perry, on his way to work at the time, investigated the accident.

Costly Fumble

Canoe Company Buys Martin Property

Peterborough Canoe Company has bought the George W. Martin property, land and house, on the west side of Monaghan Road, south of the CNR and approximately opposite the end of Braidwood Ave.

The frontage is 140 feet, and at the rear the lot abuts the line of the Canoe Company's manufacturing [illegible] with railway siding. Mr. Martin originally owned the entire property, selling a major part of it to Peterborough Canoe.

John F. Richardson, president of the company, confirmed the report today, but said there was no immediate plan of erecting office or any other building on the additional land. He said the Martin house was not being removed, but some smaller buildings nearby would be cleared off.

Two Films To Show Problems Of Students

Two films dealing with student adjustment problems will be shown at the March meeting of the Peterborough Film Council, Tuesday. A panel discussion will follow the films, "The Drop Out" and "The Stay In," and will consist of: Chairman, W. L. McNeil, principal of Armour Heights school; J. M. Telford, principal of King Edward school; B. W. Switzer, director of the industrial department at PCVS; and Dr. J. S. Pratten, head of the provincial mental health clinic at Civic Hospital.

The meeting will be held at the Public Library at 8:00 p.m., and is open to the public. This month's fare is of special interest to Home and School and Parent-Teacher groups.

REMEMBER IN HONG KONG—During a recent visit to Hong Kong, Canadian sailors from the destroyer HMCS Crusader paid tribute to their country's war dead in the Canadian section of Sai Wan cemetery. Also in attendance were T. R. G. Fletcher, Canadian Government Trade Commissioner in Hong Kong, and Milton Blackwood, Assistant Trade Commissioner. In honor of the occasion, the Canadian Red Ensign was flown over the Commonwealth cemetery, which contains the graves of approximately 500 Canadian servicemen. HMCS Crusader is currently carrying out her second tour of duty with United Nations naval forces in the Far East.—(National Defence Photo).

Expeced Power Rate Hike. Failed To Materialize, Utilities' Surplus $158,439

Largely because of a hike in power rates, to take care of expected cost increases which did not materialize, the operating profit of the Peterbrough Utilities Commission electric department nearly quadrupled in 1953. Profits were up from $44,391 to $158,439.83. The average consumer paid a monthly power bill of $4.23, according to the annual report of the electric department. These 10,864 consumers used a total of 56,252,971 kilowatt hours of electricity through both flat rate heaters and electric meters. The average monthly electric peak was up, 1,010 to 24,524 kw this year.

Several building developments were carried on by the eletcric department in 1953. The Aylmer street substation was modernized with the installation of new switchgear, a temporary substation was built in the north end of the city on Bellevue street and an experimental block of underground distribution for residential area, was constructed in 1953 to serve the south-end Bellaire subdivision.

The department busied itself with overhead distribution systems in the new Queen Elizabeth and Cordach subdivisions, installed poles and floodlights at the city parking lot, installed two sets of traffic lights and took steps to improve street lighting.

In addition to 54 new streetlights installed during the year, the department also put up demonstrator luminaries of the mercury vapor type on Aylmer St. between King and Charlotte Sts., of the color corrective mercury vapor variety on George St. between Sherbrooke and King Sts. and a fluorescent fixture at George and Simcoe streets. The new traffic lights are at Charlotte and Reid Sts., at Monaghan Rd. and Lansdowne St., and at George and McDonnel Sts.

Total assets of the electric department are $4,190,927.86 up more than $525,000 or 14 per cent over the 1952 figure. Most of this increase was due to capital expenditures for new plants.

The new debenture debt has decreased by $20,700 but accounts payable are up $194,198.59. This, says the report, is mainly because debentures issued for the department have been pledged in an amount of $150,000 pending the actual sale of the debentures at the end of the year. Depreciation reserve was increased $76,094.72.

Total expenses for the year showed an increase of nearly $23,000 to the sum of $1,132,388.44. Total revenue increased 16 per cent, or $186,896.57 over 1952.

Prayer Service Conducted At Millbrook

MILLBROOK (ENS) The World Day of Prayer service was held Friday afternoon in St. Andrew's United church hall.

The first part of the program, entitled "Act of Praise," was conducted by Miss Estalla Hetherington, president of St. Andrew's WMS. Miss Chester Fisher led in the reading of the "Act of Penitence" section.

Mrs. Reginald Fallis, president of St. Thomas' Anglican WA, conducted the part of the program entitled "Words of Assurance" and "Act of Thanksgiving for Jesus Christ" and the "Gloria."

Prayer was offered by Mrs. H. A. Turner for the queen, her consort, and counsellors, and for all leaders of the Commonwealth and other nations of the world. Mrs. Walter Patterson offered prayer for citizens of the community, the nation and all lands. The prayer for peace was offered by Mrs. David Lunn, for missions, missionairies and all who minister to the sick, the young and the underprivileged, by Mrs. K. Moncrief, for the home and family ties by Miss Ellen Kent and for the church universal and the World Council of Churches by the Rev. Margaret Butler.

Mrs. W. H. Heustin, president of Grace Presbyterian WMS was in charge of the remainder of the program.

GIVES ADDRESS

Mrs. oJhn Thompson gave an address on the theme "That they may have life." She said the "they" in the text referred to "you and me and all God's creatures."

As an example, she took the story of Abraham. He knew separation — he was taken from the land of his birth and his kindred — dependence on God, obedience to God, and, as a result, a life of fruitfulness.

Mrs. G. A. Spicer sang a solo. Miss Augusta Clarry was at the piano. Receiving the offering were Mrs. John McKnight and Mrs. H. R. Edmunds.

Joint Service Observes World Day Of Prayer

KEENE (ENS) — The World's Day of Prayer was observed Friday afternoon in the United church at a joint service conducted by the ladies of the United and Knox Presbyterian churches. Mrs. Alf. Fletcher presided at the organ and members of the Tillicum Class formed the choir.

The service, the theme of which was "That they may have life," was lead by Mrs. Fred Nelson, Mrs. Ernest Wilson, Mrs. Chas. Mather and Mrs. Boyd Renwick.

Prayers were offered by Mrs. H. McFarlane, Mrs. N. McCuaig, Mrs. E. Rennie, Mrs. R. Comrie, Mrs. A. Eason, Mrs. J. Renwick. The choir sang "God will take care of you" and the congregation sang four hymns. A duet, "There is a place of Sweet Delight," was rendered by Mrs. F. Eason and Miss M. Bryce.

The address for the afternoon was given by Mrs. H. B. Herrington. Her subject outlined the meaning and significance of the World's Day of Prayer, bringing together in its scope women of all nations the world over.

Th service closed with the Benediction and Mrs. Fred Nelson outlined the committee who will be in charge of the 1955 World's Day of Prayer.

Stock Trading Irregular But Markets Generally Firm

By BOB JOHNSTONE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, Montreal and New York stock markets were generally firm this week, although trading was irregular and trends vague.

Montreal and Toronto had been drifting away from the clear cut pattern, mostly rising, of early January and the last quarter of 1953. The New York changeover was a little faster.

Of Toronto's five sessions, three were slightly higher and two steady. Industrials set the pace in all five although oils and mines were active, particularly at midweek.

Liquors were slightly lower, and textiles, in the midst of depression-like dips as foreign competition cuts into the domestic market, produced a few bright spots.

Base metals were stronger as seniors attracted strength. Juniors moved narrowly, and Manitouwadge-area issues were irregular. Geco was near the $12 mark. Golds were slightly higher.

Uranhums were active at the beginning of the week but interest lagged toward the close. Profit-taking followed closely on the previous week's closing advance. Bathurst-area issues were pennies ahead at Friday's close.

Western oils were quiet and trendless most of the week although Friday's session saw some strength from Pembina-area issues. Thursday Jasper dropped from $3.10 to $1.40 and then recovered slightly.

The Friday-to-Friday indices showed industrials up 1.78 at 325.27, golds up .17 at 72.22, base metals up 1.62 at 139.21 and western oils up 1.32 at 93.67.

The Montreal averages showed banks off .16 at 37.30, utilities up .4 at 97.4, industrials up 1.7 at 183.8, combined up 1.3 at 155, papers up .45 at 824.42 and golds off .31 at 53.65.

New York trading, although strong, did not make the average gain of recent weeks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.80 at $116.20.

OBITUARY

HARRY L. WALKER

Harry L. Walker, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Walker, formerly of Warkorth, died in Kingston hospital on Sunday in his 81st year.

Mr. Walker was born in Warkworth. His father was a member of Parliament for Northumberland county from 1911-1917.

The late Mr. Walker was appointed a director of the Pilot Insurance Company when it was formed in 1927. For many years he lived in Belleville and was an inspector for that company for the territory between Oshawa and Kingston.

His wife, the former Bertha Lazier, died in 1937.

Funeral service was held Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the Pingston funeral home, Belleville, and burial was in the Warkworth cemetery.

TTC Fares Undecided

TORONTO (CP)—General Manager W. E. Duncan of the Toronto Transit Commission said Friday decision on a new fare structure will not be reached before the end of May. It was reported earlier that agreement has been reached on establishment of three fare zones with a 10-cent rate for the central or first zone and an additional 7½ cents for each of the outer zones. Fares on city lines now is three tickets for 25 cents, or 10 cents cash.

Hormones, Surgery Change Father of Two Into Woman

LONDON (CP)—Hormone treatments and three years of plastic surgery have transformed the father of two children into a woman. Doctors say it "may well be the most complete change of sex in the world's medical history."

Bob Cowell, 33, son of Maj.-Gen. Sir Ernest Cowell and a former RAF fighter pilot, now is legally Roberta Elizabeth Cowell, a sophisticated woman completely readjusted to her new life. However, she cannot bear children.

Doctors said Cowell, divorced by his wife in 1952 on a charge of desertion, now is living "somewhere on the continent." Relatives were reported caring for their daughters, 10 and 12.

Cowell came from a prominent family. His father, an honorary surgeon to the late King George VI, was director of medical services in the African campaign of the Second World War.

SPORTS ENTHUSIAST

Young Cowell went in for rugby football and auto and motorcycle racing. As a Spitfire pilot, he chalked up a good record in wartime dog fights. He spent six months as a war prisoner after being shot down over Germany.

In 1948, however, he started hormone treatment to switch his sex after noticing a change in his physical condition and mental outlook.

The next step was plastic surgery. Undergoing operations at a London hospital by one of Britain's most eminent surgeons, he gradually emerged as a female.

Doctors verified to registry officials that she was a woman.

A substitute birth certificate was issued May 25, 1951, for Roberta Elizabeth Marshall Cowell.

Neither of Cowell's daughters has been told about the sex change. Their mother has married again and it was not known where she is living.

Britain's Watch Industry Making Modest Comeback

By EDWIN SHANKE

LONDON (AP)—Britain's watch industry, once predominant in the world, is making a modest comeback with government encouragement as a result of the last war.

Watch - making had virtually ceased here before 1914, although clockmakers struggled along on a limited scale. To help fill what it described as a "gap in our industrial armory," the government announced a plan in 1945 to revive the industry and set aside £1,000,000 for development purposes.

Starting almost from scratch, Britain today is producing a monthly average of 4,500 high-grade jewelled lever watches. In addition, it produces approximately 200,000 cheap non-jewelled watches monthly.

"Our output of fine watches is as yet small but we have laid out a four-year program of development," said Dennis W. Barrett, general manager of Smiths English Clocks Ltd., Britain's largest clock and watch producers and the only British makers of 15-jewel lever timepieces.

HAD LARGEST INDUSTRY

Describing the decline of the once flourishing industry, F. B. Cowen, secretary of the British Clock and Watch Manufacturers' Association, said in an interview:

"Two hundred years ago, Britain had the world's largest clock and watch industry. It employed some tens of thousands of craftsmen and their hand-finished watches were sold throughout the world. Possession of a watch then, of course, was the mark of a wealthy man.

"From 1870 onwards, however, the picture changed with the advance of the industrial revolution and the opening of the market as money began to spread. Mass production methods were introduced abroad. But our craftsmen wouldn't agree that watches, requiring such high precision work, could be produced by machine. They refused to adopt the machine."

As a result, Cowen said, Britain's watch industry declined virtually by default to countries such as Switzerland and Germany.

12 FACTORIES IN '39

Between the wars, Britain produced virtually no watches, Mr. Cowan said. In 1939, the industry really consisted of 12 clock factories with a force of 4,000 to 5,000 men producing 1,250,000 clocks of all kinds with the exception of the alarm clock.

Cowen said that "Dunkerque and one subsequent isolation from Switzerland awoke us to our need."

"Practically everything that goes off with a bang has some part of a watch or clock in it. The time bomb, the time fuse and, of course, aircraft instruments, all have a bit of a watch or clock mechanism in them.

"But we lacked the craftsmen and the delicate precision machine tools. The clock factories pulled together bits and pieces of machinery and we had some lucky windfalls in contraband German cargoes. And we had to draw on the skilled employees in the scientific instrument field."

The government began a post-war scheme to develop the industry and a ministry of supply spokesman said financial assistance was given to four firms which wished to begin making watches.

The government bought machine tools, mainly from Switzerland, he said, and then loaned them on a rental basis to the firms with the option of purchase after five years at an agreed price. The government also helped in selecting sites for the special dust-free factories and aided in the allocation of special steels and other raw materials during the post-war shortages.

FOUR MAKE WATCHES

The ministry of supply said there now are 47 firms in the clock and watch industry, but only four make wrist and pocket watches.

The entire industry employs approximately 16,600 men and women with average weekly earnings roughly £7 10s, the ministry of labor said.

During 1953, the British Clock and Watch Manufacturers' Association said, approximately 2,450,000 watches were produced, but of these only 54,000 were high-grade jewelled lever watches.

Plan Wireless Transmitter Link B.C., Australasia

VANCOUVER (CP)—A powerful wireless transmitter may be erected here for communication with British possessions in the South Seas, Australia and New Zealand, but the submarine cable will be retained to handle the overflow and as a standby in event of poor radio reception.

Fifty years ago Bamfield, a fishing village on Vancouver island's west coast, was linked by cable with down under, thus completing the all red route. The Atlantic cable had then been in operation for 13 years and an overland telegraph link from Halifax to Bamfield completed the globe-girdling communication system.

The Pacific cable board, an agency composed of representatives of Australia, New Zealand, Britain and Canada built the transoceanic connection stretching 3600 miles to Fanning atoll, then south to Suva, Fiji, and Norfolk, the island made famous by "The Mutiny on the Bounty."

WRECKED BY GERMANY

In 1914 German commerce raiders landed at Fanning and destroyed shore installations and cut the cable. By rigging spare parts which had been hidden from the enemy during the action, and by laying a temporary wire through shark-infested waters, station employees quickly restored service.

After the First World War a second cable from Bamfield to Suva was laid, although Canada opposed this and proposed a wireless installation instead. Laying of the second cable demonstrated the great technical strides underwater telegraphy had taken since completion of the first. The new cable was five times faster than the old permitting relay of four messages at one time on a single cable.

Canadians Buy Large Amounts Of Drug Cures

SARNIA, Ont. (CP) — Canadians spend almost as much on drugs to cure their ills as they pay to hospitals and dentists. And about one-quarter of the average family's health budget goes to buy protection under public and private medical and hospital care plans.

Health Minister Martin said today those figures are some of preliminary findings of a country-wide sickness survey made in 1951. Results of the survey are still being analyzed.

Canada's total health bill in 1951 was $875,000,000, and only one in five Canadians went through the year without an illness, Mr. Martin said in a speech prepared for delivery at the opening of a new addition to the Sarnia General Hospital.

Despite the statistics, he said, Canadians are among the world's healthiest people. Canada's general death rate has been cut by a third in 50 years, putting her fourth among the countries of the world, while her death rate among older persons is lowest of any of the leading countries.

COSTS HIGHER

Mr. Martin said improvements in medical care during the last half-century have been paced by a corresponding increase in the cost of keeping well.

In the survey year, Canadian families reported health expenditures of about $374,000,000.

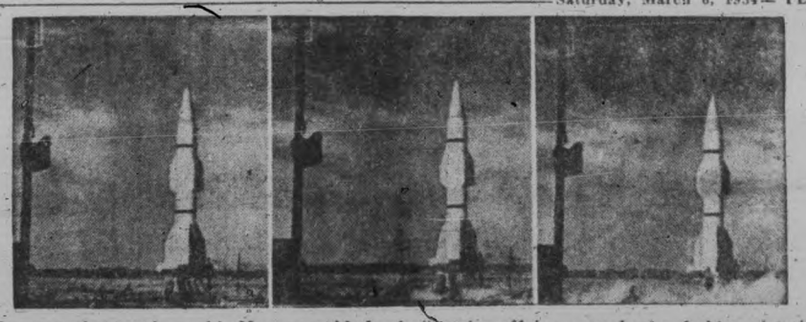
A breakdown of their health dollar showed the largest share, 24 cents, spent to buy protection under public and private medical and hospital care schemes. Direct payments to doctors took 23.5 cents, to hospitals 12.4 cents, and to dentists 8.8 cents. The 19.5 cents of each dollar spent on drugs almost equalled the total going to hospitals and dentists. Eye services, nursing care and other costs took the other 12.2 cents of the dollar.

The country's health bill of $675,000,000 was made up of $585,000,000 spent on personal health care and treatment, $50,000,000 on public health and services provided by all levels of government, and $40,000,000 on construction of hospitals and other treatment centres.

GOVERNMENT PAYMENTS

Of the $585,000,000 of personal health spending, families spent $374,000,000 and the balance was met out of government revenues. Provincial and municipal governments carried more than 70 per cent of total government health expenditures.

Mr. Martin said the 1951 survey also found that of every 100 people, 48 spent some time in bed through illness during the year, another 10 were kept away from work but not confined to bed, and 32 others reported some complaint, which may have been minor.



"On the basis of these figures, Canada's productivity loss because of illness can be estimated at between 40,000,000 and 50,000,000 mandays a year," he said.

Wins Lebanon Vote

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Premier Abdullah Yafi and his new cabinet won a vote of confidence in the Lebanon Parliament Friday night. The vote was 28-3. Before asking for the vote, Yafi presented a detailed program to Parliament promising economic agreement with Syria. He succeeded in re-forming a cabinet early this week after a 10-day crisis over internal problems.

U.S. Layoffs Slacken

WASHINGTON (AP)—The bureau of employment security reported Friday night that there was a slackening in job layoffs in the United States and some back-to-work calls during the week ended Feb. 27. The number of initial claims for unemployment insurance filed during the week was 288,200, 35,000 less than the previous week. However, part of the decrease was attributed to the fact that unemployment insurance offices were closed on the Washington's birthday holiday.

Large rockets such as this Hermes guided missile take off in a ponderous fashion that is awesome to behold . . .

. . . but makes initial guidance difficult. Soon the missile is beating skyward at an ever-increasing speed until it's a . . .

. . . pinpoint, and only an erratic chalklike vapor marks its path.

MYTHOLOGICAL HERMES WAS JUST A SLOWPOKE—Hermes, the figure of Greek mythology who was a herald and messenger of the Gods, was just a slowpoke compared to the Hermes guided missile, being tested at White Sands, near Las Cruces, N.M. The project was started in 1950 by General Electric engineers who based their design on the German Wasserfall. Smaller than the German V-2, the Hermes has four midsection wings for fast maneuverability, which is very important for a missile. The Hermes uses LOX (liquid oxygen) and alcohol as fuel to propel itself many times the speed of sound. Gas temperatures in the motor run from 5000 to 6000 degrees Fahrenheit. These exclusive hitherto unpublished pictures show a Hermes launched and in flight. When it's many thousand feet up, it looks as if it's directly overhead. All that is visible is the white-hot spot at the tail that resembles a welder's torch. There is no control over the Hermes' landing. The impact blasts a crater 30 feet deep when the missile rams the earth at well over 3000 m.p.h.

Elderly, Blind To Receive Bigger Pensions

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Alberta budget, brought down Friday night, provided for increased payments for elderly and blind pensioners, a boost in legislators' indemnities, and additional aid to municipalities. There were no tax changes.

The record $205,000,000 budget placed before the legislature by Premier E. C. Manning in his capacity as provincial treasurer is exceeded only by those of Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia among the provinces.

Old-age and blind pensions go up $5 a month, members of the legislature will get $3,600 instead of $3,000, and financial aid for municipalities will go up by approximately $14,000,000 to $89,785,450.

The Quebec legislature was prorogued shortly after a new three-year provincial income tax received royal assent. The levy is roughly equivalent to 15 per cent of the federal income tax.

The income tax measure, which came unheralded in the midst of the busy 13-week session, was the highlight of the legislative program of 60 government bills and 129 private bills.

N.S. PREDICTS SURPLUS

Provincial Secretary Ronald M. Fielding of Nova Scotia said in the legislature at Halifax that his province has lived within its income for the last fiscal year. He predicted a $614,712 surplus for the year ending March 31.

At Fredericton, Attorney-General W. J. West announced that legislation to improve jail conditions, tighten highway safety regulations and establish regional libraries will be introduced at the present session of the New Brunswick legislature.

The Manitoba legislature approved a resolution to set up a committee to investigate the possibility of a crop insurance plan for the province.

Ex-Rum-Runner Awarded Damages Totalling $77,200

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal jury Friday night awarded James (Niggy) Rutkin $77,200 of the $22,000,000 he sought in his suit against his old bootlegging colleague, Joseph H. Reinfeld, and five other defendants.

The jury brought in the verdict after 7½ hours of deliberation, including some incidental hesitations and missteps, ending a five-week trial, the second for the suit.

Rutkin, a former Newark rum-runner now in jail waiting out an appeal on an income tax conviction, charged that Reinfeld sold out some of their joint enterprises and conspired with the defendants to do him out of his share of the proceeds.

Judge Thomas F. Murphy congratulated the jury upon its final verdict, calling it a "very intelligent consideration."

After less than six hours of deliberating the jury reported it was deadlocked. Murphy conferred with lawyers for both sides and asked the jurors to keep trying.

The jury then came back with a verdict apportioning payment of the damages among the individual defendants.

Lawyers for the defendants objected to the breakdown, saying it was "erroneous as a matter of law." Murphy then asked the jury to reconsider the apportionment and estimate the total amount only.

The jury then settled on the $77,200-figure.

Defendants in the case besides Reinfeld were:

Harold C. Renfield owner of Renfield Importers Ltd. of New Jersey and Reinfeld's son-in-law; Samuel Bronfman of Montreal, head of Distiller Corp.-Seagram's Ltd.; his brother, Allan Bronfman, and Browne Vintners Co., a Seagram subsidiary.

Lowell Wadmond, counsel for the Bronfmans, said he would move to have the verdict set aside.

Rutkin's lawyer, Maurice Edelbaum, said he too would make a motion in court March 15, but he did not say what the motion would be.

Reinfeld is president of Renfield Importers Ltd. of New Jersey, a wholesale liquor distributing firm, and Joseph H. Reinfeld, Inc., of Newark.

One of the big issues in the trial was his sale of Browne Vintners to Seagram's in 1940 for $7,500,000 in cash and the assumption of $8,000,000 in debts.

Along with Browne Vintners, Seagram's got three valuable import agencies, which turned up in Reinfeld's hands after the Second World War.

Rutkin got $250,000 fom Reinfeld after the Browne Vintners sale. It was the tax on this money which the government charged Rutkin with evading.

Reinfeld contended in the income tax trial in Newark that he gave Rutkin the money because his former colleague threatened to kill him and his family.

No Decision Yet On Delegation For Gas Talks

TORONTO (CP) — The provincial government has made no decision on the sending of a delegation to Ottawa next week to support the application of the Consumer's Gas Company for permission to import natural gas into Ontario from the United States, Attorney-General Porter said Friday.

"There has been no decision made on the question," he said in reply to a query put by J. B. Salsberg (Lab-Prog—Toronto St. Andrew). "If an appointment was desirable we would discuss it then."

The attorney-general said the federal government was the only body that can make any decision on the importation. Ontario had made "exhaustive enquiries" into the possible market for gas from the proposed line from Alberta and the information was relayed to Ottawa.

"What about this house?" asked Mr. Salsberg.

"It was only information. It had nothing to do with importation," Mr. Porter replied.

The attorney-general said it was "quite apparent" that it was essential to build up as large a market as possible in eastern Canada between now and the next three years when Alberta gas will be available.

"It now is a question whether it is desirable for some importation during that period."

STUDY ELDERLY PERSONS

During the throne speech debate J. P. Robarts (PC—London) urged the formation of a select committee to examine the question of older persons in industry. He said his own research indicated "a misconception on the part of industry" regarding the older worker.

"If that older worker wishes to continue working I feel that he should be given that right."

H. F. Fishleigh (PC—Toronto-Woodbine) called for more promotion of Ontario's winter resorts, claiming too many persons were spending "thousands of dollars" on winter vacations in Florida.

J. S. Dempsey (PC—Renfrew South) criticized newspapers for the publicity given alleged irregularities in the highways department and to the persons involved.

Monday the report of the select committee on reform institutions is scheduled to be tabled. It was learned the committee has made more than 120 recommendations in the voluminous report.

The throne speech debate will continue.

HELLO, SWEETHEART—Eric Trobehn greets Miss Charlotte Staudte, the girl he's been trying to marry for the past 40 years, as she arrives in Anchorage, Alaska. Two world wars, lost addresses and unemployment prevented the childhood sweethearts from climaxing their romance that started in Germany. Both of them are looking forward to an "early" marriage.

Canned Pears, Peaches And Plums

There is a good supply of peaches, pears and plums in the stores just now—not the luscious, fresh fruit, for they will not be along for several months, but the nearly as taste tempting, canned ones. The most common way to serve these fruits is just as they come out of the can, but at this time of the year, when you are using them fairly often, you may get tired of them served just that way. Home economists suggest that these fruits can be the basis for many really "dress-up" desserts. They need not always be desserts. They are very good on any ready-to-eat cereal. They make delicious salads, and spiced, they are hard to equal as an accompaniment for meat. If you have not tried serving them hot, you should try them, for any canned fruit simmered, sauteed or broiled leads to a number of mouth-watering desserts. The home economists suggest sprinkling each peach half with brown sugar or honey, dotting them with buter, broiling them and serving them hot with ice cream topped with currant jelly. Pear or peach halves are very good served with mint flavoured whipped cream. You can flavour the cream with peppermint flavouring or you can fold in a little mint jelly. Almond flavoured whipped cream is delicious with canned peaches. Such rather ordinary deserts as tapioca, rice or cornstarch pudding will take on party airs if you top them with spiced plums or peaches and a bit of your raspberry or strawberry jam. To spice a canned fruit, drain off the syrup, add a little cinnamon and cloves, and simmer about 10 minutes. Pour the hot syrup over the fruit and let them stand in it for a few hours so that the spice flavour will penetrate the fruit. Do not throw away the juice from any of your canned fruits, for thickened with cornstarch it makes an ideal sauce for baked puddings.

EARLY SPRING SALADS AND DESSERTS

Fresh fruit shortcake and salads are so much a part of summertime meals that you quite often forget that you can have just as delicious ones from canned fruits. Home economists suggest that since eggs are lower in price now, you make up your favorite sponge cake, use canned peaches as the fruit and top it with plenty of whipped cream—that is a shortcake that will rate cheers from family and company.

As for canned fruit salads, you are sure to like a Waldorf-type pear salad which you make by combining diced pears with celery and chopped walnuts. A little lemon juice sprinkled over it just before the salad dressing is added, lends a pleasing tartness. Then too, you can make individual salads in a jiffy by softening cream cheese with a little milk and creaming it until it is very soft. Then beat in raspberry jam and use it to top pear or peach halves. Canned fruit and, cottage cheese make good salads too, and by adding canned fruits to a gelatine mixture, you can make spring-like salads or desserts with both eye and taste appeal.

HARLEQUIN PEARS

Since canned pears are very reasonable in price just now, you would be wise to have them on your shopping list often. Harlequin pears are colourful, quite different and a little more filling than most canned fruit desserts. Here is the recipe from the home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture.

HARLEQUIN PEARS

2 15-ounce tins pears (halves)
½ teaspon essence of peppermint
10 drops green colouring
1 cup seedless raisins
½ cup peanuts

Drain pears, reserving the syrup. Add peppermint flavouring to syrup and divide into two equal portions. Add green colouring to one portion and place in it half the pears. Chill until lightly tinted. Add rest of pears to remaining syrup. Put raisins and peanuts through the chopper using medium blade. Moisten with two tablespons syrup drained from pears and mix well. Drain pears and fill each eavity with raisin-peanut mixture. Place one tinted and one untinted half, cut side up, in each serving dish. Yield: six servings.

Women Of City Churches Hold World Day Of Prayer

All the Protestant denominations in Peterborough were represented at the Women's World Day of Prayer services held in the Murray Street Baptist church Friday afternoon and evening. Both were largely attended.

Day of Prayer services have been held annually for some years and the collections received are sent to the Women's Inter-Church of Canada to provide Christian literature for distribution to various parts of the world. Last year there was $31,406. spent for literature in Africa, Burma, India, Japan, Korea, Latin America, Pakistan, Trinidad, and to be distributed by the International Missionary Council of London and New York, the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., the World Council of Churches, the Canadian Council of Churches, also for co-operative work in Canada and non-English literature in Canada and for literature in braille for the blind.

The program followed for each service is the same all over the world, and this year is adapted from a service prepared by the late Dr. Sarah Chakko of India.

Theme was "That they may have life", (John 10: 10) and it was on this text that Mrs. Major H. G. Roberts of the Salvation Army spoke inspiringly in the afternoon.

Mrs. C. M. Scott was the evening speaker and she told about the Vellore Christian Medical College in India, the largest international, interdenominational medical college in the world. In 1953 there was $700 spent for Christian literature for patients in this college from the Day of Prayer collections.

The afternoon service was organized with Mrs. Howard Clegg of Knox United church as key woman and Mrs. A. A. Munro of St. Andrew's United, as secretary-treasurer, and the evening service wth Mrs. H. G. McKenze of St. Paul's Presbyteran as key woman and Miss Leatha Kidd of Murray Street Baptist as secretary-treasurer.

Leader in the afternoon was Mrs. S. Malsch of Murray Street, and the following read prayers and intercessions: Mrs. J. Bailey of Grace United Church, Mrs. G. M. Rutherford of St. George's Anglican, Mrs. R. Derrick of Park Street Missionary Alliance, Mrs. E. Alton of Mark Street United, Mrs. G. H. Hewitt of St. James' United, Mrs. S. Crookall of the Church of the Open Bible, Mrs. F. W. K. Harris of St. Andrew's, Mrs. D. Todd of St. Giles' Presbyterian, Mrs. J. M. Beatty of George Street United, Mrs. A. J. Brown of St. John's Anglican.

Mrs. N. D. Patterson of Mark Street was the afternoon soloist and chose a most appropriate hymn, "Did you think to pray?" The church organist Mr. Stanley Northrop accompanied her and played for the hymn selections.

Ushers were Mrs. A. Gifford of Murray Street; Mrs. W. A. Taylor of Park Street Baptist, Mrs. D. Wyatt of St. Luke's Anglican, Mrs. R. Goodfellow of Knox, Mrs. Walter Perks of St. Paul's and Mrs. Allan Wade of Trinity United church.

Those who took part in the evening service by reading prayers and intercessions were: Mrs. Rowan, St. Paul's Fraser Auxiliary; Miss Mildred Ivory, Trinity Supper Circle; Miss Grace Sargent, Elizabeth Park Circle; Miss Margaret Dainton of St. John's Anglican church; Mrs. Ross of Knox church Helen Ross Auxiliary; Mrs. Stewart of St. Luke's Anglican church; Col. Amy Ritchie of the Salvation Army; Mrs. Wood of St. Andrew's United church; Mrs. Slaughter of George St. Baby band; Mrs. Bauder of the Free Methodist church; Miss Marjorie Nesbitt of St. Paul's Evening Auxiliary; Miss Riel of All Saints' evening branch WA; Mrs. Wilson of St. Paul's WA.

Ushers were Mrs. H. Hamley of Mark St. United church; Mrs. M. Hendren of Park St. Baptist church; Mrs. A. H. Hardwick of Murray St. Baptist church; Mrs. R. Frise of Murray St. Baptist church.

Miss Bailey Speaks On Teaching Low IQ Pupils

Miss Coro Bailey, principal of Parkhill school, was guest speaker for the meeting of Peterborough and District Association for Retarded Children, held in the Green Room of the YWCA Thursday evening. President Mr. J. Menary presiding.

Miss Bailey spoke of her experiences as teacher of the junior opportunity class of Prince of Wales school a position she held for [illegible] for appointment as principal of Parkhill.

She pointed out that the problems presented today call for an understanding of children by the school teachers. "This understanding of the child's needs, growth and development is the common bond between parents and teachers. The needs change continuously. Each child's needs and potentiatlities are different. In this, heredity plays a part and while potentialities cannot be changed, environment can and should be encouraged. As no two children learn at the same rate, differences must be recognized and the reasons diagnosed wherever possible. Certain patterns of growth must be learned and understood by parents and teacher," she said.

Miss Bailey explained the Ontario Intelligence Test, given when children enter this special class which will determine their mental age. Reasons for retardation may be any of the following conditions: defective eyesight, hearing, speech, insecure home conditions, illness, accidents or birth injuries. The behaviour of the child shows his social development.

In these children of the lower IQ type, most of their activities must come through their hands, therefore hand crafts are developed as a sure means of learning how to get along and co-operate with others. In learning to handle various tools for the making of practical articles, the child is given an opportunity to develop self expression and self confidence. There are no tests or competition in this class room. Each child is recognized as an individual and taught accordingly. The same ruling is given for academic subjects which are taught according to the mental capacity of the child. The teacher also spoke briefly on the set up of the senior Opportunity Classes which operate in two of the city schools. Also of the care and training given in the Ontario Institutions. In closing, Miss Bailey stressed the importance of consistency in behaviour standards for home and classroom.

During the business session the government grant was gratefully acknowledged also a donation of $25 from the Prince of Wales Home and chool Association.

A innovation of this association is the compiling of a monthly Newsletter. The mailing for this is made up from the membership who are to be kept up-to-date with the progress of the class and the association program. Interest of the general public either by membership of one dollar or donations towards expense of school equipment when permanent accommodation is available will be welcomed. Mr. Menary Mattucci will attend the annual meeting of the Ontario Association for Retarded Children in Toronto on April 24th, as delegates of this association.

Refreshments were served after the adjournment by Mrs. J. E. Walsh, Mrs. S. Tedford, Mrs. V. Mattucci and Mrs. J. Menary.

A CHIPMUNK has climbed into this little boy's hand, and you can just see how many questions about chipmunks are going through his mind! Curiosity drives a child to find answers to the things which interest and puzzle him.

FOR PARENTS ONLY:

Curiosity Wonderful Urge In Your Boy Or Girl

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Jennifer asks so many questions, that by the time she goes to bed, I'm mentally exhausted thinking up answers." Mrs. Green complained to her mother-in-law. The older woman smiled, remembering the many questions Jennifer's father had asked when he was a little boy. Then she said, "curiousity is a wonderful urge which make a child want to find out about things. Mothers do get weary answering, but it is so important that they do the best they can."

"I suppose you are right," Mrs. Green agreed, "but I am continually amazed how often Jennifer asks 'Why?' and 'How?' as well as the less frequent 'Where?', 'What?' and 'When?' I do try to listen and give her a sensible answer." Jennifer's grandmother said quickly, "Then Jennifer is indeed fortunate."

A prompt answer to a little child's question should be given when ever this is possible. Sometimes an adult doesn't mind a delayed reply. He may be mature enough to continue to be interested in that particular topic. But once a child's eagerness for knowledge is dimmed by being "put off" or indifference, it may never again be renewed.

An exception to the rule of answering promptly may have to be made if a child asks a question in front of visitors. The subject may be controversial or a private one, as a query concerning sex. In that case it is better to say to the child, "Mother cannot talk to you just now because we have company. But I will try to answer your question at bed time."

Some parents are determined to avoid answering their child's questions about sex at all, in a mistaken idea that they are preserving his "innocence." The subject embarrasses them and they pursue a policy of silence. But sex education is the responsibility of parents. A child's question about where do babies come from, and about sex differences, should be answered simply and directly. Otherwise they are leaving their children to the mercy of ignorant and sometimes evil adults. The mixture of mis-information and truth their child's friends have acquired on this forbidden topic may be most confusing to their own youngsters.

ALL NOT REAL QUESTIONS

All questions are not real questions. Once in a while a child hungers for attention and asks a stream of questions, hardly waiting to hear their answers. Parents have also noticed that Junior occasionally resorts to asking questions as bed time approaches, just to prolong his day.

Grown-ups are puzzled when a seemingly alert child asks the same question over again several times. Little children often do this Answer him each time, but don't burden him with too many details. He does forget — and his interest span is short.

If a parent does not know the answer to a question, it does no harm to admit ignorance or partial knowledge. Together, parent and child, can look up the required information in a dictionary or reliable reference book.

The habit of looking for answers in books is a good one to cultivate. Most youngsters are keen about Nature Lore. An attractive book with lovely pictures such as "Nature Was First" by Walter C. Fabell will answer many of the queries which come to their minds. One of the most useful inexpensive books is "Questions and Answers" from The Book of Knowledge volumes in the Pocket Books of Canada. Good, well illustrated Dictionaries, such as The Pictorial Encyclopedia (Thomas Nelson) are an asset in any home library. They are a fine source for the information a bright child seeks in finding out about the world.

Never insult a child's honest question by laughing at him or telling him, "Curiosity killed the cat." Curiosity may have been the end of pussy, but a live child has a live curiosity. Keep alive this little spark of eagerness for knowledge. It is infinitely precious in your child's education.

Readers' Saturday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

QUESTION: . . . I noticed that you had recipes for sugarless foods, also titles and authors of manuals for diabetics . . . my boy is 13 yrs. . . . a diabetic since last summer. I would greatly appreciate any help or information you could give to help prepare different foods for him . . . to keep him from tiring of the same things . . . Mrs. J. J. B.

ANSWER: I am mailing you some sugarless and low-sugar recipes. Two books you would find useful are "Good Foods for Diabetics" by Eleanor Record Siegel, published by Harper Bros. New York and "Diabetic Meals, Menus and Recipes" by Betty M. West. There is also Dr. Joslin's Manual for diabetics which your doctor has doubtless recommended. Write to Abbott Laboratories, North Chicago, Ill. for their booklet "Calorie-Savings Recipes".

QUESTION: I would like a recipe for butter tarts. What we buy in the bakeshop have syrup in the botton. My recipe goes too dry. I've tried a slow, also fast oven but not good . . . Bakery make a cake and they sell it in boxes six squares to a box around 1½ inches high spiced and with coarse walnut meats and iced with a brown sugar icing with walnuts meats ground very fine sprinkled on top. Stays fresh for the longest time. I believe I could guess part of the ingredients but I can't tell the spice . . . Mrs. Harold N.

ANSWER: I'll have to guess since I'm not familiar with the cake—unless you would like to mail me a sample. Try this:

WALNUT SPICE CAKE

Cream together until fluffy and light ¾ cup soft shortening, 1¼ cups brown sugar and 1 cup white sugar. Beat it very well. 3 eggs. Sift together 3 cups sifted cake flour, 1½ teaspoons soda, ½ teaspoon all-spice (or 1½ teaspoons cinnamon, ¾ teaspoons nutmeg, ¾ teaspoons cloves) and 1 teaspoon salt. Stir the sifted dry ingredients into first mixture alternately with 1½ cups buttermilk. Fold in 2/3 cup walnuts chopped. Black walnuts are excellent. Pour into buttered and floured oblong pan and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 50 to 55 minutes.

SYRUPY BUTTER TARTS

(One Dozen Medium)

Cream until soft 3 tablespoons butter, cream into it 1 cup brown sugar not too firmly packed and cream well. Slowly stir in one beaten egg. Add ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup currants or seedless raisins washed and dried, ¼ cup broken walnuts, ½ teaspoon vanilla and ¼ to ⅓ cup corn syrup. (If you want them very syrupy add ½ cup corn syrup.) Pour into prepared raw tart shells. Bake at 425 degrees 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 375 degrees until rims of tarts are golden.

QUESTION: I will soon require a filing cabinet to care for the many recipes of yours I have clipped . . . the calorie chart you sent a year ago is worn to shreds. Would you be kind enough to send me another? . . . The chiffon cakes I bake are rather nice . . . but my husband got tired of beating the egg whites until they were dry and stiff . . . so he bought me an (electric beater). Now my cakes are a flop. The egg whites stay moist and even watery at times. What am I doing wrong? or how long must I beat them? So I have gone back to the hand beater and my husband said, "Well I'll be . . . someone how to use it?" . . . Book that came with it doesn't give chiffon cake.—Mrs. E. I.

ANSWER: I've sent the calorie chart. Good for you for losing 32 lbs.

CHIFFON CAKE

(Using Electric Mixer)

Into large mixing bowl sift together 2¼ cups sifted cake flour, 1½ cups sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder (be sure you have fresh baking powder), 1 teaspoon salt. Make a "well" in centre and add in order ½ cup cooking oil, 5 unbeaten egg yolks, ¾ cup cold water, 2 teaspoons vanilla, 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind. Beat this into flour with spoon or mixer AT LOW SPEED just until smooth. To 1 cup egg whites add ½ teaspoon cream of tartar and beat under electric beater until they hold very stiff peaks. Pour egg yolk mixture in thin stream over entire surface of whites, gently cutting and folding with rubber spatula. FOLD GENTLY. Pour into ungreased tube pan. Bake in 10-inch tube pan at 325 degrees Fahr. for 55 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees for 10 or 15 minutes. Cake is done when surface springs back when lightly touched. Let hang until cold, then loosen with spatula.

Wife Wants Occasional Evening Out

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have been married for five years and have two children. My problem is that my husband doesn't want to go anywhere without the boys. I love the youngsters, of course, but after being with them all day I would like an occasional evening out. Family gatherings, such as weddings, house warmings, etc., cannot be attended unless it's possible to take the children. Their father doesn't trust baby sitters, even if they're relatives. He is willing to stay with the children so I can go to the movies alone, but I don't like this arrangement. Kay

AN ANXIETY COMPLEX

ANSWER: Many fathers, especially young ones, have this same anxiety complex concerning leaving small children with outsiders. If you did succeed in persuading your man to go out occasionally, he's be so worried, that you wouldn't have any fun at the outing. It's an inescapable fact that children do tie parents down, but restriction has such tremendous rewards that it's worth putting up with for awhile. Babies grow up in time and soon you'll have all the freedom you want. Then, of course, you'll often wish you were back in the "tied down" stage. The best you can do for the present is to find things you and your husband can enjoy at home, together. Have friends in for the evening, get some of the fascinating games currently available for such occasions, or just talk.

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 17 and have been going steady for six months. My boy friend and I have been arguing quite a bit lately, and he has suggested that we break up. The idea hurts me, as I like him very much. I'd like to continue going out with him, but not steady. Viola K.

ANSWER: Since neither of you wants to continue steady dating, and you both seem to be a bit bored with the present status, it would be wise for you to make the move and break up. Naturally the boy doesn't want to make an issue of it, since he knows you'll feel hurt, but you seem quite agreeable to the idea—as long as the suggestion doesn't come from him. Make the break yourself before the boy is forced to do it through sheer incompatibility.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to a boy who spent a year in prison. He was 18 then, and is 22 now. He has been working ever since his release, and no one could find a word to say against his present conduct. However, my parents do hold the past against him. I'm sure he is aware that he made a mistake and is doing everything to atone for it. M. B.

ANSWER: The boy's actions as described in your letter, certainly indicate a thoroughly changed person, and it is true that a single mistake shouldn't be held against an individual forever. I do think a talk with someone who knows the young man very well, a parole officer or his minister, for instance, would help clarify the situation for you and also for your parents. Try to make arrangements with your folks, to give the boy at least this much consideration.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 20 years old, married, and have a baby. My husband is a fine man, and we love each other dearly, but he is never considerate of me. He expects me to have a meal ready no matter what time he comes home, and never offers to help around the house. Does this mean that he really doesn't care for me? Alice C.

ANSWER: By no means do your husbands actions mean he doesn't love you. He simply takes you for granted, and because you are always available to wait on him, he just expects such service to go on. Many men are completely blind to the demands put on a young mother, and it just doesn't occur to them to help out. Your husband was probably raised in a home where nothing of this sort was expected of the men. Since he sounds like a reasonable fellow, ask him for a little assistance. Of course, it's much nicer when these things come without request, but then, we can't have everything.

Springbrook YPU To Enter Play In Drama Festival

COLDSPRINGS (ENS) Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Books were host and hostess to the Coldsprings Young People's Union. There were 13 members and nine visitors present.

Leslie Avery, citizenship and community service convener, was in charge and opened the meeting with call to worship. Warren Buttars read the scripture. The meditation was read in unison from the hymnary. John Beedham led in prayer and Bert Vanclief gave a reading.

Leslie Avery gave the topic on "the life and duty of a Christian citizen," followed by prayer. Elva Willis read a poem.

The business was conducted by the president, Bruce McIntosh. An invitation was accepted to be guests of Fenella YPU on March 24. A sleigh-ride party was planned for Saturday night, weather permitting. Plans were made to start rehearsing the play "The Friendly Church" to enter in the drama festival.

Dorothea Bowman conducted recreation. Lunch was served by the committee in charge.

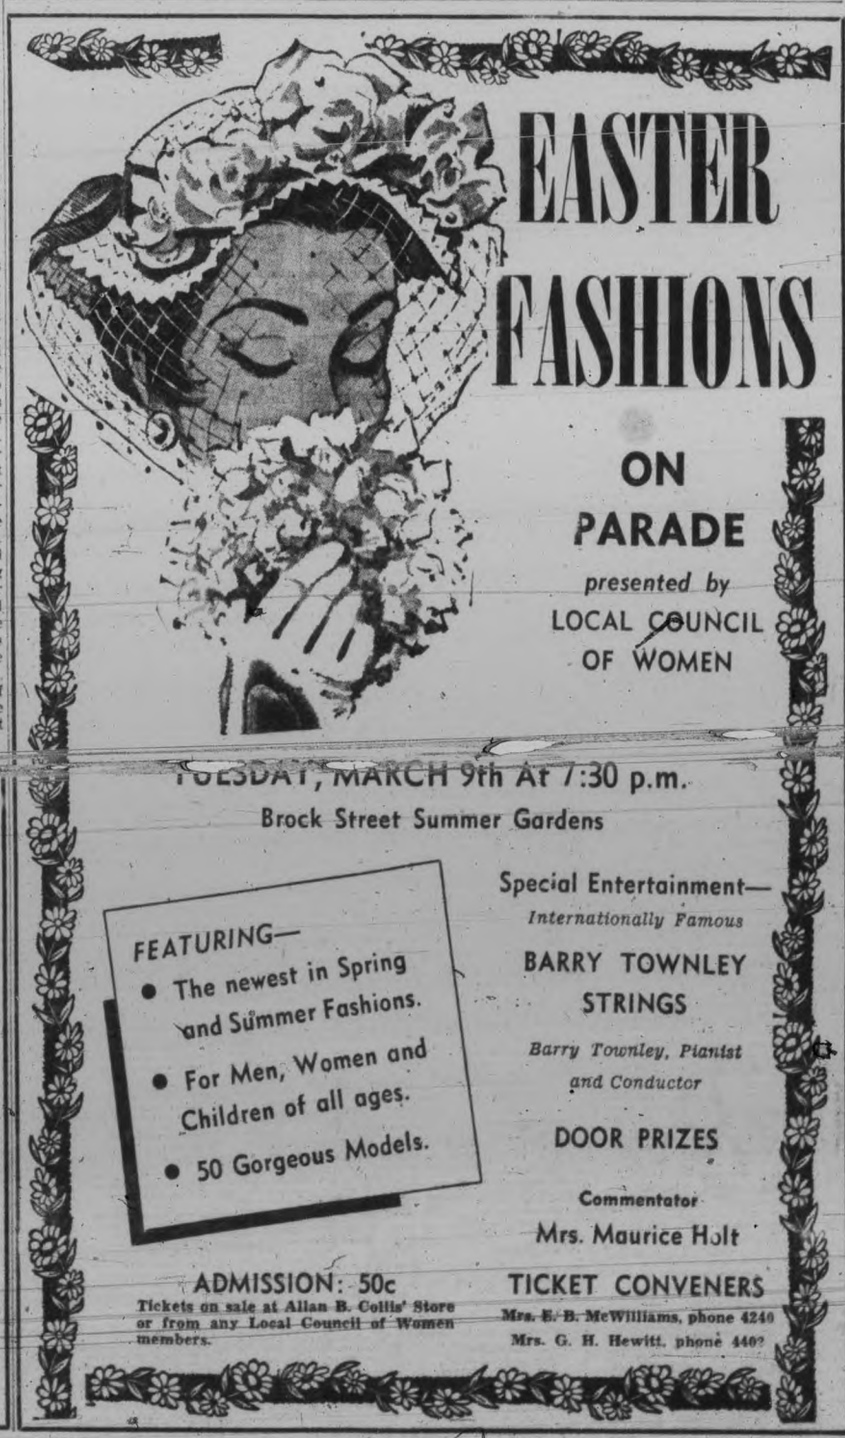
Miracle Foot Aid. 599 Devon St., Oshawa, Ontario,
Dear Sirs: April 21, 1953.

I feel so much better since coming to you that I feel it only right to report my progress so that others may be benefitted as well.

When I first came to you last November, I could hardly stand on my feet, they were so bad with callouses. My legs were swollen and were cold, up to the knees.

After being fitted with Miracle Foot Aids, and following instructions, almost immediately the circulation came back up my feet and legs.

I received benefit from Miracle Foot Aid, right from the start.



Now, after more than 4 months with Miracle Foot Aid, I am convinced in my own mind that your work is not only beneficial, but lasting and genuine.

I can sincerely recommend your work to all who suffer as I did.

Any one who wishes to contact me to verify the results I obtained is very welcome to do so.

(Signed) Herbert Henry Jackson.

Yours very truly,

THE STORY OF WEDGWOOD

This story is the story of China, Pottery and Artware as it concerns Britain prior to the advent of Wedgwood and the tremendous amount of experimenting of this Staffordshire potter. At the time, English potters were just learning the art.

This week the writer has his collections to make for the Red Cross and Community Chest so if my wife doesn't fire me I'll be back with a little more information on Wedgwood next week.

COX—In loving memory of Frank H. Cox, who passed away March 7th, 1948.
We who loved you sadly miss you,
Thoughts of you are ever near.
—Ever remembered by his wife and family.

COX—In proud and loving memory of Bdr. L. P. Cox, 4th Anti-Tank Regt. killed in action in Germany, March 6, 1945.
He gave his life for his friends.
—Ever remembered by his mother.

CUNNINGHAM—In loving memory of our brother, Bruce, killed in World War II in Germany, March 7, 1945.
Only your memory are all that is here,
Love and remembrance we still hold so dear.
—Forever remembered by Ethel, Denton, Lloyd.

CUNNINGHAM—In loving memory of our dear son, Bruce, killed in Germany, March 7, 1945. Now buried in Holland.
Though Bruce's smile has gone forever
And his hand we cannot touch
Still we have so many memories
Of a son we loved so much.
—Sadly missed by mother and father.

CUNNINGHAM—In loving memory of brother Bruce, killed in Germany, March 7th, 1945.
We were not there, to see you die,
To raise your head and say goodbye.
These words are written with sad regret,
For those who loved and will never forget.
—Sadly missed by Ruby, Lee and family.

ELLIOTT—In memory of Mary Elliott, who passed away March 6, 1952.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind,
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
—Always remembered by Grant Elliott and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Reid and family.

MONTGOMERY—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Joseph Wellington Montgomery, who passed away March 7, 1938.
Oh, God, what a weight of sorrow
Must we, the lonely ones, bear,
A lonely home, a silent voice,
And only his vacant chair.
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by his wife, Elizabeth, and sons Noble and Arnold.

PANTER—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, eGorge Panter, who passed away, March 7, 1950.
His memory is my keepsake,
With which I'll never part.
God has him in his keeping,
I have him in my heart.
Though out of sight he is ever near
Still missed, still loved, still mine,
He will live with me in memory,
Until the end of time.
—Ever remembered by his loving wife and Muriel.

PANTER—In loving memory of my dear dad, George Panter, who passed away, March 7, 1950.
Till memory fades and life departs
You live forever in our hearts.
—Always remembered by daughter Mildred and family.

PANTER—In loving memory of Dad, Mr. George Panter, who passed away March 7, 1950.
We love to think of you dear dad,
In mansions bright and fair,
Where Jesus reigns in glory
There is no sorrow there.
—Ever remembered by daughter Hattie, Charles and family.

SMITH—In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Sgt. Alex A. Smith, killed in Germany, March 7th, 1945.
Loving memories will never die.
As years roll on and days pass by.
Deep in our hearts a memory is kept
Of one we loved and will never forget.
—Sadly missed by mother and father and brothers.

WHATLEY—In loving memory of Sidney Whatley who passed away six years ago March 7th.
Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
His weary trials and troubles are past;
In silence he suffered, in patience he bore,
Till God called him home to suffer no more.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR SALE

Pursuant to the Judgment and Order for Sale made in this cause there will be offered for Sale, by Public Auction, in One Parcel, with the approbation of the undersigned Master, by Gordon Hancock, Auctioneer, at the Hour of 2:30 o'clock in the Afternoon, on the 20th DAY OF MARCH, A.D. 1954, the following Lands and Premises, namely:

Farm Land and Buildings situate in the Township of Asphodel, in the County of Peterborough, and being the East half of Lot Number Eleven (11) in the Tenth Concession (10) of the said Township of Asphodel, containing One Hundred Acres of Land more or less being more particularly described in Deed registered in the Registry Office for the Registry Division of the County of Peterborough as Number 7540 for the Township of Asphodel.

The Property will be Sold, by Public Auction, at the House situate on the above described Lands.

The Property will be offered for Sale subject to reserved bid which has been fixed by the undersigned Local Master.

The Purchaser shall pay down to the Vendor's solicitor at the time of the Sale 10% of the purchase money and shall pay the balance of the purchase money into Court, without interest, within Thirty Days after the date of the Sale. Adjustments to be made as of date of closing, at which time vacant possession will be given. The Purchaser shall search the title at his own expense. The Vendor shall not be bound to produce any abstract of Title or any Deeds or evidence of Title other than those in his possession or control. In other respects the conditions of Sale are the Standing Conditions of Sale of the Supreme Court of Ontario as modified by the Conditions of Sale settled by the undersigned.

On the Prperty above described are said to be situate the following Buildings, namely:

House: Two-Storey, Seven-room Frame House, with insul-brick siding on stone foundation, in good condition, equipped with hydro.

Barn: Approximately 30' x 60', of frame construction on stone foundation with concrete floor, steel stanchions, equipped with hydro.

Garage: Approximately 10' x 17', of frame construction.

Further particulars and Conditions of Sale may be had from Messrs. Carley, Standish, Clarke and Carley, Solicitors, No. 88 Bank of Commerce Block, Peterborough, Ontario.

DATED at Peterborough, this 10th Day of February, 1954.

Ford Motor Company Closes Bombay Plant

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Ford Motor Company of Canada said it would be uneconomical to try to establish complete manufacturing facilities for automobiles in India. The company will close its Bombay plant and withdraw from Indian territory.

General Motors Corporation, India's largest automobile plant, announced it will close its doors March 31 as a result of government restrictions on assembly line imports. The government move was an attempt to form a domestic automobile industry.

A Ford spokesman said the company announced two months ago it would suspend Indian operations and turn the business over to two Indian companies. The statement said the annual sale of all makes and types of vehicles in the country is 20,000 to 25,000 a year.

Ford will maintain service facilities for its Indian customers, the statement said.

WI Hold Successful Series Of Parties

WESTWOOD (ENS) — The card party sponsored by the Women's Institute, was well attended. Ten tables being played.

Prize-winners were: Mrs. L. Hutchinson, Donald Hope, Mrs. William Elmhirst, Donald Cameron and William Elmhirst.

This series of parties has been well attended during the winter months. The proceeds are to be used for new flooring.

Lunch was served.

Attempt Climb Ridge In Rockies

TORONTO (CP) — Peter Bennett, 40, of Oakville, said Friday he is organizing an expedition of seven men and a woman that will set out for Jasper, Alta., March 28 to attempt a 200-mile journey over the highest ridge of the Rockies.

The expedition hopes to make the first crossing of the eight large icefields on the Alberta-British Columbia border.

The 1954 Canadian icefields ski expedition will test under rugged conditions at high altitudes items of food, new diet theories, and lightweight equipment for the defence research medical laboratories.

The woman in the expedition is Peggy Austin of Ancaster, 35-year-old mother of two. As Peggy Johannsen, she was Canadian women's ski champion in 1937. Her husband, Peter Austin, a tobacco company director, also is in the team.

Other members of the team are: Pat Boswell, 30, Toronto; Alan Bruce-Robertson, 32, doing postgraduate medical work in Toronto; John Dupre, 33, the expedition's guide, who came to Canada three years ago after five years as first lieutenant in the Swiss Alpine troops; and Murray Snively, 30, Toronto insurance agent.

An eighth member will be picked to replace Norwegian - born Leif Alvaer, who had to drop out on doctor's orders.

200 Ranchers Attend Show

GUELPH (CP) — More than 200 chinchilla ranchers, furriers and visitors from Canada and parts of the United States attended Canada's national chinchilla show at the Ontario Agricultural College Friday.

Sponsored by the more than 1,800 of the National Chinchilla Breeders of Canada, the show featured 123 Canadian chinchillas from all parts of the country.

Although primarily a judging show for live animals, the event was also a preview of the fur that will make its debut in New York this spring at a joint Canadian and American auction.

Third high aggregate winner was Val Berdux, Waterloo.

Swap Old Bullfinches Jap Religious Rites

TOKYO (Reuters)—On a bitterly cold day thousands of devout Japanese braved driving snow to make their annual pilgrimage to the Kameido Tenjin shrine near Tokyo to exchange old bullfinches for new.

This is but one of countless Shinto rites which play an important part in Japanese life.

The pilgrims who exchanged their little wooden bullfinches at the Kameido Tenjin shrine sought good luck and happiness for their families in 1954.

The bullfinches are believed to have the power of absorbing bad luck.

CHANGED EVERY YEAR

At the end of 12 months, the wooden image is supposed to be saturated and is exchanged for a new one which is expected to do the same job for the next 12 months.

At another shrine in Dazaifu, Kyushu, the custom has a different twist. The birds are exchanged in the dark and during the exchange the chief priest slips in a gold bullfinch.

The pilgrim who ends up with the gold bullfinch considers himself the luckiest person in Japan.

British Freighter May Win Gold Cane

MONTREAL (CP) — One of the leading contenders for the coveted gold cane, awarded annually to the master of the first ocean vessel reaching Montreal, will be the freighter, Manchester Spinner scheduled to leave Manchester, England, March 20, the vessel is expected to dock March 29, one of the earliest arrivals on record.

Ice-breaking at the head of the lakes is scheduled to begin Monday, several days later than last year. General navigation on the lakes may not start until April 15 or later.

Fifty Million In India Unemployed

By PHILIP DEANE

NEW DELHI (ENS) — India's new budget, which is now being debated in Parliament, reflects the country's struggle to raise standards of living, provide work for its unemployed—estimated at between forty and fifty million—and avoid inflation or deflation in the process. The poverty in India is so great, and the yearly national income per capita so minute (£20) that there is little room in which the Finance Minister can manoeuvre. In spite of raising import duties (on British cars, for instance) and raising the duty on soap, footwear, cement and cotton cloth, the total revenue for this enormous country of nearly four-hundred million people is approximately £340 million, of which £150 million goes on defence and £160 million on administration, maintenance, pensions and payment for existing services; so that only about £30 million is left to pay for the urgent development of the economy and the building of new institutions. This means that less than one shilling and eightpence will be spent for each Indian.

WORLD'S WORST-FED

More has to be spent. India's population, according to the United Nations, is the worst-fed in the world, and this population increases at the rate of four million a year, while food production has increased in the past few years at a rate sufficient to feed only one million new mouths each year.

On the advice of the International Monetary Fund, India will carry out deficit financing up to £190 million. This is expected to facilitate the use of sterling reserves for the country's development plan.

India has not been able to use these reserves in the past because —among other reasons—there was not enough money in circulation in the country. More money could be raised by taxing the profits of the rich traders and industrialists, and these people could invest more in the economy; but most Indian businessmen think in terms of quick returns, not of long term investment. And they would rather hoard their profits than invest them in controlled industries, where they cannot hide their income. Taxing the rich in India might slow down the country's economic development.

Urge Expansion Forest Products

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's forest products industry has been urged to take greater advantage of available technical information on woods as a method of expanding markets.

The recommendation was made Friday by a seven-man panel at the final session of a two-day meeting of the eastern Canadian section of the Forest Products Research Society. The organization was formed two years ago to promote research, development, production, utilization and distribution of forest products.

Members of the panel agreed that there is an abundance of technical information on wood products that is not being used by the industry. The information has been gathered by the federal government's forest products laboratories and by universities.

J. H. Jenkins, chief of the federal laboratories, a branch of the northern affairs department, said there is a "pressing need" for the industry to use this information and create new markets for wood products.

"More information is available than is being used by all branches of the forest products industry," he said.

The panel recommended that the industry employ more technicians.

Four Churches Mark World Day Of Prayer

SELWYN (ENS)—The annual World Day of Prayer service for Gilmour Memorial Baptist, Bridgenorth, Fairview and Selwyn United churches was held in the Bridgenort church.

Mrs. Harold [illegible] vice. She was assisted by Mrs. Stanley Boyce, leading the "Act of Praise."

Mrs. James McConkey led the section, "Words of Assurance" and "Act of Thanksgiving." Mrs. Max Archer led "Intercession," and Mrs. L. M. Richardson led "Act of Dedication."

Prayers were offered by Mrs. James A. Young, Mrs. James Johnston, Mrs. Clifford McIlmoyle, Mrs. Elmer Milburn, Mrs. E. C. Smith, Miss Olive Sidey and the Rev. T. H. Fleetham.

The Rev. E. C. Smith, pastor of Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church, gave an address on "Faith."

Mrs. Gordon Ray sang a solo. Her accompanist was Mrs. Elizabeth Telford, who presided at the piano throughout the service. Mrs. F. Rowland and Mrs. Clifford McIlmoyle [illegible]ved the offering, which was $22.50.

Following the service, lunch was served in the Sunday school room.

Re-Elected President

TORONTO (CP)—E. S. Welch of Toronto Friday was re-elected president of Ontario divison of the Canadian Cancer Society. F. W. Fredenburgh of Toronto was named president-elect.

Vice-presidents elected were Mrs. F. S. Archer of Kingston and Mrs. F. M. Buchanan of Brantford.

Billy Graham Pleased With Revival Crusade

LONDON (AP)—American evangelist Billy Graham, winding up the first week of a three-month London revival crusade, said today that the "response has been magnificent."

About 65,000 Britons have heard Graham preach six sermons in the Harringay arena. The hall accommodates 11,058. Only one night, when the weather was bad, were there a few seats to spare. Hundreds had to be turned away on other nights.

"There is a great hunger for God in this vast city," Graham told a reporter, and the crusade "actually seems to be about two weeks ahead of schedule."

QUICK RESPONSE

"I mean," he explained, "the response and enthusiasm have reached an intensity which in America we would not expect for about a month.

"My co - workers and I are pleased particularly by the number of persons who have volunteered to start an active Christian life.

"They have been responding at the rate of about 200 a night . . . a higher figure than we usually expect at the beginning of a campaign."

Special trains and buses have been arranged to bring large parties from Birmingham, Cardiff and other centres, and there have been pleas from various parts of Britain for a barn-storming tour of the country.

Each day Graham gives a report on his crusade in a column in the mass-circulation Daily Sketch.

More than half the £50,000 to be raised in Britain has been subscribed. The crusade was undertaken with American financial backing.

TIRED, FOUND WANTING

The "Church of England Newspaper" has suggested that the Graham revivalist message is one "the British public has heard, tried, found wanting and turned away from."

"It may, of course, happen that although the dynamic of revivalism has run down once, and more than once, its impact may come freshly upon a generation that has grown up in different circumstances," the church journal said Friday.

But, it asked, what use is it to say "the Bible says this or that" when the Bible has no authority?

The paper said it may be necessary to "ballyhoo" religion to bring it to the crowds, and to preach the gospel "in the idiom of the palais de dance."

It continued:

"When we constantly hear bewailed the absence of a sense of sin among our people, of what use can it be to appeal to a consciousness of guilt. . . .

"Of what value are threats of hell and promises of heaven to people whose world picture leaves no room for them?

"Can a movement really succeed that carefully evades all the ethical problems of the day just because they are controversial and awkward? . . . If approach along those lines is impossible, surely what help is a new and easily intelligible presentation of the Christian understanding of the universe in which we live."

EVASIVENESS SEEN

In its comment on Graham's "evasion," the newspaper apparently referred to his statement on arrival here that he was not anti-Communist or anti-Socialist. The statement followed a British Socialist uproar over an attack on socialism in the calendar of Graham's evangelistic organization.

Graham explained the attack as a printer's error.

The church paper appeared to change its tack slightly when it hoped "Billy Graham has not become too respectable in his desire to avoid offence."

Hints of Peace, More War Red Policy In Indo-China

By RAWLE KNOX

SAIGON (OFNS) — The formidable Ho-Chi-Minh, leader of the rebel Communist Vietminh, holds the political as well as the military initiative in Indo-China.

French and democratic vietnamese in Indo-China are growingly [illegible] at the possibility of fresh suggestions from "Uncle Ho" before the Geneva conference in April which, among other things, will discuss Indo-China. Even mild Vietminh concessions might now be most difficult for the French Assembly to turn down out of hand. If the suggestions were timed to coincide with the imminent Franco-Vietnamese discussions in Paris on Vietnam's independence, any sort of Vietminh offer to co-operate peacefully in a truly independent Vietnam would be especially hard to resist. And it is this form of offer which well-informed French and Vietnamese sources here fear is coming.

Meanwhile, the Vietminh seem likely to take a leaf from Peking's Korean album by intesifying war while softening the enemy by hinting at peace. The much-travelled 308th Division, forestalled as usual by the rapid French airborne build-up in its attempt to capture the lightly defended Laotian capital of Luang Prabang, is toiling back towards the Thai country of North Vietnam. The French command inclines to the belief that three-and-a-half Vietminh divisions, concentrated once more around Dien Bien Phu, will attempt a prestige assault on that bastion as an overture to the Genenva conference. Other observers, including your correspondent, feel that the Vietminh are unlikely, after all this time, to attempt an attack on Dien Bien Phu until the late April rains which could put valley-bound defenders at a greater disadvantage than attackers from the surrounding mountains; and feel even more that General Giap, the Communist Commander-in-Chief, may quickly switch one of his [illegible] Dien Bien Phu to the Red River Delta to further embarrass the troubled Franco-iVetnamese situation there.

INFILTRATION

By now more than fifteen thousand regular Vietminh troops, including the whole of the 320th Division, have infiltrated into the Red River Delta area. The area is marked by popular war maps as being under the control of the French and the Vietnamese Government but in fact Governmnt forces hold nothing outside Hanoi, the delta towns and larger villages and (by day) the main roads. Otherwise the Vietminh control everything. From the centre of Hanoi it is common at night to hear small-arms fire as the Vietminh attack posts almost in the suburbs.

Desertions from the Vietnamese army — a whole battalion disappeared overnight recently in the Phat Diem area — create a growing problem, despite the denials of the popular Vietnamese commander, General Hinh. With talk of a possible cease-fire being heard the Vietnamese soldier is becoming particularly anxious to find himself on the right side. Nothing but an unequivocal statement from the West, France very much included, that it will not negotiate with Ho can check this slide; and the danger is that Ho is likely to get his statement in first.

Fire Destroys 10 Industries

OSHAWA — A fire roared through a sprawling brick building housing 10 small industries here early Friday night. Damage was estimated at $100,000. About 40 men were working in the building at the time, but all escaped unhurt.

The King St. W. two-storey structure is about 200 yards from the site of the Oshawa Arena, which was destroyed by fire late last year. All available firemen in the city fought the blaze for nearly an hour before bringing it under control. They confined the flames to the interior of the building.

Smoke was so dense that motorists driving through the downtown section of the city had to turn on their headlights. Fire Chief Wesley Elliott said that while the cause of the fire is not yet known it started in an acetylene welding plant. He said one of the fire doors in the building was open when he arrived. Workers pushed and drove several cars and trucks to safety from the burning building. Electrical appliances, including television sets, were carried from the Sharp Electric Co. portion of the building.

Hundreds of citizens watched firemen battle the blaze, and traffic was rerouted for nearly two hours. Included in the building were three auto body shops, a welding plant, a woodworking business, two electrical firms, and a car wash.

Driver Charged Mansaughter

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto bus driver was charged with manslaughter today after an alleged altercation between the driver and one of his passengers who died later in hospital from a fractured skull, a cerebral hemorrhage and brain injuries.

Lorne E. Perry, 45, the driver, was arrested at his home in North York township following the death Friday of Harold L. Sellar, 58, president of a small aerial photo company.

Police said they knew nothing of any altercation and thought at first Sellar had died of a seizure. Later, they received a phone call from a person who, they said, claimed he had witnessed the altercation.

Perry was remanded and bail was fixed at $5,000.

Toronto Transport Commission officials said Perry was ejecting Sellar from the bus when the latter fell and struck his head on the roadway.

They said they were told the man was "drunk."

Officials Deny Report Well-Digging Race

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Officials of the Ontario Hospital here and the public utilities commission have denied a report that they are in a well-digging race for water supplies.

W. C. Rice, chief civil engineer of the Ontario works department said in Toronto the two are trying to out-dig each other; one dug deeper, the other's water dried up, forcing the second to dig deeper, he said.

Hospital engineer Donald Fraser said Friday the hospital's well has not been deepened since it was built in 1878 to a depth of 2,215 feet. It has been cleaned out, he said.

V. A. McKillop, PUC general manager, said the commission's wells were drilled on hospital property with hospital co-operation and both go to a depth of 80 feet.

March Of Time; TV Aerials Adorn Wallpaper

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)— Wallpaper makers say there are going to take on the paint people in earnest this spring.

Citing what they believe to be a swing back to 'papered rooms, wallpaper makers announce they've got up a $500,000 kitty for the newly-formed Wallpaper Council to use in promotion.

They are out after a larger share of the growing do-it-yourself market—with methods which they claim make it all but impossible for you to wind up with more paper on yourself than on the wall.

They will tout plastic-treated papers which they say can be scrubbed many times, and therefore last much longer than older methods.

Along with the classic designs, they have some fancy new ones, such as a forest of television antennas on roofs, roosters sipping at a bar presided over by a chicken with a cocktail shaker, or one playing up the antique car fad.

PAINT SALES HIGHER

Paint manufacturers aren't too frightened, however. They can point to a rise in annual sales of interior-wall paint from $100,000,000 before the war to $400,000,000 or more now, or eight times the volume of paper.

The wallpaper council says that more than half of the paper is being hung by amateurs, with west coast homeowners being the most adventurous. Papers come pre-trimmed and pre-pasted and some are said not to tear even when wet. Some come with a self-contained paste that is supposed to stay liquid for 20 minutes. This gives the home fixer-upper a chance to jiggle the paper around a few times while matching it to adjoining pieces.

Port Vale Team Tops Though No Such Place

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BURSLEM, Staffordshire, England (CP)—Port Vale, the soccer team that literally comes from nowhere, today reacted calmly to Canadian surprise that its name can't be found on any map of England.

Matter of factly a club official said there hasn't been a Port Vale as a geographical entity in the club's 78-year history. As far as he knew, there never was.

"Just one of those freak names, I guess," he added. "There's no connection with a port and there's no river nearby. We're probably the only club in the country with the same situation."

As an afterthought, he added: "Of course there's Arsenal (famous London club named for Woolwich Arsenal) but they're better known than we are."

Not that Port Vale need worry about fame. The third division club from the bleak pottery country—it has been playing out of Burslem for the last few years—is one of eight surviving teams in the Football Association Cup tournament, the biggest thing in British soccer.

BEAT TOUGH OPPONENTS

In their march to the quarter-finals, Port Valers have knocked off such tough opponents as Cardiff and Blackpool, the latter defending champions. They are favored to reach the semi-finals by beating Leyton Orient, another third division team gone wild.

There hasn't been a third division team in the semi-final since Mallwall did the trick in 1937—and died there.

The question of Port Vale coming from nowhere at all popped up in Canada when Ted Reeve, Toronto Telegram sports columnist, pored over atlases trying to pinpoint the club geographically. Needless to say he couldn't.

One of Reeve's readers suggested the explanation might lie literally in the Grand Trunk canal, which passes through the district. The informant mentioned that the barge stops on the canal used to be called ports.

The Port Vale spokesman allowed that might be true, but he didn't know. "I'll send you our club booklet if you want to know anything else," he said.

Doctors Fail Save Youngster's Life

SUDBURY (CP) — Death Fri[illegible] was literally brought back to life less than a month ago by an emergency pocket-knife heart operation and massage.

His heart stopped for three minutes Feb. 7 after he had been returned to his hospital room following a routine appendectomy. The emergency operation brought him back to life but the stoppage of blood flow caused severe damage to the child's brain in this brief interlude.

He died despite a month - long fight by doctors to bring him back to normal health.

Dr. J. D. McInnes performed the successful emergency operation when the child's heart stopped. He used a pocket knife, to cut an incision to massage the child's heart and start it beating again.

Church History

LONDON (CP)—A film unit attached to the United Church of St. James-at-Bowes in Wood Green is making a picture on the church's history. During the war the church was a rest centre, and persons who worked there are being asked to take part in the film.

MacDonald Elected

TORONTO (CP) — Donald C. MacDonald, Ontario CCF leader, was nominated Friday to contest York South riding for his party in the next provincial election. The seat is held by Progressive Conservative William Beech.

Unions Of IUE Form District In Quebec, Ont.

The International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers have announced from their international headquarters in New York that the union's locals in Ontario and Quebec have been formed into a self-governing Canadian district, similar to nine other IUE districts in the United States.

In Canada the IUE are affiliated with the Canadian Congress of Labor. Through their international status they are also affiliated with CIO in the United States.

Granting of autonomy for the Canadian district is interpreted in labor circles as a move to strengthen the IUE in their five-year-old struggle with the rival United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (Indep.) for control of the electrical industry in Canada.

Peterborough is the focal point of the fight between the IUE and UE. At present the UE have two locals here with about 3,700 production workers under contract. The bulk of them, (3,300) are under contract to Local 524 UE, bargaining agents for the CGE workers. The others are under contract to Local 527, a composite union that include workers from Canadian Raybestos, Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Co., and Hobbs Glass.

The IUE are also powerfully entrenched in Peterborough. In Local 570 they have some 550 production workers at the Western Clock Co. and in Local 599 they have about 540 office and salaried workers at the CGE plant.

SPLIT IN CGE

Allegiance among the CGE production workers is pretty well split, too. In cards submitted to the Ontario Labor Relation board last year the IUE had just under 45 per cent of the workers signed up—insufficient for the OLRB to order a plant vote. It is open to question whether they have won or lost ground since then.

Since the break with the allegedly pro-Red UE in the fall of 1949 the IUE have been in four campaigns to win over the Peterborough CGE plant. All have failed. This year there was no campaign but there are no promises about the future.

Failure to win the Peterborough plan has been the IUE's biggest difficulty since they broke away from the parent group in 1949. Elsewhere they have been more successful and they now claim a Canadian membership of 10,000. The UE claim the bargaining rights for 25,000 workers.

In its announcement Friday the IUE executive board pledged "full support to an organizing campaign in Canada to drive the Communist-controlled UE out of industry".

The new IUE district council will meet April 24 and 25 to plan for a convention to set up a constitution and committees in line with their new independent status.

Joe Wirtz, IUE Canadian coordinator who lives in Peterborough, was in Montreal today and was not available for comment on the new set up.

SPCA Asks Protection For Jobbers' Horses

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals announced it will recommend to the department of lands and forests that cutting permits be revoked of persons who mistreat horses in northern Ontario lumber camps.

The society's annual meeting was told that some small jobbers in the Sault Ste. Marie area were using derelict horses, feeding them poorly and sending them into the bush with no provision for re-shoeing them.

SPCA inspector Allan E. Healty of Ottawa said in a report that among 100 horses owned by jobbers he found only four that were harnessed, cared for, driven and stabled as they should be.

Prominent Couple

McCabe at the old cricket grounds in Ashburnham, opposite the rear of the Bus Lines property. Those were days when small boys had a ten foot fence to surmount, or dodge through a door in the fence back of Lipsett's Hotel. Elder fans gratefully remember that team, Andy Scott, Jack Sheridan, Art Thompson and the others.

Chris Graham's love of athletics extended through as a varied a list as any Canadian ever undertook. He played a good game of lacrosse, but it rated behind those three others. He was a smart boxer, kept in shape on the handball courts, was a curler for years and was made an honorary member of the Peterborough Curling Club. He was a golfer at Kawartha and Peterborough Country Clubs. As a business man he walked to his office at the Empress Hotel, of which he was proprietor, and home again. Swimming, hunting, fishing, horseback riding, and in his later years he settled for volleyball at the Y.M.C.A.

Chris Graham was a clean sportsman, but as the lads would say he could take care of himself in the rough going. In his day the teams bought their own uniforms, skates, pads, and as a junior in baseball the teen-agers used to pay for bus transport to Omemee and other district spots.

His success in the hotel business beginning under his father and Tommy McDonough at the Oriental on Hunter St., east of the Bell Telephone office, would make an interesting story in itself. Mr. Graham believed in physical fitness, fixed up a gymnasium in the hotel, and to keep fit in sports he neither smoked nor drank any intoxicant.

From the Oriental to the White House, now the McGillis, and finally to the Empress, the Graham ideal of "A Home on the Road" carried into reality. Their hotels attracted commercial travellers, and at the desk Mr. Graham made hunderds of acquaintances, including the stars of the theatre circuit in the one-night stands of first rate companies filling in a week along the line between Toronto and Ottawa-Montreal.

The Graham tenancy of the Oriental was from 1892 to 1913; the White House 1913-1914; occupancy and subsequently ownership of the Empress, which they substantially altered, from October 1914 to May 1945.

ENCOURAGE ATHLETES

Looking backward Friday afternoon, Mr. Graham said he subscribed to the conviction that athletics should be encouraged among boys in their junior and teen-age growth.

"I think you'd say there were gangs of boys around Peterborough in my time, but we met in baseball and hockey, west end, Auburn, Ashburnham, market square, Crescents, and so on," Mr. Graham said. "There was nothing vicious in our contests. We got a lot of good out of the YMCA, and it is still a fine asset for the youth of the city. I think the city council should be encouraged in their support of the recreation commission. It is literally true that the boys of today are the men of tomorrow, and they are our responsibility."

Mr. Graham said you learn to do your best in sport, to stay in there instead of getting benched, and to co-operate with the rest of the team.

Citizens who remembered with respect and affection the sportsmanship of Chris Graham, taking bumps as they came, lamented the accident which in his retirement from business sadly altered the years of recreation to which his work had entitled him.

In a simple, accidental fall at his some on March 16, 1948, he suffered a spine injury from which by patience, and by persevering in helpful therapy he has recovered to the stage that he can move about readily—but with the aid of crutches.

Reverting to the stage of the roped arena, Chris was slow getting to his feet after that reverse, but he made it, and he must have seen in the greetings of his friends, when he was able to be out again for the first time, the sincerity of their happiness, and to them the thrill of his smile.

That was Chris Graham's greatest victory. He can drive his car in summer, fish at Pigeon lake, and go duck shooting in the misty mornings of autumn.

The husband spoke in his regret that the distressing accident of March six years ago, occurred when he and Mrs. Graham had prepared for a trip to Florida. They had planned to leave two days later.

A member of St. John's Anglican Church, Mr. Graham was for some time Rector's warden, and in his fraternal associations he is a Mason, member of Scottish Rite, the Chapter, and Preceptory and Shrine. Mr. Graham is a charter member of Peterborough Industrial Exhibition and has joined in other affairs including the Chamber of Commerce.

He pays a grateful tribute to the late Morris Ackerman of Cleveland, publisher of Ackerman's Sportsmen's Guide, who he says took a liking to Peterborough and the Kawarthas, and did more to promote this district throughout Ohio than did any other man.

'I think it was in 1919 that Ack brought over Tris Speaker, Les Nunamaker, Roger Peckinpaugh, Stan Covaleskie of the Cleveland American League ball team. Several business men came with them. We even had a ball game with them and others in it at Riverside. They came back several years for the duck shooting down at Tom Hooper's place at Idyl Wyld on Rice Lake."

Mrs. Graham's own interests included the success of the Peterborough Health Association, her active membership in the Red Cross Society in two world wars. During the first she was in charge of its work at the Public Library post, directing purchases from the beginning; her work with the Blood Donors' Clinic in the more recent war, and with its committe in charge of buying its supplies; a member of the house committee of the YMCA, and her interest in the YWCA. She has been a golfer and bowler in her own right.

The members of their family, who will be together for the wedding anniversary, are their daughter Gladys, wife of Sid J. Black, and their son, Kenneth Graham, who is in public relations with the John Labatt Co. Ltd., both of Peterborough; and granddaughter Mary Susan Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Graham, already a golfer.

SWEET DINNER MUSIC by the Salvation Army Silver Temple Band was played voluntarily throughout the dinner of the Red Cross and Community Chest drive on Friday evening. The Salvation Army will receive a share of chest funds to assist in their humanitarian work in Peterborough. The band was under the direction of bandmaster Gerald Routly.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Apart Since 1888, Marmora Lady Sees Her Brother

MARMORA (ENS)—On the occasion of the visit to Marmora last week of Mr. and Mrs. John Donahue of Melavale, Sask., a happy reunion took place.

It was in 1888 that Mr. Donahue, as a child of six(last saw his sister, now Mrs. Daniel Shannon of Marmora. Death of their parents in Teeswater, Ont., necessitated the separation.

Mr. Donahue went to Western Canada to live with his grandmother and Mrs. Shannon came to Marmora to live with her aunt and uncle, the late Mr. and Mrs. Laughlin Crawford.

Mr. Donahue spent three years in New Zealand and later, in 1908, homesteaded in Southern Saskatchewan. During the severe drought years, he was one of the few wheat growers in his area who persevered amidst the parched and blowing soil and remained on his land to see it produce again.

Mr. and Mrs. Donahue left Marmora last Friday for Teeswater and following a short visit, will return to their home in Saskatchewan.

Two Small Boys Rescue 5-Year-Old

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) A mother's instructions to her children in rescue work paid off Friday.

Mrs. G. Wyat's two sons, Vincent, 9, and Tommy, 7, followed their mother's teaching to the letter in pulling their five-year-old sister Carol to safety after she had fallen through the ice off Moore's point in adjacent Korah township.

industrial section. This group hopes to raise $43,000, nearly half the total.

If the industrial section goes over the top, and Mr. Wharry was sure it would, it would be largely due to "wonderful co-operation from labor" and wide-spread use of payroll deductions. The industrial section represents more than 9,000 workers in the city.

"If it weren't for the Red Cross I would not be speaking to you tonight," said Chamber of Commerce secretary-manager James M. Fraser, striking a somber note in section reports. Two years ago Mr. Fraser received 31 blood transfusions which saved his life. "The life you save by donating blood," he said, "might be your own."

Speaking on behalf of retail section chairman Mort Knox, Mr. Fraser urged all retailers to get behind "the payroll deduction scheme. Retail workers should be encouraged to think of their giving in terms of layaways or instalment plan buying, and should be encouraged to have ten or 25 cents a week collected from them. Smaller firms can use payroll deductions by personally asking each individual to contribute.

A round-up of the fund organization's indebtedness to various individuals and groups was given by publicity chairman Russel Baer. The important thing, he said, was not so much the giving in itself but understanding and appreciation of the aims of the ten agencies and of the Community fund appeal.

In his introductory remarks chairman Elliott paid particular tribute to the CGE for donating the cafeteria and the food, the whole arranged under the supervision of Ben Smith. Generosity of various concerns and people, said Mr. Elliott, keep the campaign expenditures down to between three and four per cent of the total raised.

Mr. Elliott also paid tribute to T. E. McKay and E. J. Wood, both longtime members of the Peterborough Red Cross and community fund executive.

Before and during the chicken dinner, canvassers and guests were entertained by the Salvation Army band under bandmaster Gerald Routly.

Wild Chase Ends In Capture Of Teenagers

LINDSAY (ENS)—Two Lindsay teenagers are being held by Scarboro police after a wild chase early this morning which ended when the car they were driving and the pursuing police went into a ditch.

The teenagers are suspected of having stolen the car from a Lindsay used car lot Friday night. A warrent for their arrest on this charge is held by Lindsay police.

The youths are also reported wanted by the East York police department and will be returned to Lindsay at a later date.

Chief Hunter noted that during the night an attempt was made to steel some articles, including a car radio, from a truck at the Lindsay Flour and Feed Co.

A Bobcaygeon man has been charged with driving while his ability was impaired. Following the most serious of several accidents that followed the sudden snowfall Friday afternoon.

Donald Patterson of Bobcaygeon was charged after his car collided with a vehicle driven by Mervyn Rogers of Lindsay as he backed out of a lane on Lindsay St. N. Extensive damage was done to the Rogers' car.

THREE ACCIDENTS

There were three other accidents during the interval following the storm before streets in the town were sanded. Two trouble spots were hills on Wellington and Lindsay streets which turned into ice slides.

Two persons are in the Ross Memorial Hospital in fair condition today following an accident Friday evening on the McLaren's creek curve on Highway 35. The collision occurred on a roadway made icy by Friday's sudden snowfall in the area.

Delia Mintz and Arnold Wright, both of Irondale, were injured when Wright's car collided with a vehicle being driven by Mrs. Austin Trent of Cambray. Provincial Police investigated the accident and had the injured persons brought to the Ross Memorial Hospital early this morning. Their injuries had not been determined but their condition was reported as "fair" by hospital authorities.

20 Airmen Found Dead

AIX - EN - PROVENCE, France (Reuters) — French gendarmes today reported the death of all 20 [illegible] missing for the last two days.

United States air force headquarters here reported that the gendarmes reached the wreckage of the plane today on a snow-covered Alpine slope southwest of Saint Etienne, 12 miles north of Nice.

Expert Probes Termite Raid, Did Termites Probe Expert?

What's this? Lindsay devoured by termites?

Well—not exactly. It's just a fantasy conjured up for the benefit of his fellow members of the Ontario Legislature by Harold Fishleigh (PC, Toronto-Woodbine) who is impatient with the Ontario government's efforts to exterminate termites in the Woodbine district of Toronto.

Mr. Fishleigh (who was nicknamed "Fearless Harold" by Toronto reporters when he was a Toronto alderman) said the government had done nothing to get rid of the wood-chomping insects except send an anonymous professor who looked the situation over and then disappeared.

Earlier this week a man gave him a tip. Find the queen termite, said the well-meaning advisor, an all the termites will swarm after her.

Fearless Harold gave his imagination free reign on this happy solution.

"The professor had told me that once a year they take wing and go on a trip, led by the queen," he mused.

"I envision this possibility: The termites, billions of them, fly around looking for a new home. They spurn Ottawa because to much dead wood there. Then they see Lindsay, where Premier Frost lives. So down they zoom, gobble up the churches, and the town hall, and, presto, we get action.

"I am awaiting that day."

Mixed Weather Sign Of Spring Say Forecasters

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadians have just come through a week of topsy-turvy weather that forecasters say is a sure forerunner of spring.

A cross-Canada check today by The Canadian Press showed that during the week several cities had mild spells that broke long-standing records and also had storms and cold before or after the balmy periods. Several sections reported rain, sleet, snow and freezing temperatures in rapid succession.

"It means spring is coming," said a weather man at Malton, near Toronto. "Make no mistake about that.

"We're getting sudden changes in the weather. Mild spells are becoming more frequent. The pattern of the weather map is steadily shifting from a wintry one to the kind typical of spring."

SPRING SOON

Officially, spring starts two weeks from today. Some parts of the country have already had a taste of it; the Ontario cities of Welland and Toronto reported crocuses in bloom a few days ago.

Vancouver had golf-and-shirtsleeve weather all week. Sunshine pushed the daytime temperature to 50 degrees and citizens strolled without overcoats.

Alberta started the week with general below-zero temperatures but finished pleasantly. It was 57 in Medicine Hat Friday. Embarras, on the western end of Lake Athabaska 340 miles northeast of Edmonton, went from 34 below Monday to 39 above late in the week.

The week in Manitoba got off to a cold start with gusty winds but later a warm air mass pushed in. There was only a trace of snow. Winnipeg reported a temperature swing from 15 below March 3 to 26 above March 5.

STORM HITS ONTARIO

Mild weather in Ontario early in the week beat a hasty retreat as a four-day storm that howled northeastward across the province brought freezing rain and heavy snow. Ten deaths were blamed on the weather. The week ended cold and snowy, with many communities still digging themselves out of the drifts and some telephone and power lines still out of order.

After three mild days, temperatures dropped in Quebec, which experienced the tail-end of the Ontario storm. Montreal's high for the week was 53 degrees above zero March 2, a record for that date, and the low was nine above Thursday night.

Temperatures of 53 in Halifax, 48 at Fredericton and 43 in Charlottetown Wednesday broke records for the day. Then a blast of cold air Thursday sent temperatures plunging across the Atlantic provinces. Halifax Friday recorded its low for the week—28 degrees. Little snow fell all week. In parts of northern New Brunswick, where the snow has not melted since the last storm, the ground was covered by about seven inches.

tions husband helped Mrs. Henshaw to develop haemorrhaging ulcers, and she soon needed constant nursing care.

HELP FROM VON

It was both expensive and almost impossible to get skilled nursing help through hospital channels and Mr. Henshaw was desperate until he was told of the Victorian Order of Nurses. To the Henshaw home the VON brought "professional skill, infinite care and great happiness."

At least one man is now alive because of Mr. Henshaw's connections with the YMCA. Though he was constitutionally afraid of the water and the worst pupil his swimming instructor had, Mr. Henshaw ultimately won several swimming and water safety awards and became an instructor himself. (He also became a YMCA director.)

Training at the Y bore human dividends in a speed boat crash on Lake Temogami, when the driver of the boat could not swim. Mr. Henshaw was able to bring both himself and his friend safely ashore.

Although he had had no personal need of the services of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind Mr. Henshaw thought this is "one of the most remarkable organizations I have ever encountered." He was "fascinated" by the manual dexterity of those trained by the CNIB but paid particular tribute to the CNIB for "bringing courage to those who have lost it."

DEDICATED

The other four Peterborough agencies—St. Vincent's Orphanage, St. John's Ambulance, the Peterborough Humane Society, and the YWCA were also warmly endorsed by Mr. Henshaw. He urged all citizens to queue up to repay an "indebtedness beyond calculations" to these ten organizations which dedicated themselves to "mercy, public welfare and human understanding."

Mr. Henshaw was introduced by Mrs. Paige Rowell and thanked by Mayor Norman Graham. Mr. Graham also declared that Peterborough would not be the city it is . . . "the best place to work and live" without the support of the member organizations of the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign.

Charge Adjourned

CHATHAM (CP)—A charge of assault causing bodily harm against Gordon Haidy of the Windsor Bulldogs hockey team Friday was adjourned to March 10. The charge arose from a fight between players of the Windsor team and Chatham Maroons during an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League game here.

Judgement Reserved In Municipal Case

WHITBY (CP) — Judgment was reserved Friday after six days of testimony concerning alleged irregularities in last December's municipal election in Pickering township.

Spokesmen for persons seeking to upset the election had accused township clerk Lloyd Johnston of gross carelessness.

Arthur Greer, counsel for Reeve George Todd, said the clerk in his capacity of chief returning officer did nothing wrong deliberately.

"If he failed in some instances it was because of a shortage of help and because he was under considerable distress."

Separate School Teachers Plan Meet Next Week

Teachers of the Peterborough Separate Schools and district will hold their annual convention in St. Anne's School on Friday, March 12.

The morning session will open with the celebration of Mass in the school auditorium. Speakers for this session included J. C. Doyle, Inspector of Separate schools and L. W. Copp, Principal of Peterborough Teacher's College.

Guest speaker for the afternoon session is Dr. Maurice Chagnon, professor of Child Psychology at the University of Ottawa. Publishers of school text books have arranged for displays in the school class rooms.

In observance of Education Week, the convention committee has arranged for a public lecture on child psychology by Dr. Chagnon in Queen Mary Auditoium on Friday evening at 8.15. Parents and teachers are cordially invited.

CGE Pension Fund Swells To $16 Million

Since its beginning in 1925, the CGE pension trust has grown until it now contains more than $16 million and last year the company made its largest contribution to the fund, $2 million. Employee contributions from July 1, 1953, to the end of the year totalled $616,067.

A record number of people, 382 at the end of the year, are out on pension; and are sharing more than half a million dollars a year from the pension fund. The number of pensions and the total amount paid is increasing each year as more than 100 employees applied for pension in 1953.

GET YOUR LICENCE!

The Chamber of Commerce expects to hear a "lot of unnecessary swearing" in another ten days. The deadline for getting 1954 licences is March 17, but only a trickle of motorists has been in the Chamber offices this month. Result, says secretary-manager James Fraser, will be trémendous congestion near deadline time, and the motorists who put things off "will have no one to blame but themselves" when they have to wait in line. Approximately 2,000 motorists will need to pick up their 1954 licences within the next ten days.

Court Dismisses Damage Suit Brought By Boy

A suit for damages brought against Michael Drumm of 290 Westcott St., driver of a car that backed over a 10-year-old boy playing in a laneway, has been dismissed.

Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow, who heard the case last week at the Supreme Court non-jury sittings, handed down judgment Friday.

The accident occurred on the afternoon of September 16, 1950. The boy, Larry Heard of 629 Hawley St. was playing in the driveway of 630 Little St., almost directly behind his own home, but one block south. He was watching a family move into the house on Little St.

Three cars were parked in the laneway. One driver asked young Heard to get out of the way so he could get out. The boy stepped to the right and was run over by Drumm's car. He received severe head injuries, a fractured right leg, and broken ribs on both sides of his body.

At one time it was doubtful if the boy would live. He was in Civic Hospital for nine weeks, and his left kidney was taken out while he was there.

As Larry Heard is under 21 years, the suit was brought by his "next friend," Stanley W. Heard, his father. Mr. Heard—because of his out-of-pocket expenses—was also a plaintiff.

The plaintiffs asked $1,483 for special damages (out-of-pocket expenses), plus $50,000 for general damages (pain, suffering and permanent disability).

Reason for Mr. Justice Barlow's judgment are not yet available.

Robert H. Carley was counsel for Drumm. John W. Corkery was counsel for the Heards.

The action was dismissed with costs, if demanded.

You can't go ALL-OUT

IF you feel ALL-IN

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. 53

No Increase Shown U.S. Business

By WALTER BREEDE Jr.

NEW YORK (AP)—Business indicators jiggled inconclusively this week.

In some lines the first week of March, the "crucial" month for the 1954 economy, was definitely bullish.

The stock mart was full of bounce. Dealer sales of new cars were reported improving, even as heavy midwest storms cut auto factory output five per cent.

Factory orders for consumer durables moved up; claims for unemployment compensation were receding from their January peaks. Retail trade gained slightly despite bad weather. Signs pointed to a developing boom in construction.

On the other hand, steel production sank to its lowest level since the 1952 strike, freight carloadings were more than 10 per cent below last year and dollar volume of banks loans to business was at its lowest point in more than 12 months. Electric power output, up a scant four per cent from the like week of 1953, showed the smallest year-to-year gain since December. Sears, Roebuck and Company said its February sales were down more than 10 per cent from a year ago.

Chrysler arranged to borrow $250,000,000 to "modernize and expand" its production setup.

BREAK RECORD

Ford dealers broke all sales records last month it was the biggest February in Ford history. Ward's Automotive Reports noted a 12-per-cent jump in February sales of all makes over January and predicted a 15-per-cent rise in March output. This week Chrysler's Plymouth division called 7,700 workers back to their jobs; Hudson re-hired 4,500. But Studebaker which had already furloughed half of its working force said it was laying off 11,000 more in a complete shutdown of passenger car production.

For industry as a whole it seemed that more workers were being re-hired than furloughed. Dun and Bradstreet said new claims for unemployment insurance were "down considerably" from the highs of January.

Not so bright was the outlook for textiles as pictured by clothmaker John P. Stevens Jr. First quarter sales and earnings of J.P. Stevens and Co. were "disappointing," he said.

Oil men continued to wrestle with the problem of oversupply, gasoline stocks climbed to new record highs, but the industry could not hide its underlying tone of buoyant optimism.

Hold Jack Miner Week

KINGSVILLE (CP) — National Wild Life Week, April 4 to 10, this year will coincide with Jack Miner Week, a celebration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Jack Miner National Bird Sanctuary.

UP, OVER AND OUT—A new pilot-ejection seat developed by Republic Aviation Corporation is tested at Farmingdale, N.Y. The new seat automatically unhooks the pilot's safety belt at the peak of the arc, allowing him to fall free. This composite photo, taken with a high-speed sequence camera, shows a dummy being somersaulted out of the seat and finally falling free. An explosive charge, released by the pilot, propels him out of the cockpit at a speed of 60-feet-per-second.

Elderly Cardinal Dies In Rome

ROME (Reuters)—Massimo Cardinal Massimi, 76, died here today, after a prolonged heart ailment.

His death created the first vacancy in the Sacred College of Cardinals since the Pope brought it up to its full strength of 70 a year ago.

The Italian-born cardinal was one of the 19 cardinals of the Roman curia (the central government of the Roman Catholic church) and prefect of the apostolic signatura, the supreme tribunal of the Roman Catholic church. He was also a member of the Vatican's congregations for the Eastern church, sacraments, religious orders and propagation of the faith.

Born in Rome, he was ordained a priest at the age of 23. Pope Pius XI, predecessor of the present pope, created him a prince of the church in 1935.

Awarded Damages

TORONTO (CP)—G. Floyd Dunford of Peterborough was awarded $5,659 Friday for damages caused when his truck collided with a car driven by Doug Gray. Gray was absolved of all blame. The damages were assessed against Mack McKenzie, Colborne fruit farmer. Gray said that McKenzie was drunk and asked him to drive the fruit farmer home. He said the accident was accused by McKenzie's interference with his driving.

A Cleric Comments

Joining The Church

By REV. C. A. FORREST

Once I approached an elderly man in my congregation about church membership. He was a godly old gentleman, came to church twice a Sunday, and lived out his declining years soberly and quietly. I was surprised when I noticed that his name was not on the roll.

But he said "No," he didn't think it was necessary actually to join the church to be a Christian. He liked to come and worship and tried his best to live a good life with God's help. So I let it go.

Then one Palm Sunday morning he arrived early with a clipping from a Sunday school paper which he wanted me to read. The writer said, that a person who believed in Jesus Christ, and tried sincerely to follow Him, really ought to make a public confession of faith by uniting with the church and supporting it in every possible way. He wanted to know if I thought that was right. I said I did. Then he said, "I guess I'd better join, then. Can I join this morning?"

Well, it so happened that Sunday that we were receiving our communicants' class into membership, and, in our church, names of new members are supposed first to be considered and approved by the elders. The clerk of the session was there, so I spoke to him and we decided to make an exception and receive him, too. It was a touching thing later in the service, to see the old man in his eighties come forward and kneel with the young teen-agers and be received into membership. A short time later he died, and I always felt grateful to the unknown person who wrote that little piece in a Sunday school paper, and to God, Who used that unconscious ministry to accomplish something that my sermons and personal invitation had failed to do.

I was reminded of this experience last Sunday when I met with my 1954 church membership class of young people for the first time. These are the weeks now when many ministers and churches will be concentrating their attention on young people, and urging them to study carefully the meaning of "joining the church".

In the Christian homes of the land, parents of teen-agers will do well to co-operate with their ministers to help guide their young people into the membership of the Christian church. There are many different ways of doing it. There are some ministers like Evangelist Billy Graham who believe no service is complete without an altar call or invitation for commitment. I have heard of Sunday schools which had commitment day. Probably the method with the greatest weight of experience and tradition behind it is the confirmation class and confirmation day of the older churches.

But whatever method is used, we can't underestimate the faith, and we dare not overestimate the knowledge and understanding of a child. The wise minister urges the young couple in love to spend time in study and counsel before they are married. The wise minister, I believe, urges young people with a desire to unite with the church in their hearts, to spend a period of time in study and counselling before they make their public confession of faith.

The youngsters are often confused by the terminology. They hear the words and phrases in school church and with their friends: confirmation, joining the church, professing your faith, being saved, being converted, being born again, becoming a Christian, beginning a new life, having your sins forgiven, and a score of others. Now I won't say they all mean the same, exactly, but they are all words and phrases by which faithful people have tried to describe the mysterious experience by which in response to faith the Grace of God enters the human heart to change the life and give spiritual power, peace and salvation. We are born once of the body, as little babies. Our minds come to life and understanding with the passing of the years. We need to be born again in the things of the spirit.

I said it was mysterious. For to some it is sudden, like Saul of the Damascus road. To others it is gradual, like Peter, who spent so long with the Master and still was not converted..

One hesitates to simplify in a brief column that about which so many profound books have been written. But to me these things may all be summed up for the young person, and the older person, too. Conversion, salvation, the new life, whatever you want to call it, comes when a child or man believes in Christ, and makes up his mind to do his best to keep His commandments and walk in His way, and trusts in Him for all the rest. In response to that commitment, the God of love will give him grace and strength and transform his life. Joining the church follows that naturally and almost inevitably, when the person moves on then to make public profession of such a faith and commitment, and lends his support to the fellowship by which God continues His saving work in the world.

U.S.-Japan Sign Pact Aid Defence

$100,000,000 Guns, Grain Granted To Japs

By GEORGE McARTHUR

TOKYO —(AP)—Japan and the United States today signed a mutual defence pact to give the Japanese both guns and grain and hasten the day when U.S. soldiers can withdraw from the island empire.

The mutual defence assistance agreement, actually a series of agreements, will pour $100,000,000 of U.S. aid into Japan's economy in the next three months, and probably much more in the long run.

U.S. Ambassador John Allison said the agreement "takes us one step nearer the time when the United States can withdraw its forces from Japan."

The agreement will increase Japan's defence force from 120,000 to 160,000 men. The U. S. will supply ships and planes.

GUNS FROM WHEAT

The U. S. also will start the movement of 500,000 tons of surplus wheat and 100,000 tons of barley to Japan. Japan will sell the grain domestically and in turn use the money for guns and munitions.

The agreement was hammered out in eight months of negotiation which at times brought the Liberal government of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida under intense opposition criticism.

Allison quoted State Secretary Dulles who said recently that the agreement would be "purely of a defensive nature, directed exclusively toward contributing to the defence and security of the Japanese homeland."

However, neither does the agreement specify that Japan should not send troops wherever she sees fit.

BINDS JAPAN TO WEST

The agreement binding Japan to the Western democracies provides for destroyers, tanks, jeeps, airplanes and other military needs. It also provides for a 700-man military advisory group to serve with the Japanese defence force.

The exact amount or number of military items to be furnished is left unspecified.

The agreements have come under fire from the Communists, who call them another form of imperialism, and from the South Koreans, who fear rearmament will spur a rebirth of Japanese militarism.

Losing Favor

LONDON (Reuters) — A British newspaper columnist today reported that 5,000 readers have chosen Marilyn Monroe as the first movie star they'd pitch out of an imaginary balloon to keep it from sinking. The postcard poll, apparently marked by a heavy female vote, was conducted by columnist Donald Zec of The Daily Mirror. Stars voted next most expendable were Mario Lanza, Audrey Hepburn and British comic Norman Wisdom. Jack Hawkins, rugged he-man of British movies, was voted a safe balloon ride home.

Fred R. M. Davies Dies In Crash On Bahamas Rd.

NASSAU, Bahamas (CP)—Fred R. M. Davies, 51, eldest son of Senator W. Rupert Davies of Kingston, was killed early Sunday morning when the car in which he was riding went out of control and hit a tree on the Western road near here.

Mr. Davies, who came here recently as assistant general manager of the Nassau Guardian, was a director of the Peterborough Examiner and Kingston Whig-Standard. Born in Brantford, he attended school at Thamesville and Renfrew. He started his newspaper career in the advertising department of the Oshawa Reformer. Following this he worked with the Renfrew Mercury and later with the Kingston Whig-Standard.

SHERIFF OF FRONTENAC

In 1932, Mr. Davies was publisher of the Kincardine Reporter. In May, 1937, he was appointed sheriff of Frontenac county and served in that position until 1942 when he joined the Canadian Army as a public relations officer and was posted to Halifax and later Newfoundland.

Mr. Davies had worked as a free-lance newspaper writer in Toronto prior to leaving for the Bahamas.

He is survived by his widow, the former Kathryn Stanfield, two daughters, Kathryn and Jane, and two brothers, Robertson Davies, editor of the Peterborough Examiner, and Arthur L. Davies, general manager of the Kingston Whig-Standard.

His widow is the daughter of the late Frank Stanfield of Truro, N.S., a member of the wealthy clothing manufacturing family who became a lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia.

Continue Strike N.Y. Wharves

Dockhands Watch Officials Berth Liner

NEW YORK (AP)—Dissatisfied longshoremen continued a "wildcat" strike on the New York waterfront today despite a previous prediction by their union leader that the work stoppage would end.

Members of the International Longshoremen's Association (Ind.) gathered at several piers but refused to heed the calls of hiring agents. Immediately affected was the liner Mauretania, arriving from Europe.

As dockhands stood idly watching, about 30 officials of the Cunard line helped man mooring lines as the ship eased into her North river dock.

URGE UNIONISTS UNITE

Longshoremen distributed leaflets urging pier workers to reunite into a single union and end the split of allegiance between the independent ILA and AFL union.

The strike started Friday in a protest over a federal court injunction.

ILA president William V. Bradley had promised Sunday:

"I think I'll be able to get the men back to work. At any rate, I will try like hell. I am sure they will go back tomorrow."

The regional office of the national labor relations board planned to ask federal court today for a citation holding the ILA and its leaders in contempt of court for alleged violation of the injunction issued Thursday by federal judge Edward J. Dimock.

Dimock's order restrained the ILA from strike activities pending a hearing Tuesday on a NLRB complaint.

ILA men who refused to work said they were angry because the injunction was directed at the ILA alone and not against two other unions involved in the waterfront struggle for dominance.

Committee Urges Re-Institution Hard Labor In Ont.

TORONTO (CP)—Sweeping changes in the method of prison reform in Ontario, including stronger punitive measures, were recommended in a voluminous report tabled in the Ontario legislature today. The 463-page report of the select committee on reform institutions, tabled in the House by chairman W. J. Stewart (PC-Toronto Parkdale), proposed re-institution of hard labor with a longer work week for the inmates receiving such a sentence.

It asked that indefinite sentences be given all persons convicted of offences involving liquor and that all convicted alcoholics become eligible for treatment, subject to screening for suitability. Also recommended were indefinite terms for all sex offenders and longer sentences for drug addicts.

A five-man commission of corrections to co-ordinate the services of probation, parole and after-care was proposed.

MAXIMUM EFFICIENCY AIM

The report asked for a clarification of the chain of command in the department of reform institutions "especially at the upper levels," and that responsibilities be more clearly defined to attain maximum efficiency of operation.

The committee recommended that the 12-page section of the report on federal and provincial jurisdiction over administration and personnel be forwarded to federal justice minister Garson. The section calling for revisions in the Criminal Code asked for a specific offence dealing with riots in custodial institutions, the establishment of a central place of execution in each province and more severe penalties for drug peddlers.

In tabling the report, Mr. Stewart said it was not intended to suggest personal criticism against Ontario Reforms Minister Foote or the provincial government.

Mr. Stewart said the committee, which visited 50 institutions, held 153 meetings and called more than 400 witnesses during the last year, found no evidence of political domination by the custodians of the institutions, no signs of inhuman treatment, "no holes, pits or dungeons."

METHODS DIFFER

It did find that sides were being taken on the method of punishment. One side stresses rigid punitive ideas and the other "pampers" the inmates.

The chairman said reasonable punitive treatment is necessary.

"Our industrial farm policy represents sound leadership. With no reflection on the management, Burwash should cease to be known as an industrial farm and be designated and operated for only repeaters of a non-reformable nature as the Burwash industrial prison.

"Hard labor is almost a forgotten term and in many places very

Ask For Probe In Honduras Red Activities

LONDON (AP)—The government has been asked urgently to investigate a possible Communist threat to British Honduras in Central America, authoritative sources disclosed today.

They confirmed a report published in Lord Beaverbrooke's pro-empire Daily Express that Governor Patrick Muir Renison seeks immediate appointment of a royal commission to uncover any link between the colony's leading party and Communists in neighboring Guatemala.

British Honduras is due to elect a new legislative assembly April 23 under the terms of a constitution published Saturday.

A government statement on the situation is expected to be made Wednesday in the House of Commons.

CONFIRM EXPRESS STORY

Responsible British informants confirmed this report by the Express.

Campaigning on a program of "reform," the left-wing pro-Guatemalan People's United party appears almost certain to win all nine elected seats in the 15-seat assembly. Three seats will be filled by government officials and three by nominees of the governor.

Most of the people of British Honduras, however, are devout Roman Catholics and are strongly opposed to communism. If the P. U. P.'s links with the Guatemalan Reds were established by an authoritative inquiry, the party might lose much of its following.

Omemee Couple Married 65 Years Ago

OMEMEE (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson celebrated the 65th anniversary of their wedding on Sunday.

No festivities were planned as Mrs. Johnson has not been well after a fall. However, many friends and neighbors brought their congratulations and good wishes. A beautiful bouquet of mixed flowers from the WT of Trinity church was displayed with cards and gifts from family and friends.

Mrs. Johnson wore a tailored lace suit in cocoa shade. Her daughter, Mrs. Howden, was dressed in dark red printed silk. Mr. Howden received with them.

WED IN GRAVENHURST

The wedding took place in Gravenhurst, where Mr. Johnson learned his trade with the King bakery. Later they moved to Stayner. Forty-seven years ago in May, they came to Omemee.

Mr. Johnson was employed by MacPherson's bakery until his retirement in 1951. He is affectionably known as "Baker" to many people. He had special skill in cake decorating. Born in Denmark in 1869, he came to Canada with his parents when 12 years old and still remembers his Danish.

Both have been devoted members of Trinity United Church, where Mr. Johnson was Sunday School superintendent for 12 years. Mrs. Johnson does her own

Premier Repeats Gov't Stand Must Recognize Red China

SEOUL (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent repeated today the Canadian government's stand that the Free World will have to recognize Red Shina eventually. "I do feel that some day we are going to have to be realistic," the touring prime minister told a press conference. "We are going to have to admit the present government of China is the government the people want."

He also said Canadian troops will remain in Korea "as long as necessary to see the job done."

He added, however, that the task of the United Nations forces in Korea is not the unification of that country, but to prove that aggression will not be tolerated.

The prime minister, who arrived Sunday from Manila on a three-day visit to Korea during his world goodwill tour, spoke to reporters here just before going to visit South Korea's president Syngman Rhee.

If South Korea took military action on her own in an attempt to unify the country, Canada would have to give "careful consideration" to her position.

MORAL OBLIGATION

He said UN relief aid to Korea was "the moral obligation of the people of the Free World toward the people on the battlefield, where the struggle against totalitarian aggression occurred."

He hoped the April Korean conference at Geneva would produce results.

Commonwealth, UN and South Korean officials welcomed the Canadian leader in a bone-chilling wind as he arrived aboard the

Oshawa To Have $10,000,000 Housing Project

OSHAWA (CP) — A $10,000,000 housing development which will comprise 600 houses and a shopping centre near Brooklin, six miles north of here, will be started in June of this year, it was announced today.

The project is being backed by a group of Canadian and American business men headed by Toronto lawyer George Ferguson and engineer Tom Torian.

Sloping meadowland on which the project will be built was previously owned by Myron Vipond of Brooklin who last year sold his farm to Alfred Baggs of Edgeley for $41,000. The Toronto syndicate is reported to have paid $106,000 for it a few months later.

Twenty Injured In Train Crash

SEBRINGVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Three persons suffered minor injuries today when a Canadian National Railways train with 20 passengers aboard jumped a switch and rammed into four loaded coal cars on a siding in this Stratford district community.

Other passengers on the eastbound Goderich-to-Stratford train were shaken up in the accident shortly before 7 a. m.

Taken to hospital were James Douglas of Mitchell, a passenger, and mail clerks Fred Currie and C. Hayword, both of Goderich. Currie suffered face cuts and Hayward a knee injury. Douglas' injuries were not immediately determined.

The engine left the track, but stayed upright. All the coaches stayed on the track.

Iraq Premier Forms New Government

BAHDAD, Iraq (Reuters) — Premier Fadil Jamali, who resigned his post Sunday night, today formed a new cabinet at the request of King Faisal.

Jamali resigned because six members of his cabinet, who were not members of parliament, would have been obliged to withdraw March 17 under a constitutional clause limiting the period of such appointments.

Find 8 Boys In Crime Ring

ORILLIA (CP) — Town and provincial police teamed up over the week-end to uncover a juvenile crime ring which netted the eight participants almost $1,000 worth of goods from local stores, in six months.

Loot ranged from water pistols to a $50 rifle and included a clock, records, watches, ammunition, radios, jewellry, boots, clothing and other articles. Some of these were given away, some sold and some used by the youngsters or cached near their homes. About $300 worth of the stolen goods was recovered.

Eight boys ranging from 12 to 15 years of age have been arrested and turned over to juvenile court authorities. Three have previous convictions.

The gang was so expert that proprietors of many stores were unaware of missing articles until asked by police to identify recovered goods.

First hint of the thefts came when a father discovered his son with an expensive .22 rifle and called provincial police to question him.

Accident Victim Reported Improving

BRANTFORD (CP) — Improvement was reported here today in the condition of Andre Lueyk, 23, Toronto, lone survivor of a level crossing here Saturday which claimed four lives.

Ontario provincial police said today they have been unable to reach relatives of Walter Wusyk whose father is believed to live in the Edmonton area.

The body of William G. Jackson has been taken for burial to Kingston, the body of Miss Olga Chamulak to Porcupine Plain, Sask., and the body of Rudy Tokash to Meleb, Man.

Coroner Dr. A. A. Overholt will confer today with crown attorney C. C. Slemin to decide whether an inquest will be held.

Doctor Predicts Immediate End Polio

DALLAS, Tex. (CP—"The immediate end" of polio and victory over cancer within "five or six years" is anticipated by the medical profession, Dr. Edward J. McCormick, president of the American Medical Association, said Saturday.

The Toledo, Ohio surgeon called medicine's progress in the United States in the last quarter century "almost inconceivable."

"Now the whole medical profession is anticipating the immediate end of polio, with the discovery of a vaccine which appears to be the answer." He said he was referring to the salk vaccine. Mass inoculations with this vaccine will be given children in several Texas cities in a few weeks.

"I feel we will see the end of cancer in five or six more years," Cormick added.

St. Laurent Visits Canadian Troops

IN KOREA (AP)—Enthusiastic Canadian troops were hosts today to Prime Minister St. Laurent.

The world-touring Canadian statesman visited the 25th Infantry Brigade just a few miles behind the spot where the Canadians fought in the Korean war.

The prime minister dedicated a newly-established recreation centre. He told the troops:

"I hope you will not be here long—but as long as you are here I hope you will enjoy this recreation centre."

No Hockey Subsidy

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government has no plans for subsidizing Canadian teams in future world hockey championships, so far as could be learned today.

Canada's team lost out to Russia in the world tournament that concluded at Stockholm during the week-end.

Puerto Ricans Seek Out Reds

By JULIO RIVERA

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Pushing its drive against political trouble-makers, the Puerto Rican government today sought the "big four" of the island's Communist party and two Nationalist leaders still at large.

Sweeping police raids during the week-end netted 40 Nationalist party leaders and six Communists. All were jailed as possible subversives. The roundup was launched after last Monday's attack by Puerto Rican Nationalists in the United States House of Representatives.

The Reds were captured without violence in a second round of arrests Sunday. This was in contrast to the gunfire and tear-gas attack when Nationalist chief Pedro Albizu Campos and five of his aides were routed out of his apartment Saturday.

COMMUNISTS SOUGHT

The four Communists being sought are Juan Santos Rivera, the party president, said to have had Moscow training; Juan Saez Corales, a local labor union organizer; Cesar Andreu Iglesias, former party president; and Pablo Garcia Rodriguez, a Harvard-educated lawyer.

In custody as Reds are Consuelo Burgos de Saez, wife of Saez Corales; Jane Speed Andreu, 43, of Berkeley, Calif., Andreu's wife Mariano Arroyo Zeppendfelt, Ramon Mirabal, Cristino Perez and Felix Ojeda.

Both parties demand independence for Puerto Rico, and the Reds were alleged to have furnished some of the arms for the 1950 Nationalist revolt in which 50 persons were killed.

Man Refuses To Eat Dies Of Starvation

TORONTO (CP) — A 63-year-old recluse, Reginald Alfred Scott Boutwood, who couldn't eat because of pains in his stomach but refused to go to hospital, died Friday night of starvation.

Only a few feet away from his cot was a metal trunk containing $1,801.59 in nickels, dimes, quarters and bills.

His landlady, Mrs. William Thompson said a doctor came to see Boutwood but he refused hospital care saying, "They'd just take all my money and let me die."

His landlady took him food each day but he left it untouched.

Communist Police Arrest 27 Workers

BERLIN (AP) — The anti-communist Information Bureau West reported today that 27 workers were arrested after a series of clashes with Communist police in the East German uranium mining area in Saxony two weeks ago.

The bureau said the clashes resulted from arguments over Russian rejection of Western proposals for free all-German elections at the Berlin Big Four conference.

[illegible] eight miners and three policemen were injured. It added that some of the arrested were released after three days.

Mexicans Shoot 3 Gov't Leaders

CUERNAVACA, Mexico (AP)—Supporters of Gen. Miguel Henriquez Guzman shot and killed three government political leaders and critically wounded a policeman Sunday in a new outbreak of the continuing strife between the Henriquistas and President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines' regime.

Witnesses said Ruben Jaramillo, former Henriquista candidate for governor of Morelos state, led the attack by about 30 men on the town of Ticuman, southeast of Cuernavaca. They said he shouted it was to avenge the slaying of one of his lieutenants in a clash last week with troops.

The Henriquistas also have charged that the government assassinated three of their leaders in Mexico City recently.

Jaramillo's band Sunday grabbed two local political leaders and a firing squad killed them. They also shot and killed a city council member who heard the firing and ran into the street. A policemen who tried to stop the raiders was wounded and not expected to live.

The band also kidnapped a sugar [illegible] apparently [illegible] Part-som.

Henriquez ran second to Ruiz Cortines in the 1952 election. His party was outlawed last month.

Two Viennese Scholars Find New Life In Canada

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

This story starts in Austria and continues in Canada.

The place, in the beginning, was Vienna, and the girl was Viennese, which meant that her native language was German. She was young and she was pretty.

The Canadian banker was dictating to her in English, and his letter was dotted with difficult banking terms.

I said to her later: "I am surprised that you can take such technical dictation in English."

With some display of dignity, she replied:

"Well, after all, I am an economist; I should be able to do it."

She was, indeed, an economist, with her doctor's degree in economics from the University of Vienna; and to this she had added secretarial training, including ability to take short hand in German and English.

She was Dr. Elizabeth Rabitsch (though she doesn't use the title) and had been assigned to the office of the Canadian delegation to last May's Vienna congress of the International Chamber of Commerce.

HAD MANY JOBS

She had the almost round-the-clock job of keeping the delegation on the tracks; doing the multitudinous secretarial tasks of the office; checking passports; replying to invitations; seeing that the proper functions were attended; solving language problems; and pinch-hitting with a bit of dictation.

That much talent wasn't likely to be overlooked and it seemed a sure thing that Miss Rabitsch could have a choice of several jobs in Canada.

Within a few months she was in Montreal with Canadian Industries Ltd., where she still is, and she was a guest at the reception given by the Canadian council of the international chamber at its annual meeting in Montreal Thursday.

I asked her the usual question about how she liked Canada, and she said:

"Canadians are good and kind to new Canadians. They help you along in every respect. In my

McCarthy Asks Equal Time Answer Stevenson's Charges

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Senator McCarthy wants equal free time on national radio and television networks to answer charges by Adlai E. Stevenson that the Wisconsin Republican senator's investigations threaten the United States with a "malignant and fatal totalitarianism."

Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, told reporters Sunday that the 1953 Democratic presidential candidate's Saturday night speech was carried free on CBS television and NBC radio.

McCarthy, who in the past has demanded and received equal time to answer attacks by Democrats, said in an interview that he will ask for free facilities to reply to Stevenson.

(In New York the National Broadcasting Co. and the Columbia Broadcasting System said they have received no such request from McCarthy yet.)

Stevenson criticized President Eisenhower in his speech for failing to put the brakes on McCarthy. But two Democratic senators said later that economic issues should outweigh McCarthy's activities in the Democrats' 1954 campaign strategy.

Although he said he agreed generally with that conclusion, Senator Warren Magnuson (Dem., Wash.) said he is not too sure of either the timing nor the importance that Stevenson gave to McCarthy and his Communist-in-government charges.

Stevenson's charges that McCarthy's investigation threatened a "malignant and fatal totalitarianism" and that out of 2,000,000 federal employees "only one alleged active Communist has been found" brought a hot reply from McCarthy.

"It was a very clever political talk designed to cloud the issues," McCarthy said in an interview. "What the Republicans are trying to do is clean up the Democratic mess. We don't always agree on how the job should be done, but we all agree it must be done."

Russians Superior In Fast Match Win Final Game 7-2

STOCKHOLM (CP)—An inspired Russian team taught Canada a lesson in stickhandling, skating and passing Sunday to beat Toronto East York 7-2 for the world hockey title. The Canadians, unbeaten and untied in six previous starts in the eight-team round-robin tournament were heavily favored over Moscow Dynamos, Russia's first entry in international competition, who had looked bad at times in compiling a record of five victories and one tie before the final game.

But the faster, better-organized Dynamos took command from the opening whistle to hand Canada her worst defeat since the tournament began in 1924. It was the fourth time Canada was beaten for the title in 20 tries.

The Russians also showed mastery of other aspects of a game that once was virtually a Canadian monopoly and which was introduced into the Soviet Union eight years ago.

Their captain argued heatedly and unsuccessfully with one of the Swiss referees over an offside call. And several players joined in a spirited free-for-all behind the Canadian net when Dynamo forward E. Babich fell and dragged East York defenceman Russ Robertson down with him.

CANADIANS NERVOUS

The Canadians appeared nervous at the outset and East York manager Don Preston later said they had been told to go easy on their checking rather than risk penalties for infractions of the unfamiliar European rules.

The result was that the Dynamos, virtually unopposed in their forays on goalie Don Lockhart, ran up a 4-0 lead in the first period, made out 7-1 in the second and coasted home under the protection of their long lead. Despite their caution, the Canadians picked up six of the game's eight penalties, two of them resulting in Russian goals.

He repeated earlier charges that the Swedish press stirred animosity against his team, adding that "even some of the referees were affected," but Preston withheld no credit from the victors

"The Russians are wonderful hockey players," he said. "They deserve the victory they got."

While some sections of the capacity crowd of 16,725 were uniformly hostile to the Canadians, they received a hand as they pressed their attack in the game's early stages. But sympathy gradually shifted to the Dynamos as the Russian defence blunted most of the East York sorties while Lockhart was in constant trouble from Soviet sniping.

IMPORTANT PENALTY

A charging penalty to right-winger Vic Sluce midway through the first period when the Dynamos led 1-0 was the turning point of the game. While he was off, Russian centre Vladimir Shuvalov gave his team a 2-0 lead, forcing East York to open up in an effort to overhaul their rivals.

Lockhart earned the crystal vase he received from the Swedish Ice Hockey Federation after the game as the best netminder in the series, but inevitably Russian shots got past him.

By the time right-winger Moe Galand outskated the entire Russian team to score Canada's first goal early in the second period, the Ontario Hockey Association Senior B club had a three-goal lead to overcome. It was Galand's 16th goal of the series, making him the tournament's top marksman.

The Canadians killed off a penalty to centre Bob Kennedy, but just after he returned two quick Russian goals put the game out of reach. Another followed while defenceman Tom Jamieson was off for boarding.

Even the breaks were against East York. Right-winger Bill Shill scooped the puck from under Dynamo goaltender Nikolai Putchkov and drove it home, only to have a whistle nullify the play as the referees ruled the puck was dead.

Shill got a legal goal in the third period, his shot caroming in off Putchkov's skate. But penalties to Kennedy and defenceman George Sayliss took the steam out of Canada's closing attack.

PRESENTS CUP

J. F. (Bunny) Ahearne, vice-president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, presented the championship cup to Vsivolod Bobrov, the Dynamo captain, after the game.

Bobrov, a Red Army major, also received an award from the Swedish federation as the outstanding forward in the series. He sparked his team-mates Sunday, scoring one goal, his eighth of the tournament, and setting up a second.

East York may be the last Canadian representative in the tournament. President W. B. George of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association announced Saturday that he plans to submit a report to the CAHA at its annual meeting next May on unfavorable press and public reaction to the club.

George said the CAHA will decide on future policy regarding the tournament after considering the report.

U.S. To End Contract With S. Korea

SEOUL Korea (Reuters)—United Nations economic co-ordinator C. Tyler Wood announced today that the U. S. government will not renew its contract with South Korea for the purchase of tungsten when the present contract expires at the end of this month.

Wood declared that "foreseeable requirements for tungsten having been met, or being under contract, no contracts are being made or renewed with any country."

But he added: "Korean tungsten is one of the important resources in the economic structure of this nation. My government is eager to co-operate with the Korean government and the tungsten industry to strengthen the industry's position in the free world.

"To accomplish this, we have offered to furnish marketing advice and technical assistance within the framework of the aid program, and to provide finance for necessary equipment."

Wood also announced here today that the foreign operations administration has $7,100,000 available to purchase textile products for South Korea from the United States, Canada, Japan and some European countries.

Farmers Hindered By Privileges

BARRIE (CP) — E. C. Drury, former Ontario premier, said Saturday Canadian agriculture, if relieved of the oppression of special privileges granted some other industries, "could take care of itself, could supply our own people abundantly and could meet all comers in the export market."

Mr. Drury, now sheriff of Simcoe county, said in an address to shareholders of First Co-operative Packers of Ontario Limited that a great mass of laws and regulations, customs and understandings, practices and privileges permeates the whole structure of urban economy. It had the effect of raising the cost of all goods and services far above the just and natural level which would be the result of free operation of the law of supply and demand.

He said farm production is likely to level off, perhaps decreasing in proportion to the shrinking farm population.

Five Men Admit Intoxication Charges

Five men pleaded guilty on charges of violating the liquor Control Act, and one man for vagrancy, in magistrate's court today.

Pleading guilty to a second offence of intoxication in a public place, John King, 54, no fixed address, was fined $50 and $2.50 costs or 45 days in jail. Grant Torrance, 32, of 866 George St., pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs. Allan McGlennon, 20, of 309 McDonnel St. pleaded guilty to charges of intoxication in a public place and obtaining liquor under age and was fined a total of $25 and $2.50 costs.

Three other men were each fined $10 and $2.50 costs on drunk charges. They were: Harold Whaley, 44, McDonnel St., John Doherty, 57, of Lakeview, and Ambrose Doherty, 39, of 96 Aylmer St.

Picture Stolen

TORONTO (CP) — Someone has stolen a painting known as "Watering His Horse." It carries a price tag of $650 and its owner, Leslie Lewis, has offered a reward.

Lewis, an importer of paintings, said there has been a mild epidemic of picture thefts from galleries and auctioneering rooms during the last year.

Variety Show Opens Drive Community Fund

One of the musicians was so intoxicated (with applause) that he fell off the bandstand at the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund variety show at the Capitol theatre Sunday afternoon.

Generally the all-volunteer cast gave a very fitting start to the community fund drive which begins today. Only criticism which could be levelled was at a very small percentage of the audience in the balcony. These were adolescents, who, in the words of one member of the show "talked and razzed and acted like a bunch of low-grade morons," during the Community Theatre's production of "The Word". The audience as a whole, said publicity chairman Russ Baer, was "very good."

"The Word" was well handled and was the high point of the show. The story involves a boy and girl who come down from the roof of the Empire State Building to find nobody left in the world at all. Some of the theological ramifications from this interesting theme are a bit contrived, but Josie McMeekin and John MacDougall did a competent and professional job.

Among the best of the musical numbers was Nicki Humphries, whose singing was reminiscent of those long-lost days when girls sang like girls. Ken Vaughan performed in his usual proficient manner, handling his tunes with ease and conviction.

TOPPLED BACKWARDS

Applause was heavy for Orv Wainman's "Musical Shilellagh." It was during this number that one of the musicians became so excited that he toppled backwards off the bandstand.

Special orchids go to Bobby Kinsman who did a fine job of conducting an orchestra that was not his own. Cues were well followed and the orchestra was right on top of the situation at all times.

Other musical numbers were the Searles' Melodic String Quartet, and the CGE Note-Wits, of whom we expect to hear more in the future.

Today the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign officially begins. The objective is $100,000, the canvassers are well-organized and the rest is up to the citizenry.

Mayor Blames Councils With Gross Neglect

FORT ERIE (CP)—Mayor Herbert T. Guess of Fort Erie said today the town's sewage system and culverts are in bad shape because of "gross neglect of councils and committees appointed to supervise the utilities in the past."

His comment followed a weekend inspection tour with other town officials. Results will be placed before town council at an early meeting.

The mayor said two recent floods caused considerable damage.

office I have never met any one who wouldn't help me."

NO NEED TO WORRY

She added another comment: "I read the other day that Canadians are concerned that new Canadians may be won over to communism. Please tell them not to worry—new Canadians are glad to be rid of communism."

Miss Rabitsch herself got out of western Vienna in 1945 while the Russians were entering the city from the East.

In 1950 she went to the United States on a scholarship to Radcliffe College and from 1951 to 1953 was with the Austrian embassy in Washington.

She is one of two Viennese in Canada as a result of the Canadian delegation's visit.

The other is Gustav Haslehner, graduate in economics from Vienna's University of Commerce, who now is studying economics at McGill University.

SHOW APPRECIATION

The Canadian delegation wished to do something to show appreciation for the hospitality they had received. Should they give a reception?

Receptions by this time were dime-a-dozen. So, why not take the money one would cost, and whatever might be necessary, and bring an Austrian student to Canada.

They discussed the matter with Chancellor Raab of Austria when he received them. He was enthusiastic about it and choice of the student was left with him.

Mr. Haslehner said he is impressed by the "grand scale" on which life is planned in Canada; that he hopes his work will be helpful in convincing people of the values of freer trade; and that it will be of value to Austria.

Gordon Leslie Hume

Funeral service for the late Gordon Leslie Hume, 27, of 6 Benson Ave., who died suddenly at his home on Thursday following a heart attack, was held on Saturday at Kaye funeral home.

The Rev. F. G. Ongley of St. John's Anglican church officiated and pallbearers were William Clarke, George Drury, Kenneth Hoar, Arthur Barnes, Darrell and Robert Wilshaw. Burial was at Little Lake cemetery.

French Declare Emergency In Haiphong

HAIPHONG, Indo-China (AP)—French military authorities today enforced a state of emergency in this vital seaport following a Vietminh commando raid on a nearby landing field where American air technicians service United States-supplied transport planes for the war against the Communist-led rebels.

Reports circulated that the Vietminh have declared they plan to attack every area where American personnel work. The Vietminh radio recently accused the U. S. of intervening in the Indo-Chinese war.

None of the 44 U. S. air force personnel stationed at the field, three miles from here, was on the airfield when the commandos attacked before dawn Sunday.

Another 105 American technicians work at an airstrip 12 miles southeast of Haiphong.

The rest of the 252 Americans helping the French maintain planes are stationed at Tourane, on the central Indo-Chinese coast.

The French announced the seizure of 74 men suspected of aiding the Vietminh in the raid. The military said five raiders were killed, "several" taken prisoner and three explosive charges seized.

"Several planes" had been destroyed but these were light aircraft parked along the rim of the airport.

A battery of South Korean guns boomed out a 19-gun salute as the plane rolled to a stop at Seoul city's airport.

Korean and Commonwealth honor guards stood at attention as the prime minister, his silvery hair glinting in the late afternoon sun, passed down the line. Some of the honor guard wore the kilt of the famed Black Watch regiment.

PLAY "O CANADA"

A Korean military band struck up "O Canada" as the prime minister stepped from the plane and walked between twin lines of United States military, police and Canadian honor guards.

The prime minister talked briefly with Canadian missionaries, then left the airport for his quarters.

During the next two days the prime minister will be the guest of the 8th army and the Canadian brigade. He will visit the brigade at is position along the front line and will inspect guards of honor and troops in the lines and in Seoul.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 3 11-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Friday's noon rate was 96⅝ cents. Pound sterling $2.72⅛, against $2.71 15-16.

Mark St. United Church Observes 25th Anniversary

The congregation of Mark St. United church on Sunday observed the 25th anniversary of the dedication of their church. Guest preacher at both morning and evening services was the Rev. A. I. Higgins of MacKay United church, Ottawa.

In 1928 the cornerstone of the Ashburnham church was laid. The following year the Rev. J. W. Pedley, ex-president of the Toronto conference dedicated Mark Street United "to the glory of God." He was assisted by the Rev. J. E. Moore and the Rev. A. E. Thornley.

The church had its beginning in the Bible Christian church, organized in 1871. In 1872, they moved to the old church on Mark St. which was dedicated in September of that year.

First minister of the church after the United Church of Canada was formed was the Rev. R. T. Richards. He was followed by the Rev. A. E. Thornley who was pastor when the present building was constructed.

At the morning service, Mr. Higgins, a former RCAF padre, preached a sermon "For Your Sake I Sanctify Myself." He illustrated this devotion to others with the names of historical and present-day Canadians and said the same spirit was needed for the future.

RESPONSIBILITIES

"If we want a country in which we live under democratic principles then we cannot ignore the responsibilities and responsible government today. If we want a society where victory is not to the strong and the spoils to the victor then we dare not ignore the implications of social justice. If we want a christian Canada we dare not be indifferent to the church and its progress."

In the evening Mr. Higgins spoke on "Possible With God, Impossible With Man."

IN CHRIST'S WAY

He referred to the achievements of science and the feeling that we could do anything we wished, but he went on to show that the right use of power, such as the reconstruction of society and the handling of atomic energy, are only possible when done in a Christ-like way.

He said that "regeneration" was God's work alone. People need not only more wages, a higher standard of living, more automobiles and television sets, but also a strengthening power in their hearts to help them see life through triumphantly.

Weekend Toll Of 12 Dead In Accidents

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Four persons killed in a level-crossing smash near Brantford were among at least 12 victims of week-end fatalities in eastern Canada.

A Canadian Press compilation today listed 10 violent or accidental deaths in Ontario, one in Quebec and one in New Brunswick.

Killed in the Brantford crash early Saturday were Ralph Tokash, 22; Olga Chamaluk, 20; William G. Jackson, 26; and Walter Wusyk, 26. Injured was Andrew Lucyk, 23, the fifth occupant of a 1938 coupe in which the victims were returning to western Canada after vainly seeking work in Toronto.

The wreck of a string of runaway railway tank cars near Hamilton killed brakeman W. C. Arnold of St. Thomas and injured another brakeman, R. A. Phillips of London, Ont.

Other Ontario traffic victims: John Shepherd, 30, and Donald Prestley, 20, in a motorcycle crackup in Toronto; William McKinnon 53-year-old cyclist hit by a car at St. Thomas; Maurice Brown, 35, whose tractor flipped over while he was trying to tow his truck through heavy slush.

Ronald Litt, 4, was drowned at Port Stanley when he fell off a fishing dock into Kettle Creek.

Realtors Warned To Keep Constant Watch

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The danger of housing "sliding into the welfare field" called for constant vigilance on the part of realtors declared P. J. Harvey of Brantford, 1953 president of the Ontario Association of Real Estate Boards, addressing its 400 members at the 32nd annual conference today.

"We must try to make our citizens home owners in the real sense of the word," he said. "We must go out against schemes and projects which set a pattern that might eventually make them tenants of the state."

Mr. Harvey said he felt the federal-provincial-land Assembly Act, was imposing a hardship on private developers of residential subdivisions.

Mr. Harvey said major cities such as London, Chatham, Waterloo, North Bay and Kitchener report the lot of the tenant vastly improved since controls were lifted.

"The net effect of decontrol is to make more rental units available . . . competition rules out the landlord who was formerly taking advantage of the times," he said.

In view of the increasing demand for old housing, Mr. Harvey suggested the provincial government consider re-instituting a second mortgage plan to facilitate purchase of older houses by the lower income group.

Order Wealth Seized

CAIRO (AP) — A military court Sunday ordered seizure of the wealth of Mrs. Zeinab el Wakil, wife of former premier Mustapha Nahas. She is said to have amassed nearly $3,000,000 in graft during her husband's two terms. The three man military court said Mrs. el Wakil—known by her maiden name according to Moslem custom — would not be sent to prison because of ill health.

Committee Urges

noticeably lacking. However, no jurisdiction we know of surpasses Ontario's institutions for food well-prepared and excellent of quality, sufficient in quantity, the physical appearance of the inmates, education, trade training, humane treatment and all kindnesses that can be given incarcerated persons. The prisoners are treated as ordinary persons."

JUVENILES A PROBLEM

Mr. Stewart said juvenile delinquency was a contributing factor to the institutions.

"The committee cannot offer any complete solution nor any panacea. . . . We strongly recommend a campaign by the parents on youth's responsibilities."

Some crime comic books presented disrespect for law and order and erroneous impressions of law enforcement officers. Radio and television programs featured fictional crimes of a serious nature. Pinball machines "with their attendant evils" contributed to delinquency.

"The committee recommends a closer supervision of vending machinese and a study of what is being sold by the vending machines is important."

WOULD QUIT COBOURG

The committee recommended that the buildings and land at the Ontario training school for boys at Cobourg be sold and a new school be built on the grounds of the training school at Bowmanville, as far removed as possible from existing buildings. It proposed that the training school for boys at Guelph be discontinued and the inmates be quartered in a proposed industrial school.

The report praised the work of the senior officers but said the department would be "well advised to do their senior officers the courtesy of prior consultation whenever promotions, additions or requirements affecting their staffs are considered."

WOULD BUILD HOUSES

The committee investigated the "thorny" problem of housing for personnel. It suggested raising of salaries and erection of homes in co-operation with a housing firm for sale to staff members.

An extension of the industrial farm system would take the pressure off over-crowded jails "and eventually should replace jails altogether as custodial institutions, except for purposes of lock-ups and sentences of seven days or less."

Four industrial farms were in operation at Sudbury (Burwash), Brantford (Burtch), Burrit's Rapids (Rideau) and Cochrane (Monteith).

"The most obvious need for another farm is at Fort William, but study should be given to establishment of further industrial farms in the most easterly section of the province, in the most westerly area and in the Toronto-Hamilton area."

SHERIFFS' AID SUPERFLUOUS

Multiplicity of control of city and county jails was severely criticized.

The counties own the jails and share control and costs with the province.

"The inevitable result is overlapping of authority and failure to carry through suggestions of improving accommodation and efficiency of operation . . . in addition to its other evils, this system is uneconomical."

The committee called for the stripping of sheriffs' powers in connection with the jails, greater segregation of inmates and the establishment of work programs.

Enlarged educational and spiritual programs were proposed and greater medical are called for.

The committee was satisfied that the use of corporal punishment is justified and necessary as long as it is used rarely and with discretion, but said the use of leg irons is "completely without justification" in this age and recommended their abolishment.

Moslem League Expect Win E. Pakistan Vote

DACCA, Pakistan (Reuters)—East Pakistan voted today in the most significant elections since the birth of this Moslem state in 1947.

The Moslem League party, which has ruled Pakistan from its beginning, when it was divided from Hindu India, faced the greatest challenge to its power from strong left-wing opposition groups in elections for a new provincial legislature in East Bengal.

The election has national importance, for the lush jute fields and green forests of this province are the home of more than half Pakistan's 76,000,000 people, and the province is a major source of economic wealth.

But of the 20,000,000 who voted today, only about 20 per cent can read, and fewer can write.

Prime Minister Mohammed Ali, who is also the president of the Moslem League, personally led his party's election campaign. He was supported by every prominent party leader and by Fatima Jinnah, sister of Mohammed Ali Jinnah, founder of Pakistan.

Political observers are reluctant to predict the outcome of the election, though it is generally felt the Moslem League will come through with a majority.

East Bengal is separated from west Pakistan by more than 1,000 miles of Indian territory; the people here differ greatly from their compatriots in west Pakistan, and have the highest percentage of non-Moslems in the country.

Re-elected President

GUELPH (CP)—J. D. W. Clarke of Appleton, Ont., was re-elected president of the National Chinchilla Breeders of Canada at the seventh annual meeting here. Mr. Clarke is a chinchilla breeder of long standing.

W. Freeborn of Concord, Ont., was elected a director.

Pope Recovering

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius' slow but steady recovery from a dangerous gastric ailment was reported continuing today.

The sources said the 78-year-old pontiff is able to retain an increasing amount of solid food.

Theft Attempt

BRANTFORD (CP) — An attempt to loot the safe at A. and P. stores supermarket on the outskirts of Brantford failed during the week-end. The robbers succeeded in ruining the safe without opening it.

It was believed today that a reported $20,000 in the safe might have been destroyed by the blast but nothing could be learned until the wrecked door can be removed.

$7,700,000,000 Arms Aid Given By U.S.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Congress today that in a little more than four years the United States has given $7,700,000,000 worth of guns, ammunition and other military equipment to strengthen free nations against the threats of Soviet power.

The weapons supplied, he said, included 30,792 tanks and combat vehicles, 5,340 aircraft, 601 navy vessels and 2,000,000 small arms and machine-guns.

The figures he disclosed in the report on the mutual security program covered the period from the beginning of military assistance in October, 1949 through last December. He said that almost 50 per cent of the total was shipped during 1953.

The president asserted that "as long as the harsh threat to world peace exists our country will continue to shoulder the heavy obligations of world leadership."

CAN NOT BE CUT

He said that military assistance and economic aid programs, though constantly revised "cannot be drastically cut without undoing much of the rewarding success which has been so painstakingly and laboriously achieved."

With respect to Indo-China, the president said that the rate of U.S. military shipments in 1953 was 50 per cent higher than in 1952.

The president said that the North Atlantic Treaty allies had themselves spent more than $11,500,000,000 on defence activities last year and have planned a "moderate increase" in military expenditures during 1954.

The report said that NATO's active divisions had more than tripled the 14 combat ready divisions available in January 1951—giving a present total in excess of 42 divisions. It said that plane strength of the North Atlantic allies had increased more than 2½ times over the 1,800 planes of January 1951—a present total of about 4,500—and that modern jets had replaced old-type piston driven craft.

Air fields in the NATO area had increased to more than 120 as compared with 15 available in January 1951.

Toronto Trading Groups Higher

TORONTO (CP) — Most groups were higher in light early afternoon stock market trading today.

Papers, utilities, agricultures, foods and liquors were stronger in the industrials. Constructions, steels, refining oils, manufactures and textiles slipped. Financial institutions were steady. Ford, the forenoon feature with a $2 gain, slipped and was off 50 cents.

Western oils advanced on a wide front.

Golds were ahead with holding companies and juniors strong and seniors steady.

Uraniums added pennies to follow Gunnar's 20-cent lead. Bathurst-area base metals were steady.

Senior base metals were strong but juniors and Manitouwadge-area issued slipped in light trading.

PRIZE-WINNING PRESIDENT—John W. Miles, 590 Reid St., of Trent Valley branch of the National Chinchilla Breeders of Canada, and Mrs. Miles are shown with the type of stock that won them second place at the 5th annual show and convention at Guelph on Saturday.

Chinchilla Breeder Wins 2nd In Guelph Show

John W. Miles of 590 Reid St. who was elected president of Trent Valley branch of the National Chinchilla Breeder association of Canada a week ago Friday, took second place at a show in Guelph on Saturday.

His animal, "Milesview 9H," was in competition with about 200 chinchillas from across Canada at the 5th annual show and convention. Mr. and Mrs. Miles were the only exhibitors from Peterborough at the event and it was their first showing.

The convention was a three-day event, terminating on Saturday with a banquet at which Calvin Skinner, Salt Lake City, executive secretary of the American association, was guest speaker. Judges of the show were W. F. Newey of fur grading services, department of agriculture, Ottawa, and J. C. Molony of the Hudson's Bay Company, Montreal.

Strike Threat Averted

NEW YORK (AP) — A possible new strike against major New York city newspapers has been averted, with AFL photo-engravers voting to accept a fact-finding for the royal table, or coming in board's decision.

The photo-engravers voted 209 to 76 Sunday to accept a weekly package of $3.75 including wage increases and other benefits. This was the same package that the publishers offered before the engravers went out at six of the city's major newspapers last November and December for 11 days.

The strike ended when the engravers agreed to let a fact-finding panel decide whether they should get more than the $3.75 package offered.

Both Edward J. Volz, president of the International Photo-engravers Union of North America (AFL), and Denis M. Burke, president of Local 1 here, urged the members to accept the recommendations.

He contended that the outcome should not be considered a victory for the publishers, represented by the Publishers Association of New York City.

Canadian Film Wins Italian Olympic Medal

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (CP) — Canada won the grand medal of the Italian Olympic committee for its color film "Canadian Open" at the week-long showing of sports films at Cortina's 10th international competition, it was announced today.

The Canadian production showed last year's play in the country's top golf tournament. Germany and Britain won 12 of the 23 awards at the competition.

Girl Wins Honors Oratorical Test

SUDBURY (CP) — A Sudbury high school student, Catherine Mutsch, won top honors in the northern Ontario oratorical contest Saturday night. There were 11 competitors.

Second prize went to Judith Mackinnon of Copper Cliff high school, and John Trevor of Sault Ste. Marie collegiate was third.

Miss Mutsch won the Jack Lavery Medal, a cash award of $25 from the W. E. Mason estate, Sudbury, and $25 from the Northern Broadcasting Company, North Bay. She spoke on the abolition of capital punishment.

Sheila Ryan and Valerie Herbert, from St. Joseph's College, North Bay, were disqualified because their addresses ran over the time limit, but were highly praised by the judges.

Other contestants were Maurice O'Shaughnessy, Cobalt high school, Glenna Eakett, Sault Ste. Marie collegiate; Mary Tchir and Anne Ripley, Espanola high school; Albert Forrest and Marlene Lorne of Smooth Rock Falls high school.

Flying Friars Use Scooters To Fight Reds

By FRANK BRUTTO

BOLOGNA, Italy (AP)—A score of priests have taken to motor scooters and automobiles to fight communism in this Red stronghold of northern Italy.

They are selected for broad shoulders, as well as their knowledge of theology and social science. Their official name is Fraternitas, but they have become known as flying friars.

They criticize "abusive capitalism" as well, but their job essentially is to fight Communists on their own ground.

"They don't search for us in the churches," said one of the friars, "so we go after them in the piazzas."

Their most common tactic is to take one of their automobiles, equipped with loud speakers, into a small-town square or a crossroads meeting to confound some Red orator.

STARTED WITH SPEECH

The immediate leader is Rev. Tommaso Toschi, a husky Franciscan who was a parish priest of Monte Caleraro, near here. One day last November, while he was speaking in the town square, a passing prelate paused to listen. The prelate was Bologna's two-fisted 62-year-old archbishop, Giacomo Cardinal Lercaro. His archdiocese is in the centre of the Emilia region's Red belt. Bologna itself is known as "the Red." Its mayor is a Communist.

"Fraternitas" grew out of Cardinal Lercaro's talk with Father Toschi. The flying friars began their work with an ancient borrowed automobile. Their work still is a shoe-string operation, although they have acquired three station wagons and several motor scooters, paid for by private contributions and church funds.

Their headquarters are in Bologna's outskirt monastery and Church of the Most Holy Annunciation. There, in sparsely furnished rooms, the monks live and plan their moves.

They are mostly in their 30s. Energetic and aggressive, they have been chosen from the Franciscan Minor, Capuchin, Dominican, Servants of Mary, Salesian, Sacred Heart and Lateran Canons religious orders. Highly educated, they also can speak in the dialect of the area.

They have no regular assignments. At a moment's notice they may be sent to intervene in a political gathering to answer Red accusations or promises. Or they may be dispatched to say mass in some distant hamlet, where the priest is old or sick, or where there may be none. Also, they organize shows and present educational movies.

NO POLITICAL TIES

"We have nothing to do with any political party—not even the Christian Democrat," they say.

"We are not hunting votes, but lost, strayed souls. We want to restore respect for religion. If necessary, we are ready to begin at the beginning . . as in a mission land of infidels. We are fighting for heaven, not for parliament."

A simple catechism is used in their work. Questions are answered by savings of the saints, popes and prelates. For example:

Q. Is it permissible to eat and not work?

A. If someone does not wish to work, neither should he eat. (From St. Paul to the Thessalonians).

Q. Must the chain of wicked, egoistic capital be broken?

A. The wickedness of capital that exploits the worker and uses him as a machine until his strength is exhausted must be broken. It is a crime against the working class.

This thought has many times been expressed by the Pope.

CONCERNED WITH WORKERS

Cardinal Lercaro learned at first hand the troubles of the poor. He was the son of a Genoa working man.

A major aspect of the flying friars' task is to move the priesthood against "abusive capitalism," described in their catechism as "the true despot."

At San Giovanni, Father Toschi helped rice workers win a pay increase. The Communists later tried to take credit. At Copparo, in the Ferrara zone—another Communist stronghold—a friar appeared to speak on the theme, "Who betrays and who serves the working class."

Some in the crowd jeered, "Go say your rosary."

Fighting spirit up, the friar retorted: "Al rusari al dig quand ani per me."

Italians of Rome would not have known what he meant. But at Copparo it meant, roughly, "Don't tell me when to say my rosary; I say it when I wish."

The people cheered, then listened.

Mrs. Ruth Addresses Service At Omeme

OMEMEE (ENS) — World Day of Prayer service was held in Trinity United church Friday afternoon with Mrs. V. E. R. Zufelt leading and Mrs. Irwin Connell at the organ.

Mrs. F. Bent and Mrs. Ken Murray took part in the order of service. Mrs. Cecil Reeds, Mrs. H. Bent, Mrs. A. W. Stephenson and Mrs. Smith Nurse read prayers.

Mrs. Oswald Ruth was special speaker. She spoke of the procession of Christ, beginning with the triumphal entry into Jerusalem, interrupted by Calvary, taken up again and, through the centuries, encircling the globe. Contributions had been made by such men as Shaftesbury, Wilberforce, Livingstone, Lincoln and Albert Schweitzer, also by churches and colleges and by individuals who give to charities and services, by Christian missions and many other agencies.

Mrs. Jay Hayes sang a solo. Mrs. Ken Murray was appointed Key Woman for 1955.

NEW APPOINTMENT—Maj.-Gen. J. D. B. (Des) Smith, 42, of Ottawa, chairman of the Canadian joint staff at London and Canadian military representative to Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers in Europe, will become commandant of the National Defence College at Kingston, effective in August. Gen. Smith commanded the Royal Canadian Dragoons in 1942 and in 1943 assumed command of the 4th Canadian Armored Brigade with the rank of brigadier. From December, 1944, until the end of the Second World War, he commanded the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade in Italy and Northwest Europe.

5-Year-Old Boy Drowns In Creek

PORT STANLEY (CP)—On the eve of his 5th birthday, Ronald Litt was drowned Sunday when he slipped from an ice-covered plank into 15 feet of water in Kettle Creek.

Firemen recovered the body 20 minutes later and applied artificial respiration for two hours without success.

The child and his six-year-old brother, children of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth George Litt, were playing along a pier in the harbor of this Lake Erie village near St. Thomas when the accident happened. The Litt family moved here from Stratford 18 months ago.

Car Lands On Tracks Three Men Injured

COBOURG (ENS)—Three Toronto men were taken to Cobourg General Hospital Sunday afternoon, after their car went out of control on William St., climbed a grade and landed on the eastbound CNR tracks. Fortunately no train was approaching at the time.

Shaken up and bruised, but otherwise uninjured, the occupants of the car were Roy Jones, driver, Alvin Martin and Marvin Foster, all of Toronto.

The car was northbound at the time and was going up the grade to the CNR level crossing when it went out of control, crossed a shallow ditch and plowed up the gradient to the tracks. The chassis of the car caught the rails and ties and shifted them several inches to the north.

A railway gang was called out to restore the tracks to their original position.

Color Film To Tell Story Of Switzerland

Anton R. Lendi, internationally known Swiss commentator, described as one of the most dynamic personalities ever to appear before the Canadian and American public, will speak and show color films of his native land on March 17, at 8 p.m., in Mark St. Church.

The two-hour color film pageant includes the beauty of the Alpine scenery, Switzerland's mediaeval towns, the glory of its alpine flowers and wildlife abounding in the forests and depicts quaint old-world customs and festivals with their gay songs of a happy people. The films also include some of the world's greatest skiers in action over the 10-mile slopes. The story will reveal the secret of the Swiss people's success in democratic living over a period of over 660 years. The program is presented in Mark St. Sunday school hall under the auspices of the Young People's Union.

Car Hits Patch Of Ice Plunges Into Ditch

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Only one minor accident occurred in this district over the weekend. A car driven by 22-year-old Gerald Little of RR 1, Warsaw, struck an icy patch while travelling south on the Warkworth-Hastings Road, went out of control and plunged into the east ditch, coming to rest on its side.

About $100 damage was caused to the side of the car, but the driver, who was alone, was not injured. Opp Constable Archie Eady of Campbellford investigated.

St. Paul's WA Meets

STIRLING (ENS) — St. Paul's WA met in the church parlour this week with the president, Mrs. E. Warren, presiding.

The calling committee reported three calls made and Mrs. R. B. Duffin and Mrs. Guy Bradshaw were appointed to act as the calling committee for March.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Percy D. McMullen, who chose as her topic "A Bit of Old Ireland."

Mrs. B. Glendenning sang two solos.

A dainty lunch was served.

Roseneath Holds Prayer Service

ROSENEATH (ENS) — The World's Day of Prayer service was held at Roseneath United church Friday afternoon.

The theme of the service was "That they may have life."

Ladies attended this service from the following organizations: the WMS of the United church, Centenary WA, Alderville Homemakers, St. James Anglican WA, Fenella WA and the WA of the United church.

Mrs. J. N. Lovelace, president of the WMS, was in charge of the service with Miss Doreen Nichol of St. James' Anglican church at the organ.

Mrs. Delbert Brisbin gave the address, her subject being "The World Day of Prayer," its origin and its growth down through the years.

Mrs. Douglas Coyle sang "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Fred Lewis read "In Christ There is No East or West."

Assisting Mrs. Lovelace with the worship service were: Mrs. Earl Waldie, president of United church WA, Mrs. Gordon Jewell, vice-president of Fenella WA; Mrs. Dawson Timlin, president of Centenary WA; Mrs. John Simpson of the Alderville Homemakers.

Prayers were offered by the following members of St. James' Anglican WA: Mrs. John Webb, Mrs. Ray McCracken, Mrs. John T. Drope, Mrs. Earl Braithwaite, Mrs. James Webb, Mrs. Edgar Braithwaite.

The offering was received by Mrs. J. A. Nichol and Mrs. Andrew Brown.

Mrs. T. S. Coyle pronounced the benediction.

Find No Substitute For God In Science

MARMORA (ENS) — Correlation of science and religion was the theme of an address given in Marmora Free Methodist church on Sunday evening to a large congregation by Dr. C. B. Hamann, PhD, of Asburg College, Wilmore, Ky.

The speaker spent a part of last summer in Germany discussing problems affecting such correlation with some leading German scientists. Prefacing his address he read 19th Psalm, which he described at the scientist psalm.

After referring to shrinking material values which have taken place in the world, he drew attention to the serious shrinkage of spiritual values.

The two world wars, he said, had added their toll to the back wash that has occurred while science has made remarkable contributions to our welfare, people had been addicted to choosing the scientific textbooks which was partly theoretical to the exclusion of the statements of the Bible which are altogether true. Critics have come and gone but the word of God still stands. The anvil remains when the hammer has gone.

Whereas science has provided the world with wonderful medicines to save life it has also provided the means of destroying life. Man has never made anything yet that he has not misused. Science has been lifted up until it has been worshipped as a God.

The speaker then enlarged on the two revelations God has given man kind, the Bible— His word on salvation and the book of nature. Through these two books together, the first being the more essential, is God to be rightly worshipped.

The Rev. G. Bache conducted the service. The Rev. W. J. T. Hicks of Campbellford offered prayer, Mrs. Wesley Lohnes sang "The Blood of Christ Alone" and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Snider sang the duet "I Wonder have I Done my Best for Jesus." Rev. G. H. Bache announced next Suday would be observed as "Family Sunday."

St. James' WA Group Completes Fancy Quilt

ROSENEATH (ENS)—Quilting a fancy custom quilt was the important item at the March meeting of St. James' Anglican WA, held at the home of Mrs. Rupert Nichol.

The president, Mrs. Jack Webb, presided over the worship service. The scripture reading was given by Raymond Illsley. The treasurer, Mrs. James Brown, reported a balance on hand of $173.44.

Mrs. W. Robins reported for the extra-cent-a-day fund. Mrs. James L. Timlin presented the Little Helpers' report.

Many finished articles of sewing were handed in by the members, in preparation for the annual bazaar. The Dorcas secretary, Mrs. J. Brown, reported orders received for more quilts to be quilted.

A committee was appointed to try and secure a play for Easter week. The program was dispensed with in order to complete the quilt.

Mrs. Nichol, assisted by her daughter, Miss Doreen Nichol, served afternoon tea.

Pass Music Exams

STIRLING (ENS)—Pupils of Mrs. A. E. Baker, writing theory examinations prescribed by the Royal Conservatory of Music were all successful. Results were: Grade 1, Anne Redcliffe, Wooler, first class honors; grade 2: Mrs. Don Rodgers, first class honors; Grace Heasman, honors.

Manpower Still Remains Chief Prop In Future Wars

By RON EVANS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Despite predictions that future wars will be push-bottom affairs, manpower remains the chief prop—and main problem—in Britain's defence program.

War Secretary Antony Head carefully hammered this home at a press conference in the war office.

"It's still true," he said, "that the only way to meet a force of men is with a force of men."

And the question of men has echoed gloomily through all the latest defence statements starting with Field Marshal Earl Alexander's white paper on defence policy, through army, navy and air force estimates, all issued within a week.

Said the white paper:

". . . We shall continue to need conventional forces to deal with the kind of cold war operations, falling short of a major war, in which our forces are now engaged. And even in a major war it does not seem likely that the possession of new weapons will make it any less necessary to keep a firm screen of troops on the ground . . . "

RECRUITING FALLS OFF

But while reaffirming faith in the men who wield the weapons, Britain's military leaders admit they present a real problem.

All three services report declining strength. The navy says that by next April there will be a drop of 12,000 men from the 152,000 under arms in 1953 because emergency measure introduced in 1950, which compulsorily retained or recalled officers and men from reserves, are due to run out. At the same time the senior service says there has been a "sharp deterioration" in recruiting, especially of stokers and marines.

The RAF reports 1953 was a disappointing year for recruiting with little more than half the required number of pilots and an even lower proportion of navigators entering the service. Total strength by April is expected to be 267,300, a decrease of 11,000 from 1953.

Army recruiting also suffered. The total is expected to slip by 13,000 to about 380,000 this year.

But what really concerns defence officials is that 80 per cent of Britain's fighting forces are away from home, frozen in more than 20 outposts in Europe, Africa, Asia and elsewhere. The demands of the cold war and colonial unrest tie these troops to their scattered bases.

ARMY STRENGTH STRAINED

Head frankly admitted in meeting the press that these foreign commitments place a dangerous strain on army strength. One battalion has had no fewer than 19 moves since the war. Four others have had only about two months' service in Britain during the same period.

Lord Alexander, defence minister, said in his white paper, "It will be our aim gradually to reduce the total size of the army and to reconstitute the strategic reserve at home."

Most observers agree there is a need for such a home-based reserve but fail to see how it can be accomplished.

Only the settlement of issues in the Middle East and Africa could free forces for services at home and neither development appears imminent.

Regina Actress Signs For Festival

LONDON (CP)—Frances Hyland of Regina has been signed to appear opposite James Mason in the Stratford Shakespearian festival this summer, it was learned today.

An official of H. M. Tennent, theatre management company for which Miss Hyland works, said producer Tyrone Guthrie "returned to the attack" after seeing the 25-year-old blonde Canadian girl at Edinburgh in Christopher Fry's new play, "The Dark Is Light Enough."

"He was enchanted," said the Tennent spokesman. He had sought Miss Hyland earlier but she had been given a part in the play, whose cast includes Dame Edith Evans. The play now is on tour and is due to reach London's west end in April.

Miss Hyland will play Isabella in "Measure for Measure" at Stratford.

Must Provide More For Indians, Eskimos

TORONTO (CP) — Transformation of Indian hunters into sheep herders and the introduction of sheep to the interior of Quebec were proposed Saturday night by Dr. Jacques Rousseau, director of the Montreal Botanical Gardens. Dr. Rousseau, addressing the annual meeting of the Ontario Federation of Naturalists, said Canada must assume a greater responsibility than it now does for the northern Indians and Eskimos whose numbers have been dwindling rapidly because of the disappearance of their principal food source, the tundra caribou herds.

4½-Foot Wingspread White Owl Shot

STIRLING (ENS)—Percy Craighead, who resides just south of Stirling on Highway 14, shot a large white owl in the barnyard of his farm home.

A number of crows were attacking the bird and he dropped it with the first shot from his shotgun.

The owl had a wingspread of 4 feet 7 inches. Mr. Craighead hopes to have it mounted.

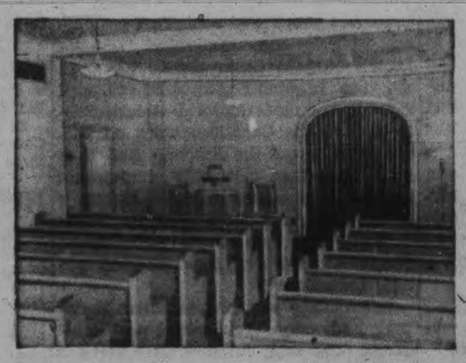
Marmora Groups Join Services

MARMORA (ENS)—The World Day of Prayer was observed on Friday afternoon by the Women's Missionary organizations of the Anglican, United and Free Methodist churches holding the joint service in Marmora Free Methodist church. Mrs. Stewart Hardy of that church in opening the service extended a welcome to all and after the opening hymn had been sung, Mrs. R. G. Winters and Mrs. R. Frost, representing St. Paul's Anglican, conducted the first part of the service Mrs. P. Gray, also of St. Paul's, reading the Bible lesson.

In the second section, Miss K. J. Crawford, representing St. Andrew's United, led in the worship later calling upon Mrs. J. M. Brownlie of St. Paul's to give the address which particularly dealt with the various ways in which the offering is used. Mrs. W. Lohnes of the Free Methodist sang a solo "In the Garden" with Mrs. Ronald Beckett accompanying her on the piano. Mrs. E. Hewitt and Mrs. R. Wells took the offering and various ladies took remaining sections of the service which was concluded by Mrs. S. Hardy.

Rylstone WI Sews For Hospital

RYLSTONE—The Rylstone Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Charles Stewart Wednesday, with about 30 members present.



A quilt top which had been made was quilted at this meeting. A pot luck dinner was enjoyed.

A nomination committee was chosen to seek out officer material for the coming annual meeting and election of officers.

A donation to Campbellford Memorial Hospital was decided on. A letter has been received from the Mental Health Association, and plans made for the "Penny Round-up," as the WI held last year. Sewing for the Campbellford Memorial Hospital was distributed to the ladies, to complete for the April meeting or before.

Mrs. Lindsay Anderson, former president and her daughter, Linda, now at Milliken were guests at the pot luck dinner and quilting.

Talks about:
Bills marked "PLEASE REMIT"
Most people have had a bill sometime, bearing the words, "Please remit by return mail". And many of us have not always been able to send payment by return mail. A large unplanned bill, or a lot of little ones, can often cause this to happen. Most people don't realize that all they need to clear away their debts is time; yes, time to spread the payments into future pay envelopes. A friendly loan gets you a lump sum of money, with which to pay your bills. You then have time to repay, with payments you can handle more easily. It's a simple way to get back on your feet. Friendly loans up to $1500 from Niagara are life-insured at no extra cost to you. Besides, on many friendly loans, the rates are lower. If you need money why don't you give yourself time to pay by arranging a Niagara loan. We'll be glad to see you . . . so just drop in.

A Good Grant

The Financial Committee of the City Council has recommended that a grant of $500 be made to the Historical Society of Peterborough City and County. This use of Council's granting powers and tax money is deserving of praise. It shows maturity in the Council and a recognition that the spirit of Peterborough rests on more than today's activity. A community that neither knows nor heeds its past cannot grow healthily into the future. It needs roots in order to flower, and the roots must be cultivated. The Historical Society, now firmly organized and lively, is dedicated to nurturing the roots from which this city and county stem. Through its work the present generation and those to come will be able to appreciate the processes of growth and to gauge their present achievement in the light of the past. A consciousness of one's local history gives one poise and assurance in the flight of time, and it bestows on a community that sense of continuity which keeps it steadfast.

* * *

The grant reflects the maturity of Peterborough and its citizens. The $500 will not help feed the poor, care for the needy, rescue the helpless, or promote any sport or any child or other social welfare work. Grants for that sort of thing are easier to make than a grant for a cultural cause, because they have justification in good works. The Council's wise decision to support the Historical Society is a mature sort of thing because it is not for "good works", but for the good of the mind and for the nourishment of the spirit of Peterborough. Since the Council's grant will be matched by one from the Provincial Government, the Historical Society is assured of the minimal amount of money it needs to do its work of research, chronology and preservation of material of local historical worth.

One Irishman Unhappy

The following letter appeared in the Larne Times recently. Larne is a town in Northern Ireland near Belfast. The writer, be it noted, now lives in Toronto.

Sir,—I notice that in the "Belfast Telegraph" there are still advertisements urging people to come to Canada, and from reports I understand that large crowds intend sailing this summer.

What these intending emigrants don't know, however, is that on January 20 a Government report showed that there are over a half million persons unemployed here and that the figures are still rising rapidly.

I have travelled from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and in British Columbia unemployment officials were astounded when I told them about the film shows and Press propaganda used to entice people from the U.K.

It's time the officials responsible were made to give public explanations for sending people from the homeland to walk the streets of an unknown Continent—jobless and often hungry.

In Toronto it's nearly impossible to secure any kind of a position, and when one has trodden the city for weeks in vain attempts, it makes one bitter to think of the card in the Immigration Office in Chichester Street stating: "Canada has everything—but men."

"BELFASTMAN"

Toronto.

The Larne Times headlined the letter: "UNEMPLOYMENT AWAITS THE EMIGRANTS". We are sorry that "Belfastman" is having such a bad time in Toronto, but we do not think his case is typical of very many immigrants to this country. His letter says that there are half a million unemployed in Canada now (a debatable figure), but it does not mention that one million immigrants have entered Canada since the war, and nearly all of them have been absorbed into the work of Canada. Judging from our own correspondence columns, native Canadians, some of them out of jobs, think that too many immigrants have got work.

Unemployment does exist now in Canada. If "Belfastman" came out in the autumn or winter he was very ill-advised in his timing, unless he came to a specific job for which he was already hired, and has since quit that job. There is always unemployment in Canada in the winter months, especially unskilled workers. We do not know what skill "Belfastman" brought with him to Canada.

We hope that the disconsolate Ulsterman's manly nature will soon be appeased by a steady job, now that he has had his period of wanderlust and travel from the Atlantic to British Columbia and back. At least he has had that much out of his emigration, more Canadian travel than many thousands of Canadians are able to indulge in anytime in their lives

Let "Belfastman" take courage from the experience of thousands of his fellow-countrymen who have come to Canada since the war, secured good jobs at three times the pay they had at home, and are happily settling into the ways of their adopted country. We know of one Belfast immigrant of several years ago who is today so well adjusted to Canadian life and times and money that he is now in Florida, holidaying in the sun. That sort of unemployment also awaits immigrants, Larne Times, please note.

Johnny-Come-Lately To Rule The River?

For decades Canada has been ready and willing to extend the St. Lawrence deep seaway into the Great Lakes. Its patience finally exhausted, and with some good clubs to wave in Washington, Canada said it would build the seaway and do it alone; all she asked was American acceptance of the project, an acceptance necessary because the St. Lawrence in the Iroquois-Cornwall area is an international boundary. When the U.S. pressure groups opposed to the seaway knew that the jig was up, the approval was given. But how? Immediately Congress attached an appropriation, ear-marked millions of dollars for the project. Is this a friendly gesture or an attempt to steal the show?

Was it not clear to the U.S. hard-heads that Canada would foot the bill? Oh, yes, but these smart fellows saw an opportunity for squeezing some financial advantage—and power over the seaway—out of it. They did not exactly get on the band-waggon, but they got under, ready to pick up some of the change.

The matter of whose money builds the seaway is not very important in itself; what is important is how, when and where it will be built, and by whom. The plan is Canadian, Canadian workmen would be employed, Canadian materials, and—most important of all—the port installations envisaged were to be Canadian. The flow of traffic would touch Canada, not the States. Canada has composed the tune; it is not the place now, at this late date, for the U.S. to start paying the piper and calling the tune.

If the U.S. wants to throw in some money it may be all right. It depends on what strings are attached to it. Let is be remembered that all the existing St. Lawrence—Great Lakes canals of major size were built by Canada, paid for by Canada, and operated by Canada. The St. Lawrence seaway at present is a Canadian seaway. Now that it is to be deepened, is it to become a U.S. seaway? Commerce and industry in Ontario could be cheated of very bright prospects if U.S. capital were to try to divert the channel and control to the American side.

F. R. M. Davies

It is with deep regret that The Examiner records today the death of Frederick Rupert McKay Davies, who was a director of this newspaper since March, 1946. With the exception of four years which he spent in the Army, his life was passed in the newspaper business and in work allied to it, and it was to this that his best energies were given. He was a director also of The Whig-Standard of Kingston. He was in his fifty-second year. A good newspaperman, he deplored long death notices, and he would have been the first to put a blue pencil through an extended eulogy upon himself. It is with this brief note, therefore, that we take leave of him, and express our sympathy to his wife and daughters.

Cultural Annexation Of New England

We suspect that soon the United States, anyway, the northeastern ones, will be instituting their own Massey Report deploring the creeping Canadianism which is infecting them. Tens of thousands of American citizens in Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire speak French as their mother tongue. Stores in northern New England towns woo Canadian tourists as blatantly as Canadian shops seek American customers on tour—they even hold "Canada Days"—bargain dollar days. Worst of all, the reputedly strongest cultural force in the modern world—television—is working its Canadian wiles on U.S. residents across the border. And it is not only the culturally impeccable Americans who tune in to the highbrow C.B.C. programs from Toronto, foreswearing their own commercial stations. People in northern New England see only Canadian TV

The menace was not great when Montreal had only French-language television programs, but now that there is also a Montreal CBC-TV station broadcasting in English, television aerials are going up on the roofs and hilltops of Vermont and New Hampshire as thick as lightning rods. Formerly where almost nobody in the area had a television set there is now a great big boom in TV sales. Why? To tune in to Montreal—the only station these American people can reach.

Canada's cultural annexation of New England is spreading like wildfire. Better bring out the hoses, you State Legislatures, or before you can say Uncle (Sam) New England will be petitioning for Provincial status.

LONDON LETTER

McCarthy Vexes, Lady's Long View

By KENNETH HARRIS

POLITICS in Egypt and Syria have been in the melting pot; Britain's Parliament has just finished debating the Berlin conference; the British Labour Party is split on the question of German rearmament, and atomic bombs are being delivered to the Royal Air Force. But are these topics being discussed by the man in the street in this country? Not a bit of it. The man in the street is talking about America's Senator McCarthy.

"This is the only thing that makes me anti-American," one otherwise mild and good-natured Englishman told me. "This darned McCarthy takes our minds off other much more important topics. I read a good American book around Christmas called 'The Incredible Mizeners.' I reckon fifty years from now somebody might write a book called 'The Incredible Eisenhower' — the President who fiddled a golf stick while America burned — with humiliation."

* * *

MANY PEOPLE over here are much more concerned than this man. They don't think, as he does, that McCarthy is not a very important subject. Indeed, the number of people who have become really worried about McCarthyism has increased tremendously in the last few days.

One reason is that a few days ago a British former Member of Parliament and journalist, Mr. Aiden Crawley (his wife, Miss Virginia Cowles, is an American) produced a television report of his recent visit to America. The report was seen, it is said, by five million Britons, and was a real TV "smash-hit." Part of it was a film showing Senator McCarthy in action at a hearing of his subcommittee which investigates Communists activities in the U.S. I think the general reaction here was summed up by Mr. Peter Black, television critic — and not a political commentator — of a big national daily, the London Daily Mail: "What struck me so forcibly," he wrote, "was not only McCarthy's appearance but the manner of his victim. It was that of a man who knew himself to be honest, yet knew he was up against a force too strong to be attacked with the weapons of honesty."

* * *

AT THIS STAGE of the matter, one thing at least can safely be said about the feelings of people in this country. They really don't know what to do about the situation. They see Senator McCarthy behaving in a way which, with their limited knowledge of American politics and the American Constitution, seems very much like the way the German Nazis behaved in the thirties. In those days, they now know, Britons should have spoken out, but did not until it was too late.

* * *

A FEW WEEKS from now the Chancellor of the Echequer, the member of the Cabinet who is in charge of Britain's finances, will be presenting his annual budget. Unlike the top money-man in some countries, he not only reports on what the country took in and on what it proposes to spend, but presents detailed proposals — such as an increase of a penny in the tax on beer or a raise of ten per cent in the income tax — by which the money should be raised. These proposals are put forward in the name of the Government, and unless the Opposition proves strong enough to reject them they become national policy.

* * *

THE Trades Union Congress, the federation of British trades unions, makes a statement, about this time every year, with a view to influencing, or attempting to influence, the Chancellor's budget policy. This year the congress has issued a "warning" that the main objective of British policy, budgetary or otherwise, must be to increase British exports. The Chancellor has already replied that he agrees.

Both the Labour-dominated T.U.C. and the Conservative Government see eye to eye — although whether exports will be substantially increased is another matter. But at least none of our overseas critics can complain that our road to long-term solvency is barred by inter-Party disagreement on major issues.

* * *

AMERICAN and Commonwealth visitors, most of whom are inclined to complain about the amount of rain that descends on them in Britain, have never been so lucky as this winter. So far it has been the driest winter we have had in fifty years, and water is being rationed in several cities in the east and central parts of the country. Unless there is an unusually heavy rainfall in March and April, Britain will enter the summer with the prospects of a serious water shortage on its hands.

* * *

A "MARGARINE WAR" is due to open in Britain on May 10, when for the first time in fourteen years unrationed, branded margarine will be on sale. British housewives now spend £70,000,000 a year on margarine; so the spoils of war are well worth fighting for.

One of the main protagonists will be the British subsidiary of the American Kraft Foods, Ltd., (or the American multi-million National Dairy Products Corporation, as some people know it).

Kraft is said to be setting aside £250,000 for an advertising and packaging campaign to create a demand for margarine at between 1s.10d. and 2s.6d. a pound.

Britain's margarine giant is the Unilever Corporation, which makes two out of every three pounds now manufactured here.

* * *

BRITAIN has just discovered the woman with what may be the world's most remarkable eyes — Mrs. Janet Hitchman, a thirty-seven-year-old housewife who lives in the county of Suffolk. Mrs. Hitchman can read a menu held at a table ten feet away from the one she is sitting at, and can identify a policeman's number — which is in metal figures, each about a quarter of an inch high on his shoulder — from about twenty-five feet.

Standing at the foot of Nelson's towering column in London's Trafalgar Square she could see the join between the two blocks out of which the figure of Nelson was constructed. People with her could just make out the faint line of the join with the help of army field-glasses. On clear nights she can the four moons of the planet Jupiter.

But Mrs. Hitchman's eyesight has at least one disadvantage: three dimensional films, she says, looks like ordinary films to her.

Heard Of Wawanesa?

(HALIFAX CHRONICLE-HERALD)

WAWANESA in Manitoba has a population, as at the last decennial census, of 447.

Wawanesa has a six-room hotel, a restaurant, three stores, and a single grain elevator, and is distinguishable from hundreds of other prairie hamlets only by the large brick building which occupies a commanding place there.

The building houses the head offices of what is considered by many to be Canada's "leading and most aggressive fire and automobile insurance company."

The company was incorporated in 1896 by 20 farmers to insure their own and other farmers' threshing machines which had been uninsurable up to that time. Usually the farmers had no money to pay their premiums until the November following each harvest and for many years the company never had the cash to pay claims which arose earlier in the year. To pay claims, the directors used to borrow from the bank on their own notes — the company's credit being non-existent. The company now has assets in excess of $18,000,000.

The company has no plans to move its head offices from tiny Wawanesa, which is the nerve-centre of its far-flung operations. (It recently opened a $500,000 building and parking area in the Montreal area "to sell automobile insurance directly to the public on a drive-in basis.")

As interesting as the origins of this company itself is its plan, first in relation to its Montreal operations, to draw upon the "retired-too-young" sources of help. It advertised at the outset for 20 men who had to be over 65. Eager to have useful jobs, these employees "are about the happiest and most productive group to be found anywhere." The scheme has been such an "outstanding success" that the company has extended the policy to its other offices across Canada. These men, have, as it is described, "the bearing, integrity and judgement required to deal with the public and maintain the public's respect for the company."

In this modern world, with its emphasis upon mere size, the Wawanesa story is a challenging and inspiring one.

Prehistoric Find In Italy

By JOHN CAIRNCROSS

THERE have been some interesting finds in Italy recently, and more particularly in the north-west province known as Piedmont. Uranium has been discovered there — although it has not yet been possible to ascertain whether deposits are big enough to justify large-scale working. And an Old Master has been unearthed at the port of Genoa — a large Caravaggio, representing Christ, with Pilate on one side of him and a guard on the other. Hitherto only a copy of the painting has been available. The find is attracting particularly marked attention since Caravaggio, a painter of the early 17th century in Italy, is very much in fashion. A highly successful ehibition of his work was held at Milan two years ago, and studies by the art critic Bernard Berenson and by the English expert Roger Hinks have recently been published.

But the most sensational find in Piedmont was due to the efforts of a fifty-two-year old farmer near Asti. Making an irrigation channel in his field one morning, Natale Riva, digging in clayey soil, hit a hard, white object with his spade. Carefully shaking off the earth, he found what he guessed-rightly — were the bones of a prehistoric animal.

The area is known to be rich in such remains. The experts to whom Riva submitted the bones identified them as part of the dorsal column of a sea monster known as the Aliterium, which lived one million years ago, in the Pliocene age. This specimen is well over four yards long and is in exceptionally good condition. Experts are now engaged in the delicate search for further parts of the monster.

The explanation of the frequency with which rich prehistoric finds are made in this area is simple. In the Pliocene age the north of Italy was under water. After an earthquake or an internal upheaval, part of the sea retreated and numbers of the sea animals were left high and dry. The clay soil is ideally suited to preserve their skeletons.

More sensational discoveries are likely to follow, particularly as other farmers in the district are busy wielding pick and spade in the hope of finding a companion piece to Riva's Aliterium.

Butter, Butter Everywhere

(Le Soleil, Quebec)

May Canadian housewives hope for a lowering of their family budget equal to that by which their opposite numbers in the United States have profited, who have seen the price of butter drop by eight or ten cents a pound? The Washington government has decided to drop its support price which has held that food at 75 cents a pound. It has a reserve of 260 million pounds. The equivalent of two pounds per capita, and it is allowing this great liquidation as a counterweight to margarine, the production of which is increasing. In Canada the support price remains at 58 cents and the warehouses contain more than 49 million pounds, or three pounds per capita. This is an abundance of butter which may become inconvenient.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

The man departed, and told the Jews that it was Jesus, which had made him whole. And therefore did the Jews persecute Jesus, and sought to slay him, because he had done these things on the sabbath day.

But Jesus answered them, My Father worketh hitherto, and I work. Therefore the Jews sought the more to kill him, because he not only had broken the sabbath, but said also that God was his Father, making himself equal with God.

Then answered Jesus and said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, The Son can do nothing himself, but what he seeth the Father do: for what things soever he doeth, these also doeth the Son likewise. For the Father loveth the Son, and sheweth him all things that himself doeth: and he will shew him greater works than these, that ye may marvel. (John 5:15-20.)

The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou maintainest my lot. The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea, I have a goodly heritage. (Ps. 16:5, 6.)

Cease ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherein is he to be accounted of? (Isa. 2:22.)

Know ye that the Lord is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture. (Ps. 100:3.)

As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness. (Ps. 17:15.)

True, Naked Policy

(Winnipeg Free Press)

There is much to be said for a gradual reduction of United States forces in Europe, once the European Defence Committee is established and Germany armed under it. Such a reduction is to be expected.

But it must be carefully timed, for if it is premature, if the European peoples are persuaded, even wrongly, that the United States is in fact retreating to a thin perimeter and will not fight for the centre of the continent, then inevitably the United States will lose its power of leadership and not long hence its essential friends in the continent and in Britain.

For all these reasons there is no practical alternative to the EDC, not necessarily in its present precise form, perhaps with greater British co-operation in the essential concept of joint defence not of a perimeter but of Western Europe as a whole.

No agonizing reappraisal can alter those facts. They should be clearer to everybody, now that Russia's true policy has been nakedly unfurled at Berlin.

Don't Raise M.L.A. Pay

(Calgary Herald)

From Edmonton it is reported that the members of the Legislature are considering dipping their little fingers in the public treasury to boost their already adequate pay.

It's not official yet, and probably won't be announced until it can be pushed through faster than the public can shout "stop, stop." So now's the time for voters to howl — then the members can start thinking about something else such as the things they are already paid $3,000 a year to think about.

There's some balderdash about raising the salaries "in keeping" with the pay boost given federal MP's. There's no comparison. Federal members have pretty well a year-round job in Ottawa. They have to maintain two homes, and they are geographically a long way from their homes and businesses.

The MLA's sit in Edmonton for about seven weeks a year. Call it one seventh of a year, and their $3,000 payment amounts to $21,000 per annum.

R. Moses Named Chairman Seaway Project

ALBANY, N. Y. (CP)—Governor Thomas Dewey Sunday named Robert Moses chairman of the state power authority, the agency which has been granted a federal licence to undertake the United States share of work on the St. Lawrence power project. The Ontario hydro-electric power commission is the Canadian agency on the project.

Moses replaces Ellio Bell who resigned from the five-man authority. At the same time, John D. Burton stepped down from the authority chairmanship although he will remain a member.

Moses, 65-year-old Republican, will continue as New York City commissioner of parks and also retain his other position in the city government.

In his post, Moses will also lead the fight for the state's plan to develop Niagara falls power.

Dewey, told a press conference Sunday he was announcing the changes so that Moses would be able to testify today before the Senate public works committee on proposals to develop additional hydro-electric energy at Nigara Falls.

He said both Moses and Burton were expected to appear at the hearing in Washington.

NOW 'IN BUSINESS'

Burton, a resident of Ithaca and vice president of Cornell University, said in his letter to the governor that he had to either give up his Cornell job or the chairmanship of the authority.

"During the last two months, the responsibility of the authority chairman has become intense because we are really in business on the St. Lawrence project," Burton said.

The governor told newspapermen he hoped that construction could start this year on the $300,000,000 hydro-electric development. It is to be constructed jointly with the Ontario hydro-electric commission at a point near Massena, N. Y., and Cornwall on the International Rapids.

West Point Beat RMC At Hockey

KINGSTON (CP)—Tradition was broken Saturday night as West Point cadets romped to a 5-3 victory over the Royal Military College in the annual United States military academy challenge trophy hockey game.

A penalty was called.

The penalty, against West Point goaltender D. H. Leuders for interference, was the first to be called during the RMC-West Point classic since the series was inaugurated in 1923.

The game was rugged throughout with players on both clubs throwing bodychecks. In the third period, the referees halted the game and with the spectators urging them on consulted with officials of each school. The decision was made at the five-minute mark to call penalties and a little over five minutes later the string was broken.

Edmonton Woman Wins Speedskate

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (CP)—Mrs. Pat Underhill of Edmonton and Jacqueline Charlebois of Dalhousie N.B., Sunday tied for second place in the women's division of the North American indoor speedskating championships here. Mrs. Barbara Marchetti de Schepper of Detroit won the event with a perfect score.

Art Longsjo of Leominster, Mass. raced to the men's championship to become the first man to win both indoor and outdoor titles in the same year.

Douglas Wins Houston Tourney

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Dave Douglas fashioned a five-under-par 67 on the final round for a total of 277 to win the $30,000 Houston open golf tournament Sunday. His $6,000 top prize was the first money he has won this year.

Douglas finished nine under par to equal the course record. The 36-year-old Grossinger, N.Y., professional finished two strokes ahead of Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., the defending champion.

Middlecoff grabbed the $3,200 second prize with a 279.

The only survivor of six Canadians entered, Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., shot a three-under-par 69 Sunday, his best round of the tournament. However, his previous rounds of 74-75-73 brought his total to 291 and he finished out of the money.

Canada's Deep-Sea Fleet Wiped Out By High Costs

HALIFAX (CP) — One of Canada's leading shipping men says high costs have all but obliterated the country's deep-sea merchant fleet and war might find the armed forces handicapped in moving men and materiel beyond our shores.

Harry Mathers, president of I.H. Mathers and Son, says the Canadian ocean-going merchant trade is "finished."

He said there could be no revival until shipowners either receive some form of federal assistance or the world returns to freer convertibility of currencies. The latter would enable Canadian ships to compete within the sterling area.

COUNT 18 NOW

Only about 18 cargo carriers remain under the Canadian flag, the lowest number since before the Second World War. Between 90 and 100 have been transferred to British registry where British crews and provisioning reduce operating costs by one-half, although Canadian federal taxes stay the same.

A lesser number of vessels have been sold outright to Italian, Liberian, Honduran and Panamanian interests.

Mr. Mathers said "A nucleus of ships is extremely necessary if the national interest is to be safeguarded."

Under the heading of the "national interest" he put defence preparedness, the economy of seaboard cities which leans heavily on the health of the world's shipping, and the preservation of a core of trained merchant seamen from which the navy could draw reserves.

"The only people who are still making money in this business are the shipowners and the government," Mr. Mathers said. "Even if the ship is under British registry, the owner still gets his profits.

"But don't misunderstand; it's not all a case of money or profits. We shipowners are probably more sincere than you imagine when we say we really want to see a Canadian merchant service again."

Labor and allied costs produced one demand which shipowners found it difficult to meet. Mr. Mathers said ordinary deck-hands got $204 a month exclusive of overtime and other benefits. He said that when accommodations are included a Canadian seaman costs three times as much as a British one.

He said federal taxes still take as much as 55 per cent of earnings.

I. H. Mathers and Sons is a composite firm representing 12 Canadian shipping companies which once boasted a fleet of 39 ships under the Canadian flag. There now are two. Both have been gathering rust at a Halifax pier-side for nearly two years.

Mrs. Dyson Presides Over Warsaw WMS

WARSAW (ENS)—The WMS met in the United church basement, with Mr. Dyson presiding and Mrs. Ida Darling at the piano.

The worship service was entitled "The Church In Their House". The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Anderson. Mrs. Thomas Cooper gave a temperance reading.

The last chapter of the study book was given in dialogue form entitled, "Our Own Back Yard". Mrs. Harold Payne took the part of Canada and Mrs. Dyson of the United States.

Mrs. Ida Darling and Miss Carolyn Thompson played a piano duet. Miss Clara McCracken read two short poems and Mrs. H. Payne two Irish readings. Miss McCracken conducted a song contest.

Lunch was served by Mrs. George Taylor and Mrs. Anderson.

Sports Columnists Criticize CAHA For Canadian Defeat At World Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, perhaps as was to be expected, came in for a bit of a roasting today at the hands of some of Canada's sports columnists.

The writers, commenting on Canada's 7-2 defeat by Russia in the world hockey championships in Stockholm Sunday, didn't mind losing to a fast, powerful team like Moscow Dynamos. Their main complaint was that the CAHA didn't choose a stronger team than Toronto East York to represent Canada abroad.

Toronto East York, an Ontario Senior B squad, has been under editorial fire both at home and abroad as not being representative of the country that has made hockey its leading sport. Nevertheless, East York ran up a string of victories in pre-tournament exhibition games in Europe and went undefeated through six games of the world tournament before bumping into the Dynamos.

Sports columnists on morning papers were slow to comment. Only two had anything to say today:

SEND BEST TEAM

Harry Eisen, London Free Press: "No one but the CAHA can be held responsible for Canada's defeat. . . The (East York) Lyndhurts were not strong enough to uphold Canada's prestige as a leading hockey nation. Unless Canada can send its best team into these so-called world hockey tournaments, the wisest course would be to pass them up."

Jack Howlett, St. John's, Nfld. Daily News:

"Canada thought she had the title in the bag before sailing, but this might wake her up for another year."

Columnists on evening papers, making their copy available to The Canadian Press in advance of publication later today, had this to say:

Steve Herder, St. John's Evening Telegram: "It should make future competition better."

Like Howlett, Herder took the view that Canada's entry was three or four individual stars, not an outstanding team. They agreed that in future a team should be chosen early in the fall and go through tough drills before entering the games.

Aubrey Keizer, Sydney, N.S., Post-Record:

"The CAHA in selecting clubs should also select some good, tactful team leaders. The Canadian hockey field is loaded with alleged team leaders who merely 'pop off.'"

PERHAPS BEST THING

Maurice Smith, Winnipeg Free Press:

"Perhaps the defeat of Canada by the Russians is the best thing that could have happened. At long last it may be the CAHA. . . will wake up to the fact that if the Dominion is going to be represented at all in tournaments with other nations, it should be represented by nothing but the best.

"At the semi-annual meeting of the CAHA in Winnipeg early this year, George Dudley, secretary-manager of the CAHA, predicted to this corner that Russia would finish no better than fourth in the championship. Mr. Dudley's face must be even brighter today than the red flag of Russia."

Tommy Shields, Ottawa Citizen: "No stones should be thrown at Lyndhursts. They were chosen for the trip and did their best. . . but they did not make the grade and it follows that criticism will be directed at them.

"But with most Canadians, the feeling will prevail that Canada was let down by the CAHA in their selection of a world tournament team. . . Canada should be represented by the best, or not represented at all."

SPECIAL TOURNAMENT TEAM

Scotty Melville, Regina Leader-Press:

"I cannot blame the CAHA for having to take what it can get. However, I have for some years submitted that teams of the calibre of Toronto Lyndhursts could be used to tour Europe and a crack senior team be flown over solely for the tournament. The matter of 10 days this would take would not interfere very much with either league or playoff commitments and would not prove too costly to the CAHA."

Hal Pawson, Edmonton Journal: "Canada made its mistake when it stopped sending 'good' teams to Europe to quell complaints from that Continent that Canada's representatives were so powerful they were ruining international hockey. It is past the time when we should send a good senior-calibre club over and show them it is still our game."

Bill Westwick, Ottawa Journal: "The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association can take a bow today for a masterpiece of stubbornness and blundering that netted them exactly what they deserved. . . ." Canadian expatriates had given warnings "that the class B Lyndhurst club wouldn't do." Once the Canadians were in Europe, the CAHA had "back-tracked," admitting it had not made a good choice. It "rushed over four players, including a goalie, and it makes you wonder what the Russians would have done to the original Canadian team."

"The conviction must be a little more general today that the CAHA might well abandon this practice of sending representatives to a world's tournament. . . ."

"There is no intention here of criticizing the Toronto Lyndhursts now. . . It turned out that against the Russians they were boys on a man's errand. That wasn't their fault, though it must seem to many there has been a great deal of 'beefing' over the way the crowds and press have been barracking the team.

"It must be a little puzzling to understand how a Canadian team, accustomed to partisan crowds, can be so bruised by the yells of a hockey crowd over there. . . The thought occurs, too, as to how they read all these write-ups."

Here And There In Sports

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

WINS IN ROMP

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—By Zeus a four-year-old colt, stunned the more distinguished performers in an international lineup Saturday with a record breaking triumph in the $119,200 San Juan Capistrano Handicap.

By Zeus, owned by movie actress Jane Greer and given a wonderful ride by jockey Ray York, finished the mile-and-a-half journey over Santa Anita Park's new grass course 4½ lengths in front of his running mate, Rejected, from the King Ranch. The Dormar Stable's Lucrative was third.

The time was 2:26, faster than the American record of 2:28 4-5 registered at Hialeah Park by Royal Vale and Pictor last week.

The heavy betting favorite, the Alberta Ranches' entry, ran out of the money, and the big horse of Alberta's supposedly powerful threesome, Thirteen of Diamonds, finished last in the field of 16.

LONSHOT WINS

NEW ORLEANS (CP) — T. P Morgan's Grover B, a 24-to-1 longshot, won an upset victory in the $66,000 New Orleans Handicap at Fairgrounds Saturday.

Grover B took an early lead, extended it to five lengths in the backstretch and hung on gamely to outlast Smoke Screen by two lengths. Capeador was third. Royal Bay Gem, second betting choice, was fourth.

KISS PLAYERS AFTER WIN

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — The biggest exchange of public kissing in Stockholm Stadium's history was seen Sunday night by the 16,726 spectators who watched Russia win the world hockey championship over Canada.

After the final whistle had blown for the Soviet 7-2 victory, the Russian team leaders rushed on to the rink and kissed their players on their cheeks about 10 times each.

CHANGE FIGHT DATE

TORONTO (CP) — The return heavyweight match between Earl Walls of Toronto and Tommy Harrison of Los Angeles will be staged at Maple Leaf Gardens March 22 instead of March 23.

Promoter Frank Tunney said the date change was decided upon so as not to interfere with any possible Stanley Cup playoff dates.

SCORES EIGHT-ENDER

GRAVENHURST (CP) — Bert Hawker's Gravenhurst rink scored an eight-end while competing in a mixed bonspiel here Saturday.

Hawker, a curler 32 years, said it is the first time he has accomplished the feat. Other members of his rink were Mrs. Thomas MacAuley, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hills.

Orillia's 4-3 Win In Semi-Final Puts Petes On Spot

By CEC. PERDUE

Petes threw everything in Civic Arena but the "No Smoking" signs at Goalie Bob Shropshire of Orillia in the third period of Saturday's playoff but they couldn't put a thing past him. Local laxity in the first period gave the Pontiacs a 4-1 lead and a two-goal surge by the TPT-ers in the middle heat wasn't quite enough, Orillia taking the tilt by a 4-3 count. It gave them a 2-1 edge in the best-of-seven OHA senior "B" group and semi-finals, and definitely put them on a spot. If they drop tonight's decision in Orillia, they are in a critical condition. Though losing, the Redmond-Jopling men made it a great fight Saturday before the best crowd of the season and outplayed the Ponties by far in the last two chukkers.

SEVEN APIECE

While play was rugged in spots, it wasn't unduly rough, each side earning seven minor penalties. Orillia cashed in better on these sin-bin sentences, and they threw up a great force-checking defence when they were short a man. It was a stream-lined struggle, plenty fast over the distance, and highly exciting in the last half. The first period lapse by Petes, when they played indifferent hockey, cost them the game. Shropshire beat them in the final frame when they peppered him from in-close scrambles repeatedly.

Gus Leonard and Keith Montgomery were back in action for the homesters and turned in sterling efforts, but Denny Peterson was still an absentee, nursing a knee injury. He might be ready for tonight's tussle on the road, but it is doubtful. Fifth fray of the sawoffs is here Wednesday. Meanwhile, Oshawa leads Kingston 2-1 in their semi-final bracket.

SCORED TWO

Towering Ab Bowen led the attack for Ponties with two markers, Jack Nelson and Lloyd Pearsall each clicking for one. Murray Richardson and Danny MacDonald had an assist each for the northern team. Leading the Petes' snipers was Toodie Greenlaw with a brace of counters, Chum Fryia getting the other one and an assist. Bill McMaster, Eddie Redmond, Gus Leonard and Jim Munro earned an assist apiece. Goalie Jack Donlevy kicked out plenty of rubber, too, in the home cage. Two of the Orillia goals were gifts by local defencemen who passed blindly in their own area to put the puck on rival sticks.

Just one minute of play elapsed when Orillia led 1-0. Ab Bowen barged in close with MacDonald and Richardson to slam home the rubber on a short, sharp shot. Payne went off for high-sticking as the tempo speeded up with quick stabs at either goalie. Greenlaw tied it up when he deflected in McMaster's high shot outside defence after a pass over from Redmond at the blue line. Greenlaw then drew a slashing penalty and Bowen followed for hooking. All were back when Montgomery got the finger for kneeing, this being the roughest period of the joust. Pearsall cashed in as they ganged up, his screened shot hitting the hemp halfway through the frame. A Redmond-Fryia thrust came close and Hill had a good try, before he and Pearsall were gated for high-sticking. Collins and Grigg roughed it up and went, too. All were back in action when Nelson intercepted a Petes' pass in close and banged the rubber home. Crowley was off for elbowing when Bowen intercepted another Petes' pass to wham it in for a 4-1 lead.

PETES PREPPING

Prentice pulled a good try to open the second period and Monty drew cheers with a stick-handling rink-length rush, but he didn't tally. Richardson went over for elbowing but good fore-checking kept Petes from getting a shot on net. The same was true later with Shewchuck off for elbowing. They were back when Greenlaw scored in a close-in scramble with Fryia and Leonard in on the play as it swept around the net and blew up on Shropshire's doorstep. Orillia argued on this one, claiming the puck didn't go over the goal-line. It was red hot then as Petes dominated play, despite a respite for O's when Fryia served a hooking penalty. Collins almost counted and then each local front line in turn hammered away at Shropshire, Fryia finally scoring as he cuffed in Munro's pass at the crease in a ganging-up sortie. Montgomery was chased on a cheap call for "delaying the game" when he froze the puck, something Orillia frequently did.

GOALIE SHINES

The rival squads opened the third in a fast and even fashion but Petes soon started to outplay Orillia. A Crowley-Hill rush just missed and later the Belisle line drew repeated shouts as they peppered the sprawling Shropshire who practically stood on his head as he deflected rubber from his net. Leonard threatened, also. Pearsall went over for interference and Fryia and Greenlaw were thefted before he returned to the ice. The Petes used four forwards and a defenceman on the attack, and the Hill line roared around the net, but they couldn't put the burnt biscuit in the oven. Both sides were changing on the fly as fans kept up a continuous din at the speedy action, the Petes carrying almost all the play as time ran out, but Pontiacs checked like fiends, stalled when they could and iced the puck to protect that one-goal lead. It loomed larger and larger as the clock hand moved relentlessly on. Leonard had the last good try at the Ponties' goal, and Orillia players swarmed happily around their net-guardian when the final sounded. It was Orillia's first victory here this year. Teams:

Orillia goal, Shropshire; defence, Shewchuk and Robertson; centre, Bowen; wings, MacDonald and Richardson; alts., Nelson, Woods, McCrone, Payne, Aitkin, Favero, Grigg, Pearsall and esroches.

Petes: goal, Donlevy; defence, Munro and Montgomery; centre, Belisle; wings, Prentice and Floyd; alts.: Leonard, Fryia, Greenlaw, Hill, Crowley, Redmond, McMaster and Armstrong.

Bisons Beat Warriors 13-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Buffalo Bisons smashed a couple of American Hockey League records Sunday night in drubbing the hapless Syracuse Warriors 13-3. At Syracuse Saturday, the Bisons beat the Warriors 8-4. Buffalo needs only one more win to clinch first place, for the first time since 1949.

Cleveland Barons Sunday night snapped a seven - game losing streak by walloping Providence Reds 10-1.

Saturday scores were: Hershey 5, Providence 4; Pittsburgh 5, Cleveland 2.

Buffalo's Don Marshall set a rookie record of 86 points by scoring one goal and assisting in three others Sunday. The line of Marshall, aye Stewart and Ed Slowshall, Gaye Stewart and Ed Slowef 113 goals in a seagon, getting five in the game.

Eddie Olson's three goals featured Cleveland's runaway win over Providence. The Reds, whose playoff hopes were ended, made a right of it in the first period, which ended 2-2.

Peewee Wings Win

The finail game of the season for the Norwood pee-wees was held on Friday evening in the Norwood rink. The 2 teams, Boston Bruins and Detroit Red Wings, coached by Bill Cole and Irvin Warner respectively, played for the league championship and the trophy. The Red Wings edged Bruins by a 4-3 score, the game running into overtime 10 minutes. The trophy was presented to Ronnie Walson, Red Wings' goalie, by Mr. John Auckland, who also presented the runners-up with a silver cup.

The line-ups:

The scoring was as follows:

Red Wings— R. Scott from J. Fife, D. McManus (2), R. Scott.

Bruins—G. Mackey unassisted; G. Mackey from D. Hannivan and K. Scott from D .Waters.

Only one penalty was given in the game to Keith Scott in the overtime for cross-checking.

The referees were Fred Morgan and Roy Millett.

TPT Petes take off at six p.m. for Orillia tonight and a date with the Pontiacs of that borough as the Motor League resumes its playoffs. Fourth fray of the best-of-seven OHA senior "B" group semi-finals, Pontiacs leading the set by two games to one. Fifth tilt is here Wednesday. Oshawa and Kingston return to action this week in their semi-final sawoffs, the Truckmen leading Goodyears 2-1. The Petes must win this e'en or be in serious trouble, faced with the heavy task then of winning three straight games o'er the husky Pontiacs to make group finals. Latter won their first game of the season here on Saturday with that 4-3 squeaker, and Petes must take one on Orillia ice or they've had it.

* * * * * * *

Best crowd of the season filled Civic Arena on the weekend and saw a dandy playoff scrap. But the Petes looked bad in the first frame as they spotted Orillia a 4-1 lead, enough to meat them as it turned out. The squad skippered by Drake Jopling and Eddie Redmond roared back to outplay the O's by a goodly margin in the last two periods, but couldn't quite catch 'em. Petes scored twice in the middle stanza but neither side counted in the furious third frame. A fairly clean game after a touch of roughness in the initial inning, each side drawing seven penalties. The big Pontiacs use their weight to good advantage, checked very closely and had starry goaltending.

* * * * * * *

No "Welcome Mat"

Bob Shropshire had Petes parked on his doorstep regularly in the last two periods but was almost unbeatable. Jack Donlevy in the other net not only had to contend with Pontiacs but also with his own defencemen, who twice assisted on Orillia goals by blind passes onto rival sticks near the home net. Play was real fast and excitement mounted through the third period as the homesters fought furiously in a desperate try to sew it up. Toodie Greenlaw and Chum Fryia had two points apiece for the Petes, one each going to Bill McMaster, Eddie Redmond, Gus Leonard and Jim Munro. Ab Bowen counted twice for Pontiacs, Pearsall and Nelson having one each, and Richardson and MacDonald each earned an assist. Refereeing was okay in this one.

A lot of Oshawa senior "B" puck fans are peeved at the Truckmen for taking their "home" playoff games out of Bowmanville to Kingston and Belleville. In reply, the club management has issued a statement to the Motor City press pointing out that the first group semi-final in Bowmanville drew but a little over 700 fans, and that the total advance sale of tickets in Oshawa was just $77. A Kingston official told the Oshawa Truckers: "Your club is a real asset to the league and no one would want to see it leave. If Oshawa will not support the club we will lend assistance by offering our arena and our fans' support." An Oshawa player remarked on the lack of Oshawa fans' support in Bowmanville: "It was like playing in a morgue."

* * * * * * *

He'd Make Two of Us

Meandering onto the mat scene, we note where Tiny Mills meets Tex McKenzie in the main pro grabble bout at the Brock Arena this Wednesday after supper. Mac rises to a height of six-nine and can even look down on George Ludgate! Of course the meaner of the notorious Mills' brothers is no shorty, either, going about six-six and around 270 pounds. It ought to be interesting to see what villainy he gets away with when separated from brother Al, as the pair nearly always go in team matches. Ike Eakins, a nasty wrestler, also is pitted against Ray Cernandos in the semi-final of the card. The prelim has Toar Morgan (who moved from Tennessee to Lindsay for some odd reason) tackling Mike Paidousis. That monicker reminds us we haven't filled out income tax papers yet.

* * * * * * *

Local Regents rubbed out Kingston Monarchs 131-123 on the round when they took the OABA intermediate "B" game 77-63 here Saturday eve to move into further playdowns. A stormy scrap toward the end when two of the Monarchs fouled out to leave them with but five men, and they tired under the strong drive staged by Regents. Top cager on the attack for the MacPherson-McIntyre men was Ed Nicholls with 16 points, Ab Stewart having 15 and Ab Griffin 14. Harry was high man for the K's with 18 points. In exhibition boys' basketball at PCVS, Kingston came through with a 68-54 senior win, and Kenner bantams took PCVS 40-24. Uxbridge plays SPS juniors here in a lakeshore final tonight, and Whitby meets SPS seniors here Tuesday in their playoff return tilt. Both local teams boast a fair lead.

Dese, Dem and Dose

COBL left the door open to the Petes for two more weeks, but have accepted Watertown to make it at present a four-team loop . . . All Saints won the church bantam punch title, while Mark St. midgets and George St. peewees lead their final set by a game . . . Return jousts next Sat'day morn . . . Warsaw beat Lakefield 6-3 to open best-of-five EPHL finals, next one being Tuesday in Lakefield and third Wednesday in Warsaw . . . Havelock and Marmora now square off in TVL finals . . . Oshawa and Kingston postponed their next playoff till Wednesday in Kingston, and they clash Friday in Belleville . . . We're still awaiting word on our midget and juvenile OMHA playdown dates . . . Lyndhursts lost to the Soviet puck champs 7-2 as generally predicted a month ago in the press, and now Dudley & Co. (the CAHA brass responsible) can take a bow for sustained stupidity in sending a second-rate team to represent Canada . . . Local senior "B" scoring list for the regular season will be out tomorrow . . . But enough small talk for Blue Monday.

Ted Williams Tops

Ted Williams rolled high in the Mercantile Bowling League with 771, including games of 344 and 323. The 7-0 wins went to Combines, Seabrook, Atkison and Turner over Loblaw's, Pet, Co-op, Jets and Tent & Awning; the 5-2 Austin's, Charl. Credit No. 1, Charl. Credit No. 2 and Can. Canoe over Pet. Express, Cherney's Dominions, Mustangs and UCO, in that order.

Windsor Team Successful In Senior Loop

Windsor, which traded in its junior franchise for a place in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A league at the beginning of the season, did much better this year than their junior Spitfires did last season.

The Bulldogs managed to finish third in a strange league this season compared to the seventh-place finish the Spitfires made in the OHA Junior series the previous year. The senior team also won the hearts of the fans, drawing some of the largest crowds of the season in Windsor this season.

But the Bulldogs just didn't have it in the playoffs. They managed only one victory in four games as they dropped out of the running for the OHA Senior championship.

The final stroke came in Stratford Saturday when the Indians scored a 7-3 victory to finish Windsor's league competition for this season. The victory gave Stratford the best-of-five quarter-finals 3-1 and moved the Indians into a best-of-five semi-final against Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

The winner of the semi-final will meet either Owen Sound Mercurys or Chatham Maroons. Owen Sound has just about wrapped that series up, holding a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven semi-final. Their latest victory was a 3-0 shutout over the Maroons in Chatham Saturday.

Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds, who finished first in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior Southern Group, advanced into the league finals Saturday by defeating the Lumber Kings 5-2 in Pembroke. The victory gave the Greyhounds the best-of-seven semi-final 4-0.

Sudbury Wolves lead the other NOHA best-of-seven semi-final 3-1 over North Bay Trappers. The Wolves defeated the Trappers 5-4 in North Bay Saturday.

Stratford's kid line of Lou Bendo, Herve Dejordy and Ted Pletsch led to Windsor's downfall in the final game of the series. Bendo scored twice and Dejordy and Pletsch added singles. Don Peart, Mike Delich and George Aitken rounded out the total. Walt Pawlyshyn notched two for the Bulldogs, Dick Birukow firing the other one.

Owen Sound scored all its goals in the first period and then drew into a defensive shell to beat the Maroons, Buck Forslund, Bill McComb and Herb Carnegie split the scoring for the Mercurys.

Owen Sound can clinch the series tonight when the Mercurys play the fourth game in Chatham. The Kitchener-Stratford series opens in Stratford Tuesday.

Mrs. McCartney's Quartette Winners In Guelph Bonspiel

By HERB MARTIN

As Mrs. M. McCartney's rink goes, so go the ladies' bonspiels. Playing in Guelph last Thursday and Friday, Mrs. McCartney's rink came through with five straight wins to win first honors and the Hamilton trophy. It was a repeat performance, as this same rink won the trophy last season. Leaving Peterborough around five o'clock last Wednesday afternoon they motored to Guelph through that heavy snowstorm, arriving at midnight. They curled Thursday and Friday, motored home Saturday morning and then curled in the Sturgeon bonspiel Saturday night. The Macdonald Brier has nothing on these ladies.

First and Hamilton Trophy, and each a reversible blanket—Mrs. F. Stevenson, Mrs. R. Miller, Mrs. H. Baptie, Mrs. M. McCartney, skip.

FINE RECORD

Mrs. McCartney's rink is setting a pace this season that is going to be very hard to equal. Already they have come out on top in five major bonspiels, and the season has a month to go yet.

On November 25, 1953, they won the third event in Lindsay.

January 29, 1954, at Brampton they took the Wilson Insurance Co. Trophy.

February 9, 1954, at Oshawa it was the McCallum Trophy.

February 26, 1954, at Lindsay they got the main event and the Gruen wrist watches.

March 5, 1954, at Guelph, it was the Hamilton Trophy.

It is true that Mrs. McCartney did not have the same rink in each bonspiel, but she had 75 per cent the same rink. Really a remarkable record. Congratulations, ladies.

We, along with members of our club, extend to Mr. and Mrs. Chris G. Graham best wishes in this, their 50th wedding anniversary.

The winning skips Saturday afternoon were: L. Symonds, E. Robinson, V. Brown and B. Mortlock.

Sturgeon Trophy (main event) —G. Gable won from L. Reynolds; B. Grant won from O. Price; R. Johnson won from H. Baptie; R. A. Collins won from A. Ingram; F. Pearson won from V. Brown; H. Dulmage won from J. Dutton.

Sturgeon Trophy (consolation) —G. Braund won from Dr. R. Morgan; J. Fanning won from N. Hamley; D. Charlton won from B. Dench; F. Batten won from D. Bell; C. Selkirk won from Dr. R. Clark; Dr. M. McCartney won from K. Bissett; D. Charlton won from T. Doughty.

All Saints Win Bantam Church Crown

All Saints defeated St. James 4-1 at Civic Arena on Saturday morning to capture the bantam championship of the Church Hockey League in two straight games. Gilders, Foy and Stevenson scored for the victors in the first period an assist each going to Davies and Gilders, while Stevenson counted one more for them in the third, after Bell tallied from Scholey for St. James. Latter team drew two of the three penalties. Gatfield in goal, and Gilders and Davies stood out for the champions, as Curtis in Goal, Connors and Henwood were the pick of the losers. Teams:

All Saints — Gatfield, Weaver, Heath, Gilders, Davies, Foy, Stevenson, Riches, Cooke, Irwin, Fletcher Stewart Wilson, Reid.

St. James — Curtis, Sedore, Connors, Scholey, Bell, Henwood, Cuff, Weese, Johnston, Kelly, Pound Sharp, Grant, Foskett, Ball.

LEAD BY GAME

Mark St. downed St. James 5-2 to take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-three midget church finals, the second game being at nine a.m. next Saturday. Grills and Jim Harding scored early for Mark St. with Dorrington and Innis having an assist each. Grills banged in two more in the second frame and Jim Harding got one, as an assist each was marked to Dorrington and English. For St. James, Huffman counted in the first from Rose and Ashby, with Patterson tallying in the third. The victors drew eight of the 13 penalties. Cullen, Innis, the Hardings, Phillips, Patterson and Griffin stood out.

St. James — Waldie, Stevens, Kimball, Patterson, Ashby, Hurley, Phillips, Heard, Rose, King, Elmsley Rowe, Huffman, Griffin, Merritt.

Mark St. — Cullen, Dorrington, Innis, Grills, Jim Harding, Paul English, Jerry Harding, White, Beavis, Moffit, Caton Duncan, Dixon, Bell.

TAKES FIRST

George St. edged St. John's 3-1 to gain a 1-0 lead in the best-of-three church peewee finals, next game being at 10 a.m. next Saturday. Wayne Milburn was the big star for George St. as he got all their goals unassisted, scoring one in the second stanza and two more in the third, Willison notching one for St. John's in the windup period. George St. drew the only penalty of the tussle. Along with Wayne Milburn, Gary Rowley and Delahey shone for George St. Best for the losers were MacDonald in goal, Welsh and Dalliday. Teams:

St. John's — MacDonald, J. Parker, Lewis, Welsh, Dalliday, Cunningham, Sedgewick, Muir, Gardiner, Willison, Cotton, R. Parker, Henwood.

George St. — Walsh, Phillips, Hancock, W. Milburn, G. Rowley, B. Milburn, Black, Gatfield, Delahey, Drain, P. Rowley, Murphy, Newell.

Referees — J. Hawthorne, W. Post, R. Batley, L. Williams, W. Flint, E. Woodcock.

Basketball Win

TORONTO (CP)—University of Toronto won the intermediate intercollegiate basketball championship Saturday night defeating Ontario Agricultural College 66-48 in the final game of their schedule here.

The intermediate Blues led 20-7 at the end of the first quarter, 30-20 at the half and 46-31 going into the final quarter.

Cage Regents Win Over Kingston To Capture Series

Peterborough Regents eliminated Kingston Monarchs 131-123 on the round at SPS gym here Saturday night to advance into the next series of the OABA intermediate "B" playdowns. Regents won the game 77-63 after dropping the opener a week ago in Kingston, and the next step in a week's time may be provincial semi-finals for the local YMCA squad coached by Doug. MacPherson and managed by Gord McIntyre. Their next opponents are expected to be the northern victors, probably Orillia or Owen Sound.

As the first game of the series, there were plenty of arguments over the officiating, in this tilt the Kingston players doing the kicking, especially toward the finish of the fray, as Regents tied up the round and then pulled out the close victory.

TIRED AT END

Kingston built up a 38-33 halftime lead but tired under a hard local drive in the last quarter, falling apart late when Harry and Cervenko fouled out to leave them with but five players. They put up a hot argument over these fouls.

Ed Nicholls, playing his best game of the season for Regents in the second half, led the scoring with 16 points, 12 of them in the last half. Joe and Ab Stewart turned in a strong defensive chore with Ab scounting 15 points as well. Bob Smith and Ab Griffin clicked for 14 points each, Don Ash got nine and Joe Stewart was good for five, Bill Edger also having five, he and Ash playing a strong man-to-man defence. Gord Burns got a point, and Murray Grafstein also turned in a solid chore.

Harry, on guard for Kingston, scored 18 points on some fine shooting, including many long-shots. Hartley at centre dropped in 14 and Esford 13. Duncan was good, too, to account for 10 points, Shepherson having six and Cervenko two.

The officials were Hempstead and Welford.

Kingston Gets Hoop Tilt Against PCVS

Kingston cagers captured a 68-54 exhibition hoop win over PCVS senior boys here Saturday night, while Kenner Rams downed PCVS bantams 40-25.

The bantam tussle saw the Rams jerk out a 12-10 lead in the first quarter and they went in front 22-13 at the half. Rams outscored PCVS 11-5 in the third, the teams battling on even terms in the final spasm.

Hendry led the attack for the southenders with 16 points, Rowe coming through with nine, Faulkner six, Woods four, Degroot three, and Doughty and Beath one each. For PCVS, MacArthur counted 11 points, Haig seven, Stewart, Tetlock and Sorrie two each, and Dobbin one.

In the senior exhibition, Kingston showed a big, well-balanced team, featuring aces Pester and Prior. Most of their players had been together four years whereas PCVS are in their first senior year. The local shooting was off, especially in the first quarter, when PCVS got but two of 22 shots. Kingston came up with sharp shooting. Leading PCVS scorer Doug Ash (good for 15 to 20 points a game) failed to get a single basket, though he had two foul shots. It was a good game for the Garnet and Gray to get out of their systems before COSSA playoffs this coming weekend.

Kingston racked up a 25-10 first quarter lead, but were outscored 13-2 next heat, the K's returning for a 21-11 bulge in the third and the teams being even in the fourth. The homesters switched to a zone in the second quarter to stop their rivals cold but K's deadly set shooting, combined with poor PCVS shooting, made for the Kingston win. P. Davis and B. Bell did well with the local seniors and may be used Saturday. Roberts counted 15 points for the locals, Courneya had 10, Davis nine, Carleton and J. Boorman six each, McKinney three Bell and Ash two and B. Boorman one. Prior and Pester led the way for Kingston.

Austrian Successful In Downhill Ski Race

ARE, Sweden (CP) — Christian Pravda of Austria won the spectacular men's downhill race at the world ski championships Sunday in the brilliant time of 1:59.6.

He was the only man to come down the 3,100-metre track on Areskutan mountain in less than two minutes.

Stein Eriksen, Norway's glamor boy, took the men's alpine combination title which is awarded to the man with the best average performances in the slalom, giant slalom and downhill. Eriksen was eighth in the downhill in 2:04.7.

Waterloo Bowlers Win

BRANTFORD (CP) — The six-man Waterloo Sunrise bowling team won the Kitchener-Waterloo region five pin bowling title Saturday night with a six-game total of 8,237 an average of about 229 a game. Twenty-five men's handicap teams competed in the match.

The winners will compete with champions from 12 other Canadian regions at the Sportsmen's Show in Toronto.

Bruins Step Forward To Brigthen Playoff Chances

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The three points Boston Bruins gained on New York Rangers in the weekend National Hockey League action may turn out to be the shattering blow that wrecked the New Yorkers' playoff chances. Boston's big step forward and Toronto's effort in holding on to second place, combined with a quick burst of firing power by Detroit that netted the Red Wings two goals in 23 seconds, go down today as the highlights of the five NHL games during the weekend.

The Bruins picked up their three points by trouncing Chicago Black Hawks 6-0 in Boston Sunday night after playing a 3-3 tie against the Canadiens in Montreal Saturday night.

Toronto regained undisputed possession of second place by a single point with a 4-0 decision over the Rangers Sunday night in New York as the Canadiens battled to a 2-2 deadlock in Detroit against the Red Wings. The Leafs were forced into sharing temporarily the runner-up spot with Canadiens after Saturday night's games when they were beaten 3-1 by Detroit in Toronto while Montreal picked up a point by its tie against the Bruins.

IN DRIVER'S SEAT

Boston's effort in getting three of a possible four points during the week-end while the Rangers made no headway leaves the Bruins in the driver's seat for the last playoff spot and a crack at the Stanley Cup. Boston has seven games left and New York six.

A Boston crowd of 13,157 saw veteran Joe Klukay lead the Bruins to their shutout over the Hawks with two goals, his 19th and 20th this season. Goalie Sugar Jim Henry was helped to his sixth shutout by goals from Gus Bodnar, Leo Labine, Doug Mohns and Johnny Peirson.

The Bruins also looked good in tying the Canadiens the previous night before a Montreal crowd of 14,410. Maurice Richard scored the goal, his 35th of the season, that earned the Montrealers the split in points. Butch Bouchard and Bert Olmstead were the other Canadiens' goal-getters. The Boston scorers were Dave Creighton, Fleming Mackell and Ed Sandford.

Goalie Harry Lumley registered his 12th shutout as the Leafs tripped the Rangers before a crowd of nearly 13,000 in New York. It tied him with Terry Sawchuk, Detroit netminder, for the most shutouts and brought him within five goals of the Red Wings' goalie in their battle for the Vezina trophy. Sawchuk has had 109 goals scored against him and Lumley 114.

The Leafs scored three first-period goals to beat the Rangers, with Eric Nesterenko, Harry Watson and Jim Morrison counting one each. Tim Horton, who assisted on two of the first-period tallies, counted the final goal in the third period.

Centre Alex Delvecchio scored two goals for Detroit as the Red Wings beat the Leafs before 13,502 fans in Toronto Saturday night. Glen Skov got Detroit's third goal and Jim Morrison accounted for the lone Toronto tally.

The Red Wings were frustrated for 50 minutes by rookie goalie Jacques Plante in their Sunday game with Canadiens. Then Delvecchio, getting his third goal in two nights, and Bill Dineen scored within 23 seconds to turn defeat for the Wings into a tie.

Montreal had swept to a 2-0 lead in the first period on goals by Jean Beliveau and Olmstead.

Expect Change Playing Field For Alouettes

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four football union may shift their home playing field from the Montreal Royals baseball stadium to McGill University's Molson Stadium, it was learned.

President Roy Robertson of the Alouettes announced the near-completion of negotiations for rental of the McGill stadium and said a decision will be made at a meeting of McGill's board of governors Wednesday.

Should the deal go through a spokesman for the university said there would be no Sunday football.

McGill stadium was abandoned by Montreal's Big Four entry in 1946 in favor of the baseball park where floodlights were available and teams could play Sundays.

Seating capacity of each of the two stadiums is about 23,000, but the baseball park is 40 yards short of regulation football length—10 yards on the playing field and 30 yards in the end zones.

Heavyweight Champ Injures His Hand

EDMONTON (CP)—Earl Walls of Toronto, Canadian heavyweight boxing champion, has injured his left hand and won't fight Freddie Beshore of Los Angeles here tonight.

Promter Jack Berry said that Walls' left hand started to bother him last Friday. The hand was treated but failed to respond.

The Edmonton boxing commission ordered Walls not to fight, said Berry.

Beshore now will meet Bobby Volk, 180-pound battler from Portland, Ore., who was to have appeared in a preliminary bout.

Brantford Blind Win Basketball Match

TORONTO (CP)—A team of partially blind students from the Ontario School for the Blind at Brantford defeated a partially blind team from the Toronto branch of the Canadian Institute for the Blind 24-16 in an exhibition basketball game here Saturday.

The only change from regular basketball was the use of a white ball. Each team used one totally blind player at guard.

Gill Duplanri of Brantford was awarded a trophy at the end of the game for outstanding play. The game was the third annual meeting of the two teams here.

Canadians Win On Indoor Track

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (CP) — Canadian students at Michigan universities finished first in two races at the Big Ten indoor track meet Saturday. Illinois won the championship with six firsts including two broken records.

John Ross of Oakville, member of the University of Michigan track team, successfully defended his mile title, stepping the distance in 4:11.2 to beat out Lowell Zellers of Indiana. It was far off his 1952 record of 4:09.4. John Moule of Hamilton, also running for Michigan, finished fifth.

Another Canadian, Michigan State's John Cook from London, Ont., set the pace for half of the mile race before fading.

Cook came back later, however, to win the 880-yard run in 1:54.9.

The two-mile run was won by Jack Wellman of Indiana in 9:25.6. Iowa's Rich Ferguson of Toronto set the pace and was ahead after 1½ miles but then faded badly and failed to finish. Another Torontonian, Michigan's George Lynch defending champion, was never in contention and also failed to finish in the first five.

However, two other Canadians were in the top five, Lyle Garbe of Calgary, running for Michigan State, who finished fourth, and Ron Wallingford of Ottawa, Michigan, fifth.

Jack Carroll of Montreal, member of Michigan's team, finished fifth in the 600-yard race won by Leroy Ebert of Iowa in meet record time of 1:11.4.

3 Teams Jockey For Position In Junior 'A' OHA Playoffs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three teams are still fighting for a berth in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A playoffs. There is only room for two.

By the results during the week-end it could be a toss-up among Kitchener - Waterloo Greenshirts, Barrie Flyers and Guelph Biltmores. All three were defeated Saturday.

The Greenshirts lost 5-4 in overtime to the last-place Black Hawks in Galt; Barrie was edged 5-4 by the league-leading TeePees in St. Catharines and Guelph went down 5-2 to the Cubs in Hamilton. Hamilton's victory clinched them a playoff spot.

In Toronto Sunday the Marlboros defeated their inter-city rivals, St. Michael's College Majors 4-0 and sewed up second place for the Dukes.

THREE HURT

Sunday three players were taken out of the game with injuries and another two were hurt in fights. The victory for Marlboros solved the mastery that St. Michael's has held over them last year but the Irish still hold a 4-3 edge on the season's play.

Ken Linseman, Ken Gribbons and Jack Caffery, all of St. Michael's were injured and didn't return to the game. The latter two suffered leg injuries. Linseman was struck in the face.

Wally Maxwell scored two for the dukes. Others went to Gerry James and Jack Bionda.

WIN IN OVERTIME

Ron Halstead's overtime goal gave the Hawks their victory over the slumping Greenshirts. Ed Switzer led the Galt marksmen with two goals. Singles went to Pete Kowalchuk, Neil McDonald and Halstead. Howie Glover scored a pair for Kitchener, singles going to Bud Horne and Dan Topall.

Hamilton's victory was led by Gerry Sullivan and Ted Reid who each scored twice. Bill Stewart notched the other one. Bill McCreary and Bob Attersley were the Guelph snipers.

The St. Catharines victory was the first game for the TeePees since their 11-day road trip to Quebec.

Barry Cullen and Hugh Barlow each notched two for the winners. Ches Warchol bagged the other. George Raneiri, Dan Poliziani, Clem Mortson and Jim Robertson were the Barrie scorers.

St. Michael's plays at Kitchener tonight.

Hockey Manager Gives Glum Forecast

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — The manager of Canada's world hockey team gave a glum forecast for future Russian-Canadian contests after Russia won the world amateur championship Sunday by trouncing Toronto East York 7-2.

"Perhaps we can handle them some other day—perhaps not,' said Don Preston of Toronto. "But I think if the Russians play like they did on this Sunday of disappointment, it will be very hard to beat them."

I do not want to make any excuse, but fact is, fact—and we lost two of our best players earlier in this tournament, Harold Fishari and Ben Chapman. The latter was our best man in the defence.

"Nevertheless, I think the Soviets deserved to win.

"The only thing I want to say is that the best team won—the best team this day."

Dudley Congratulates Soviet Hockey Team

MIDLAND (CP)—George F. Dudley, secretary - treasurer of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, Sunday offered congratulations to Moscow Dynamos for their 7-2 victory over Toronto East York which gave the Russians the world hockey championship at Stockholm, Sweden.

"We've got to take our hats off the Russians," he said. "Their showing certainly surprised me. They deserve our congratulations on their victory.

Dudley said considerable thought will have to be given to plans for entering future world hockey tournaments. "There's lots of talk about sending a better team," he commented, "but no one tells us how we're going to get a better team over there."

The CAHA official defended the choice of the East York senior B team. "They are a good team, and have made a good showing during the entire exhibition trip and the official games."

Remember When—

Howie Morenz, one of hockey's all-time stars, died of a heart attack in a Montreal hospital 17 years ago today aged 34. The Stratford streak had started with Canadiens in the NHL 14 seasons earlier, and was making a comeback with them when he suffered a leg fracture in a game at Montreal five weeks before his death.

FAMILY-MINDED — Pretty actress Jackie Loughery is slated to get an uncontested divorce from crooner Guy Mitchell in New York City. As to future romantic plans, the former "Miss United States" says she's looking for a man who loves home life and wants 12 children—six boys and six girls.

Missionaries Return To Hong Kong After Imprisonment

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG (AP)— Yugoslav, Belgian, Mexican, German, French, America, Canadian, Czech, Italian, Spanish—quite a few are hungry. Some have chest-wracking coughs or limbs crippled from chains and stone floors.

On summer days they have arrived in fur, that being all they had to wear. On winter days they came in thin cotton shirts. Among them were scientists, professors, teachers, doctors. Some speak six or eight languages.

All share a broken dream.

These are the missionaries who crossed into Hong Kong in the last two years.

A Canadian Roman Catholic bishop under 50 arrived in China in time to sit out the Japanese war. A single year's work found him in the path of communism, then three years of arrest. Now in Hong Kong, he says "11 years in China and I hardly did 10 months' missionary work."

Sunken, feverish eyes gleam as men lean across a table, ignoring the food while they repeat:

"Our Christians are wonderful. Nothing can change them. They are not afraid. They will go to jail, they will die, but they will never follow the Communists."

MIDNIGHT CONFESSIONS

One old man driven from his parish raised goats on a mountain side to live. His Christians crept to his hut at midnight for confession through a slitted bamboo door. Finally the Communists told him to get out.

A Swiss priest, thrown on his own, turned carpenter and worked and lived in a cellar until the Reds, vexed at his refusal to go, threw him out forcibly. He had been 57 years in China and repeated a lifelong pledge when they carried him across the bridge into Hong Kong. "I always said when I left China they would have to carry me out."

Many come out not knowing that Stalin had died or that a war has been fought in Korea. A Yugoslav's passport was issued by Alexander I. A German's passport went back to Von Hindenburg. A bishop didn't know his mother had been dead two years.

Some had lived in China so long they could no longer use knife and fork, had to ask for chopsticks.

One big Irishman said, "Today I saw a fair-haired blue-eyed child, the first in 20 years."

They have come from Tibet with padded clothes still crawling with lice. Sometimes their spectacles were held together by old thread and wire and tape. Some have no teeth, have not seen a dentist in 25 years.

Some bounced on mattresses gleefully, but found they could only sleep on the floor.

These are the men and woman who opened hospitals, schools, orphanages as well as missions in China. They inoculated against disease, built bridges, dug wells, opened fish ponds, set up water wheels, irrigation pumps, worked at forestation.

They made the first cheese in China, brought the first dairy cows to their territories, plated the first grapevine, made the first wine, imported new seeds and fruit trees, set up printing presses.

They have been expelled. They were accused of conniving against the government, spying, killing Communists, being warmongers, revolutionary chiefs, keeping children out of the Communist party, killing babies, poisoning wells, running secret radios.

In January, 1951, there were 3,222 of them in China. Today there are 229.

These facts are from a record kept by Rev. Paul Duchesne, Framingham, Mass., who has met at the border hundreds of those expelled, and from the notes of Associated Press correspondents who have talked to scores of them.

Amateur Pilots Fly Gold To Jungles

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — Amateur pilots in tiny private planes are flying some of the world's most valuable cargoes over bandit-infested Malayan jungles in gold and payroll airlifts.

Singapore payroll accountants and the Raub Mining Company asked the Royal Singapore and the Kuala Lumpur Flying Clubs to carry the valuable freights for them. The companies found that cheaper than paying for armored cars and strong escorts to travel the hazardous roads.

In Singapore the flying club takes wages to rubber, palm oil and pineapple plantations in the state of Johore at the southern end of the Malaya peninsula, probably the most dangerous terrorist area.

The pilots drop sturdy bags of money into small jungle clearings on plantations where guards wait. On some of the biggest plantations the monthly payroll amounts to $112,000 all dropped by light plane.

Stage Surprise For Congregation

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The Rev. Charles Lewis of Trinity United church Windsor staged a surprise for his congregation Sunday morning.

He uttered one line of his sermon on the church of Corinth when a voice bellowed from the congregation that they would rather hear about the church in Windsor.

The show was pre-arranged but the congregation loved it.

In a rapid-fire series of questions and answers Mr. Lewis outlined his program for a new church building and told his flock their average income is $2,460 and they had $54,000 worth of cars parked in the street outside.

During the afternoon, 70 canvassers started his drive for a $20,000 building fund with a bang.

Famous Surgeon Took 10 Years To Write Book

TORONTO (CP) — That Dr Wilder Penfield, OM, had written a book wasn't out of the way. What stirred the literary world this month was that it was fiction.

Dr. Penfield, director of the Montreal Neurological Institute and Canada's best known neuro-surgeon, seemed completely tied up with a brilliant medical career with hardly a moment to call his own. Nevertheless, he produced a historical novel. It took him 10 years.

"No Other Gods" (Little, Brown) is the vivid story, based on Dr. Penfield's personal researches in Mesopotamia, of Abraham's search for the true God and his assumption of the leadership of the Hebrew nation about 1900 BC. It is the story, too, of Sarah, Abraham's half-sister whom he later wed and took with him on the great migration of the Jewish nation to the promised land of Canaan.

HISTORICAL STUDY

It is a tale of adventure, love and revolt. Dr. Penfield says in the preface: "It is also a study of the evolution of a great leadership and the beginnings of a people unique in history." As the author puts it, the plot is based on the assumption "that the pattern of men's behavior has not changed very much in 4,000 years."

Abram, later called Abraham, was born in the Sumerian city of Ur among a people that worshipped 499 idols. A priest of the moon god Nannar, Abram could have had untold wealth and high position had he chosen the Princess Shub, given to Nannar as bride by her father, King Rim-Sin. But Abram, breaker of idols, topples Nannar from his pedestal and flees into the hinterland in his search for the one God. There he finds God—and love for Sari, Sarah of the Bible.

"No Other Gods" is fulfilment of a promise to Dr. Penfield's mother. Jean Jefferson Penfield had spent 15 years writing a novel about the life of Sarah but she was not satisfied with her work. Three months before she died in 1935 Dr. Penfield took her manuscrip and her notes and promised to finish the story.

10-YEAR TASK

The manuscript lay untouched in his desk for eight years. Then, on a wartime visit to Iraq, he came upon records of the forgotten city of Ur and he remembered the unfulfilled promise. It took him 10 years to complete the work, writing in longhand on sheets of foolscap whenever he had time. In the end, nothing of his mother's text remained in the manuscript.

He says:

"I tried to keep the halves of my double life separate by only working on the book when I was on my holidays or laid up. I guess I wasn't laid up often enough—it took 10 years to finish."

Dr. Penfield is the only Canadian to hold the Order of Merit, limited to 24 living persons and awarded to those who have given "exceptionally meritorious service towards the advancement of art, literature and science." Another work of his is to be published soon, "Epilepsy and the Functional Anatomy of the Human Brain," prepared in collaboration with Dr. Herbert Jasper.

Lawrence H. Brown of Lindsay has received $850 from the Edward Kylie Trust Fund which he will use for post-graduate work in modern history at Oxford University. He is a student at the University of Toronto. Mr. Kylie was a native of Lindsay and some of his relatives live in Peterborough.

ONE ACCIDENT

A car owned and driven by M. J. Young, 19, of Ennismore received about $125 damage early today while backing out of a lane at 78 Sophia St. The driver told police his brakes failed to hold and he coasted across the street hitting the corner of the house at 83 Sophia St. Damage to the house was estimated at $30. PC Ed Patterson investigated.

UE OFFICER SPEAKS

George Harris, secretary-treasurer of the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America (Indep.) in Canada, will speak to UE members tonight on organizing a committee to deal with workmen's compensation and unemployment insurance. Mr. Harris is in charge of this phase of union activity. Later he will address a joint steward and executives' meeting.

HIGH COMMISSIONER OF INDIA, His Excellency R. R. Saksena, guest speaker at today's Peterborough Rotary Club luncheon, spoke to members about India's foreign policy. Side Ripped Off Car, Woman Hurt

Autos Sideswipe Passing Near Port Hope

A Toronto woman was kept in Civic Hospital overnight Saturday after being injured earlier in the evening in a two-car crash on Highway 2 at Roseberry Hill.

Mrs. Earl Warner, 54, of 61 Isabella St., was hospitalized with back injuries and a large bruise on the upper part of her left arm. She was released Sunday.

Mrs. Warner and her husband were driving east along the highway when they came into a sideswipe collision with the westbound car of Douglas Campbell, St Catharines. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

The whole left side was torn out of the Warner car. Mr. Warner accompanied his wife to hospital in Peterborough. He and Campbell were only shaken up.

The accident occurred at 8.05 p.m at Roseberry Hill which is between Port Hope and Newcastle.

Later Saturday night two cars were damaged in another two-car crash on a slippery road in Hope township, north of Port Hope.

Alex Carruthers of Garden Hill was driving west up a hill (known as Dean's Hill) when his car skidded, slewed sideways and was struck by an eastbound car driven by Jack Ogden of RR 1, Newtonville.

Damage was extensive to both cars but neither Carruthers nor Ogden was injured.

OPP Constable Oy Meadows of Cobourg investigated both accidents.

Musicians Ready To Compete In Festival

The 8th annual Peterborough Kiwanis Music festival will open Tuesday morning at St. Peter's auditorium and will continue through Saturday. This year sections of the festival will be held at St. Andrew's church and Queen Mary school as well.

The program tomorrow will be entirely non-musical, consisting of choral, verse, public, and modern and Shakespearian drama speaking. The large percentage of entries in these classes are from Peterborough and Port Hope. Mrs. Michael Meiklejohn, of Ottawa will adjudicate.

The two musical adjudicators this year are Ronald Biggs and Frank Odell, both of England.

Mr. Biggs, making his second appearance here at the Kiwanis festival, is a member of the BBC audience panel and an examiner for the associated board of Royal Schools of Music. Mr. Odell has the conductorship of the South West (London) Choral Society and has conducted in Belgium, France and Sweden. He is a member of the Royal Society of Musicians and on the central board of the British Federation of music festivals. Mrs. Meiklejohn has been active in the Ottawa Little Theatre group, and is well known throughout Canadian theatre circles.

A large percentage of the entries are made up of pupils from the surrounding districts with applicants from as far away as Toronto. Other towns substantially represented are: Lindsay, Port Hope, Campbellford, Cobourg, Fenelon Falls, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Madoc, Kingston, Millbrook and Norwood.

St. Peter's auditorium will be used March 9 and 10 with the addition of St. Andrew's on the 11th. All activities will again be centred at St. Peter's on the 12th and 13, and the final three dates (evenings only) will be located at Queen Mary's auditorium.

This year's accompanists are Mrs. G. Wilson Craw and Norman Hurrle. The executive are, president, Bob Bastable, chairman, Norman Armstrong and secretary, Mrs. A. M. Rees.

Family Lost Everything In Moscow Apartment Fire

"We've lost everything," young Jim Johnson told The Examiner today. Mr. Johnson, his young wife, Joan, both 23, and their three small children barely escaped with their lives when fire gutted a four-family apartment house in Moscow, 20 miles from Napanee Sunday morning.

Sadly assessing the total loss from refuge at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Johnson of 791 Donegal St. in Peterborough, Jim Johnson said the flames spread too quickly for anyone to do anything about them.

"I was in bed at 9:45 when I told my wife to quit burning the pancakes," Jim Johnson recalled. But the young couple soon realized that the smoke was not from their new heavy-duty range, but from the fuse box in a dugout just off the vestibule.

HALL BLAZING

The hall was a blazing inferno. There was no back door to the building, a reconverted 90-year-old stone schoolhouse, and the four families appeared trapped as flames raced along beaverboard partitions.

"Suddenly the women from across the hall, (Mrs. Leslie McCallum) raced out and was trapped too. I broke open a window in my apartment and passed two other children and my three through."

Meanwhile Mrs. James Friars upstairs was supervising the evacuation of the second-floor apartments. The McCallum's three-year-old daughter was upstairs, but was thrown from the window to the snow 16 feet below. Then she and her three children, along with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Carrol and their six children escaped. Mrs. Friars' husband was in Petawawa at the time.

Mr. Johnson was on the last day of his leave from Petawawa, where he had recently been posted from Kingston. He was due back Monday morning, but wired his commanding officer that he could not be in Petawawa on time.

"The children weren't even dressed," said Joan Johnson. "We had no time to gather up clothes, furniture or anything else after we saw the fire. My oldest boy's biggest worry was that he lost his brand-new rubber boots."

The Johnson have three children, Johnny, three; Jimmy, one year; and Judy, two months. Mrs. Johnston is a native of Peterborough, the former Joan Wood of 186 Lake Street.

SAVED RADIO ONLY

On the way out Mr. Johnson grabbed a small portable blue radio, its frame badly warped by the heat. This is all they were able to retrieve. Said Mrs. Johnson: "We had recently bought a heavy duty range, a bedroom suite and a refrigerator. Everything we owned, even our clothes, is gone, and there was no insurance to cover any of it."

Since he was not yet out of bed, even Mr. Johnson's uniform of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps is gone and he will have to report back to camp in civvies.

This has been a pretty grim year for Jim Johnson. In January he was driving a station wagon which turned over, injuring him and damaging the vehicle. Only two weeks age he broke his arm playing hockey for the Moscow team. Said he: "There's not much else that can happen."

The building, which is the centre of Moscow village was a total loss. A volunteer fire department from Enterprise, nine miles away, was able to save only an adjoining shed. Moscow has a population of about 125 and is in dairy country north of Napanee.

Edward Manning Veteran Main Streeter

One of Peterborough's oldest main streeters employed in George St. stores all his life, Charles Edward Manning died Sunday at Civic Hospital. He had been ill nearly two months.

Mr. Manning was born 84 years ago in Smith township, son of Charles F. Manning and his wife, Elizabeth Graham. He worked for years as a clerk with Albert H. Stratton in books and stationery, in the present premises of the Chown Hardware; transferred to the A. W. Cressman Co. in drygoods and men's wear, with whom he was employed 37 years and was finally with Canadian Department Stores and Eaton's.

Mr. Manning was educated at the old Central School, played lacrosse with the YMCA in its first years here, and was a member of St. Andrew's United church. The last of four brothers, he leaves his wife, the former Lily Jane Lee, one daughter, Marion E. Manning at home and his son, Gordon, of Anchorage, Alaska. He was a member of Peterborough Lodge No. 111, IOOF 62 years.

The funeral will be Tuesday at 2 p.m. from the F uneral home, George St., to the Lake cemetery. The services will be conducted by Rev. H. Cotton.

$100,000 Gift To Assist Cancer Research

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. Jean Bouchard, president of the National Cancer Institute of Canada, announced today it has received a donation of $100,000 from the Canadian tobacco industry for support of research into problems related to lung cancer.

The board of directors will administer the fund, and the announcement said any grants made from it will come under the same regulations as any other grants-in-aid of research awarded by the institute.

At the same time Dr. Bouchard announced that the board has recently made grants totalling $436,000 for cancer research work this year in laboratories across Canada. Some 60 cancer research projects will be supported at a cost of $395,000 and research fellowships totalling $41,500 have been granted to 13 scientists who are devoting all their time to cancer research.

Dominion Store Staffs Get New Benefits

TORONTO (CP)—A new contract which will give employees additional benefits amounting to more than $500,000 annually has been signed between Dominion Stores and the Retail, Wholesale, Department Store Union (CIO).

Jack Piper, international representative of the union, said Sunday night about 1,000 employees in 52 Ontario stores in Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls, St. Catharines, Burlington, Thorold, Oshawa, Belleville and Peterborough are covered in the agreement.

Will Consider TV Application

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC board of governors will consider applications to establish a television station at St. John's, Nfld., and a new radio station at North Vancouver, B. C.

The board announced today that the Newfoundland applicant is Newfoundland Broadcasting Company Ltd., operators of radio station CJON.

The board's April 2 meeting also will consider two applications for use of television channel 12 at Peterborough. The applications by Kawartha Broadcasting Company Ltd. and Herb May, Toronto radio personality, were deferred from a previous board meeting. Kawartha includes Senator W. Rupert Davies and Roy Thomson, both of whom have wide radio and newspaper holdings.

The review undertaken every three years of broadcasting licences expiring this year will begin in April.

Before making recommendations to the government on renewals, the board will consider performance records and technical matters referred to it by the transport department.

10,000 hp Motors Power Dredges Uncover Iron Ore

Two of the largest hydraulic dredges ever built will be powered by six 10,000 hp motors made at Peterborough works of Canadian General Electric Co. They will be used to remove millions of cubic yards of silt covering iron ore deposits in the Steep Rock Lake area north of Lake Superior.

The motors, largest ever built in Canada, switchgear and control will be worth more than $1,000,000.

Caland Ore Co., a Canadian subsidiary of Inland Steel Corp. has leased the area around the eastern arm of Steep Rock Lake from Steep Rock Mines. It plans to start production of iron ore in 1960 at the annual rate of 3,000,000 tons.

The dredging of the clay and silt that covers the ore bodies is to be carried out by Construction Aggregates Corp. of Chicago."

A CGS report says competition from U.S. firms was severe. "Negotiations which began in October last year were brought to a successful conclusion only as a result of complete co-operation between all parties concerned, including the products department and Peterborough engineering."

Among those contributing to the engineering "and performing an outstanding job" were Bill Messervey, Bill Fanjoy, John Inculet, G. Herzog and Bill Waye."

The big dredges will be assembled on the spot at Steep Rock.

HAVE SIX MONTHS

"As it is planned to have them operating before freeze-up, Peterborough works has a six months dead line to meet for delivery of the large motors and slip regulators."

For the last three years Caland Ore has been exploring the extent of the deposits of iron ore in the area it has leased. Working in the winter, crews drilled through the ice on the lake to take samples of the ore. A substantial tonnage, approximately 50 million tons, has been proved.

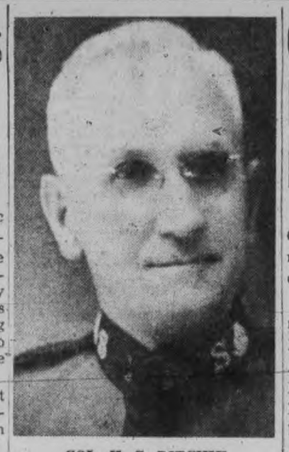
"All the ore will be shipped from Port Arthur to the plant of Inland Steel. It is at present supplied from the Mesabi range, now becoming depleted. The Steep Rock development has another attraction for Inland Steel in that Port Arthur is 120 miles nearer the Inland Steel plant than is Superior, Wis., shipping point for ores from the Mesabi range."

Forestry Club Members Get Trip To Toronto

Students of Lakefield 4-H Forestry Club who finished their assigned project last years are getting a reward of a trip to the Sportsmen's Show in Toronto on Friday. Ken Best of the Department of Agriculture is in charge of transportation.

The boys and girls who will have a day at the big sports show are: Orvis Barcroft, Barbara Barcroft and John Weiss of Lakehurst; Ron Mace, Burleigh Falls; K. H. Tedford, Young's Point; Rachel Guthrie and John Guthrie of Rockcroft; Harry Hamilton and Arthur Hamilton of Lakefield RR No. 2; Barry Sheward, Peterborough RR No. 4; Andy Wilson Lakefield, RR No. 3; Fred Dixon, Lakefield RR No. 1.

McNulty Kept 28 Days In Solitary Confinement



Members of Frank J. McNulty's family are presently in Edmonton in connection with the planned investigation into the polio-stricken prisoner's detention and treatment. McNulty pleaded guilty to an arson charge concerning a fire in the Salvation Army hostel there and received a three-year penitentiary term.

"My brother had no legal counsel," said his brother, John J. McNulty. "We have since filed an appeal against the conviction."

"We would like to know why he was taken to Fort Saskatchewan jail. Also, we want to know why he was kept in solitary confinement there for 28 days, without exercise.

"We want to know why he was kept at the jail for four days after he developed polio before he was removed to hospital."

Alberta officials explained that McNulty was transferred to the provincial jail because an appeal was entered.

COL. H. C. RITCHIE

Col. H. C. Ritchie Salvationist Dies Age Of 73

A high-ranking officer of the Salvation Army with 46 years of active service in various parts of Eastern Canada and Bermuda, Lt.-Col. Harold Clifton Ritchie, 73, died suddenly late Saturday evening at his home at 615 Walkerfield Ave., where he lived in retirement for the past four years.

A native of Dartmouth, N. S., Lt.- Col. Ritchie joined the Salvation Army as a field officer in 1900 and served in various capacities until his retirement in Hamilton, Ont., in 1946, after serving as divisional commander of the Hamilton division for 10 years. He lived in retirement in Hamilton for four years before moving to Peterborough four years ago.

Lt.-Col. Ritchie had also served as divisional commander in Bermuda, Halifax, Sydney, N. S., Toronto and Winnipeg. For several years he was divisional young people's secretary in London, Ont., and St. John, N. B. He was a member of the Peterborough Ministerial Association.

BORN IN NOVA SCOTIA

A son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Ritchie of Dartmouth, N.S., Lt.-Col. Ritchie is survived by wife, the former Amy Gertrude Brackett; two daughters, Mrs. John McColl (Pearl) of Peterborough and Miss Ruby Ritchie of Toronto; one sister, Mrs. (Major) Thomas Ellwood of Toronto and three brothers, Percy, John and Thomas, all of Dartmouth, N.S.

The body is at the Kaye funeral home. Funeral service will be held from the Salvation Army Temple, Simcoe St., Wednesday at 11 a.m. with Commissioner William Dalziel of Toronto officiating, to Mount Pleasant cemtery, Toronto, where burial will take place in the Salvation Army plot at 3 p.m.

Prospectors Re-elect Viola MacMillan

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Viola MacMillan today was re-elected president of the Prospectors and Developers Association, a post to which she has been re-elected annually since her first election in 1944.

Cyril T. Young was elected vice-president and Fred Jowsey secretary. All live in Toronto.

Other members of the executive include:

W. J. Wiltsey, Noranda, Que.; Jack Brady, Timmins; Len Brookbank, Matchewan; Gordon Miller, Norval; Alex Mosher and Fred Thompson, Haileybury; Martin Shunsby, Sesekinika; Walter Blair, T. J. Boylen, Wilfrid C. Caldwell, William Dennis, Evan Donaldson, Robert Jowsey, Gilbert LaBine, Jack Macfarlane, George A. MacMillan, Joseph McDonough, Murdock Mosher, Harold Musselwhite, Joseph Rankin, Peter Roche and Jack Woods, all of Toronto; and Roy Ranson, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Committee Men Inspect Kingston Arena

A group from the Memorial Centre general committee journeyed to Kingston Sunday to look over the arena there.

The group included the chairman, D. A. McGillis, and Mayor Norman Graham, Ald. Stan McBride, Ald. Gordon Powell, Frank Buckland, Alfred Barber, Lionel Browne, Harold Dormer and Robert Hamilton, secretary.

The arena was completed four years ago at a cost of approximately $750,000. It is of steel construction with cement walls and a roof of laminated wood. It seats about 4,200.

IN EXHIBITION GROUNDS

Like the Memorial Centre proposed for Peterborough, the Kingston arena is situated in the exhibition grounds and is used as a show ring for livestock during the annual exhibition. The building does not have a permanent floor. A board floor is placed over the ice or freezing pipes when the arena is used for any other purpose than skating.

"We were impressed by the Kingston arena," Mayor Graham told The Examiner today. "It is a good arena for skating and hockey. But we felt it wasn't adequately equipped to provide recreation for younger children. It lacked any facilities of that kind."

The Peterborough group were met at the arena by Mayor George C. Wright of Kingston, who showed them the building and afterwards conducted them on a tour of the city hall. Host at lunch in Kingston was Mr. McGillis.

Peterborough's
Finest Assets

A Message From The Mayor:

The welfare of Peterborough is my chief concern — as I am sure it is yours. Everything and anything that can be done to help our people — to safeguard their lives, to make more comfortable their existance, to free them from fear and uncertainty, is our constant endeavour.

To this end I am commending to all citizens the Red Cross and Community Fund Campaign.

Receive the convasser cordially and cheerfully when he or she calls this week. Remember, every canvasser is a volunteer serving the community, free, on his own time. Give once but give adequately — the cause is good — the need is great

N. GRAHAM, (Mayor)

SUPPORT YOUR Community Fund
UNTIL YOU FEEL GOOD ABOUT HELPING OTHERS

A donation to the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund is your best way to help families . . . to keep homes together. It is the best way to help the sick, the handicapped, and to provide youth with good character building activities. This single "Once a Year" community appeal is a simple, sensible, and the most economical way to raise the money needed for community services. Fortunately Peterborough has one of the lowest percentage and per capita costs for these essential civic services. An audited statement issued yearly, assures each and every contributor that this money is put to maximum use without any waste. So give gladly -- and feel good.

Crosby Intends Take Things Little Easier

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—For many months, friends have been saying that Bing Crosby plans to ease into retirement. Today he gives some support to those statements.

"I have about five or six more pictures to make for Paramount," he says, adding with a laugh, "that should be about enough for me."

You can't always determine a trend by a Crosby remark. He tosses 'em off with the greatest of ease and declines to be pinned down on anything. But he left no doubt that he favors a slackening of pace.

"I've always said that my favorite kind of picture would be one that opened with a shot of me sitting in a rocking chair on a front porch. The rest of the picture would be what I saw."

His current film is his biggest dramatic challenge to date, but he said it is also one of his easiest chores. He is acting in the film version of the Clifford Odets play, "The Country Girl." The part is that of a faded, alcoholic stage star who has a last chance to regain theatrical fame.

ALWAYS TALKED ABOUT

Grace Kelly plays his suffering wife, and William Holden is the stage director who tries to mold him back into shape.

"They have to do most of the work," Bing said. "I'm the one they're always talking about."

I found Bing more relaxed and happy than I have ever seen him. He sat on a stool and chatted volubly. I asked him if there were any pictures he would like to do.

"Not right now," he replied. "Three years ago, I wanted the studio to get 'Guys and Dolls' for me and (Bob) Hope. Paramount owned part of it, but sold out for $65,000. Now I read the asking price is up to $750,000! (Sam Goldwyn bought it for a million.) I wish we could have done it here.

'ROAD' FILM QUESTIONABLE

"I don't know if Hope and I will do a 'Road to the Moon.' We should have done it a couple of years ago. Since then Abbott and Costello have done a space picture, and Martin and Lewis will probably get in the act, too. Who knows?

"I've always wanted to do a picture with Judy Garland. We've done a lot of radio programs and army shows together, and I think she's the greatest female talent in town. As a matter of fact, I think she's the greatest talent, male or female."

Bing will hit the half-century mark May 2. Part of his slowdown may be due to his physical shape. He admits he has a kidney condition, but he has no plans for an operation, as has been rumored.

Re-introduce Old Uniforms

KINGSTON (CP) — Traditional scarlet tunics and pill-box caps caps have been authorized again for Royal Military College cadets, Defence Minister Claxton announced Sunday.

Mr. Claxton, speaking at a church parade during the anual RMC-West Point week-end, said the decision to re-introduce the traditional uniform was "a well-deserved reward for the progress made in cementing the tri-service traditions of the army, navy and air force."

He said the old uniform was withdrawn when RMC was re-established after the Second World War because there was some fear that it would not be acceptable to navy and air force traditions.

This danger no longer exists, Mr. Claxton said.

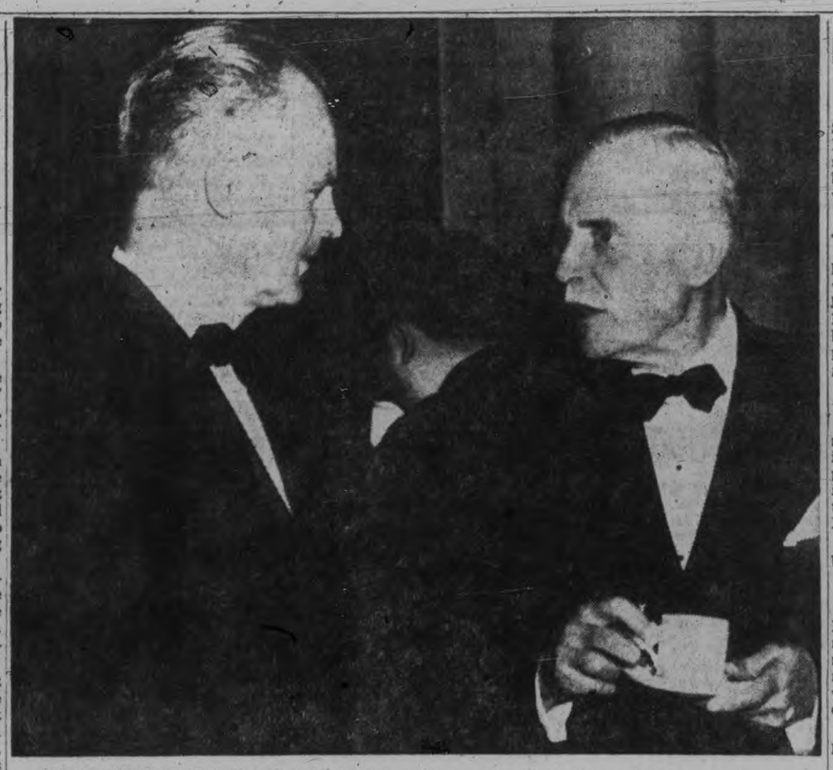
Before the Second World War, RMC was an army, not a tri-service college.

Dog Run Over, Kicked

HAMILTON (CP) — Police said they were told an automobile struck a dog owned by John McCormack of St. Catharines, then was backed up and driven over the dog again. Police said they were told the driver then got out and kicked the dog, whose owner was visiting his parents here. Bernard Gallant, 23, of Toronto, was charged with reckless, careless and drunken driving.

Physician Dies

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. George H. Ellis, 82, who practised medicine in St. Catharines and Chesterville, died here Saturday. He was one of seven living graduates of the 1896 class of McGill University. Born in the Ottawa district, Dr. Ellis came to Toronto after retiring in 1936.



English Professor Dies

SWANSEA, Wales (Reuters)—Professor W. D. Thomas, 64, who came to Swansea University College from the University of Saskatchewan 33 years ago, died here Saturday. He was professor of English language and literature at Swansea—the first man to hold the post.

Manufacturers Fighting New-Car Bootlegging Racket

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT (AP)—American auto manufacturers have begun a fight on new-car "bootlegging," but they expect the job to be a tough one.

Some industry experts are speculating that the manufacturers cannot maintain present production levels and kill off bootlegging at the same time. Some say car bootlegging has been with the industry for many years and is not likely to be halted in any era of high inventories.

Despite several production cuts the United States factories already have built approximately 1,000,000 cars this year. That's an annual rate in excess of 5,500,000.

The manufacturers say the new car market in the U. S. can absorb that number of cars this year. Most dealers disagree with them.

The retailers put the 1954 retail market volume at closer to 4,500,000.

Until the manufacturers stepped into the bootlegging fight there appeared to be some misunderstanding as to just who was the bootlegger. Many persons seemed to believe it was the used-car dealer buying franchised dealer's surplus new cars.

But the letters the manufacturers sent to their dealers made it plain that they are holding the franchised retailer responsible for the growth and continuance of car bootlegging.

While there is some slight variation in the process, car bootlegging follows much the same pattern in all sections. A new-car dealer with more cars than he thinks he can sell at list prices finds someone, usually a used-car dealer operating in some other city, and offers them at reduced prices.

The buyer takes them to his home area and sells them, still below list price, in competition with the established new-car dealer in that area. The deal helps one retailer unload his surplus but it also takes business away from another franchised dealer handling the same make of car in another territory.

In the regular course of his business the franchised dealer gets a mark-up of as much as 25 per cent on a new car. While the sizeable mark-up gives the franchised dealer a substantial working margin, it also makes it possible for more than one retailer to make a profit on the sale of the same car.

Rhee Says No Alternative But To Attack North Korea

By RELMAN MORIN

SEOUL (AP)—Some months ago, Syngman Rhee, president of the Republic of Korea, rose at sunrise and hastened eagerly to Chinhae, "the bay of tranquil waters," with a new fishing rod.

It was expensive, a gift from John Foster Dulles.

Rhee, as passionate in fishing as he is in everything, had no luck with the new rod. Finally, even his monumental patience ran out. He flung the rod in the scuppers, borrowed a Korean line from a passing fisherman, and promptly got a bite.

Here is the kernel for an Oriental allegory.

For more than 50 years, Syngman Rhee has been angling in international waters for the independence of Korea. He has had immense assistance, in blood and treasure, from the United States. Every day he is getting more.

But the great golden prize is still beyond his reach.

INSISTS ON NORTH

The Panmunjom armistice left Red China in possession of the northern half of Korea. Rhee will never agree to the loss of the north. As to the south, he says vivisection condemns it to slow death, economically.

Further, he says time and his patience are running out.

What can he do? "Attack and take the risk," he says.

Without American support? "All we ask is ammunition and gasoline . . . But anyway, there is no alternative."

Is he serious about this? He has said it before. Most of the people around him, Korean and American, believe he is bluffing. "People say so," he said. "But I am not bluffing."

If he tries to retake the north, he risks the loss of all Korea. His army, though as it is, could not hold up indefinitely against the overwhelming weight of the Chinsents the United States with a painful problem:

1. Go to his aid again with United States soldiers, or
2. Let the Chinese overrun South Korea.

AWARE OF DILEMMA

This would be the American dilemma, and Rhee understands it perfectly.

So the question is, what will he do.

If Syngman Rhee were a less complex personality, the answer might be easy. But he is not.

On the one hand, he is a consummate politician, tough, crafty and eminently practical. Yet, he met torture and suffering like a Christian martyr, having brought them on through his own acts in prison.

He has mountainous patience, but when he moves he is swift and daring. While he is emotional, and tears come easily to his eyes, he also is calculating. Most of the time, he is gentle and tender as a child; then comes the moment when he blows through the roof and spreads terror through his aides.

FOUR TIMES FRUSTRATED

Four times, after four wars, Rhee saw the rosy hope of independence for Korea. Four times he saw it fade.

After the Russo-Japanese war, Japan formally annexed Korea.

After the First World War, Woodrow Wilson — under whom Rhee studied at Princeton—evoked the doctrine of self-determination for all nations. It was not extended to Korea, however. Korea remained a Japanese colony.

After the Second World War the Japanese went but the Russians came. They set up a Communist state in North Korea and barred the border.

After Panmunjom, the Russians were gone, but Red China had moved in. North Korea is still a Communist state, or, as Rhee says, a Chinese colony.

Through most of these years, Rhee was in exile. However—and this is the mark of his skill as a politician—he was able to maintain his position as the leader of the expatriates, against all competitors and all rival factions. When he did come back to Korea, he came back as the strong man.

Fish Specimens Found In Rock Nearly Two Miles Underground

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Where would you look to find a brand new fish, perhaps the rarest fish in the world?

Or where would you look to find a huge, ferocious cat with a great curved tooth?

The answers are part of the surprises of archeology and paleontology, of making discoveries which help tell us how the world used to be.

The fish was found nearly two miles underground, by the luckiest of chances, during the digging of an oil well in east Texas.

All that remains is the outline of its skeleton, impressed in rock. But it apparently is a previously unknown type of primitive fish, dating back some 60,000,000 years, says Dr. John A. Wilson, associate professor of geology and vertebrate paleontologist of the University of Texas.

It was a delicate, minnow-sized fish. Dying, it fell to the muddy bottom of some ancient, long-gone sea. The sea bottom sank, new sand formed over the top, the skeleton became entombed in shale.

When an oil well is dug, corings or foot-long cylinders of rock are brought up at intervals for examination by a geologist for various tell-tale signs of oil. One coring was pulled up from a depth of 9,369 feet. And geologist E. J. Reynolds of the Humble Oil Company just happened to break the rock at a point to expose the skeleton of the fish.

10,000 YEARS OLD

Had the well been started at a place a few inches from where it was begun, if Reynolds had not happened to break the coring at that particular point, the fish would have been missed.

The cat, 10,000 years old, was discovered during explorations directed by Dr. E. H. Sellers of the Texas Memorial Museum in a cave northwest of San Antonio. The cave entrance apparently collapsed during the ice age, trapping animals inside.

The big skeleton is the first complete one of the great cat, dinobastis, which roamed what is now the southern United States. As big as an African lion, it was six to seven feet long, stood nearly four feet high, had a curved tooth four inches long.

It was monarch of the animal kingdom, able to whip any other animal except perhaps the great mammoths or elephants of that time.

Near the big cat were the first skeletons ever found of kittens of this type of animal. And nearby were bones of a baby elephant, perhaps dragged home by the hunting cat to feed its young.

The skeletons are being reconstructed here in slow, painstaking work.

Re-bury Bodies Of Nazis

HAMELIN, West Germany (Reuters)—The bodies of 30 Nazi concentration camp killers have been moved from their prison-yard mass grave at Hamelin for reburial, Lower Saxony state officials report.

The remaining 61—of a total of 91 war criminals, including Irma Greese, the "blond beast" of the notorious Belsen camp — will be shifted to individual graves within the next two weeks.

The removal of the executed criminals' bodies were kept top-secret to avoid "unpleasant political demonstrations," officials said.

First reports of the reburials earlier this week brought indignant protests from Jewish spokesmen, and Socialist members of Parliament in Britain promised to bring the question up for debate in the House of Commons.

The 91 criminals were convicted of atrocities against civilians imprisoned by Hitler. Most of the convicted were staff members at the Belsen, Ravensbrueck and Nueengamme concentration camps.

Saxony officials allowed no relatives to be present during the exhumations from under the courtyard where Hamelin prisoners take their exercise.

The state government agreed to move the bodies after relatives complained that the location of the mass grave made it impossible for them to put flowers on the place of interment.

Church Leader Dies

AMHERST, N.S. (CP) — Archdeacon Charles R. Harris, 72, leader of the Anglican Church in the Maritimes, died here Sunday after a short illness. Born in Charlottetown, he had several charges throughout the Maritimes and was pastor at Parrsboro, N.S., for 30 years. He was made Archdeacon of Truro in 1945.

"He did it—so can you!"

"Frankly, I joined the RCAF for a change and adventure—but that soon became secondary to the value of the training and experience. Actually, I started in Ground Crew—in the meteorological branch. But I wanted to fly, and at the first opportunity I re-mustered to Air Crew; and was selected for pilot training. During my pilot's course, I got plenty of good, solid flying instruction—literally from the ground up—and then I won my "Wings."

TANK CARS CRASH—One railwayman was dead and five square miles of farmland was covered with octane gas Saturday after a spectacular train wreck near Waterdown, Ontario. Two runaway tank cars exploded and burned while two others crashed over three miles away. One whole acre of farmland was flooded inches deep by the gasoline and 15 farm homes were endangered, for one spark would have set off another holocaust.—(Federal Newsphoto).

Spectators Flock To See Rail Accident

HAMILTON (CP)—The wreck of four runaway tank cars and a railway caboose Saturday killed one man and slightly injured another.

An inquest into the spectacular mashup that brought death to brakeman W. C. Arnold of St. Thomas and slight injuries to another brakeman, R. A. Phillips of London, will be held here Friday.

A huge column of black smoke billowed from blazing gasoline which partly flooded surrounding farmland at nearby Waterdown.

Police and firemen roped off the area during the week-end to keep residents and spectators out of the danger area. However, many persons turned back in their attempt to drive to the spot hiked miles to get near the wreck.

The tank cars were part of a train being shunted near Waterdown on the Hamilton-to-Milton line. The section of the train broke away and an attempt to make a "bump coupling" only added to their speed.

Conductor C. P. Collins of Toronto and brakeman Phillips jumped from the caboose as the locomotive and caboose reached the point where two tank cars were derailed. It is believed Arnold tried to throw on the brake as the caboose struck a projecting wheel truck. He died of a crushed chest as the caboose overturned and pinned him.

Two other cars continued on down the tracks for about a mile before hurtling into an embankment.

Firefighters required several hours to bring the flames under control.

LAWRENCE BEDORE

CHARLES CLEMENS

Deloro Friends Join Navy

MARMORA (ENS) — Two youths who attended Deloro Separate School and later Marmora High School have joined the Canadian navy for five years of duty. They are Lawrence Bedore, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bedore and Charles Clemens, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clemens, both of Deloro.

The former hopes to take up radar work with his second choice being that of a gunner.

His chum has chosen the duties of a stoker. They enlisted at Kingston a month ago and are now attached to HMCS Cornwallis at Cornwallis, Nova Scotia.

300 Students Attend Christian Fellowship

MONTREAL (CP) — Three hundred university and high school students from Ottawa, Kingston, Quebec, Sherbrooke and Lennoxville, Que., attended during the week-end the 17th annual Montreal rally of the Inter-varsity and Inter-school Christian Fellowship.

The rally started Saturday with discussion groups led by Rev. Eli simmonds of Orillia, Ont., Dr. A.C. Hill of Sherbrooke, Miss Margaret Bradshaw of Toronto and D. V. Gonder of Montreal.

France-Viet Nam Discuss Possible Treaty

PARIS (AP)—France and Viet Nam today opened talks designed to lead to a treaty of limited independence for the war-ravaged Indo-Chinese state.

Premier Laniel and Prince Buu Loc, Viet Namese premier, occupied the honored seats as the negotiations opened this morning. Later, technical experts are expected to take over most of the work.

Laniel said France hopes an association can be developed as the base for great material and moral aid for each other. But such an association could be developed more fully in time of peace.

Buu Loc said the spirit of liberty should govern relations between the two and for Viet Nam "its liberty signifies that in the concert of nations it must become a state fully independent and sovereign."

CAN'T STAND ALONE YET

Nothing more than an agreement on the principles can be reached during the present talks.

Large areas of the state are controlled by the Communist-led armies of the Vietminh. The Viet Namese government still needs financial help from France for its civil functions. And the United States is supplying the money for training and equipping its army.

France has put one big condition on the grant of independence to Viet Nam—that it remain linked to France through the French Union.

Hockey Defeat "Catastrophe"

TORONTO (CP)—Russia's victory in the Stockholm world hockey championships was a "catastrophe for Canadian hockey," Lionel Conacher, one-time National Hockey League great, said today.

"We can't weep about the Russians beating us 7-2, but we can do something about it in the future," he said in an interview. "We can send to Europe exactly what we've got, and that's the best hockey players in the world, or we can stay right out of these championships."

Conacher, voted Canada's outstanding athlete of the half-century in a CP poll in 1950 and Liberal member of Parliament for Toronto Trinity, said the Russian triumph was more than just a hockey victory.

"Its propaganda value cannot be estimated in my opinion.

"Canadian youngsters are brought up to believe that we have the best hockey players in the world. They know only that the Russians beat us, but they don't realized they beat a fifth-rate Canadian team."

Morocco Baker Slain

CASABLANCA, Morocco (CP)—A terrorist riding a bicycle shot dead a Moroccan baker and wounded his brother as they stood in front of their shop in the Arab quarter here today. The terrorist escaped.

Three Youths Charged With Stealing Car

Three youths were remanded one week on charges of auto theft in magistrate's court, today. Bail was set at $1,000 in each case.

The charge was in connection with a car stolen from Duffus Motor Sales Co., on February 21. The accused are: Robert Smith, 17, of 514 Water St.; Lorne Lee, 19, of RR 1, Norwood, and Gordon Jessup, 18, of 463 Stewart St.

The three were apprehended in Windsor the next day on a charge of stealing oil and gas from a Chatham service station, and, when arrested, found in possession of the car alleged to be the one stolen from Peterborough.

Four Die In Exercise

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Heavy seas swamped a convoy of amphibious Australian Army vehicles during a pre-dawn exercise today. Four soldiers were drowned and four others are missing. The accident occurred off Port Stephens on Australia's southeast coast 90 miles north of Sydney.

Wolves Devour Priest

VIENNA (Reuters) — Several near-starving wolves have recently been shot in the suburbs of Bucharest, according to travellers arriving in Austria from the Romanian capital. They quoted reports that a priest was devoured by a pack of wolves in a Transylvanian village.

Anxiety Felt Queen's Safety

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Rumors that the royal visit to western Australia might be cancelled increased today following reports of 22 new cases of poliomyelitis in Perth during the last three days.

In a letter published today in the newspaper West Australian, a Perth doctor says: "It is up to us, the people to suggest the cancellation of the royal tour.

"Although a sacrifice, it would safeguard the well-being of our Royal Family and of our own fellow beings."

Changes in the program for the western Australian part of the tour by the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh have already been announced.

But no official move has been made suggesting that the tour might be cancelled.

A Community Fund Agency

St. John Ambulance Corps Always Where Needed Most

This is the last in a series of articles telling of the work of the 10 societies which are making their annual appeal for financial aid in the Red Cross and Community Chest drive. With your generous help the vital services each of these organizations is always ready to perform will continue for another year in full operation. The campaign which starts today needs $100,000.

The familiar black and white uniform of the St. John Ambulance Corps has been around Peterborough since 1929. The organization itself was founded in Jerusalem in 1099, to minister to Englishmen wounded in the Crusades. This makes it the oldest, as well as one of the most useful, charitable organizations in the world dedicated to the service of humanity.

The unofficial membership of the St. John Ambulance in Peterborough is probably well up in the thousands. These include all those who have been trained in first aid and home nursing, and who used this valuable training to help, and often to save the lives of others. Last year 184 individuals received first aid training from the St. John Ambulance while the Nursing Division gave training in home nursing to 35 Peterborough women.

This organization has a knack of being everywhere. Last year, throughout Ontario, the provincial brigade gave emergency medical treatment at the rate of one every half hour, day and night—20,000 persons in a year.

If all the specialized work done in countless scenes of need had to be paid for, and if fees were charged for all the training facilities of the St. John's Ambulance, the costs would be staggering.

PAYING DEBT

At the Community Chest's dinner Friday night, theme speaker Don Henshaw said that we should not think we are "giving" to the ten agencies of the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign, but rather attempting to pay back a debt. From a purely economic point of view, this is especially applicable to the St. John Ambulance. The cost of their work would be completely prohibitive if the corps were not strictly voluntary.

It's a cold medical statistic that many, many lives are saved by on-the-spot treatment. Doctors, operating on a crowded schedule, often can get to scenes of accidents only in time to confirm that an injured person is dead. Basic aim of the St. John Ambulance Corps is not to displace the medical profession, but to supplement it.

It's also a cold statistic that more accidents take place in factories, on highways, on city streets, in the home and any place where crowds may be expected. Let's look at each of these five in relation to the work of the Peterborough detachment of the St. John Ambulance Corps.

Teams of instructors invaded such places as Westclox, Canadian General Electric and DeLaval to show workers how to treat their specialized accidents. Corps workers were also on hand at large picnics held by these firms, taking care of all manner of scrapes, cuts and bruises.

CONCENTRATE ON INDUSTRY

Industry has been long a focal point of the Corps' activities, not only because so many accidents take place in factories, but because these accidents are often of the type which require immediate treatment, such as tourniquets around smashed arms, if the victim is to survive.

At the present time two first aid classes are being held in Nephton, the home of the American Nepheline Co. Another 32 are enrolled in the senior first aid class in Lakefield, and 28 in Norwood. The donations of Peterborough citizens to the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Chest will, among other things, ensure that more of these classes will be held where needed.

From the practical point of view on industrial accidents, the chairman of the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Board has paid glowing tribute to the St. John Ambulance Corps. He directly credits St. John training with lowering the province's workmen compensation rates.

On the highways, St. John maintains 70 outposts. During the summer traffic peak, we have all seen crews of senior medical internees cruising the roads in St. John ambulances speeding to accidents. And even if the St. John is not on hand, members of the Ontario Provincial Police undoubtedly will be, OPP officers who have been trained by the St. John Ambulance.

The St. John Ambulance is not invariably on hand for accidents on city streets. But the organization has trained thousands of police officers, firemen, bus drivers and others who, by virtue of their duties, are on hand day and night to care for the sick and injured.

A man collapses on a downtown street, and he is soon surrounded by a gawking band of grandstand quarterbacks who reminisce about how their wife's grandfather took ill on the main intersection of Podunk Corners in 1909. But the one who does something practical about the victim, gives him first aid and directs him to hospital, is either a St. John Ambulance corpsman or one who has been trained by the corps.

BOOK AVAILABLE

A book that should have its place on housewives, bookshelves along with the cookbook is a compact little black book which lists what emergency measures must be taken for those who suffer accidents in the home.

No one is going to let an injured relative expire without trying to help him. The aim of the St. John Ambulance corps in the home, then, is not simply to see that first aid is administered correctly. Over and over again, the book stresses that home first-aiders cannot substitute for the doctor, but only take emergency measures which will make things safer for the patient and easier for the doctor until professional help arrives.

You should have a copy of the St. John first aid book, but if you have not, it should be remembered that it is better to do nothing at all than to do the wrong thing. Lives have been lost by maladministered first aid.

Imagine a huge sports's arena of 20,00 persons—an arena of 20,000 in which each and every one is injured. Then you may have a picture of the St. John Ambulance's great work at all functions where crowds are expected.

MANY JOBS

In Peterborough, the corps was on hand last year at the water-ski meet, the motorcyle meet, the Boy Scout jamboree, the Peterborough Exhibition and many other events. People passed out due to the press of crowds, or due to heat prostration and a bewildering variety of minor injuries was treated by the Corps at these events.

Life saving is another function of the Peterborough corps. Nurses at St. Joseph's Hospital have been taking instruction from a Corps resuscitation team on the new method of artificial respiration, the Holgar Neilson method. A group in Lakefield will also get benefit from this instruction, and the corps is particularly interested in hearing from any who may wish to see a demonstration.

St. John Ambulance work in Peterborough is under the general direction of a committee headed by Gordon Munro. Committee members are Canon Walter Gilling, Herbert R. Cranford, Thomas Lister, James G. Wharry, J. F. Haldimand, Harry Pounder, Miss Florence Vickers and Dr. L. J. Calvert.

Dr. Calvert is also the commanding officer of the corps itself, which is further subdivided into two ambulance divisions and a nursing division. Nursing is under the direction of Mrs. Vickers. Membership of the three divisions is in the neighbourhood of 80.

The Kawartha ambulance division was organized two years ago to take care of overflow from the Peterborough division, in existence since 1929. The two divisional heads are Clarence Bacon for the Kawartha and Harold J. Huff for the Peterborough.

Given One Year In Reformatory

Harold J. McCausland, 20, of 87 St. Patrick St., Lindsay, was sentenced to reformatory for one year definite and one month indefinite by Magistrate W. R. Philp today.

McCausland pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering into Fannings' Launderers and Dry Cleaning Ltd., in court last Monday after police discovered him in the building on the previous Saturday night. He was remanded for sentence until today pending investigation into his record.

The court learned that McCausland had received a two-year suspended sentence for a similar charge in May of 1952 when he broke into a Lindsay establishment. Magistrate Philp, in view of his previous conviction, told McCausland he could not expect another such light sentence.

"You have the opportunity of learning a trade at the Guelph reformatory . . . and suggest you make use of this chance," said Magistrate Philp.

Boy, 15, Found Drunk On Street

PORT COLBORNE (CP)—Police found a 15-year-old boy intoxicated on a Port Colborne street Saturday. Investigation led to two other boys, 15 and 16, said to have been drinking wine.

Jerry Maddalena, 33, was charged with selling liquor to a minor.

Plan N.Z. Oil Probe

NEW PLYMOUTH, N.Z. (CP)—Geologists are planning to investigate the potentialities of New Zealand's only oil-field — under the city of New Plymouth. The wells along the city's sea front have produced nearly 5,000,000 gallons of oil since 1948 and the new check is intended to see if this can be increased.

Coin Sale Set Record

CAIRO (Reuters) — The sale of ex-king Farouk's valuable collection of 250,000 coins here has yielded $816,000 — described by auctioneer Peter Wilson as "the highest total of a single sale of coins held during the present century." Collection was particularly strong in United States and French coins.

PROTESTS TRAILER

York Pomeroy addressed the council with reference to James Hoard's intention of placing a trailer on his property next to Mr. Pomeroy's home and moving a building on the lot for a garage. Mr. Pomeroy was of the opinion both would be a fire hazard and an eye sore.

The council referred the matter to building inspector R. W. Hall.

A communication was read from the Workmen's Compensation Board, regarding medical aid for the Fire Brigade and coverage of fire fighters. The clerk was authorized to write the W. C. B. for figures on rates for compensation.

CHIEF HALL'S REPORT

Complains and occurrences, 18; articles reported lost, 1; articles recovered 1; fire reported and extinguished by fire department, 3; transients given a night lodging, 2.

Chief Hall made a request for two pairs of uniform trousers and three shirts. The council gave Chief Hall permission to purchase these articles.

Fire Chief Bell informed the council that no definite information was ready from the Belmont council on fire fighting equipment.

The accounts passed included the following. R. W. Hall, salary and transportation $225 municipal garbage, $135; D. A. McMillan, salary, $120; Mrs. M. Puffer, telephone, $6.60; repairs, adding machine, $5.00; R. FOUND GUILTY—Nat Holman, famed basketball coach of City College of New York, was found guilty of "conduct unbecoming a teacher and neglect of duty" by the Board of Higher Education. They voted that Holman "be dismissed" from the faculty "unless within 30 days he files an application for service retirement."

French Play Wins Trophy

MONTREAL (CP) — "Le Roi David," an original play in French, Saturday won the Calvert trophy as the best production in the western Quebec drama festival.

Adjudicator Graham Suter of England chose the play by French-Canadian author Jean Filiatrault minutes after it was concluded, after viewing eight plays during the week-long festival.

"Sleep of Prisoners" presented by the Everyman Players was runner-up.

"Le Roi David," a lengthy dramatization of the age-old story of David and Bathsheba was performed by the group known as La Nouvelle Equipe. It is written in the tightly-knit classical French drama form of Corneille, Racine and Moliere.

Northern Survey

FLIN FLON, Man. (CP) — Federal Mines Minister Prudham said at a banquet here that aerial survey of the Northwest Territories will be resumed in 1954. About 57,000 square miles of the Keewatin area were mapped in 1952 and this year's work is expected to cover 60,000 square miles.

Song-Writing Hobby Takes Precedence

OTTAWA (CP) — Clarence C. Charters' hobby is getting out of hand.

The 54-year-old night watchman at Ottawa's Chateau Laurier hotel has written folk songs and poems as a hobby since he was a boy, but it didn't interfere with his job until the last few months.

Now one of his songs, "Isle of Campobello," has been recorded by Canadian ballad singer Earl Heywood, and requests for permission to use the song have come in from as far as Australia.

"This thing is developing so fast that I won't be able to keep up to it," Mr. Charters said in an interview. He added that he is considering hiring a secretary to keep up with his correspondents.

Mr. Carters, who was born in Midway, N.B., near Moncton, first attracted attention with his song "When it's Summer at Green Gables," which he wrote in 1941, the year he came to Ottawa.

In his 30 years as a hotel worker, he has been employed at hotels in Edmonton, Vancouver, Jasper, Alta., and Charlottetown as well as here and it was from his years at Charlottetown that he drew the material for "Green Gables."

DREW AUTHOR'S INTEREST

It attracted the attention of the late Mrs. L.M. Montgomery, author of the well-known novel set in the Charlottetown area, "Anne of Green Gables." Her publishers were the first to print Mr. Carters' song and it has since been recorded.

Mr. Charters, a soft-spoken bachelor who walks with the aid of a cane as a result of a hip fracture suffered in his youth, also has written several travel pamphlets and 13 other songs.

The music for one of them, "Jasper Lullaby," along with "Campobello" he set to music with the collaboration of Toronto songwriter S. B. (Whitey) Hains.

Therapists Meet

EDINBURH (CP) — Canadians will be among delegates to the first international congress of the World Federation of Occupational Therapists here next August. The world group, formed in 1951, aims to promote international co-operation among occupational therapy associations.

Students Receive Awards Lakefield Commencement

LAKEFIED (ENS)—The commencement exercises of the Lakefield District High School were held Friday evening.

Principal J. E. Stephens addressed the gathering briefly, as did the chairman, Chester Hamilton.

As a demonstration of PT, the girls constructed a number of pyramids and the boys idsplayed their skill at boxing. The junior boys performed on the parallel bars. A group of lower school girls sang a number of songs "Around the Camp Fires" and also danced two folk dances.

Norman Cowan, top student of Grade 13, gave the valedictory address and was later presented with a certificate and a cheque for $50 by Mrs. T. W. Chaplin from the Catherine Parr Traill chapter, IODE.

DIPLOMAS

The diplomas to successful students were presented by Mr. Hamilton as follows:

Intermediate certificates—Ann Wilson, Pauline Fitzgerald, Isabelle Fulton, Evelyn Freeburn, Helen Henessey, Ruth McFadden, Betty Jane Rath, Meredith Ross, Joan Snider, Elaine Tanner, Noreen Wease, Holly Tucker, Edith Whetung, Dianne Webster, Carol Peters, Phyllis Tedford, Ken Darling, Andy Wilson, Harry Everett, Roger Jackson, David Lean, Don Lebeau, Ron Mace, Ken McCauley, Glen Tucker.

Prayer Service Addressed By Rev. Smith

LAKEFIELD (ENS)— Speaking on "The Nature of Prayer," the Rev. Gilbert Smith of St. Giles' Presbyterian church, Peterborough, addressed the World Day of Prayer service in St. Andrew's church on Friday afternoon.

Basing his remarks on the text, "We ought always to pray and not faint", Mr. Smith pointed out that God does not always answer our prayers as we ask, but they are always answered, and in the way that is best for us.

The service was adapted from one prepared by the late Dr. Sarah Chakko of India and had as its theme "That They May Have Life." Mrs. William Blewett of St. Andrew's church was the service leader.

The act of penitence was taken by Mrs. Wallace Hendren of the Lakefield Baptist church and the words of assurance by Mrs. Glenford Murphy of Grace Gospel Hall.

OFFER PRAYERS

Mrs L J. Delaney of St. John the Baptist Anglican church led in the prayers of intercession. Others offering prayers were Mrs. Harold Dunford, Mrs. Earl Orr, Mrs T. W. Chaplin, Mrs. J. Findley, Mrs. Kenneth Sweeting and Mrs. H. C. Wolfraim.

A solo was sung by Mrs. George Downing, accompanied by Miss Jean Clark. Miss Clark also played for the service.

The offering was received by Mrs John Blakely and Mrs. Bruce Preston. The act of dedication was conducted by Mrs. H. J. Brown of the United church.

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Horace Kaye.

In Vienna, Adkins is described by his superior officers as "mentally disturbed." He vanished from the American zone of Austria last January.

Movie Reformer Dies In U.S.

SULLIVAN, Ind. (AP)—Will H. Hays, 74, who led a pre-depression clean-up of movie morals after uniting the Republican party behind president Warren G. Harding, and served 24 years as so-called czar of the motion picture industry, died in the quiet of his home here Sunday.

A Republican national chairman before he was 40, he kept an interest in politics till death, though a heart ailment had made him an invalid since October.

His success in uniting the party brought a landslide victory for Harding in 1920, and Harding named him postmaster-general.

Hays left the cabinet job in 1922 to clean up the Hollywood film industry, then under a cloud of movie-colony scandals. He served 24 years as the $150,000-a-year president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America.

Though he retired from the Hollywood job in 1945, the "Hays Office" code of good taste in movies remained entrenched until recently, when signs of rebellion began to appear.

60 Witnesses To Testify In Babies Racket

NEW YORK (CP) — More than 20 New York couples said to have bought babies in Montreal at prices ranging from $3,000 to $10,000 were to make "voluntary" appearances today at closed-door hearings before a special inquiry board, four of whose members came here from Montreal during the week-end.

Ernest A. Mitler, an assistant to district attorney Frank Hogan, said he would "give the press, in a general way, what is disclosed by witnesses."

The plan is for the transcript of the testimony to be taken back to Montreal for use at trials of two lawyers charged in connection with the illegal adoptions.

Judge Gerald Almond of Montreal, however, said "of course we will have to censor" Mitler's statements.

Mitler had no comment on the Montreal jurist's statement.

Other members of the Canadian group who arrived Sunday are crown prosecutor George Hill, crown attorney Jules Arsenault and Myer Gross, counsel for one of the Montreal defendants. Joseph Cohen, counsel for the others, was expected to join the rest of the commission for today's hearings.

Local authorities have withheld comment on possible action against parents of the "black market" infants, but Canadian officials have said that the identity of buyers will not be disclosed and that they will be allowed to keep the children.

The two Montreal defendants, Herman Buller and Louis Glazer, were arrested Feb. 11 after investigations in which both Mitler and a New York city policewoman Theresa Bogatta, took part.

"Father's Party" Held At Kawartha By Trinity Mothers

Members and friends of the Baby Band Mothers' Association of Trinity church entertained their husbands at the annual "Fathers' Party" at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club Friday evening.

Decorations for this event, made under the direction of Mrs. H. Gray, were particularly effective. The 17th of March theme prevailed. A large shamrock centred with a spray of pink roses was the centre of attraction. Top hats, with large guilded shamrocks as their background, and tipping showers of shamrocks leaves and blossoms were to be found everywhere, intermingling with sprays of pink roses.

Music was supplied for round and square dancing and Mr. R. Huffman acted as master of ceremonies.

Prizes, made by the dance committee went to the following persons: door prize, Mr. Glen Taylor; elimination dance, Mrs. A. Bell and Mr. D. Tanney; birthday dance, Mrs. V. Skitch; spot dances, Mr. and Mrs. H. Coon and Mr. and Mrs. S. Constable.

Greive-Adams Wedding

ROSENEATH (ENS)—A lovely wedding was solemnized at Roseneath United church Saturday afternoon, when Barbara Gene Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adams, Roseneath, became the bride of William Greives, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Greives of Cobourg. The Rev. J. R. Wheeler officiated.

Traditional wedding music was played by Miss Shirley Bennett of Havelock and she also played accompaniment for the soloist, Mr. Victor Hewson of Cobourg, who sang, "I Love Your Truly", preceding the ceremony and "O, Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

Baskets of yellow daffodills and ferns decorated the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was in a gown of white nylon net and lace over satin, deep rows of scalloped nylon lace featured on the skirt, the bodice fitted with long sleeves tapering to points at the wrist and a demure collared neckline. Her veil of nylon net was held in place with coronet of pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of deep red roses and baby's breath.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Clifford Page, sister of the bride, with Miss Lavigne Parker and Miss Lorna Brisbin as bridesmaids. Their gowns were styled alike of nylon net over taffeta with matching mittens and headdress. Miss Parker's dress was maize nylon net and taffeta, Miss Brisbin's pink, and Mrs. Page wore ice-blue.

The groom's attendant was his brother, Walter Greives of Cobourg.

Ushers were Neil Adams of Oshawa and Clifford Page of Cobourg, brother and brother-in-law of the bride.

A reception for 70 guests was held at Maple Lodge, where the bride's mother received, wearing a navy ticatina crepe dress with navy accessories. The groom's mother assisted, wearing grey taffeta with black accessories. Both wore corsages of Johanna-Hill roses.

For their wedding trip to the states, the bride donned a wine gabardine suit, navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Before leaving she presented her bouquet to her 83-year-old grandmother, Mrs. T. Adams of Fenella.

The couple will live in Cobourg.

Slim Toe Used On New Pumps

The slim toe is used in a series of leather pumps on high slender heels. It is also shown on a closed toe with halter sling back, as well as mule type vamps. The open toe with the pointed sole and the wide open look will also be seen in a series of banded and stripping sandals and flats.

Shiny surfaces will play an extremely important role. In addition to the traditional 'black patent leather, you'll see bronze and gunmetal in calfskin and kid leathers, and irridescent pastel kidskins as trims for daytime and all-over for evening wear.

You'll see the new tropical lightweight leathers in many soft-construction flats. One we liked was a navy calf pump trimmed along the outside shank in pearl buttons. Another in beige calf leather had matching lacing around the thoat.

Day Of Prayer Held At Warsaw

WARSAW (ENS)—The World Day of Prayer service was held in the United church Friday afternoon.

Leaders were Mrs. Harry Clements, Mrs. Dyson and Miss Helen Tedford. The theme was "That They May Have Life". Mrs. Hawthorne was pianist.

Prayers were given by Mrs. Tom Davis, Mrs. David Rose, Mrs. Harold Payne, Miss Tedford, Mrs. Selkirk and Mrs. Edwards.

Mr. Dyson gave a short address on the theme.

Mrs. Hawthorne sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Taylor. The offering was received by Miss Clara McCracken and Mrs. B. Cooper.

The closing hymn was followed by the benediction.

Coiffure Creators Adapt Mobility In Spring Styles

Hair styles for spring and summer will continue to accent the fluid but controlled lines that made news last fall. This comes straight from New York's top coiffure creators.

The future points to femininity without frivolity, neatness without severity, individuality without affection. It would seem that standards of styling in this era of short hair are finally well established.

A key word in the current trend is mobility. We saw it in last year's Italian cut. Since that much-publicized hairdo offered nothing beyond movement in all different directions, its popularity was shortlived. However, it did herald a new direction in styling.

In the past year stylists have been adapting the mobility of the Italian cut to the North American look. The results have been notable.

Our stylists have tempered the mobility with considerable restrain, giving us a look that is at once free and controlled, sleek, and fragile.

And, because mobility remains the key to the styling, the possibilities for variety are limitless.

For spring, stylist Henry of New York is taking his cue from the fashion world and accenting youth.

SUPPLE LOOK

"Even the sophisticated slim fashions have a supple rather than a slinky look," Henry pointed out. "And of course," he added, "the Empire waistline and the princess line are most important.

"So, to complement these styles I have introduced the Botticelli angel cut. It features individually placed half curls that have a flankly sentimental feeling. And, like a little girl's, they are carefully combed."

The chop-chop cut and the Nina are also among this stylist's spring and summer innovations.

The fluidity of the new mode of hair styling is most evident in the first, which falls into a new pattern at the command of the brush.

To create this cut, Henry shapes and molds the hair to the head in layers. Consequently, he says, this casual style never loses its "just brushed" neatness.

The Nina cut is Henry's interpretation of sophistication for spring. The smooth, precise cap from crown to nape is softened by a few strategically placed kiss curls at the forehead and over the ears.

Informality Is Keynote Of Art Centre's School

Canadian Press Staff Writer

STE. ADELE, Que. (CP)—Against a background of mountains and hotels a summer visitor in this Laurentian resort may see ballerinas pirouetting or choirs rehearsing in the open air.

It's all part of Ste. Adele Art Centre's summer school, which last year attracted some 250 students from Canada and the United States.

Keynote of the summer school is informality and classes may end up in some of the most improbable places. There is no homework, no exams—one day a class is on a hillside putting nature on canvas, the next day the artists become ballerinas and go through ballet steps on the lawn of a hotel.

The art centre was founded some eight years ago by a bored Ottawa vacationist, Pauline Rochon. Miss Rochon, now the centre's director, found time dragged in the little centre, 50 miles north of Montreal. Cultural courses would be just the thing, she thought.

In 1946, in co-operation with Ste. Adele community officials and art lovers from the Montreal district, courses in weaving, art and ceramics were offered to the public.

Today, 10 courses, spanning a six-week period from mid-July until late August, can be taken for an average of $40 each. Included in the curriculum are French and English diction and literature, woodworking, decorative sewing and ballet.

Instructors are mainly drawn from the ranks of professors and teachers in French-Canadian classical and beaux-arts schools in the Montreal area.

Miss Rochon, who also teaches at the centre, spends the winter months travelling through the southern United States, visiting similar institutions and picking up all the know-how she can for her project.

This winter she is in Florida attempting to arrange an interchange of students and ideas with a Palm Beach art group.

While Miss Rochon is away, however, a handful of instructors from the summer group travel to Ste. Adele Saturdays to give lectures and classes to district children on ceramics, arts and wood carving and weaving.

Funds for the venture come from a number of sources, mainly course fees. The Quebec government, however, does meet certain deficits.

Twice weekly during the summer season concerts are given or educational films shown to attract new students, as well as bringing in needed money for the centre.

Now Many Wear FALSE TEETH With More Comfort

PASTEETH, a pleasant alkaline (non-acid) powder, holds false teeth more firmly. To eat and talk in more comfort, just sprinkle a little PASTEETH on your plates. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTEETH at any drug counter.

Painful cramps of "Monthly Periods" halted or strikingly relieved in 3 out of 4 cases in test by doctors!

Lydia Pinkham's has a quieting effect on the uterine contractions (see chart) which often cause menstrual pain!

• Women and girls who suffer from those functionally-caused cramps, backaches and headaches of menstruation—who feel upset and irritable on certain "particular days"—may often be suffering needlessly!

Such is the conclusion from tests by doctors in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave complete or striking relief from such distress in 3 out of 4 of the cases tested!

Modern in action!

Yes! Medical evidence shows Lydia Pinkham's Compound is thoroughly modern in action. It strikes directly at the cause of menstrual pain!

The effectiveness of Lydia Pinkham's needs no proof to millions of women and girls. But how about you? Do you know what it may do for your period?

Take Lydia Pinkham's through the month. See if you don't get relief from the pains and weakness of "those days"! See if you don't feel better before and during your period!

Get Pinkham's Compound or new, improved Tablets with added iron. Both are grand too for "hot flashes" and nervous feelings of "change of life"!

Don't suffer needlessly when relief may be so near!

DOROTHY DIX

Wavering Maiden 'Loves' Present Beau But Harps On A Youth Who Is Wed

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to a boy I've dated for a year. He's 22 and I'm 20. He loves me very much, and I'm quite sure I love him. However, before I met him, I was in love with Bud, who was in service. When he got out of the Army, his mother invited me to visit her (they live in another state). During my short stay, everyone in the family was most kind. I saw Bud just a few times after, then the dates dwindled, and soon I heard nothing from him. Finally, I wrote and received a letter from his mother saying he was maried. She seemed disappointed and intimated that she would have liked me for a daughter-in-law. Now, Bud is still so much in my mind that I am constantly hurting my fiance, though I am always very sorry later. I keep comparing the two men, — to my fiance's disadvantage. It's been a year since Bud's marriage, and I just don't seem to be able to get over it. Florence K.

ANSWER: Your first move, it would seem, would be to break your engagement. First, because, while you claim to be in love with your fiance, your emotional fidelity to another man certainly belies it. Also, you're being very unfair to a devoted beau to belittle him in your own mind with the constant comparisons to Bud.

If there is any love between you and the man you now plan to marry, you'll kill it yourself by having him live up to your conception of a devoted sweetheart. Bud is a person in your past; at best he should have only an incidental part in your thoughts, instead of which he is monopolizing them. One thing that keeps him so much on your mind is your correspondence with his mother, which you should stop. Perhaps she is disappointed in her daughter-in-law, and would have preferred you in the role. However, the past is over and done with. Both she and you must face and live with the present.

FORGET THE PAST

Your confusion is likely to lose you a fine husband. Aside from being young for marriage, your fiance seems to be a splendid person, whom you would be foolish to give up for the chimera of a past love. You didn't lose much time in becoming engaged after Bud's marriage, and I don't think you really gave yourself a chance to make the necessary adjustment. Take the time now, before you hurt someone else.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I belong to an organization which holds weekly dances. One of the women in the group who takes care of the cloakroom often asks my husband to help her when things are rushed. I resent this and have told him so. He says I'm in the wrong. P.L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It's quite customary for members of a club to help each other on social occasions, and, unless there's more to the story than meets the eye, I can't see you are right. If the cloakroom is periodically rushed, you might suggest at the next meeting that the lady in attendance be given regular help—preferably another woman.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My mother, who was left a widow several years ago, is the most wonderful woman in the world. She worked hard to raise my sister and me. Now that I am working I want to give her every possible comfort. I'm 19 and my friends say I'm foolish to give Mom most of my money. She is truly an unselfish person and doesn't want me to give her as much as I do. Rush.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I wish I could have printed all your long letter. It is a wonderful tribute to a wonderful mother. You are certainly right in your desire to help your Mom all you can. If she doesn't want to take as much money as you offer, put some of it in a bank against a rainy day—or for a very sunny day when you'll be able to enjoy it for something special.

Film Strip Shown At Church Service

NORWOOD (ENS)—The church women of Norwood filled the Norwood Pentecostal church Friday afternoon for their observance of the World Day of Prayer.

Leading in the service of worship were Mrs. H. Rusaw, Mrs. J. Starke, Mrs. B. Baker, Mrs. C. Cuthbertson, Miss Ellis and Miss P. Weir. Mrs. C. C. Copp, who gave valuable help on the World Day of Prayer committee, was unavoidably absent.

The six prayers of intercession were offered by Mrs. W. Bitten, Mrs. I. Sexsmith, Miss Ellis, Mrs. J. Gardner, Mrs. G. Baptie and Mrs. J. McConnell.

The film strip "World Day of Prayer Around the World" was shown, with Mrs. J. W. Johnston reading the script and offering a short concluding prayer.

Miss Martha Lowndes sang a solo. The offering was received by Mrs. H. Clark and Mrs. C. Woodcock.

Omemee Group Hold Meeting

OMEMEE (ENS)—The Family Friendship group of Bethel United church held a supper meeting at the church. Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Finley were in charge of the devotions.

Mrs. Finley gave a paper "Your child's heritage of faith" concluding with a poem. Mr. Finley read a passage of scripture and a hymn was sung. Mrs. William Chatten was pianist.

It was decided to organize a junior congregation under the leadership of Mrs. Dean Wellman and Mrs. Cecil Miles. The children were entertained with games while the dishes were done by the adults.

This group is unique in that the whole family goes to the meeting with someone appointed to look after the children.

Of Interest to Women

COLLARED—All dressed up with no place to go is Ch. Astron Silver Star. Model Patti Lynne had the pooch fixed up with a fine fur piece that matches the one she wears. She figured it would be cute to have him on stage with her at a fashion show at Rickey's Townhouse in San Francisco. But pure food laws prohibit the dog from entering the restaurant. So he had to wait outside while Patti did the fashion show alone.

Kukukuku Not Stutter But Savage Papua Society

WASHINGTON — To Americans the word Kukukuku may have a slightly comic ring, but to many of the far-away natives of North-East New Guinea and Papua, Kukukuku sounds out the ominous name of a simple but savage society.

The Kukukukus — "mountain people" — are primitive, so much so they knew no metal until it was brought in from the outside world.

Although similar in habits to Europe's Neolithic Stone men, today's Kukukukus lag even behind those early people in cultural development. The arts of pottery and basket making, handed down many thousands of years, never reached the Kukukukus, says the National Geographic Society.

JUNGLE ISOLATION

The isolation of these natives of the Trust Territory of New Guinea is emphasized by a fact of contemporary geography: The inhabitants of the New Guinea Wahgi River area only 200 miles to the northwest make use of decorative arts — but not the Kukukukus.

Only in recent years when gold miners, naturalists and armed officers of the Australian Government penetrated the mountain jungle did the Kukukukus obtain steel blades to replace their stone axes.

Even now they cling mostly to their stone implements, sometimes wielding them to hack the forest for a place to raise sweet potatoes, sometimes to club their enemies.

The Kukukuku are dark skinned and of short stature. Few are more than five feet tall. In addition to primitive farming, they feed themselves by trapping small game in pits, shooting fish with wild sugar cane arrows, or simply raiding a neighbouring village.

Warfare is frequent among the three divisions of these people — the Manki, the Nauti and Ekuti—though relations have improved to the point where wives are sometimes intersold.

BAMBOO AND BARK

Bamboo stalks provide the Kukukukus with bowstrings, pipes, water containers, knives, torches and framework for their grass houses. Split-reed or grass aprons, fore and aft, clothe men and women alike. Women sometimes wear an apron strung from the neck.

To ward off sun and rain, both sexes wear cloaks of pounded bark cloth. These are suspended from the head on a long tuft of hair.

The wealth of the women is indicated by their shell necklaces, strings of teeth, or bird bones. Men wear ropes of such ornaments over a shoulder and beneath the opposite arm.

Bleached bones — sometimes those of vanquished enemies — are carried at the waist. Noses pierced with sticks or bones offer proof of the wearer's initiation into manhood.

Gorgeously plumed birds-of-paradise live in the same country as the Kukukukus. Currently, the National Geographic Society has an expedition on the island of New Guinea to study and photograph the rarer birds-of-paradise. It is led by E. Thomas Gilliard of the American Museum of Natural History.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Calla Lilies And Spiced Beef

You people are wonderful. No more do I print one little line of a request for help for someone than I'm snowed under with your helping-hand letters.

Mary J. asked for Calla Lilies —a cone-shaped cookie in which whipped cream or ice cream is served. Mabel S. asked for spiced beef.

My thanks from all of you. Most of the Calla Lily recipes that you mailed to me were the same as this

CALLA LILIES

(a cornucopia-shaped cookie for holding whipped or ice cream)

Three eggs, 1 cup white sugar, 1 cup flour (some of the recipes you sent say ¾ cup sugar and 1 cup sifted flour), 1 tablespoon milk or water, 1 teaspoon each baking powder and vanilla. Beat eggs well, add water or milk, then beat in sugar gradually until light and foamy. Sift together the baking powder and flour and add them and the vanilla and beat until smooth. (One of your recipes says to use 1 teaspoon cream of tartar and ½ teaspoon soda instead of any baking powder.) Onto buttered cookie sheet drop by tablespoonfuls (some recipes say drop by teaspoonfuls) and bake 5 minutes in 400 deg. oven if dropped from teaspoon but a little longer if from tablespoon but do not overbake or cookies will not fold over to form lilies. Care must be taken in removing the cookies from the tin pan as they stick as soon as they cool, but when reheated come off easily. They may be fastened into shape with a toothpick until they cool. Just before serving fill with sweetened whipped cream in centre of which place a small strip of orange or lemon peel for stamen. If you place the cookies with folded side down to cool, no toothpick is needed.

Valerie M. says "My husband had Spiced Beef at a stag party and enjoyed it so much that he asked for the recipe." This is the method:

SPICED BEEF

(for Mabel S.)

Purchase a round of beef weighing about 20 lbs. Boil together 1 gallon water, 1 oz. salt petre, 1 lb. common salt, 1 lb. brown sugar, 2 oz. whole cloves, 1 oz. whole pepper berries, 1 oz. allspice, 1 bunch (stick?) cinnamon, handful bay leaves. Boil all together 10 minutes. When it is cool put in large stone crock, put in the round of beef and leave for 20 days turning the meat over each day. At the end of that time take out of liquid (which may be thrown away) and put meat on to boil in boiling water for 2 hours. It is wise to put something under the meat when boiling so as not to have it resting on the bottom of kettle—to avoid burning. Let it remain in water until cold. When cold wrap in wax paper, and then a cloth around to keep it moist. Slice very thin when serving. (Most recipes recommend simmering for 4 to 6 hours.)

SPICED BEEF NO. 2

(14 lbs.)

(This is from Mrs. J. F. S. who says that if Mabel S. would like the recipe for 25 lbs. she will send it to her, or tell her anything more she would like to know about it.) 14 lbs. beef, ½ lb. white sugar, 1 oz. powdered salt petre, ¼ lb. ground allspice, ½ lb. coarse cooking salt. Rub sugar into beef with the hand (not a spoon) and let stand 12 hours. The rub in with the hand the salt petre and allspice and let stand 12 hours longer. Then rub in salt the same way. Turn daily rubbing the dry mixture into it again at each turning, for 2 weeks. This forms a lot of juice. Let meat stand in cold water for a few hours. Take the meat out and dry well with a clean cloth. Cover with pastry and put a little water in pan and bake in a slow oven for 4 hours.

✧ ✧ ✧

I would like to know from Mrs. J. F. S. what kind of pastry to put around the meat, what kind of beef to buy, and the temperature of the slow oven.

Thanks again every one.

Miss Jessie Lamb WMS Hostess

OMEMEE (ENS) — Trinity United WMS met at the home of Miss Jessie Lamb with Mrs. T. A. McConnell presiding.

Miss C. Connell, Christian stewardship secretary, read an article, "My Money". Literature secretary Mrs. H. Graham asked that each member keep account and report to her the number of books of missionary and inspirational types read during the year.

Sewing was distributed by supply secretary Mrs. S. H. Moyer who announced that the Omemee society's special hospital assignment had already been provided by Mrs. McConnell.

Highlights of the annual meeting of Lindsay Presbyterial were given by Mrs. M. Jones and Mrs. J. Bradley emphasizing the exceptionally large attendance, the inspirational element throughout the sessions, and the interesting address by the guest speaker, Dr. Wimmifred Bryce, medical missionary in India, on the subject "God's Traffic Signals".

Group leader Mrs. T. J. Pogue in presenting the worship theme, "The Church In Their House", was assisted by Mrs. M. Lathangue, Mrs. H. Bullock and Mrs. W. D. Weir. A solo, "Jesus Whispers Peace", was sung by Miss M. Faulkner with Mrs. I. Connell accompanying. The study chapter, "Our Own Back Yard", from "Where'er the Sun", was presented by Mrs. Pogue.

After the meeting lunch was served by the group in charge.

Marmora News

Messrs. Charles and Cartha Cassidy of Tweed have purchased the Holmes furniture business in the Dominion Bank building here.

On Tuesday evening, March 2, the officers and other brethren of Marmora AF and AM No. 222 visited Craig Lodge at Deseronto and conferred the third degree. The square and compass which had been presented to Marmora Lodge by Sterling Lodge was presented to Craig Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hipson and their daughter, Mrs. John Vanvolkenberg attended the funeral of the former's brother, William Hipson in Toronto on Monday.

Mrs. Norman McFarlane returned home from Civic Hospital Peterborough on Thursday.

Women Purchase Stove

HAVELOCK (ENS) — The Woman's Association of Havelock United church met in the Sunday school auditorium, Thursday afternoon with the president Mrs. H. Agnew presiding.

Following the devotional period the treasurer reported a balance of $323.61 on hand. Mrs. A. Anderson reported for the social welfare committee that a box of canned goods was to be sent to the Fred Victor Mission, Toronto.

A new electric stove has been installed at the parsonage. The account was passed and a letter was authorized to be sent to the Trent River WA advising them of the amount.

Plans were made for the play "The Path Across the Hill," which is being sponsored by the WA and presented in the town hall March 26.

The devotional period and program were in charge of the Rush Point group. The theme for the worship service was "The way of the cross," with scripture reading by Mrs. Frank Pollock. The thought for the day was read by Mrs. Wannamaker. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Earl Pollock, reading by Mrs. Frank Pollock.

The program consisted of a poem by Mrs. Earl Pollock and a solo by Marina Pollock.

The theme song and mizpah benediction brought the meeting to a close after which a social time was spent with the Rush Point ladies serving refreshments.

Many Donors

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP) — Despite a day-long fall of wet snow a record number of 358 residents turned up at a Red Cross mobile blood donors' clinic here. Officials said the number was highest in the town's history.

6—In Memoriam

BLEWETT—In loving memory of Josiah W. Blewett who passed away March 8, 1952.
Loving and kind in all his ways
Upright and just to the end of his days
Sincere and kind in heart and mind
What a beautiful memory he left behind.
—Ever remembered by Lila and Walter.

BEBEE—In loving memory of Clarence (Sam) Bebee who died March 9, 1953
Some day we hope to meet again,
Some day, we know not when.
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

SKINKLE—In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Elwood E. Skinkle who passed away suddenly March 8th, 1940.
Five years have passed, Dear Elwood,
Since you were called away,
How well do we remembered
That sad and lonely day.
If all this world were ours to give
We'd give it yes, and more
To hear your footsteps and see your face
Come smiling through the door.
—Ever remembered by Mum, Dad, Sisters and brothers.

7—Card of Thanks

Mrs. A. W. Smith is now convalescing in her home at Omemee Rectory after being a patient in the Peterborough Civic Hospital. She wishes to thank all kind friends of Peterborough, Christ Church Omemee, St. John's and St. James' Emily, for lovely flowers, cards and fruits; and kind thoughts and prayers during her illness.

Mere words are inadequate to express our gratitude to each and everyone who has helped us through these days of sorrow with beautiful flowers, words of sympathy and deeds of infinite kindness, we can only say "Thank you so much."—Mr. Harry F. Wildman, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley H. Wildman, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Wildman.

Queen Elizabeth Catches U.S. Who's Who

CHICAGO (AP)—Queen Elizabeth has arrived in "Who's Who in America."

She is among the notables listed for the first time in the book.

The monarch's consort, the Duke of Edinburgh, went into the volume with her.

Desi Arnaz, a member of a popular husband-and-wife television team, is another arrival, catching up with his wife Lucille Ball, already in the tome.

"Who's Who" is crammed with biographies of residents of the United States and other countries who are considered by the editors "to be of general reference interest in this country."

Th publishers announced today that there are 48,716 word sketches in the 1954-55 edition, a net gain of 4,102 over the previous biennial edition.

CROWD HANDLER LISTED

One of the new "biographees" is Andy Frain, who directs a corps of ushers at sports stadia, race tracks and political conventions. He is listed as a crowd engineer.

Newcomers include:

Eve Arden, Ed Sullivan, Ted Mack, Jinx Falkenberg and William Boyd (Hopalong Cassidy) of television, Kim Hunter and Elizabeth Taylor of the movies, and singers Peggy Lee and Rosemary Clooney;

Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens, Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City, Gov. Samuel King of Hawaii, and Martin Durkin, former secretary of labor;

Actresses Judith Evelyn, Julie Harris and Lilli Palmer, and authors Budd Schulberg, Laura Z. Hobson and James Jones.

Werner von Braun, German rocket specialist who now is in the U. S.;

Georgi Malenkov, premier of the U. S. S. R.

OBITUARIES

MRS. HANORAH McCORMICK

A resident of Peterborough for the last 54 years, Mrs. Hanorah McCormick, 80 of 223 Woodbine Ave., died today in hospital here. She had been ill for the last five months.

Mrs. McCormick was the former Hanorah Butler, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Butler. She was born in Percy township and lived there until moving to Peterborough 54 years ago.

She leaves five sons, Alexis, James, Leo and Anthony of Peterborough, and Joseph of Midland; three daughters, Mrs. Douglas Simmons (Agnes) of Peterborough, and Mrs. Mary Peria and Anne McCormick, both of New York City; a sister, Mrs. Minnie McGrath of Peterborough and a brother, James Butler of Toronto.

Her husband, the late Jeremiah McCormick, died in 1929.

Mrs. McCormick was a member of the Immaculate Conception church, the Catholic Women's League and the Altar Society.

The funeral will be from her home to Immaculate Conception church for requiem mass at 10 a.m. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

CECIL PHILIP BUTLER

After a short illness, Cecil Philip Butler, 54, died Saturday at his home in Toronto. He left Peterborough about 15 years ago.

Mr. Butler was born in Peterborough, son of the late James Butler and Sarah McGillen. He was educated in this city and was employed here until about 15 years ago when he moved to Hespeler and later to Toronto.

He was a textile worker by trade.

Left are two sons—Peter of Peterborough, and James, with the Canadian Brigade in Korea; a daughter, Jean, of Toronto; four brothers—Monsignor P. P. Butler and Frank, of Peterborough, James of Hespeler, and Vincent of Toronto, and two sisters—Nora and Mrs. Leo Sullivan (Mildred), both of Peterborough.

Mr. Butler was a member of St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church, Toronto. While living in Peterborough he was a member of the Immaculate Conception Church. He was also a member of the Holy Name Society.

The funeral will be from Mrs. Leo Sullivan's home, 317 Mark St., to Immaculate Conception Church for requiem mass at 10 a.m. Tuesday. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemtery.

MRS. ANNIE MURPHY

A lifelong resident of Peterborough, Mrs. Annie Murphy, 82, of 57 Parkhill Rd., died Saturday at the home of her son, police sergeant Leo Murphy. Her illness was sudden.

Mrs. Murphy was the former Annie Gagnon, daughter of the late Joseph Gagnon and Angeline vinnette. She was educated in Peterborough and married the late John Murphy who died in 1933.

She leaves two sons, Fred, a city fireman, and Leo, a city police sergeant; a daughter, Mrs. N. A. Clemett (Mona) of Peterborough; a sister, Mrs. William Lewington (Louise) of Peterborough; a brother, Armedos Gagnon of Niagara Falls, N.Y.; eight grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Murphy was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral, the Catholic Women's League, the Altar Society, and the auxiliaries of both St. Joseph's and Civic Hospitals.

The funeral will be from her Parkhill Rd. home to St. Peter's Cathedral for requiem mass at 9 a.m. Tuesday. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

Miss J. Howson Buried In Norwood

Funeral services were held in Tweed Thursday for Miss Josephine Howson, a former resident of Norwood and Peterborough, who died March 1 after a lingering illness.

Born in Norwood, Miss Howson was the daughter of the late William John Howson and his wife Elizabeth McCamus. After attending Peterborough Normal School, she accepted several teaching positions throughout the province and until three years ago lived here with her sister Mrs. H. McHoull. Mrs. McHoull has since moved to Toronto.

Miss Howson had taught in Amherstburg, London, Kitchener and Sault Ste. Marie. She was also an exchange teacher in London for a year. While she was in Kitchener she met Miss Emma Wallace, and it was at the home of Miss Wallace in Tweed where she had gone to live after her retirement that she died.

In addition to Mrs. McHoull, Miss Howson is survived by one other sister, Mrs. W. T. Aucutt of Salem, N.Y. Three brothers and two sisters predeceased her. These were Christopher of Peterborough, Ezra of Edmonton, Fred of Rosetown, Mrs. Sargent of Peterborough and Mrs. M. McConnell of Edmonton.

The funeral was held from the Bush funeral home in Tweed to St. James' church, with the Rev. L. E. Hawkes officiating. Earlier a special service was held by the Tweed Rebekah Lodge of which Miss Howson was a member.

The interment was in Norwood cemetery. Pallbearers were A. W. Leman, Earl Graham, Fred Mitchell, E. Heldman, George Clark and George Spratt.

Ottawa Man Wins Sled Dog Derby

SUDBURY (CP) — E. Brunet of Ottawa captured the Ontario sled dog derby championship Sunday after winning each of the three 20-mile laps raced on successive days on the frozen surface of White Water lake, nine miles west of Sudbury.

Tony Landry of Azilda was second with his total time 27 minutes and 14 seconds behind Brunet's three [illegible] seconds. D. McVeigh of Ottawa finished third.

The race was run on a thick coating of ice, blanketed with fine snow. The crowd of 5,000 was the largest on record.

Mrs. Bunty Dunlop of Burlington, the only woman entry, placed ninth.

Fourteen teams started.

Injured In Fall

STIRLING (ENS)—Ernest Cain of Stirling fell while at work on Friday and suffered a heel injury. He had to have his foot put in a cast and will be laid up for some time.

Reconstructed Communities Show Culture

WASHINGTON—At least ten communities rebuilt out of the nation's past are helping Americans today to understand their heritage.

These communities, where U.S. citizens see how their forebears lived, range from colonial capital to frontier settlement, from seaport to mining town, the National Geographic Society says.

Some have been created by assembling old buildings brought from other localities. Others are reproductions, often on original sites. A few comprise restorations of original structures.

IDEA SPREADS

Most famous is Williamsburg, political, cultural and social centre of colonial Virginia for almost a century. Nearly fifty million dollars and 27 years of work have restored 82 old buildings and reconstructed more than 340 others. An additional fifteen million dollars recently was pledged to carry on the project.

The Williamsburg "idea" has spread far, influencing American architecture and taste. Refurbishing of old homes in Georgetown, D.C., and in near-by Alexandria, Va., has brought back an eighteenth century atmosphere.

The Independence National Historical Park Project will bring to life famous buildings near Independence Hall in Philadelphia. Annapolis, Md., rich in colonial relics, is undertaking large-scale restoration work. A group of buildings in Savannah, Ga., the Trustees' Garden Village, has become one of the country's best examples of an architectural revival.

30 OLD HOMES

Some 30 eighteenth century homes line the elm-vaulted streets of Deerfield, Mass., "a cradle of national character and ideals." Although work there has increased markedly in recent years, Deerfield citizens anticipated the Williamsburg movement by half a century in forming a Memorial Association to protect their town's well-preserved past.

In the far West, several mining towns typical of the frontier, such as the gold-rush centre of Columbia, Calif., and Virginia City, Nev., of Comstock Lode fame, are being "de-ghosted". Projects have been launched also at St. Augustine, Fla., oldest city in the United States.

Some authentic old buildings have been assembled to form "typical" early American settlements that never actually existed. They are found in Old Sturbridge and Storrowton, Mass., Shelburne, Vt., and Cooperstown, N.Y.

GRAB-BAG

A similar project, Henry Ford's Greenfield Village at Dearborn, Mich., has recreated the horse-and-buggy era Ford helped to change. Homes and workshops of a number of famous Americans have been moved to the 200-acre community.

Mystic, Conn., has been remade into a typical nineteenth century New England seaport. An old sail loft, spar shed, shipsmith's shop, counting house, chapel and school, found in other localities and moved to Mystic now line a waterfront street. The Charles W. Morgan, last of the old whaling ships, and the square-rigger Joseph Conrad are moored there.

Pioneer Village at Salem, Mass., recreated not far from its original location, illustrates the primitive life of hardship led by early New England colonists. So will a similar reproduction outside Plymouth.

Paradoxically, a rude log cabin village most closely parallels the Williamsburg restoration project. With only one cabin still in existence, the village was reconstructed on its original site after exhaustive research. This is New Salem, Ill., where Abraham Linsoln started his carrer as a young man.

Two Motorcyclists Killed In Accident

TORONTO (CP)—Two Toronto motorcyclists were killed Saturday when the machine they were riding went out of control on an S-turn on west-end College street and crashed into a truck loaded with cement.

Police said John Shepherd, 30, former RCAF officer, was driving the motorcycle and Donald Presley, 20, was riding pillion.

It was Shepherd's second mishap. His first wife was killed and he himself was severely hurt in a motorcycle smash eight years ago.

His second wife and their two-year-old daughter, Janice, were at home Saturday night when police reported the crash.

Shepherd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest George Shepherd, live at Hillsburgh.

Many Workers

VANCOUVER (CP) — Membership in the British Columbia division of the Canadian Red Cross Society has reached 211,624. This is the highest in the history of the provincial branch.

Queer Theft

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)—A thief who may have been stocking up for next Christmas stole all the red bulbs from the warning barricades on the city end of the Glenridge bridge. Police theorized that they would likely be used for decorative purposes.

CLEVELAND DIGS OUT—Motorists dig their cars from snowdrifts on Cleveland's Shore Drive. The city, hit by four days of continual snowfall, is now digging out of the worst recorded storms since the Thanksgiving weekend of 1950.

Conflicting Opinions On U.K. Soccer Pools

By SHERWOOD DICKERMAN

LONDON (Reuters)—The future of Britain's biggest betting industry, the soccer pools combine, today was tied up in a tangle of conflicting results on pollsters' form sheets.

Pools promoters, whose prowess in figuring soccer odds earns them an estimated £60,000,000 annually, claim the betting public has voted 10 to 1 against a proposed law requiring the pools to publish their financial accounts.

But a public opinion poll found two out of three bettors were in favor of the bill—and statisticians hinted that this time the respected pools had rigged their figures.

The pools, a central feature of British life, each week take the bets of some 17,000,000 Britons who cross their fingers that this time they've picked a perfect combination of winning soccer teams.

BIG PAYOFFS

The payoffs, varying with the odds on a bewildering variety of contests, can run as high as 1,500,000 to 1—for picking eight tie games without a mistake. Not many bettors cash in on this long shot, however.

Last year a parliamentary bill was introduced to find out what happens to the money of those who tried and failed.

"I'm not concerned with the rights and wrongs of betting," explained the sponsor, Labor member Frederick W. Mulley. He said the bill's provision for published breakdowns of bets taken, winnings paid out and profits retained by the pool operators would give bettors a chance to choose between the countless firms and countless types of contest absorbing their stakes.

The pool promoters started to fight the bill in earnest after it got tentative approval in the House of Commons last month. Attached to the millions of betting forms which they mail out to contestants each week they send blank ballots for a bettors' vote on the bill, and outlined the reasons they oppose it.

Among other things, they warned that the cost of the weekly accounting would cut winnings and claimed the bill was merely a first move to regulate and then abolish the pools.

Their requests, published Sunday, showed more than 6,000,000 against the bill, 570,000 for it and almost 1,500,000 blank ballots.

The poll results, announced at the same time, gave 66 per cent for the bill, 22 per cent against it and 12 per cent undecided.

Statisticians for the poll said the "propaganda" sent with the promoters' ballots disqualified their results.

Ask Cemetery Be Cleaned Up

HAVELOCK (ENS)—Wellington Althouse addressed the Belmont and Methuen council at their meeting Saturday afternoon on the matter of cleaning up an old cemetery at Prenveau about three miles east of Havelock.

The council discussed the matter and their responsibility in connection with it. They asked Mr. Althouse to try and gather some information regarding ownership, caretaker and relatives of those buried there and to come back to the council at their next meeting with the information

The clerk was authorized to order a treasurer's current cash report, a cheque register, treasurer's ledger, assessor's population census, and collector's current tax cash book.

Lot 5, plan 17, is to be assessed on 1954 roll at $50 and that taxes be levied for three years back.

It was decided to abate one female dog tax 1954, to William Chase for $4.

The accounts passed included direct relief, $78; treasurer Norwood village, 1-5 division court costs $13, tax sales supplies $4.28, registering births, marriages and deaths $6.50, provincial treasurer, insulin 1.40.

Paralyzing Electric Eels Light Signs, Fell Horses

WASHINGTON — Earth's creatures possess many different weapons for survival — teeth, claws, poisoned stings, brute strength, or human brains—but none stranger than the ability of a few fish to generate electricity.

In the inland waters of tropical South America swims living lightning, the National Geographic Society says. Its name is Electrophorus electricus, or simply the electric eel.

So powerful is the jolt that this sluggish, smoke-colored fish can impart that it fells horses, paralyzes hapless fishermen, and in aquarium demonstrations lights neon signs for a split second. An animate dynamo, it can out-shock any battery of equal size.

ELECTRIC TAIL

These fish of the Amazon and Orinoco grow to eight feet long and as thick as a man's leg. Actually they are not eels at all, but are classed among the gymnotids, related to carp and suckers. The rear four-fifths of their smooth scaleless bodies are composed of electric generating cells.

Scientists of the New York Zoological Society have studied the electric eel, learning much about its anatomy and power potential. But as yet almost nothing is known about how it produces electricity in living tissue.

A full-size fish can discharge up to 600 volts and almost 1,000 watts of power. A standard light bulb, by comparison, draws 60 watts from a 110-volt line.

Apparently the electric eel can control at will the charge it uses against an enemy. The shock can come from various parts of the thick tail, or travel the entire length, from aft forward, at speeds of thousands of feet per second. The current moves 12 to 15 times as fast as human nerve impulses.

In 1800 the famous explorer Alexander von Humboldt, on the upland llanos of Venezuela, saw natives drive wild horses into shallow swamps to bear the attack of electric eels. Then the fish were captured easily.

Electric fish gave the first instances in medical history of the use of electricity to treat human ailments. In the Nile, as in other African rivers, electric cafish are found. Hieroglyphics prove they were known to the ancient Egyptians.

Plato wrote of the torpedo fish, an electric ray common in the eastern Mediterranean. Later, torpedo rays were used by Roman physicians as shock treatment for gout and headaches. Moslem doctors treated epileptics with them.

15 VARIETIES

At least 15 varieties of electric rays are known in both Atlantic and Pacific waters. They can send a current through metal harpoon shafts, just as electric eels can charge a wet fishline.

Another sea fish called the stargazer, because its upward-pointing eyes never move, has an electric cell in its head. Several African fish discovered in recent years have both electrical transmitting sets and receivers, a sort of piscine radar system. One of these, Gqmnarchus niloticus, is so adept at listening to its electrical direction finder that it can swim backwards as fast as forward.

Easy Catch

LISTOWEL, Ont. (CP)—The first fish catch of the season here came as a result of floods. Workers manning a pump at an industrial building saw a chub, about five inches long, come out with the gush of water from the hose.

Youth Charged With Conspiracy

GALT (CP)—Carl Delaney, 19, of Kitchener was arrested here Friday and charged with conspiracy in connection with the $92 robbery of a Galt pool room operator two weeks ago.

Police said Delaney and three other Kitchener youths arrested previously will appear in court here March 11. They are Gerhardt Horning and John O'Connell, charged with robbery with violence, and John Gouthro, charged with conspiracy.

Nick Dubetsky, pool room manager, told police he was slugged on the head with a bottle and robbed by youths who entered his pool room.

Treatment Of Horses Draws Comment

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Saturday severely criticized alleged "ginger ing up" of horses for Canadian shows.

Reports were received at the society's annual meeting indicating that shavetails had been subjected to considerable pain—particularly in a Vancouver show—by their owners' practice of cutting their tails and ear muscles.

"There is no place for something like this in civilization," commented Col. R. S. Timmis, a member of the OSPCA.

Col. Timmis added, however, he had received good co-operation from Toronto race track officials where two inspectors of the society are on hand at all times.

"The Ontario racing commission has done a great deal to stop abuse of horses," he said.

At the meeting the society again expressed its concern about treatment of bush horses by loggers in the Sault Ste. Marie district. It decided against making any charges public until it has met with the paper companies involved.

METROPOLITAN'S ANNUAL REPORT TO POLICYHOLDERS FOR 1953

Over a Billion Dollars

Paid to Policyholders and Beneficiaries — the Largest Sum in the History of Insurance

More benefits to more people were paid by Metropolitan in 1953 than have ever been paid by any Life insurance company in a single year. Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries amounted to $1,029,000,000.

When it is realized that Metropolitan's benefit payments are only a portion of those of the Life insurance industry as a whole, one can readily visualize the tremendous stabilizing force that the people of Canada and the United States have built for themselves through Life insurance and related coverages.

All in all, 1953 was an outstanding year in your Company's operations. In most respects, it was the best in Metropolitan's 86-year history. In the light of the high level of economic activity in Canada and the United States and the ability of our Field organization, this is not surprising. We can take pride in reaching new heights in service to the peoples of our two countries.

Economic Conditions

In retrospect, 1953 was a year of transition. Uppermost in the minds of all was the cessation of hostilities in Korea. Nevertheless, we fully realize that our goal of a world at peace is far from won, and it is incumbent upon us to continue to remain militarily strong. On the domestic front, a number of influences have been at work to materially reduce the inflationary forces, which for so many years have been driving the cost of living to ever greater heights.

We in the Life insurance business are particularly conscious of the effects of inflation, which bear so heavily on the thrifty and those dependent on fixed incomes. All efforts to control this danger should receive our fullest support.

In the year ahead, business will be more competitive, but this is no cause for concern. Competition provides the same goods at lower prices, or better goods and services at the same price. Canada and the United States have grown to their present outstanding positions on the basis of competition in a free market.

We are passing through a readjustment period, and have been for a number of months, but fundamentally Canada and the United States are strong. We have, far and away, the greatest productive capacity of any countries in the world. More than this, the people of Canada and the United States have not lost their fundamental traits of thrift, initiative, and faith in God. Our two countries will go to much greater heights of prosperity in a peacetime economy than ever could be achieved in the midst of war.

Metropolitan Highlights of 1953

During 1953, Metropolitan's gain in Life insurance in force was substantially larger than was ever previously recorded by Metropolitan or any other Life insurance company in any one year. Metropolitan's Life insurance in force, at the end of 1953, totalled more than $56 billion. The number of people covered under all forms of Metropolitan policies reached a record high of over 37 million.

The assets of the Company, which help guarantee the fulfilment of its obligations, increased by $719,000,000, and reached $12,312,000,000 at the close of 1953.

Dividends to policyholders during the year reached an all-time high of $214,829,000. The interest rate earned by Metropolitan investments, after deducting investment expenses, increased to 3.31% (compared with 3.21% for 1952), and stood at 3.09% after the United States Federal Income Tax. Mortality continued at a low rate. Expenses increased moderately, largely because of the increased volume of business.

In citing the 1953 accomplishments, we wish to pay particular tribute to the 48,000 men and women in the Metropolitan organization who have made these results possible.

METROPOLITAN OPERATIONS IN CANADA

These highlights of the Company's business in Canada during 1953, our 81st year in this country, will be of particular interest to Metropolitan's Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries.

Payments to Policyholders and Beneficiaries

During 1953, Metropolitan's payments to its Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries amounted to $50,491,762* in death claims — matured policies — accident and health and disability benefits — dividends and other payments. Of these payments, 69% went to living policyholders.
*Incurred basis.

The total amount the Metropolitan has paid to Canadians since it entered Canada in 1872, plus the amount now invested in Canada, exceeds the total premiums received from Canadians by more than $433,000,000.

Life Insurance in Force

Metropolitan Life insurance in force in Canada on the lives of 2,700,000 policyholders totalled $3,039,102,831 at the year's end. Of this amount, 56% was Ordinary business, 26% was Industrial and 18% was Group. During 1953, Canadians bought $284,561,640 of new Life insurance protection in the Metropolitan.

Total Investments in Canada

Metropolitan investments in Canada amounted to $700,378,846 at the end of 1953. These investments are playing an important part in the economy of Canada, with substantial totals of Federal, Provincial, and Municipal bonds and with sizeable totals in the obligations of steel and paper companies, the oil industry, railroads, electric light and power companies, and others.

Health and Welfare Work

Since 1909 Metropolitan has conducted a continuous health-education campaign in Canada and, during 1953, participated in numerous activities. More than 2,340,000 pamphlets on a variety of health and safety topics were distributed — monthly health advertisements appeared in national publications — "Good Hints for Good Health" was a daily feature on many radio stations.

British Guiana Has Drama But All Colonies In Flux

By J. HALCRO FERGUSON

LONDON (OFNS)—The British Guiana story, which flared up in the newspapers last October, is far from over. The recent visit to London of the Governor, the return of Dr. Jagan and Mr. Burnham after their proselytising tour of India, the presence in Georgetown of a constitutional commission, and the announcement of new development schemes all point to widespread preoccupation with the colony's future.

But British Guiana is only one of Britain's transatlantic colonies, and the fact that it is so far the only one to have made headline news is in some measure fortuitous. It shares many of its problems with the West Indian islands, British Honduras, the Bahamas and Bermuda—problems inherent in the emergent nationhood of small and economically dependent countries. At the same time, however, each of these countries has its own individuality and its own problems, and between them they almost form a microcosm of the whole colonial Empire.

Because of this, it is important to see what Britain, through her Government and Colonial Office, is doing in an area generally but inaccurately known as the West Indies. Theoretically, British policy here is the same as it is in the rest of the Commonwealth; steady progress towards self-government. But, as in Africa and Asia, self-government may mean different things in different places—witness, for instance, South Africa and the Gold Coast. And, superimposed on this, again as in other colonial areas, is the question of the federation of small units to form a more efficient whole.

FEDERATION TO COME

So far Federation is envisaged for the West Indies proper; Jamaica Trinidad Barbados, and the Leeward Islands, all of whose legislatures approve it in principle. Yet even here the obstacles are tremendous. Each unit is over-populated, and British Guiana and British Honduras, which might absorb some of the surplus population, fear to federate for that very reason. Distances between the islands are often hundreds of miles; mutual jealousy and suspicion are common; economies are competitive, and standards of living and education unequal.

English is the mother-tongue throughout the West Indies, but this does not reflect any racial homogeneity. Trinidad is multi-racial, with limited intermarriage, and the so-called East Indian community will soon be predominant. Jamaica is multi-racial, too, with a class-stratification in which wealth and education play a more important role than race. Barbados, the most conservative of the islands, started with two races, European and Negro, and today has a rigid class structure based on minute variations of "shade" and physical appearance: The Windwards and the Leewards are predominantly Negro.

RACIAL DIVERSITY

The territories outside the proposed Federation are even more diverse. British Guiana has a racial composition similar to that of Trinidad, and an economy suffering from years of neglect. British Honduras is sixty per cent. Creole (Negro), with Spanish-speaking, Maya, Carib and European minorities. Economically it is backward (hopeful Colonial that Development Corporation schemes have now collapsed); educationally it has concentrated on universal elementary education but has little above that level; politically it has long been apathetic but has recently thrown up a single party, the People's United Party, which enjoys the approval of neighbouring (and irredentist) Guatemala and has some disquieting resemblances to the Guianese P.P.P., which has some Latin-American support.

BERMUDA TOURISTS

To the north, on a level with South Carolina, Bermuda (to quote a Bermudian)" produces nothing but pawpaws and little brown babies," and relies entirely on the tourist trade. With the oldest constitution in the Colonial Empire, is is in effect ruled by a tight white oligarchy whose monopoly of power and privilege is increasingly resented by an exteremely literate and unusually prosperous Negro majority, which formas sixty per cent. of the population. The same is roughly true of the Bahamas, off the coast of Florida. Despite frequent complaints by the majority race, the colonial office rarely interferes in the affairs of these two colonies, and is unlikely to do so as long as their natural beauty and accessibility continue to earn dollars.

In spite of all this diversity, these territories all have two things in common: dissatisfaction with the present situation, whether on economic or political grounds or both, and a general feeling the Britain is ultimately responsible and should do something about it. There was a time when Britain could afford to ignore such feelings, and often did so. Now she can do so no longer. What happened in British Guiana, a country whose people are normally peaceful, good-natured, and not particularly politically minded, has been a sharp warning. Education has progressed enough for once-ignorant people to resent injustice, real or imagined, even if some of them mistake its cause or its remedy. Modern means of mass-communication have asquainted them with a wider and more agreeable life, and they refuse to believe that it cannot be theirs. They are, sometimes illogically but quite understandably, impatient.

3 MILLION PEOPLE

There are only some 3,000,000 people in Britain's trans-Atlantic colonies, and what they feel may seem relatively unimportant. But there is one very important thing to remember about them: their background, their education, their political institutions, their way of life and of thinking, even to a great extent their religion, are as British in origin as our own. If, in these circumstances, there is a failure of understanding between the West Indies and the mother country, what hope is there of co-operation with colonies for whom Britain is not, in this sense, a mother country at all? Basically the problem is a human one, and not all the constitutions and loans and development schemes in the world will do any good if it is not approached as such.

U.S. Evangelist Takes Gospel Into English Pub

LONDON (AP)—A Bible in his hand, Billy Graham took his evangelism into a London pub Saturday.

The American evangelist, who has been drawing big crowds to his crusade at Harringay Arena, went into a typical English drinking place, his campaign secretary, Jerry Beavan, said Sunday.

Graham had complained to Beavan that he was not meeting the "real people" of London because he was so busy travelling between his hotel and the arena, where he holds meetings six nights a week. So they drove to the Elephant and Castle, a congested working class area near London's riverfront on the Old Kent road.

"Billy was delighted," Beavan reported. "He met people in the streets and in the open markets. People shouted to him from upstairs windows. He was invited into a pub and he went in with his Bible in his hand and he talked to them.

USAF VISIT

The Sunday pictorial, a mass circulation publication with unofficial Labor tendencies, said Graham had "taken a tip from us," and is going to take his crusade next week-end to Burtonwood, the United States Air Force base in Lancashire.

"I will do as the Pictorial suggests," the paper quoted Graham as saying. "I'm going to make my trip to Burtonwood a No. 1 priority. Don't think we are blind to the problems that exist out in Burtonwood, or at any overseas base where our boys are stationed.

"Remember this—many of the young Americans out there are young, away from home for the first time. They need our prayers and guidance."

The Pictorial, along with some other London newspapers, has been carrying stories that vice has increased in communities where there are large concentrations of American airmen.

Graham enjoyed a full day of peace and quiet in the country Sunday—his first rest since his arrival in Britain.

He was the guest of Lt.-Gen. Sir Arthur Smith, a member of the executive committee of the Greater London crusade group which organized Graham's visit. They attended a little village church near Woking, Surrey.

Meanwhile, crusade organizers are working out details to extend the campaign across Europe. Meetings already have been scheduled for Berlin, Helsinki and Stockholm.

Busy Nurses

WAKEFIELD, England (CP)—Councillor Dick Widdrington, a hospital patient, wondered how far a nurse walks in her daily duties. He persuaded a nurse to fix a pedometer to her ankle and found she covered 14 miles. Now he wants authorities to supply nurses with free shoes and stockings.

Plan Hydrogen Bomb Tests In Placid Bikini Lagoon

WASHINGTON—After nearly eight years Bikini, a placid Pacific atoll surrounded by blue-green waters, soon again will become a testing place for man's most frightful weapons.

In July, 1946, the eyes of the world were focused on the coral lagoon as two atom bombs played havoc with an anchored flotilla of old warships.

Shortly the United States will begin a new series of tests, some for development of the dread hydrogen bomb, vastly more potent than the atom expolsives of 1946. And again Bikini will play a part, says the National Geographic Society.

PLANES, SHIPS PATROL

For some time American planes and ships have patrolled the 3-mile-deep ocean off the palm-fringed island. Already units of Task Force 7, which will conduct the experiments, have converged on Bikini and Eniwetok atolls, both part of the extensive Pacific proving grounds for nuclear weapons.

On Bikini hundreds of carpenters, plumbers, electricians and other artisans have returned once again. The atoll's 167 native inhabitants voluntarily were moved away eight years ago, first to Rongerik, and later to Kili Island, 500 miles away.

Hardly a trace of the 1946 damage can now be seen. Steel wreckage has been cleared off. The once-scarred coconut and breadfruit trees sway as easily in the warm, easterly breezes as they did before the atom era came to Bikini.

TEEM WITH LIFE

Lagoon waters, less than 200 feet deep, again are teeming with life. Rock formations retain no evidence of radio-activity. The gleaming beaches appear as inviting as those of other tropic isles.

More than 4,700 miles southwest of San Francisco, Bikini atoll is 190 miles east of Eniwetok, where most U.S. atom bombs and several hydrogen devices have been tested. South toward the equator, 800 miles away, string the Marshall Islands.

Twenty isles, hardly lifting their heads above sea level, form the Bikini group. The largest are Bikini on the northeast, Enyu, Namu and Enirik. The atoll is 25 miles wide. In all, land area covers less than three square miles out of 280 encompassed by the entire atoll.

Nine-mile-wide Enyu Channel opening to the southeast, has long served as the lagoon's entrance. Before 1946 it admitted the natives' outrigger canoes to calm waters.

ONCE GERMAN

Through the channel the Germans brought their ships to rest before World War I. They lost Bikini (called Eschholtz) during that conflict. Later the Japanese took control. They named the atoll Pikinni.

What fate awaits the little islands of Bikini? The precise answer is a closely guarded secret in Washington. But high authorities have made this clear:

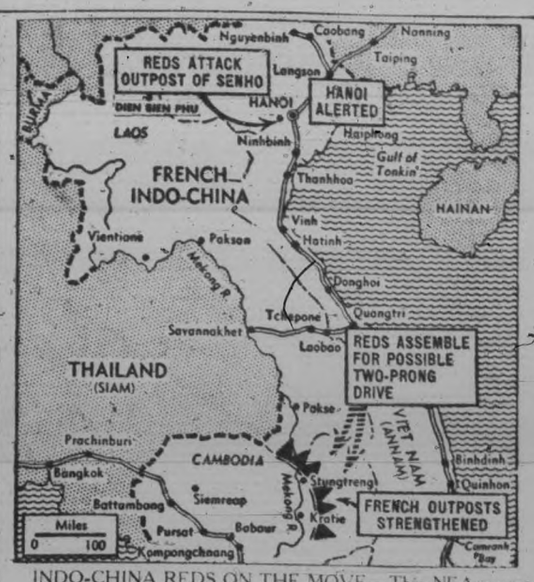
If a hydrogen explosion takes place over one of the smaller islands it will disappear into the sea. Such an experiment was conducted in 1952 on one of the Eniwetok isles. When the cloud of smoke and gas had blown away, the island had been obliterated. In its place the ocean washed into a crater a full mile in diameter and 175 feet deep.

5 Million Acres African Veld Animal Paradise

WASHINGTON—Civilization is creeping up on South Africa's Kruger Park. The world's largest game reserve and open-air zoo must soon be fenced.

Settlers in the East Transvaal lowlands have asked the South African government to enclose the 8,000-square-mile sanctuary to prevent marauding beasts from trampling farmlands and destroying crops. As a result, part of a $1,400,000 appropriation for park improvement has been earmarked for erection of a sisal fence along the southern boundary.

MILLION ANIMALS



Throughout Kruger Park's 5,000,000 acres, however, the estimated 1,000,000 animal inhabitants will continue to roam freely, says the National Geographic Society.

On palm-dotted plains and dense thornbush veld, are found all the famous breeds of African big game—lions, elephants, leopards, buffaloes, giraffes, hippopotamuses and 18 varieties of antelope. Crystal-clear rivers swarm with crocodiles. More than 320 species of birdlife roost in the sycamore figs and fever trees.

Stretching for 210 miles along the northeastern Transvaal frontier, Kruger Park is South Africa's biggest tourist attraction. Almost 100,000 visitors toured the park in 1953.

INDIAN NAME

Nipigon lake in Ontario's Thunder bay district was named from an Indian word meaning "deep clear water."

INDO-CHINA REDS ON THE MOVE—This NEA newsmap shows where Communists made a sudden attack on the outpost of Senho just six miles west of Hanoi in Indo-China. Red troops also were assembling in the mountains of central Annam for a major drive into Cambodia. Observers believe that the first Red objectives would be the Mekon River cities of Kratie and Stungtreng and the French have strengthened their forces for this area. French pilots, flying U.S.-supplied B-26s, blasted Red installations 12 miles northwest of the besieged French Union bastion at Dien Bien Phu.

Street Cars Leave North Toronto Streets

TORONTO (CP) — Street-cars Sunday went off Toronto streets north of Eglinton avenue, northern end of the five-mile north-south subway due to open March 30.

Buses replaced trams north of Eglinton as the first change connected with the subway opening. Six new bus routes were in operation.

After March 30 the trams will disappear from all of Yonge street. Buses will operate as a supplementary service.

Defence Deputy Plans To Resign

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House announced Saturday that Roger M. Keyes plans to resign as deputy secretary of defence May 1.

Keyes agreed when he accepted appointment that he would stay for only a year, the White House said. His year was up Feb. 2.

Murray Snyder, White House secretary, was asked whether Keyes' resignation had anything to do with the current dispute revolving around Army Secretary Robert Stevens and Senator Joseph McCarthy.

"None whatsoever," Snyder said. There had already been reports that Keyes intended to resign this spring and return to General Motors.

Brockville Players Win Drama Festival

KINGSTON (CP) — Brockville Collegiate Players won top honors Saturday at the seventh annual eastern Ontario secondary school drama festival.

The Brockville presentation of act three of "The Hasty Heart" was named by adjudicator Margaret Shortliffe as the best of the six plays entered. Eighteen-year-old James Lawless, who played the lead in the Brockville production was judged best actor of the festival. Beverley Ramsay, 16, was named best actress for her performance in "The Valiant" presented by Hall and Middlemass.

"The Last Cache," produced by the St. Edward's drama group of Westport, was chosen as second best production.

Body Of Gordon Smith Found In Canal Lock

FIND CITY MAN IN LOCK—Ed Parberry, Lockmaster at Lock 22, three miles north of the city, points into the lock in which the body of Gordon Smith, 514 Water St., was found early today. Smith had been missing since late Saturday night after visiting with Parberry. The cause of death, believed shock from the cold water, will definitely not be known until after an autopsy, conducted today by Dr. John T. Whitesides, government pathologist, at the Civic hospital. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Naguib Given All Jobs Back Again

Nasser Reports Differences All Cleared Up

CAIRO (AP) — Maj.-Gen. Mohammed Naguib has all his old jobs back in Egypt's military government, and the man who deposed him 12 days ago, Lt.-Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, has stepped back to the vice-premiership.

Guidance Minister Salah Salem Monday night announced Naguib's reinstatement as premier and chairman of the ruling revolutionary council. Naguib already had taken back the presidency after having been ousted from all three posts and placed under guard at home Feb. 25 on charges that he sought to become a "dictator."

Salem said the incidents of Naguib's ouster were erased at a joint meeting of the revolutionary council and the civilian cabinet as though they had been nothing more than "a passing cloud."

END QUARRELS

Nasser, who had been president during the three days of Naguib's eclipse, and premier and council chairman since, said in an interview today that the full restoration of Naguib was made to end all quarrels before resumption of negotiations for withdrawal of British troops from the Suez canal zone.

Salem said the regime still holds to its March 5 decision to establish a constituent assembly—an interim parliament—by July 27, and to abolish martial law and local press censorship. It was Salem who had announced Naguib's resignation and accused the popular army leader of seeking absolute powers.

Lost His Way?

HAMILTON (CP) — Thomas Barron, manager, of the Agnew Surpass store on King street east, told police he sent an employee to the bank with a deposit Monday afternoon, but the 16-year-old youth never reached his desination.

Mr. Barron said the deposit totalled $539.86, nearly all in small bills.

Japanese Plan Great Welcome For St. Laurent

TOKYO (CP) — Japan will give Canada's touring prime minister a rare official welcome Wednesday equalled in post-war years only by that given Vice-President Richard Nixon of the United States last year.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, now in Korea on his six-week round-the-world goodwill tour, flies here Wednesday for a three-day visit as "guest of state." Only Nixon has received this honor since before the war.

The Canadian leader will see Emperor Hirohito, Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida and Japanese, Canadian and other Allied officials. He will be a dinner guest of Yoshida Wednesday, then Thursday he will call on the emperor.

The Canadian embassy said today the prime minister probably will wear morning clothes instead of the ceremonial dress sometimes worn for official and court functions.

GILDED COACHES

Altogether, three gilded coaches will carry the St. Laurent party to the imperial grounds in the heart of Tokyo. He is accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell, his son, Jean-Paul, and a small group of Canadian officials.

The prime minister will discuss with Japanese, Canadian and Allied officials such points as fishing in the Pacific, Canadian troops in Japan and trade between the two countries.

He will leave Saturday for Hawaii, San Francisco and home.

The prime minister said before he left Ottawa that he wanted to visit Asia where happenings "vitally concern" Canada. He will have spent two-thirds of his tour visiting Asian countries.

Man Missing Two Days; Believe Fell In

Had Visited Lockmaster Saturday Night

Missing since Saturday night, Gordon Smith, 41, of 514 Water St., was found early today by provincial police in 20 feet of water at Lock 22, about three miles north of the city. Police believe the roofing contractor toppled into the lock about midnight Saturday and probably died of shock of the cold water. An autopsy is being conducted today at the Civic Hospital to determine the cause of death.

GORDON SMITH

Coroner, Dr. H. G. Carleton, said at noon that the autopsy by Dr. John T. Whitesides, government pathologist, is to determine the cause of death — "if they can." The body was frozen when taken from the lock.

There were abrasions on Smith's head but Dr. Carleton added he didn't "think these were serious."

Fed. Gov't Can Fire Civil Servants Reasons Not Given

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal civil servants who can't pass the government's security screen can be fired or transferred without being given a reason. They also can be dismissed or transferred if they are known to associate or to have associated with Communists. And, as a rule, a federal employee fired or dismissed as a security risk is not permitted to learn the information against him or the source of that information. These were the government's replies tabled in the Commons yesterday to questions placed on the order paper by Davie Fulton PC-Kamloops.

Last week, the government declined to answer two other questions by Mr. Fulton concerning make-up and operations of the government's security panel and acting Prime Minister Howe said: "We all abhor McCarthyism."

ASKS RIGHT OF ACCUSED

Mr. Fulton's two questions were:

1. "When a decision has been arrived at to release or transfer a government employee for security reasons, does the individual concerned in each case have an opportunity of learning the nature of the allegations or suspicions against him before being transferred or dismissed?"

2. "In arriving at their recommendations or decisions in security matters affecting individual government employees, do the security panel and-or the security officers of the various government departments and agencies concerned reject any conclusion based on the principle of guilt by association?"

The government replied, in effect, to both questions: "No."

The answers took up nearly 1,000 words. Salient parts said:

"Under normal circumstances the information obtained about a person as a result of a security screening—and any consequent doubts as to the advisability of allowing him access to his country's secrets—are not discussed with a person who, as a result, may be subject to transfer or dismissal. . . .

"Because a person is known to associate with Communists does not establish that that person is a Communist, or is that assumed by those in charge of departments.

REVIEW QUALIFICATIONS

". . . A review is made not only of that person's professional qualifications and character but also, where access to secrets is involved, of all the available information bearing upon his reliability and the degree of confidence in which he can be held.

Dr. J. Endicott Dies At Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Very Rev. James Endicott, 88, second moderator of the United Church of Canada and former missionary in China, died Monday night.

He served as moderator from 1926 to 1928. During those years he combined the moderator's duties with those of secretary of the church's board of foreign missions, a position he held from the time of church union in 1925 until his retirement in 1936.

Born in Devon, England, he came to Canada at 17. He made his first Canadian home at Lucan, Ont., and became a probationer for the Methodist ministry from the Guelph conference. He was field secretary for the Owen Sound district of the Methodist Church, then did church work at Cartwright, Man., and Lethbridge, Alta., before starting theological studies at Wesley College in Winnipeg. He won a gold medal in the honor course in philosophy and was a member of the university track team.

TOOK MISSIONARY WORK

Upon graduation, he offered himself for missionary work in West China, where a mission had been opened a year earlier. He worked in the mission field from 1892 to 1910. Then he spent two years in Canada in missionary advocacy. In 1912 he was appointed field secretary for foreign missions and in 1913 became general secretary.

In 1920 he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from Wesley College in Winnipeg and from Knox College in Toronto.

He served as a member of the executive council of the International Missionary Council and chairman of the Foreign Missions

Attorney-General Says McNulty Treated Properly

EDMONTON (CP) — Attorney-General Lucien Maynard said in the Alberta legislature Monday that Frank J. McNulty was taken to hospital immediately it was known he was ill.

McNulty, 38, is in the Royal Alexandra Hospital here in serious condition with polio after becoming ill in Fort Saskatchewan jail, 20 miles east of Edmonton.

Mr. Maynard gave the information after a question from Michael Ponich (SC—Vegreville).

Mr. Ponich asked for comment on a story which appeared in the Edmonton Journal saying that McNulty's brother, John J. McNulty of Peterborough, would ask for a full investigation.

The attorney-general said the persons "who went to the Journal never spoke to me."

Dockers Picket Fed. Court House

NEW YORK (AP)—Hundreds of defiant longshoremen marched to Foley square today to picket the federal courthouse in protest against a move to cite the International Longshoremen's Association for contempt of court.

The contempt action was brought by the national labor relations board, which asked criminal and civil contempt citations against the association and three of its local officers.

The board asked a fine of $100,000 if the union fails to end its week-old blockade of waterfront truck movements in two days, and an additional $25,000 for each day the tie-up continues. It has affected about 80 per cent of New York's vast waterfront.

Charles T. Douds, regional director of the NLRB, charges that the ILA, as an organization, and the three men, as individual officers, "knowlingly and wilfully and intentionally violated and disobeyed" a federal court anti-strike injunction.

Coldwell Suggests State Ownership Of Banks

OTTAWA (CP)—CCF leader Coldwell, urging national ownership of Canada's 11 chartered banks, says Parliament has taken the risks out of banking and should get its profits as well. "We (Parliament) guarantee the banks against losses," he said in the Commons Monday. "We cover up their risks and we allow them to take all the profits . . . Is it not time that we took the profits as well as the risks?"

Mr. Coldwell spoke as members began debate on the government's decennial revision of the Bank Act which authorizes and regulates bank operations.

He proposed that the bill be set aside and "that consideration should be given to the national ownership and control of the chartered banks."

The proposal received support only from the 23-member CCF group.

OPPOSES NATIONALIZATION

J. M. Macdonnell (PC—Toronto Greenwood), his party's financial critic, said nationalization would lead to political interference and "rigidity" in banking operations. Social Credit leader Low said it is not in the best interests of Canadians.

Finance Minister Abbott, speaking before Mr. Coldwell, made only a brief reference to nationalization of banks. He said the CCF wants this as part of a general socialization, but he did not believe the House wanted to debate socialism.

Black Market Babies Liable To Deportation

NEW YORK (CP)—The Journal-American says today that at least four infants, purchased by New York couples from an alleged Canadian black market in babies, are liable to deportation.

"Their foster parents were said to be subject to charges of smuggling aliens into this country for assertedly failing to obtain visas for the infants," the newspaper says.

The immigration spokesman added that most foster parents followed legal adoption actions and obtained proper visas at the U. S. consulate in Montreal.

Gold Miners Threaten Strike Again

TORONTO (CP) — The northern Ontario and Quebec gold mine strikes, which cost unions in the United States and Canada almost $2,000,000, may break out again, the Toronto and Lakeshore Labor Council (CIO-CCL) was told Monday night.

Bert Gargrave, an official of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL), said miners at East Sullivan mine in the Rouyn-Noranda area have voted 82 per cent in favor of a strike.

The vote, he said, came after the company offered only half of the 10-cents-an-hour settlement won by strike action from Noranda Mines Limited.

"The mines are of the opinion the labor movement is pretty well flat on its back, and mines now in negotiation are offering three to four cents an hour increases in the belief the steelworkers' union can't battle them," he said.

Mr. Gargrave said his union's strike at about a dozen gold mines during a seven-month period which ended early this year was "the most expensive in the history of the labor movement in Canada." He said $1,899,000 has been spent so far and "there still are a lot of outstanding debts."

Affiliates of the Canadian Congress of Labor across Canada subscribed $500,000, and "substantial donations" came from other unions outside the CCL, he said. The largest part came from the steelworkers' international treasury.

Clubbed To Death

LONDON (Reuters) — Thieves early today bound and gagged a 60-year-old London hotel bellhop and clubbed him to death.

The hotel's main office was ransacked, but only about £2 and some cigarets were missing.

Wants Portion Seaway Project

LONDON (Reuters) — R. A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, said today the government is anxious to facilitate direct British participation in construction of the St. Lawrence seaway.

But despite prodding from Conservative Gerald Nabarro in the House of Commons, he did not make it clear how this would be handled.

Butler ruled out capital subscription by British investors in the project. "This would be portfolio investment (investment not yielding an immediate return) which we cannot afford at the present time," he declared.

"But," he added, "certain applications of a more general type have been allowed."

Butler also told the house that he would do his best to provide dollars for British investment in new Canadian enterprise and development.

He said that British investments in Canada had increased from approximately £23,000,000 in 1951 to about £28,000,000 in 1953.

Ontario Visits Sydney

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—The Canadian cruiser Ontario arrived here from Wellington, New Zealand, today after battling through what her officers described as "the highest seas we had seen for years." The cruiser with 784 men aboard, had two lifeboats damaged during the trip.

Warns Against Arms For Arabs

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier Moshe Sharett told parliament Monday if the West supplies arms to Arab states in the hope of building an anti-communist security bloc, the result will be chaos in the Middle East.

He welcomed the recent agreement between Turkey and Pakistan to work toward military cooperation. But he warned against the extension of the pact to include Iraq. That country probably would be eligible to receive U.S. arms aid if it joins a Turkish-Pakistan defence bloc.

Sharett, who is also foreign minister, declared:

"Our opposition to the arming of Arab states, as long as they prosecute a cold and not so cold war against Israel, is absolute. . . .

"The placing of arms in the hands of the wreckers of peace within this region will make no contribution to the defence of this area against outside aggression or to the promotion of stability within it."

Negotiations Begin For Wage Boosts

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Negotiations in which wage boosts are a central problem were begun Monday between zone 38, Electrical Contractors' Association of Ontario, and local 773, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL).

Both bargaining units cover Essex and Kent counties, although a union sub-local in Chatham negotiated a contract for Kent county last fall.

In the present negotiations workers are seeking an increase from the present $2.25 and hour to $2.50 an hour for journeymen, as well as a series of increases for foremen and a 10 per cent hike for apprentices.

Regaining Strength

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius is increasing his solid diet daily and regaining strength lost through his serious illness, Vatican sources said today.

They said the 78-year-old pontiff's ability to take greater amounts of solid food "has provided optimism for his steady and full recovery."

Anonymous Threat Made To McCarthy

NEW YORK (AP)—An anonymous telephone caller who spoke with a Spanish accent told Waldorf-Astoria Hotel security guards early today that "something terrible" would happen to Senator Joseph McCarthy during the night.

The Wisconsin Republican had checked into the hotel Monday night.

A city police officer was sent to the hotel and joined a Waldorf-Astoria security guard in an all-night vigil outside McCarthy's room.

Neither police nor the hotel management said whether McCarthy had been informed of the threat, but it was learned that the caller, who spoke in a threatening tone, asked to speak with McCarthy.

Must Maintain Military Forces

TORONTO (CP)—Lt.-Gen. G. G. Simonds said Monday night strong military forces may have to be maintained for 25, 30 or 50 years if another global war is to be avoided.

The chief of the general staff of the Canadian Army, attributing an easing of international tension in the past months to the build-up of Allied strength after Korea, said "This is not the time to weaken our strength."

"If we are to avoid world war three on a global scale, we have got to face up to 25, 30 or 50 years of maintaining military forces at a strength to which we have not been accustomed in the past."

Gen. Simonds, who returned to Canada by air Monday after a visit to Britain, spoke before the annual meeting of the Toronto branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Import Quotas Continue Affect Farmer

Farm Surpluses To Remain Knotty Problem Between United States And Canada

BY HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—John H. Davis, assistant United States secretary of agriculture, says his department will call for more restrictions whenever farm imports interfere with the U.S. price support program.

Mr. Davis, in an exchange of correspondence with a Canadian Press reporter, added however that in setting import quotas the U.S. government will give "due consideration" to Canada's historic position as a supplier.

The U.S. has already imposed import restrictions on dairy products and oats and now is considering a curb on rye. Canada has protested, though it has volunteered to reduce shipment of oats to the U.S. until next October.

NO AUTOMATIC CHANGE

Mr. Davis gave no indication there will be any automatic removal of the oats restrictions next October, but said the American position must be determined in the light of available supplies and prices when the current agreement ends.

"Our position next October will of course, have to be determined on the basis of the supply and price position which exists at that time, and in the light of then effective legislation," he said.

Under the oats deal, Canada agreed to restrict exports to 23,000,000 bushels in the 10-month period ending next October. This compares with 60,000,000 bushels exported in the crop year Aug. 1, 1952-July 31, 1953.

Canadian officials have stated they will fight any move by the U.S. to extend the restrictions.

Mr. Davis, in his letter from Washington, predicted that Canada and the U.S. will have troublesome farm surpluses for some years. He estimated also that stiffer competition will develop between the two countries for overseas food markets. With the two countries supporting the idea of orderly marketing, he added, this competition can and should be held to "reasonable limits."

REPLIES TO QUESTIONS

The questions asked and Mr. Davis' answers:

Q. Is it possible that the U.S. government will press for continuation of restrictions on imports of Canadian oats when the current agreement expires next October? Will these restrictions apply on any other products?

A. The department's recommendations with respect to the restrictions on imports of oats into the U.S. were made in accordance with provisions of Sec. 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, designed to prevent such imports from "materially interfering, or threatening to interfere" with our domestic price support program.

Under supply and price conditions which have existed during the current season, we had little choice except to recommend the invoking of such provisions in this legislation. Our position next October will, of course, have to be determined on the basis of the supply and price position which exists at that time, and in the light of then effective legislation.

A similar position would apply to commodities other than oats. On Jan. 12, the department recommended to the U.S. tariff commission that an annual quota be placed on imports of rye. As in the case of oats, this action was also taken under Sec. 22.

FUTURE ACTIONS

Similar actions may be expected whenever imports of a particular agricultural commodity materially interfere with our domestic price support program. In all these actions, however, due consideration has been and will be given, in the establishment of quotas, to Canada's history as a source of supply.

Q. What are the possibilities of removing the U.S. curbs on imports of dairy products?

A. Possibilities are remote as long as such imports materially interfere with our domestic price support program.

Q. How does the U.S. administration feel about the International Wheat Agreement? Is it likely the U.S. will support renewal when the current pact expires?

A. In company with Canada, the U.S. has been for several years a strong supporter of the IWA. . . I believe the present agreement is less effective since the withdrawal of the United Kingdom. I would also support, however, as wide a coverage of the world wheat trade as possible in the present agreement to make it more effective. As to the future, I would support the broad principles and objectives of the International Wheat Agreement idea. No comment is offered on the likelihood of U.S. support of renewal when the current pact expires. If I may use the vernacular, 1957 "is a long ways off."

Q. Is it possible that as American price support programs are reduced, agricultural import doors may be widened? Is the nature of prices paid to American producers under price support a factor in reducing imports?

A. Regardless of the level of our domestic price support programs, it is doubtful if the principle of not permitting imports to materially interfere with such programs would be abandoned. I would say that the nature of support prices paid to domestic producers is definitely a factor in controlling imports. Domestic price supports need not necessarily be reduced, however.

Q. Is the North American surplus position on grains and other items a long-term problem? Is it likely to become more serious?

A. Forecasts are hazardous. It seems to me, though, that we do have a long-term problem. Whether it becomes more serious, however, will depend to a large degree on the success we have in finding markets (or solving current trade problems) for an increasingly efficient output of agricultural commodities. I am optimistic of the future because of the increasing awareness of the need for more effective world distribution of available supplies of food.

Q. Do you recall suggesting (in a recent radio broadcast) that Canada is considering resuming private trading in wheat?

A. No. I am, of course, aware that the pros and cons of this question are continuously being discussed in certain parts of Canada. I also understand that there is strong support among Canadian producers for the present system of marketing wheat through the wheat board.

Q. Do you believe there will be increasing competition between Canada and the U.S. for the overseas food markets?

A. Yes. It is only natural that, with abundant supplies of certain agricultural commodities available for export from both countries, there should be increasing competition between Canada and the U.S. for available foreign markets for food. I also believe that with both countries supporting the idea of orderly marketing, the competition can and should be held within reasonable limits.

Report Says Jails Breed Crime, Suggest Reforms

TORONTO—(CP)—Sweeping changes in Ontario's prison system to bring it into line with modern ideas regarding crime and punishment are recommended in the report of the Ontario legislature's select committee on reform institutions. It says that Ontario's jails are more likely to steer inmates toward crime than away from it. Jails do provide punishment by the very nature of their conditions, but, in keeping with 19th century thinking, they provide nothing else."

The report said the jails are degrading to juveniles, innocent persons and the mentally ill. They did not provide the incentive to reform that would protect society against further crimes.

The committee recommended improving standards in jails by providing for proper segregation, prisoner employment, medical care, sanitation, exercise and hobbies. It said jails should be used only to house adult persons on remand and those serving short sentences, except for narcotics addicts and any other prisoners requiring special treatment.

CIVIL SERVICE

It recommended that all jail staffs be absorbed into the provincial civil service and that sheriffs be relieved of all powers, direct or indirect, in connection with jails.

The commission, making the first thorough study of Ontario's jails and reform institutions since 1930, proposed that the province set up a commission of corrections which would have over-all authority over probation, parole and after-care.

Chairman W. J. Stewart said in presenting the report in the legislature that the committee tried to find a middle road between two schools of thought. One advocated severe punishment while the other sought to pamper prisoners and turn the province's institutions into rest homes.

It proposed a new administrative setup for jails, recommending that the province's department of reform institutions assume control and operation of all district, county and city jails. It urged that all jail staffs be absorbed into the provincial civil service and that sheriffs be relieved of all powers, direct or indirect, in connection with jails.

REFORM ONE-FIFTH

The committee had concluded, however, that only about 20 per cent of those who enter the institutions—during the year ended last March 31, there were 22,941 persons sent to prisons in the province, with repeaters being counted more than once—can be reformed. Many of its recommendations concerned ways to help and speed the reformation of this 20 per cent.

For the remaining 80 per cent, the committee recommended that they be sent to the institution at Burwash, near Sudbury, and that the name of the institution be changed from "reformatory" to "Burwash Provincial Prison."

"Burwash should come to be known as an institution for, and be designated and operated to house, only repeaters and the non-reformable type. There should be sufficient houses of labor to constitute a good day's work."

ALTER PAROLE BOARD

The committee suggested that the Ontario parole board be reconstituted as a full-time civil service board of five members. It said appointments to it should be made with due regard to the high qualifications necessary and to the fact that both male and female prisoners are involved.

It urged establishment of a central place of execution. At present, hangings are held at the county seat of the county in which a murder has been committed.

It suggested revision of the Criminal Code to make rioting in prison a specific offence.

It called for establishment of a large-scale reception centre to receive, study, diagnose and recommend treatment for all first offenders between the ages of 16 and 25. It favored setting up adolescent courts to deal with cases involving persons 16 to 28.

The committee recommended the practice of supplying tobacco to juveniles in training schools be done away with.

ABOLISH LASH

It proposed abolishing the lash as a means of corporal punishment. It said the strap hurts more than the lash and should be used instead.

Other recommendations: that night courts and special courts be held; that a thorough study be made of the subject of sex deviation; that federal penitentiaries accept a considerable portion of repeaters convicted under federal statutes; that provision be made for long indeterminate sentences to allow a prisoner time to learn a trade or improve his educational standards; that provision be made to transfer to a hospital or other suitable institution prisoners suffering from a mental disorder but not so ill they required treatment in a mental hospital.

The committee recommended the reforms department sell all land at the Mimico reformatory, in a western suburb of Toronto, that is not required for the buildings, grounds and the brick industry. It proposed that the west-end Andrew Mercer reformatory for women be moved outside the Toronto metropolitan area and that its present lands and buildings be sold.

The committee also recommended the selling of the buildings and land at the Cobourg training school for boys and that a new school be built on the grounds of the Bowmanville training school. It also recommended that the training school for boys at Guelph be closed.

PRISONS COSTLY

Dealing with the cost of the prison system, the committee said the persons who pay the penalty of crime are the taxpayers.

"It is a popular misconception that a convicted person is singled out to pay the penalty for his crimes," the committee report said. "Actually, he often pays a much less severe penalty than society generally and his own family particularly."

It said the average cost for room and board for each person serving a sentence in an institution is $3.77 a day. A person who served a one-year term cost taxpayers about $1,500. The figures were net, allowing for the revenue of institutional industries. Society also supplied relief and mothers' allowances for the support of a convicted man's family.

These costs tended to be recurrent. About 70 per cent of the prisoners in provincial institutions were repeaters.

Said the report:

"The investment does not provide the interest, in the form of reformation, to which the public is entitled."

Deaths Blamed On Rent Removal

TORONTO (CP) — Removal of rent controls in London, Ont., was blamed for the fire deaths recently of two children at suburban Highland Creek.

Herbert Gargrave, an official of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO), told the Toronto and Lakeshore Labor Council (CIO-CCL) Monday night, that the family concerned was forced to move from London to a one-room tar-paper shack at Highland Creek because when controls went off the rent of its premises in London was raised to $125 a month.

In the fire, two cousins, Sharon Wilkins, 4, and Dan Hampson, 3, lost their lives. Mrs. Bert Wilkins, wife of a Canadian soldier in Korea escaped with her two younger children, Robert, 2, and Bruce, 1.

Immigration Increase Of 44% In January

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration entries jumped 44 per cent in January over a similar period last year.

The immigration department today reported that 8,080 persons entered Canada compared with 5,627 in January, 1953. The increase reflected rises of 68 per cent in arrivals of British origin, 43 per cent of north European origin and 40 per cent from other countries.

Ontario took the bulk of the new arrivals—4,493.

Also surviving are another son, Norman, of Toronto; and three daughters, Mrs. Mary Manning, New York; Enid Endicott, Washington; and Mrs. H. P. Gundy, Kingston.

Butter Stockpile Biggest Yet

OTTAWA (CP)—The government likely will enter the new butter production year next May with the biggest unsold butter stockpile in price-support history.

The surplus at the end of the current butter year April 30 may range between 30,000,000 and 53,000,000 pounds, biggest since the government's price-support program started in 1948, federal authorities estimate.

The previous high was 20,000,000 pounds in 1949. Last year it was 19,000,000. During 1953 Canada's creamery butter production soared to 303,000,000 pounds, second only to the all-time high of 312,000,000 in 1943.

And while federal experts are pondering the problems of the anticipated peak surplus, indications are that production in 1954 may rise even above the 1953 level, adding to the government's disposal problems.

Dairy industry spokesmen estimated butter stocks May 1—including that held by government and the trade—will be about 46,900,000 pounds. Production in 1954 is expected to soar to a new high of 323,000,000.

This, they anticipate, will make 370,000,000 pounds available for Canadian consumers. But actually the market will take only 278,600,000, pushing the unsold surplus May 1, 1955, to a new high of 91,400,000 pounds.

Attorney-General

Frank J. McNulty was sentenced in Calgary Jan. 14 to three years for attempted arson.

He is wanted by police at St. Thomas on a charge of murder in connection with the deaths of two men who died in a fire at the YMCA there. It is charged that McNulty started the fire.

Because Lethbridge jail was full, he was sent to Fort Saskatchewan jail prior to being sent to Prince Albert penitentiary to serve his sentence.

"The prisoner was placed in an ordinary cell, similar to all other cells in the block, and was given the same food as all other inmates," the attorney-general said.

The prisoner asked to see a doctor on the morning of Feb. 22 and the doctor immediately reported his suspicions the prisoner might be suffering from polio, Mr. Maynard added.

The attorney - general reported McNulty arrived at the Royal Alexandra Hospital one hour after he first reported sick.

After receiving confirmation of the polio diagnosis, the Fort Saskatchewan jail warden notified McNulty's father.

"On Friday the 5th of March the brother of the prisoner contacted the warden," Mr. Maynard said, "and when the warden explained to him the method of procedure followed in all such cases, the brother stated he had been misinformed and that he was perfectly satisfied with the treatment his brother, the prisoner, had received."

John J. McNulty had told reporters the next day that he would demand a probe.

Meanwhile, officials reported McNulty's condition still serious. Shortly after his removal to hospital, he underwent a throat operation necessary only in serious polio cases.

Missing Man

After a visit with lockmaster, Ed Parberry, Smith was last seen about 11:30 p.m. Saturday when he left the lockmaster's home. His truck, parked on the River Road, was still there Sunday and then late Sunday relatives became worried. The search started and ended when the body was found at 2:30 a.m. today in the lock.

"He (Smith) came up to pay some money he owed me," said Parberry who has seen 4 fatalities at the lock in the past eight months. "It was in the afternoon, after dinner, I guess, when he came."

Parberry added that Smith "stayed at a little party we were having" and "then got up to go home about 11:30 p.m." Smith told Parberry then he was going to his truck.

"That's the last any of us seen of him."

When Smith left, Parberry went to bed and it never "crossed my mind" that anything was wrong.

"Why the man just got up and walked out. His truck was parked out there on the road (back of Parberry's house about 150 feet away)."

Late Sunday the Parberrys called Smith's home about the truck.

"They didn't seem to think much about it. He was known to leave it for short periods."

Then on Monday Parberry's wife, Evelyn, called again and this time "one of the boys got the truck at noon.

"They started inquiring and looking around then," said Parberry.

POLICE INVESTIGATE

About 9 p.m. the provincial police visited the lock and then went away. They returned again and had Parberry let the water out of the lock.

"We started letting the water out. It was slow going out — the gates are jacked up for repairs. It was out finally and we found Smith pretty near the middle of the lock."

Once they found the body, Parberry had to fill the lock again to bring the body up because "we couldn't go down there in the winter when it's dark."

Mrs. Smith said her husband, a veteran of the Second World War, had blackouts at various times during the past three years. In fact he had a blackout only last Thursday.

"I've always had the impression he had high blood pressure. He reddened in the face easy when he exerted himself."

When her husband didn't return Saturday night or early Sunday, Mrs. Smith said she "wasn't worried" because he has gone "on weekends. Generally he has always phoned me and then returned about 9."

Late Sunday Mrs. Smith had "the idea that he was away with someone else and was somewhere where he couldn't call me."

But on Monday she became worried and had "the boys bring in the truck at noon" as the search started.

BROTHER KILLED

This is the second tragedy in the Smith family. In 1934 Smith's brother John attempted to cross the Atlantic Ocean, from Peterborough Ont., to Peterborough, England, in a canoe. After successfully shooting the rapids in the St. Lawrence River, the canoe was wrecked in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the brother drowned.

Son of Mrs. Theresa Smith (Clute) and the late Robert Smith, Smith was born in Peterborough Prior to the Second World War, during which he served in the Provost Corps, he worked at the Quaker Oats and Kingdon's barrel factory, formerly on Barnardo Ave. For the past eight years Smith has been a roofer, developing a large business which will be carried on by his sons.

A life member of the Canadian Legion, Branch 52 and the Red Patch Club, Smith is survived by his mother, his wife, the former Hilda Farthing, six sons, Herbert, Roland, Harold, Robert, Garry and Stephen and his brothers, Earle and Carl.

The body is resting at the Nisbett funeral home where the service will be conducted Thursday at 2 p.m. by the Rev. F. G. Ongley of St. John's Anglican church. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Queen Begins Queensland Tour

BRISBANE, Australia (CP)—The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh landed today at Brisbane airport for a visit to Queensland and were greeted with a roaring welcome.

They arrived after a flight from Melbourne for the tour of this northeastern Australian state and were met by crowds which 36 hours before had begun finding vantage points to view the royal couple.

Only sour note was provided earlier by a small dissident group who slashed and defaced welcoming banners. Banners proclaiming "Long live the Queen" were paint-daubed to read "Long live the Irish." Other banners were slashed and torn down in an Irish neighborhood.

Workers hurried to repair the damage in time for the arrival, while police began an investigation.

At Melbourne, the royal couple were given a wildly enthusiastic send-off by thousands of hatless men and women from stores and offices who refused to start work until they had shouted and waved goodbye.

FLOODS STOP TRAVEL

Floods in Queensland's northern districts have dashed the hopes of at least 60,000 people anxious to see the Queen.

Townsville's Mayor A. J. Smith estimated that the floods would prevent about 45,000 people from travelling into his city to welcome the royal couple.

Meanwhile, Australian polio experts are meeting in Perth to advise whether the royal visit to western Australia should be curtailed or cancelled in view of the current polio epidemic.

Their three-day conference has been called primarily to consider methods of combatting the epidemic, but they will also discuss its effect on some aspects of the royal tour.

Rise In Tax Rate

KITCHENER (CP) — Preliminary budget estimates of Kitchener city council—if approved—would raise the tax rate by 6.11 mills over last year's 72 mills, council was told today.

However, it is expected that when the estimates are dealt with Thursday there will be considerable paring.

Proud Service

LONDON (CP)—The British civil service has celebrated the 100th anniversary of its formation, and The Times, marking the occasion, said the quality of the higher civil servant has made the service one of the world's most admired institutions.

Leafs Request Permission Tour Russia

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Maple Leaf hockey club today wired a request to the Soviet ambassador in Ottawa for permission for the National Hockey League club to visit Russia this May to play against Soviet teams.

This wire was sent to Ottawa, signed by W. A. H. MacBrien, chairman of the board:

"The Toronto Maple Leaf Hockey Club requests permission to play Russian hockey teams in Moscow, particularly Moscow Dynamos who have recently won the world's championship, early in May.

"Games against Soviet teams would be part of a European tour to promote international ice hockey and goodwill, and would give U. S. S. R. an opportunity to see Canadian hockey at its best.

"Soviet Union would be under no obligation for expenses of the Toronto team."

The Dynamos defeated Toronto East York Lyndhursts 7-2 in the world championship final in Stockholm Sunday.

Deputy-Reeve Blasts Paper As Unscrupulous

COBOURG (ENS) — Deputy-Reeve Charles Johnston, chairman of the fire, water and light committee, the committee which has jurisdiction over the fire department, last night delivered a three-page reply to an editorial which last week appeared in the Cobourg Sentinel Star.

The deputy-reeve, at the outset, pointed out that the committee would table a report on fire department matters at a later meeting but that he wished at the current council meeting to express his personal views in regard to the editorial.

The editorial was critical of the fact that a committee meeting had been held in private at which a town official was up "on the carpet." The editorial asked if some whitewashing was being carried out by the committee or if the committee would divulge to the public what it was all about. The editorial mentioned about the purchase of some equipment and said that the official was to receive a rake-off and also said that there were rumors that some form of a "rake-off racket" had been going on before in the department in question. The editorial said that the "hidden history of Cobourg" is entwined with "these equally hidden deals." Further in the editorial it said, "Graft should be stopped at the first sign."

In his statement to council last night, copies of which were handed out to the newspapers, Deputy-Reeve Johnston said that the matter arose out of a grudge held by the reporter of the Sentinel Star against Fire Chief Ken Baird. The deputy-reeve said thatthereport should know by now that meetings of council committees are never attended by the press, but that the committees eventually report when council meet.

"The council has nothing to cover up, if it were so it would be simply to protect the citizens of our town from an unscrupulous press, who set themselves up as a little god to convict and condemn before lawful judgment has been passed. The Sentinel Star speaks of the enemy of democracy. This is so absurd it is not even funny. This paper has seen fit to pass judgment on a certain official of our town before even the facts are fully known or those in power have passed judgment," said the deputy-reeve.

Summarizing the deputy-reeve's remarks, he said nobody was up on the carpet before the committee but rather he was interviewed for the purpose of getting information. The charge of rake-off and gain was false. The fire chief and deputy fire chief refill fire extinguishers for factories, etc., strictly on their own and not on the town's behalf, and do it cheaper than could be done commercially and that this service was endorsed some years ago.

He defied the Sentinel Star to prove that the council encouraged its officials to accept graft or rake-offs and said that the reference to hidden deals was an insult to men and women who sit on the council. He challenged the Sentinel Star to look up the files of its editorial predecessors to see if they could find any suggestion of hidden deals as the editors in the past were honest men who would have exposed any hidden deals if such had existed.

"I admire a man with guts. I am sorry to say I cannot say the same of those who hide behind the greatest weapon of all, the press, who seem to think they are above all the constitutional laws of our country and deny a man the right to reply in the same paper," said Deputy-Reeve Johnston.

TOGETHER AGAIN to skate as they did to win the world figure skating pairs title in 1949, Andrea Bernolak and Ede Kiraly will perform as headliners of the Peterborough Figure Skating Club carnival in the Civic Arena March 26 and 27. As well, more than 200 club members will take part in the program.

General Criticism Of Increase In B.C. Tax

VICTORIA (CP) — Opposition party leaders, business men and labor leaders were generally critical of the British Columbia government's plan to increase the three-per-cent sales tax by two per cent to replace hospital insurance premiums.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced the proposal in his budget address Monday. He said it would bring the government an estimated revenue of about $23,500,000 to pay increased hospital costs.

R. K. Gervin, spokesman for the 75,000-member Trades Union Congress (TLC) warned that trade unions will seek wage increases to make up for hospital insurance premiums formerly paid in full or in part by their employers.

CCF leader Arnold Webster said the increase will eventually affect the working man.

Liberal leader Arthur Laing said the tax was "regrettable."

"Now we are on the road to statism . . . will medicine be next?" he said.

Geoffrey Ellis, chairman of the retail merchants group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, called the increase "iniquitous."

"Either the government doesn't know what it is doing or it is merely making a political football of the hospital premiums," he said. "I can hardly believe they would be so stupid."

World Champion Skaters United Again In Carnival

World champion pair figure skaters in 1949, Andrea Bernolak and Ede Kiraly will perform at the Peterborough Figure Skating Club carnival at Civic arena, March 26 and 27.

More than 200 club members will take part in the program which will feature, in addition to the champions' performance, a routine by Elaine Richards of Oshawa, and two full-scale productions. The story of Peter Pan will be portrayed in the first half of the program and the second production will be based on his songs of the past and present.

Each production will be complete with costumes and scenery. The setting for Peter Pan will include a pirate ship, Never-Never Land and a nursery for Wendy and her brothers, Michael and John.

Among other accomplishments, Miss Bernolak and Mr. Kiraly have won the Vienna, Hungarian and European pair skating championships, and finally the world's pair skating championship in 1949.

For the past two years, Mr. Kiraly has been the professional of the Peterborough Figure Skating Club. There will be three performances of the show including a matinee on Saturday afternoon.

Special Committee To Study Civic Arena Insurance

Under strong urging by Ald. Stan McBride, the finance committee of city council Monday night approved the appointment of a special committee to discuss the property insurance on Civic Arena with the arena commission.

Ald. McBride, a member of the arena commission, renewed his claim of two weeks ago that the commission could make a saving of more than $1,000 a year by changing from its present policy within the city's joint plan to insurance by a single company under a separate policy.

City property is at present insured under a number of separate policies within a single scheme, in which all local agents participate. The insurance is handled by a broker appointed by the agents.

Ald. McBride presented a brief by Marsh & McLennan of Toronto, in which it was claimed not only that insurance could be provided at a much lower rate but "it is quite obvious the present agents are not providing you with the service you are entitled to."

The brief pointed out that the commission was paying a three-year premium at the rate of 10.42 per cent amounting to $11,462. But the appraised replacement value of the building, $70,000, and equipment $40,000, included the value of foundations, floor and piping, which would not be damaged by fire.

$1,042 OVERCHARGE

The maximum possible collection from the present insurance, even without any deduction for depreciation, the brief stated, was $100,000. Considering what was being paid for insurance on the foundations, floor and piping, the commission was overcharged under its present policies by $1,042.

The company recommended that the policies be made subject to 80 per cent co-insurance and include replacement cost endorsement. The endorsement would mean that the insurance would pay for the cost of repairing, replacing or reinstating losses, without a deduction for depreciation.

The revised rate for this insurance would be 8.33 per cent, a three-year premium of $8,330 on a 100 per cent insurable value of $100,000, with foundations, flooring and piping excluded.

REPLACE HEATERS

If the present oil heaters were replaced by electric heaters, this rate would be reduced to 8.03 per cent and the premium to $8,030. It was understood that, in case of loss, the arena would be rebuilt on its present site.

The resulting three-year saving over the present cost would be $3,432, it was claimed.

City Clerk E. A. Outram said the point as issue was whether council wanted to continue the present type of insurance or to have co-insurance. Under the latter, the company agreed to pay 80 per cent of the cost of restoring the building, exactly like it is.

At present, the building is insured for 100 per cent of its value and, in case of its destruction, the present policies would provide a cash payment which could be used to rebuild however the city saw fit along modern lines if they so desired, the clerk said.

"It's the council who have to decide," Mr. Outram said. "They own the building and have appointed the commission to manage it. Co-insurance might be all right for a privately-owned building. But the city holds the arena in trust for the community. If the council wants co-insurance at 80 per cent of the value of the arena, they don't have to go to the company that submitted this brief.

CALL IN CONSULTANT

"The arena commission could call in the city's insurance consultant (T. C. Ephgrave) to explain the difference in these two types of insurance. I think the commission's views would be changed considerably," the city clerk said.

"We're going to have a meeting," Ald. McBride said. "But I still think we're paying too much. We could have been advised about the saving we could make if we had changed the heating system; but we weren't. We were told to install a sprinkler system.

"When we found other arenas in the province were paying so much less, we thought we could liquidate our present debt to the city, amounting to about $10,000, in about two years, if we cut down our insurance rate," Ald. McBride said.

"I have heard we could get the same type of insurance as we have now from other agents for less than we are paying now," Ald. McBride said.

"Then it should be taken up with the association," Mr. Outram said. "They appoint the broker."

"Is it beyond the realm of possibility that there might be the odd agent in the city who would be willing to sell us insurance for less?" asked Ald. McBride.

ALL SAME PRICE

"Before we had our present plan, when we used to advertise for tenders on insurance, the association came and told us they all had to tender at the same price," the clerk said. "The joint scheme was their idea and they appoint the broker. If the situation is otherwise, this is the first I've heard of it."

"I would like to have a committee meet with the arena commission and have Mr. Ephgrave and a company representative address a joint meeting," Ald. McBride said. "I don't see that we would lose anything. If we have too much coverage or not enough, we should know; and if we can save money we want to know how."

At the suggestion of Mayor Norman Graham, Ald. Pat Anglesey, chairman of the finance committee, appointed Alderman Gordon Powell, Bill Beggs, John Dewart and Art Burrows to the committee.

Gov't Instruction "Childish"—Alderman

KITCHENER (CP)—Ald. Frank Harber today branded as "childish" an instruction from the Ontario department of municipal affairs in respect to municipal grant information to be printed on city tax bills.

The department states: "In every year the following notice shall be printed or otherwise indelibly stamped on every tax demand issued by a municipality.

"The province of Ontario reduces the 195 . . . levy against the ratepayers of the . . . of . . . by contributing the following amounts."

Amounts received for education, highways, welfare, per capita grants and other grants are to be listed.

Ald. Harber said if the province wants to take this kind of credit it should say how much the province has taken out of the city in licence fees, gasoline tax, amusement tax, hotel licence fees, beer tax and from othr sources.

St. Laurent Flies Over Lines In South Korea

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SEOUL (CP)—After an informal day riding a helicopter, climbing under camouflaged nets to sandbagged bunkers and holding onto his seat and hat in rough jeep rides to forward positions for a look at Communist lines, Prime Minister St. Laurent tonight spent a formal evening dining and conferring with President Syngman Rhee.

The touring Canadian leader told his troops they had been a powerful instrument in assuring that aggression doesn't succeed, but what he said to Rhee remained a secret. But it is almost certain that the Korean leader raised the question of Canada's attitude to his widely-proclaimed intention of reuniting Korea by force if necessary.

However, the visiting prime minister had already said in a well-publicized press conference that Canada is against all aggression and that it is not the purpose of the United Nations to bring about Korean unification by the use of military action.

DAUGHTER GETS MEDALS

The prime minister retired early Monday night after a dinner in the quonset hut mess of the 25th Canadian Brigade headquarters but his daughter, Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell, stayed up long enough for an impromptu investiture at the gunners' mess. She had mentioned to Col. Harry Sterne, the Canadian artillery chief from Kingston, Ont., that she had never received her campaign medals covering the period she served as a captain with the CWAC at home and overseas during the Second World War.

The gunners surprised her by producing the three missing ribbons and pinning them on her.

Said she with broad smile: "This is a much more gallant way of getting them than if I applied through the regular channels and they came by mail."

Today, the prime minister drove through drizzle and snow to watch a battery fire live ammunition, and stood in biting cold talking to the gunners.

PROMISES JOBS WAITING

A leather-lunged regimental sergeant-major was putting the Black Watch through parade-square drill when he arrived there, and he signalled them to break ranks and come closer.

He told them the Canadians and their allies had shown potential aggressors they weren't going to succeed, and he hoped the aggressors didn't want to start the war over again.

He promised the men there will be "plenty of work" for them when they come home—"there's a lot to be done to develop the resources of our country."

Dr. Keith McElroy Orthopaedic Surgeon

Dr. D. Keith McElroy was a successful candidate in the recent examinations conducted by the American Board of Orthopaedic Surgery. This is the highest specialist qualification in orthopaedics obtainable in the United States. Dr. McElroy obtained his early education at the Peterborough Collegiate Institute and graduated from the Medical School of the University of Toronto. He then engaged in 10 years of post-graduate training before being appointed to the attending staff of the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Centre in New York. Dr. McElroy is a son of Mrs. A. S. Zavitz of Torrance Muskoka, and the late Dr. W. F. McElroy who resided on Charlotte St. West.

Immigrant, Son Killed

ELM CREEK, Man. (CP) — A Dutch immigrant and his son were killed Monday when their truck collided with a Canadian Pacific Railway train at a level crossing at this community, 50 miles southwest of Winnipeg. John Kars, 63, and his son, Loebert, 19, were returning to their farm from a trip to town.

Major Reforms Suggested For Ontario Prisons

TORONTO (CP)—Recommendations in the report of the Select Committee on Reform Institutions, tabled Monday in the Ontario Legislature, included:

1. Establishment of a chair of penology at an Ontario university.
2. The opportunity of obtaining days off for good behavior to be extended to all inmates, including those serving short sentences in jails.
3. Salaries of institutional personnel to be raised to a level that will attract a consistently high calibre of employee.
4. More pyschologists, psychiatrists and counselors for institutional staffs.
5. Doctors and dentists to be hired on a full-time basis wherever possible.
6. Closer liaison between the Department of Public Works and the Department of Reform Institutions to ensure that construction and repair projects do not endanger security and morale at custodial institutions and a progressive program over the next 10 years to make property acquisition and the structural changes and additions necessary to implement the recommendation contained in the report.
7. Chapel facilities at all major institutions but not at the expense of the second dining room at Ontario Reformatory at Guelph.
8. Sheriffs to be relieved of all powers, direct or indirect, in connection with jails.
9. All jail personnel to be absorbed into the civil service of Ontario.
10. Jails to be used only to house adult persons on remand and those serving short sentences, except for narcotics addicts and any other prisoners requiring special treatment.
11. The Department of Reform Institutions to take steps necessary to elevate jails to recommended standards, including provision for proper segregation, inmate employment, medical care, sanitation, exercise and hobbies.
12. The department to provide facilities for visitors, to consist of sets of two booths, each separated by unbreakable glass and supplied with telephones for oral communication.
13. More thorough examination of incoming prisoners, utilizing such modern devices as the fluoroscope where practical, to intensify precautions against the entry of contraband.
14. General hospitals to be encouraged to establish detention units for housing of mental patients.
15. A full scale reception centre to receive, study, diagnose and recommend treatment for all first offenders aged 16 to 25, male and female, sentenced to provincial institutions as mental cases.
16. The length of stay for mental cases to be six weeks to two months except for short term prisoners.
17. Particular care in the segregation for proper treatment of sex deviates, the mentally defective and mentally retarded, alcoholics, drug addicts; that psycopaths be segregated from the general inmate population and that reformable inmates be kept separate from those not likely to reform.
18. A policy of providing accommodation in individual cells rather than dormitories in all adult institutions.
19. A policy providing work for all able-bodied inmates in custodial institutions.
20. In view of the nature and purposes of custody in contrast to living at liberty, the normal work week for inmates be set at 48 hours.
21. An immediate survey to determine the best means of expanding and extending productive operations in all custodial institutions.
22. Medical examinations immediately after arrest to all persons who exhibit the slightest evidence of illness or injury.
23 Greater emphasis on spiritual guidance in custodial institutions, and that a full-time chaplaincy service be established as soon as possible.
24. Commercial training in the Ontario School for Girls.
25. Extension of general educational efforts where necessary, keeping in mind both the reformative program and the punitive aspect of detention by establishment of adequate liberty facilities and maintaining instruction, hobbies and recreation at a consistent level.
26. Continuation of existing policies and practices in regard to discipline and punishment.
27. Provision for the use of leg irons be removed from the regulations.
28. More rigid control at institutions by means of night patrols or any other measures necessary for effectiveness.
29. Consideration to an immediate start on a cottage plan accommodation for young female "reformables."
30. Extension of facilities for treatment of alcoholics.
31. Longer sentences for alcoholics so as to facilitate ultimate rehabilitation.
32. A separate close security unit, adequately staffed with trained personnel, for treatment of all sex offenders.
33. Persons charged with committing sex offenses in institutions should be tried in regular court, and if found guilty, sent to the special unit for treatment on the same basis as other sex perverts.
34. An extensive scientific study into the nature of sex deviation and the methods of dealing with it.
35. Consideration of all first offenders for probation, but repeaters to be placed on probation only in exceptional circumstances.
36. First offenders not to be sent to prison except where there are exceptional circumstances.
37. Sentences of confirmed repeaters to be long enough to bring real benefit to society.
38. Persons who have served a previous sentence in a penitentiary or three or more sentences in a reformatory should not be readmitted to a reformatory.
39. Confirmed derelicts to be given longer indefinite sentences, segregated completely from other inmates, and provided with an extensive work program.
40. Criminal psychopaths to be segregated completely from other inmates and given hard labor.

More Encouragement, Please, Dr. Phillips

The Ontario Minister of Health, the Hon. MacKinnon Phillips, said last night in a radio broadcast on his Department's work and plans: "Ontario's mental health program is one of our most important concerns, since more than eighteen thousand patients are involved . . . In reviewing general hospital building programs a few months ago, I mentioned psychiatric wards. Well, general hospitals are being encouraged to open psychiatric wards to back our belief that the treatment of mental illness at the community level and in its early stages can prove to be as successful as early discovery and treatment of other ailments. We believe that many persons treated in these special general hospital units will not have to go to one of our mental hospitals for further treatment".

* * *

In an address last month when the presentation of the annual report of the Peterborough Civic Hospital was made, the Chairman of the Hospital Board, Mr. M. J. Swanston, said in part: "We welcomed in June the arrival of Dr. J. S. Pratten to set up in connection with our hospital a Mental Health Clinic. Temporary quarters were provided for Dr. Pratten and plans were developed for adequate space for this department in the undeveloped portion of the East wing basement. Application was made to the Provincial Government to approve these plans as an outpatient department and for capital grants from both the Federal and Provincial governments on this basis. It is regretted that no answer has been forthcoming on these applications".

* * *

What kind of encouragement is it, Dr. Phillips, that your Department does not even answer the letter? You said last night that "general hospitals are being encouraged to open psychiatric wards" Peterborough Civic Hospital has opened one, and you have indeed provided us with a competent psychiatrist at no expense to the city, but your encouragement seems a little wavering. The hospital is eager to give walls and roof—to provide all the space needed—for the new mental health clinic; all it asks is some money to complete the building, as planned, and to provide some adequate equipment. The Civic Hospital's plan, already approved locally, would cost about $43,000. Is your Department of Health (through which Federal grants are also received) ready to encourage the Peterborough hospital to establish this clinic properly, by paying, through grants, part of the capital cost—say $24,677? That was what last year's letter was about, the letter which your Department has not even answered. The hospital has already put aside $19,000 as part of the original building fund, to finish the basement in that wing. That money is ready, so are the plans. All that is now needed is the encouragement you spoke of last night, translated into dollar terms—$24,677; not a large sum compared with the millions you mentioned in your address.

Oh Dry Those Tears

The defeat of the Canadian team by the Russian team in a contest for the world's hockey championship has spread some gloom, understandably enough, but we think that there is a silver lining in the cloud. It means, for one thing, that our national game has become internationally popular and that other nations than our own are playing it with great seriousness. This, surely, is a gratifying state of affairs, and we need not assume that the Russians have taken the championship for good. Another good result of this apparent setback, we feel, is that it will kill much of the rather loose association which has been built up between prowess in games and the spirit of democracy; both are admirable things, but they are not mystically linked, as some people have supposed. And as a means of drawing Canada and Russia nearer, we think that hockey rivalry has its points; a defeat or two is of little consequence; after all, Britain taught Australia to play cricket, and now loses to Australia rather frequently, with commendable good nature on both sides.

We have been told that the team Canada sent to Stockholm was not the best that could have been marshalled. Canada should beware of sending less than her best to represent her abroad; recently a collection of Canadian paintings, not of the first rank, took a merciless beating from Stockholm critics. We must be more discriminating about our exports, sporting, cultural and otherwise.

Mayor's Salary Too Small

Alderman Knox says that the Mayor's salary of $2,500 is quite inadequate and should be increased to $5,000. We fully agree, and believe that most responsible citizens of Peterborough will concur in this, that the Mayor's stipend is much too low. The city has grown greatly, and so have its affairs since the war. Now more than ever the office of mayor is a full-time job. Yet there has been no increase in the mayor's salary since the late Mayor Ovens' term, despite the cost of living having risen, for mayors as well as for all other citizens. The present stipend of $2,500 can hardly cover the out-of-pocket expenses of the Mayor in the performance of his duties, let alone remunerate him for his seven-days-a-week work as mayor. It is a full-time position, and while the office should never become one of profit, it should at least not be a financial hardship on the incumbent.

Mayor Graham himself does not support Alderman Knox's proposal because he says he was elected to do the job at a salary of $2,500. We suggest that the Council, exclusive of the Mayor, should take the matter up and rectify what is in fact as well as in principle, shocking underpayment. It would be unfair to ask the Mayor to initiate or vote on a proposal to increase his own stipend, but other members of the Council can do so. We recommend this course with an eye to the future and not only that the present Chief Magistrate may be better compensated. It is not fair to the office-holder and it is a poor showing for a city of Peterborough's pride, size and importance that the Mayor's salary should be less than the wages of a floor-sweeper in a factory.

A Hero To His Valet

A manservant in the employ of a British Government representative in Ottawa was dismissed recently because he had written a series of articles for a British newspaper about the Duke of Edinburgh, whose valet he had previously been. It is easy to be angry about this matter (a) because you think that a man should not suffer because he has done something which is within his rights, or (b) because you think that the secrets which all the household of a man in public life must know should be kept inviolate. In either case you must see that the incident is proof of the very great change in the social structure which has taken place during the past fifty years.

The professional servant class is now a very small one. It used to be large, and the people engaged in domestic work took a high view of the employment, and considered absolute secrecy to be one of their professional qualifications. This sense of being a confidential employee extended from the 'cook-general' of the ordinary middle-class household to the butlers and valets of kings and potentates. These people told no tales.

Nowadays a great many people tell tales. The former governess of the Queen and Princess Margaret has done well with her books about their intimate life during childhood. Last month Queen Mary's cook published a book telling a great deal about the personal life of that well-loved lady. The Duke of Edinburgh's valet has cashed in on his intimate knowledge of the Duke's life. He told nothing discreditable (in which he was wise, for he would have made himself desperately unpopular if he had aspersed a very popular man) but he told much that the Duke would probably have preferred to keep out of print. It is the trend of the time, and whatever we may think about it, there is little that can be done to stop it.

Nevertheless, people in high places are put in an intolerable situation by these tattlers. Great men, whose lives are lived much in public need valets for exactly the same reason that an important actor needs a dresser—because he cannot reasonably be expected to do the enormous amount of valet's work for himself which his position demands. Is Winston Churchill expected to waste time brushing his own boots and pressing his own trousers? If confidential servants cannot be found, we can only envision a future in which all valet-work for royalty and great statesmen, all cooking for public persons, and all butler's work in official establishments, is undertaken by members of the Secret Service, under oath not to reveal all the fascinating trivialities of the kitchen, cellar and dressing-room. It is not a very pleasant prospect for anybody.

LIQUOR MOTBOK

Sweden Frees Its Spirits

By
P. T. BURKE
(In Stockholm)

SWEDEN is to bring to an end its system of liquor control which has been in force for several decades: from October 1, 1955, sales of intoxicants will in principle be unrestricted.

✧ ✧ ✧

UNLIKE the "noble experiment" brought about in the United States after the First World War by the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution, the Swedish system is not prohibition but simply the rationing of spirits. Although it has involved none of the serious law-breaking and dire consequences that prohibition brought about in the United States, the restrictive Swedish system has become more and more disliked in recent years by a certain section of the temperance movement. This section thinks that the system is now actually increasing the consumption of alcohol, since a person determined to drink more than the ration of spirits allowed on his permit card (motbok) will buy up the motboks of as many non-drinkers as he can, and will probably end up by buying more liquor than he would if sales were unrestricted.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN ORDER to understand Swedish liquor rationing, it is necessary to realise that in former times drunkenness was rife throughout the country. Sweden produces neither grapes nor hops but grows plenty of potatoes; it is therefore potato spirit, with its extremely high alcohol content, that is the basis of the greater part of liquor consumed in Sweden. Two serious national weaknesses make matters worse than they would otherwise be. One is the periodic craving for liquor that affects certain Swedes: such persons are quite capable of working diligently and going to bed early for five days of the week, but they then "hit the bottle" solidly for two whole days at the weekend. Secondly, on top of all this, is the inability of certain Swedes to hold liquor.

✧ ✧ ✧

A STRONG temperance movement grew up during the nineteenth century, but despite the obvious need for some control it was successful in bringing about some minor legislation; not until the beginning of the present century did its big chance come. During the general strike of 1909, the Swedish authorities entirely prohibited the sale of spirits, and this prohibition brought about almost complete sobriety during the six weeks it was in force. Encouraged by this, the temperance societies organised an independent plebiscite on the question of prohibition: the result was 1,900,000 in favour to only seventeen thousand against.

✧ ✧ ✧

HOWEVER, a Dr. Bratt, a Stockholm physician who was at this time taking an active interest in the alcohol problem, did not believe in the possibility of carrying through prohibition, although he had been able to observe how successful it had been for a few weeks. He attributed this success to the fact that all the adverse forces — private distilling, smuggling and other kinds of illicit trading — had not had time to make themselves felt. The solution which Dr. Bratt sought was not total prohibition, but restriction to control individual consumption. The ability of individuals to obtain liquor was not to be removed by law, but to be restricted by control. The Bratt system was generally welcomed as a serious attempt to promote temperance. It was put into practice in Stockholm in 1913 and in 1917 extended throughout Sweden by legislation.

✧ ✧

UNLIKE the British system of food rationing, Swedish liquor control does not involve fair shares for all. A married woman does not have a "motbok" and has to rely on the generosity of her husband; an unmarried woman of under twenty-five cannot have a permit and they are not issued very frequently to men under that age. There are not even fair shares for the holders of motboks since the amount of spirits permitted to be purchased depends on such things as the amount the holder pays in taxes, his social position, profession and marital status. Furthermore, having obtained a motbok he is not free to buy anywhere he likes; he is registered at a liquor store and must make all his purchases there, where they are carefully documented and scrutinised.

✧ ✧ ✧

WINES are not rationed but can only be supplied on the production of a motbok, in order that purchases can be kept to "reasonable quantities." Beer is completely unrationed and a visitor to Sweden who has heard about Swedish drink control may be surprised to find beer sold in cafes and milk-bars — until he discovers that it is practically a soft drink (legally it must not contain more than 3.2 per cent alcohol by weight; almost half Swedish beer is so weak that it does not contain more than 1.8 per cent alcohol.) Although bars and taverns do not exist in Sweden, wines and spirits can also be obtained at certain restaurants for consumption with meals. However, the amount is strictly limited and a woman is allowed only half that permissible for a man. In order to get extra liquor many heavy drinkers are driven to inviting friends and acquaintances to dine out — dinner is preferred to lunch, because the amount of spirits allowed with the evening meal is twice as much.

✧ ✧ ✧

NOW, all this is to end — in principle at least. The consumer will still find that he may buy at only one store and that instead of producing his motbok he will have to produce his income tax receipt before he is allowed to buy; the amounts bought will still be recorded in order to keep them within "reasonable limits" and a "Black List" of alcoholics will be maintained. Furthermore, for the first two days of the free system the liquor store will be closed "for reorganisation." As it happens, October 1 and 2 are a Saturday and a Sunday; it is obvious that the authorities have no confidence that the Swedes will not abuse their new freedom and are hoping (perhaps not too realistically) that an extra five days at office, shop and factory will partly slake a number of Swedish thirsts.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS COMING FREEDOM to drink is a main topic of conversation in Stockholm today and has been the subject of as many toasts as the present ration allows — there must have been an almost unprecedented number of mid-week drunks on the Stockholm streets on the night of the announcement.

An American Opinion: IT NEVER FAILS

Letters To The Editor

CALLOUS DRIVER

SIR: This afternoon, someone driving what might be loosely termed an automobile, ran over and lacerated a perfectly innocent dog. "So what? This happens every day," you might reply. So it does. But why? Any dog which causes no harm to anyone has a right to live at least "a dog's life." The only crime of which this particular dog was guilty, was that of running across a road when someone happened along in a car. Perhaps it was an accident: the driver, however did not stop, but left the panting body of the dog in the middle of the road. The particular car has been involved in at least one serious accident previously, there being a deep furrow from front to back on the left side of the car, and numerous other dinges generously scattered about the body.

"Drivers" like this, should and must, be removed from our roads, as they only add to the already too-numerous hazards present.

Yours sincerely,
JOHN MEHEW.

DIRT IN THE FACE

SIR: Until recently farm owners and tenants have been able to borrow money under the Farm Improvement Loan, which allows them longer than the 12 months time limit to pay back the money borrowed. The government has just passed an act to disqualify veterans settled under the VLA from using this loan, stating that these men are neither owners nor tenants, for the purpose of using the Farm Improvement Loan.

Why was this done? Why should a farmer because his mortgage is held by the VLA be penalized, when his neighbour may also have a mortgage — maybe larger than his — and because he has not settled under the VLA he may use the Farm Improvement Loan?

To me this doesn't seem like a square deal. If the government does not wish to continue this loan why not cancel it for everyone not just verterans?

This loan is a great benefit to the farmer, as I should know after using it for the past 7 years.

The effect of the cancellation will, I think, be felt not only by the farmers now segragated, but also by the business men with whom they deal.

Some other points are: if the VLA men are neither owners nor tenants, should we pay taxes? If we are neither one or the other, what are we?

As one of my good neighbours told me, who is not a vet himself, the government made a big thing of the wonderful job they were doing, settling the vets, and then when we got our heads up they threw dirt in our faces.

Is this the deal we dreamt of while still overseas. Can't something be done about this situation?

VET OF FIVE YEARS SERVICE.

CHRISTIANITY AND HAPPINESS

SIR: For people to be really happy they must have a Christian outlook on life. Our Christian church workers are the happiest people who exist. Note the placid, good, intelligent face of a Salvation Army sister. Their motto is to help and in helping others they are happy themselves.

To be happy we must above all things have peace of mind. Emotional conflict can play havoc with the body as well as the mind. Mental adjustment is often necessary and when detected should be treated immediately.

Most people do not realize that the individual who is true to himself and his fellow man is the happiest. These people are unselfish, kind and to be trusted.

Canon Warner, an American theologian, said: "Advice is just a trap for people; if you give people the advice they want to hear they will simply make you responsible for their decision and either become dependent on you or blame you if it doesn't work. They'll either disregard it or follow it just long enough to make you a fool. These people are seeking happiness from religion.

Happiness is a disease catching to others. The individual who carries it spreads it on to the next person he is conversing with and so on. It is a disease uplifting to the body and mind. Learn to laugh at the little problems of every-day life and happiness is bound to exist.

Laugh and the world laughs with you, weep and you weep alone.

Yours truly,
MR. BORDEN.

PRESERVE GOOD ARCHITECTURE

SIR: I have been thinking for a long time that it was a pity all our new stores on the main streets were only one or two stories high. Now I see by your paper I am not the only one who thinks we are soon going to have a squat city. We used to have really imposing looking buildings up and down George street and everyone who visited our city admired it, but time is taking toll of most of those buildings and mostly low, squat buildings are replacing them and when we need a new city hall where most visitors will be entertained, what do we do? — build another squat building — when we might have had a five or six story building that would be worthy of future Peterborough. Other cities don't stop at 5 or 6 stories but build 20 or 40 stories. Now our Public Library — a beautiful building that means something to Peterborough and really points up the possible beauties of the city hall by being such a contrast — but some want it torn down and more of city hall style put up.

Yet, I know it's modern architecture, but you can have too much of anything. We need more imagination. Does London tear down Buckingham Palace or the old cathedrals when they are damaged? No. They carefully replace every brick and cornice to save the old architecture for future generations. Let us preserve some of our older buildings. Would we want St. John's church made modern or George Street church, with its turrets like a silhouette against the moonlite sky taken away? And, what would Reid St. Hill be without St. Peter's Cathedral?

Anyway, let us wake up and don't let us end up looking like a lot of chicken houses or shacks squatting on the prairie.

Yours for the future,
ENID.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Thus saith the Lord the Holy One of Israel, and his Maker. Ask me of things to come concerning my sons, and concerning the work of my hands command ye me. I have made the earth, and created man upon it: I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their host have I commanded. I have raised him up in righteousness, and I will direct all his ways. (Isa. 45:11-13.)

Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me. (Isa. 43:10.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Many, O Lord my God, are thy wonderful works which thou has done, and thy thoughts which are to usward: they cannot be reckoned up in order unto thee: if I would declare and speak of them, they are more than can be numbered. (Ps. 40:5.)

Nowhere To Live

(Le Droit, Ottawa)

The new federal law dealing with housing will probably help the situation a little, but it will not settle the housing problem in Canada. That becomes more and more clear. It is foreseen that about 100,000 houses will be built in the twelvemonth following the adoption of the law. If that should happen, the present state of affairs would not be much affected. According to Mr. Mansur, president of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation the demand for new houses is so great that the majority of those being built are sold before they are finished. The president believes that to meet present demand there must be a yearly building of 125,000 or 130,000 houses, which leaves an annual deficit of from 25,000 to 30,000 . . . In Montreal an architect, Mr. Noseworthy, sets at 10,000 the number of houses which are absolutely uninhabitable and to be demolished at once in the metropolis. To replace them 12,000 lodgings must be built. There is likewise a big cleaning up to do in the other large cities in Canada . . . It is inconceivable that a country as rich as Canada in capital, natural resources and manpower cannot house a family better. The attitude of the authorties in this matter allows us to estimate the degree to which social sense is lacking in this country.

Electrical Goods Markets Lost

(Ottawa Journal)

Take the evidence of Mr. B. Napier Simpson president of the Canadian Electrical Manufacturers' Association. The Canadian electrical industry, Mr. Simpson points out, has an average wage rate of $1.60 per hour, against Britain's 53 cents. As a result the British Columbia Electric Company recently bought cable valued at $3 million from a British firm, the best Canadian bid being a million dollars higher. As a result also the Canadian Westinghouse lost contracts equivalent to 680,000 man-hours of employment to foreign competitors.

Now Canada has got to trade with Britain, with Japan, with Germany, with India; Japan, for example, has begun to buy our wheat, and obviously we must take goods in payment.

But Canada's prosperity cannot be sustained by mere sales of wheat, or of raw materials. Rightly or wrongly we have geared our economy to manufacturing (whether we should have done this in the case of certain manufacturing is another question) and the cold truth is that if our manufacturers find that because of wage scales and high taxes they are unable to compete, we inevitably are in for trouble.

CPR Orders New Ocean Liner

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian Pacific Steamships announced today that an order for a new 22,500-ton passenger and cargo liner, to operate between Canada and the United Kingdom, has been placed with a British shipyard.

The vessel is the second of two sister ships, ordered from Vickers Armstrongs, Ltd. The ships will cost an estimated $30,000,000.

The first ship, already under construction on the Clyde, will be ready for service early in 1956. The liner will be named Empress of Britain after the Canadian Pacific vessel lost during the Second World War.

Name of the second vessel, expected to be completed in the spring of 1957, has not been decided.

The ships will be capable of 21 knots service speed and will accommodate 130 first class and 900 tourist class passengers. They will operate out of Montreal.

Midget Shamrocks Take 8-Point Lead Over Barrie

Peterborough Shamrocks, sponsored by the local Police Athletic Association, defeated Barrie 11-3 last night on Barrie ice to open their home-and-home OMHA midget "A" playdown series. Shamrocks, coached by Pat Doherty and managed by Dave Hayes, had drawn a bye in the first round of the provincial playdowns and stepped right into the second set against Barrie. The return game of the series will be at 8:30 this Thursday night in Civic Arena, Shamrocks boasting an eight-goal lead.

This is pretty much the same squad which sailed through last spring to capture the Ontario bantam "A" championship, the boys stepping up to midget rating this season with but three different players in the lineup. They won the OPMHA title some time ago to represent the city in the provincial playoff picture.

FAST AND OPEN

Play was fast an open in Barrie last evening, with the visiting crew breaking early on good combination rushes to build up a 5-2 lead at the end of the first period. It was much tighter in the second, a 5-3 tally showing at the end of it, as Barrie battled to stay in the game. But Shamrocks rolled again in the windup chapter to tote home a comfortable lead for the return match.

It was a rugged fray over most of the route, with two dozen penalties handed out, no less than 16 going to the young Shamrocks. But they checked well, both the defence pairs and forward lines and received good goaltending from Terry Welsh.

Two goals each for Peterborough were counted by Jim McCarthy, Bill Forestell, Bill Mahoney, and Pat Baker, while singles were marked to Gary Darling, Frank Daley and Peter Heffernan.

City Carpetball

The schedule for the week of March 15 is: Fire Hall No. 4 vs. Orphans No. 8; Legion No. 9 vs. Lawn Boys No. 2; Legion No. 11 vs. Red Patch No. 13; Glens No. 6 vs. Fire Hall No. 10; Legion No. 3 vs. Legion No. 5; Legion No. 1 vs. LOL No. 12; Post Office No. 14 vs. Legion No. 7.

Results of last week's play are: Legion No. 9 swept to two victories over Posties No. 14. The first game was 17-7 and second game was won by No 9 in the two final ends when the score stood at 9-8 prior to that. The final score was 13-8. Orphans No. 8 came within striking distance in the tenth frame of the first game when they were trailing 8-10. But No. 3 scored a big three in the next frame and while No. 8 came back to score a deuce. The Legion No. 3 won 13-10. In the second game, Orphans No. 8 started to score early and kept it up most of the way to win a 13-6 game.

Red Patch No. 13 almost came from behind in the second game, but failed to score in the two final ends and Legion No. 5 won 14-9, also taking the first game 17-7.

BEST MATCH

The best match of the week was played when Legion No. 11 in the first game were trailing 11-16 and by capturing the 11th and 12th made it a 16-all tie. The second game was just the reverse. Lawn Boys No. 2 and Legion No. 11 were tied 7-all with three frames to go and all of those ends went to No. 2 along with a 12-7 game.

Legion teams No. 1 and No. 7 placed two very close games. The first game was won by No. 7 in the two final ends by a score of 11-7. The second game was won by No. 1 by an 11-8 score or a total of 18 against No. 7's 19. LOL No. 12 were kept to five singles in the first game which Glens No. 6 won 10-5. The second game saw No. 6 come from behind and by taking the last five ends won an 11-7 game.

Both Fire Hall teams met and a game apiece resulted. First to No. 4, 11-5, second to No. 10, 16-3.

The game not reported last week resulted in two wins for Legion No. 3 by scores of 9 and 19 over Lawn Boys No. 2 scores of 5 and 7.

DOUBLE LIST

The Gracie's Memorial Double for Wednesday, March 10, at 7 p.m.: Team No. 7 (Nice and Gimblett) vs. Team No. 2 (Hazlett and Varty); Team No. 6 (McMullen and McPhee) vs. Team No. 4 (Meagher and Clapham). Referess, J. Douglas and R. Ralston.

8.30 p.m.: Team No. 8 (Nolan and Nicholson) vs. Team No. — (Roberts and Joyes); Team No. 3 (Wilson and Stedman) vs. Team No. 17 (Reid and Pritchard). Referees, L. Herr and G. Gimblett.

Results of last week's elimination contest were: Team No. 12 won first and third games by scores of 9-5 and 8-3, while their opponents, Team No. 28, won the second game, 8-5. Team No. 21 swept to two straight wins over Team No. 10 by scores of 10-5 and 13-4. Team No. 27 won both games over Team No. 18 by scores of 10-5 and 11-2, thereby eliminating No. 18 from this competition. Team No. 13 failed to show up and Team No. 26 won by default.

These games must be played on alternative mats if both mats are being used. If both mats are not being used, the games may be played on one carpet if the skips involved are all satisfied.

The doubles schedule for Wednesday, March 17, is: Team No. 19 (Campbell and Cain) vs. Team No. 31 (Hicks and Lundy); and Team No. 20 (Fitzgerald and Fraser) vs. Team No. 22 (Bromley and Metcalf), at 7 p.m.

At 8.30 p.m.: Team No. 25 (Cummings and Moyes) vs. Team No. 3 (Lord and Harrison) and Team No. 24 (Pooley and Wilson) vs. Team No. 9 (Honour and Gracie).

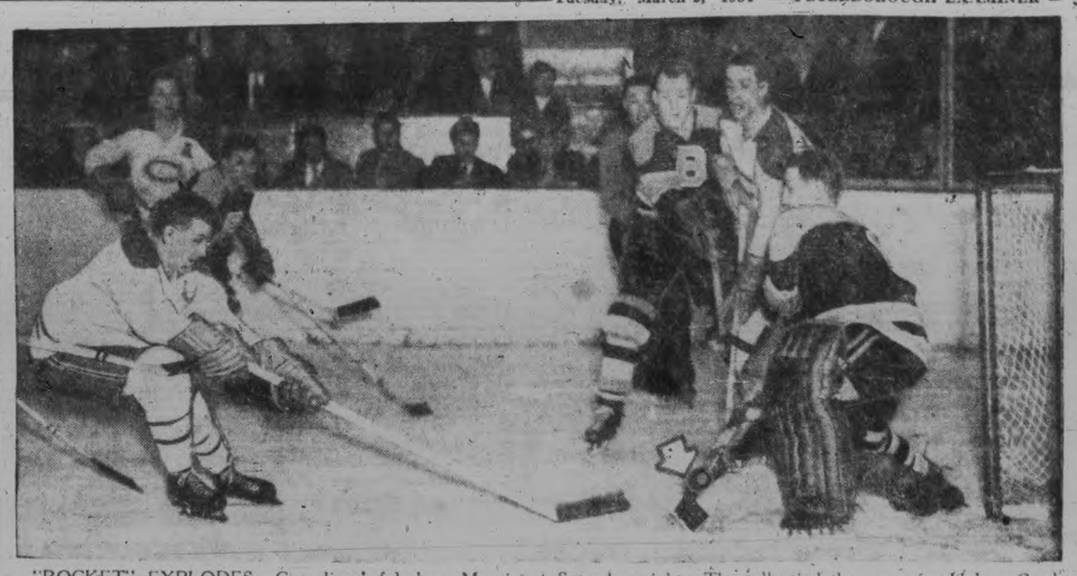
Child Swallows Pills Dies 7½ Hours Later



WINGHAM, (CP)—A three-year-old girl died in Wingham General Hospital Monday night, apparently because she swallowed three unidentified pills 7½ hours earlier.

Hospital authorities said the stomach of the girl, Deborah Collar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Collar, was washed shortly after she reported swallowing "three pills."

She was released at 5 p. m., but became drowsy at home about 9 p. m. Dr. Bernard Corrin and Dr. W. M. Connell applied artificial respiration at home and at the hospital where oxygen and resuscitation were applied for two hours before she died.

Coroner Dr. W. A. Crawford released the body without an inquest.

The child evidently found the pills while playing next door with her cousin, five-year-old Barry MacLean.

RUSS PLAYERS GET BONUS

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — Members of the Soviet team which defeated Canada for the world ice hockey championship, received a state bonus of 5,000 rubles ($1,250) each, the liberal Swedish evening paper Aftonbladet reported today.

The paper said it had received this information from "one of the Soviet team's most skillful players."

"He said," Aftonbladet added, "that he was very well off at home, thanks to sport. He had a salary of 3,000 rubles ($750) a month from the army. With his extra income from sport he had bought a car for 16,000 rubles ($4,000).

"Soviet players," Aftonbladet continued, "also received their full monthly salaries from the state when they are on sports errands.

A list of the Soviet team, published in Aftonbladet and other Swedish papers showed that eight of its 15 members were in the armed forces.

The Socialist Morgon-Tidningen said:

"Russia with her infinite resources will muster an even stronger team next year. The Canadians will have difficulty again in finding an amateur team which can beat the European elite. The time is past when the Canadians could send over a gang of airmen, carwashers or bus drivers to match up to the old world."

WILLIAMS MAY RETURN

BOSTON (AP)—Injured Ted Williams may return to baseball sooner than expected.

Surgeons will open the Boston Red Sox slugger's left shoulder today and wire together his broken collarbone.

The doctors estimate his return to playing status "in the vicinity of eight weeks."

Williams suffered the injury last Monday, 10 minutes after trotting on to the Sox training field at Sarasota, Fla. He tumbled while reaching for a low-hit ball and landed on his shoulder.

REYNOLDS MAY RELIEVE

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Allie Reynolds, the New York Yankees' top salaried pitcher at about $42,000, probably will be strictly a bullpen artist this season.

It all depends on a couple of big "ifs."

1. If youngsters like Bob Wiesler, Steve Kraly and Wally Burnette make the grade.

2. If Allie's sore back doesn't act up.

The 36-year-old right-hander is taking it easy in spring practice, slowly working himself into condition. He won't start bearing down for a long time.

Start or relieve, Allie doesn't care. He'll gladly do both like he did last season if he can.

France, Germany Try Settle Saar Quarrel

PARIS (AP) — France and Germany agreed today to try to settle their quarrel over the Saar on the basis of a Dutch plan for Europeanizing the rich little industrial border territory.

Foreign Minister Georges Bidault insisted, however, that new French proposals which were submitted here today to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer should also be taken into consideration.

A brief communique issued after the West German chancellor and Bidault held two separate talks this morning gave no indication of the nature of the French proposals, but the communique said they had been drawn up in the same spirit as the council of Europe plan put forward by the Dutch socialist, Van Der Goes Van Naters.

Under his plan the Saar would be administered by a European commissioner and an advisory council. France would retain her present economic union with the coal-and-steel territory, which brings her close to industrial parity with West Germany.

GERMAN DEMANDS

Germany, which refuses to give up all her claims to the German-speaking Saar which Hitler took over, is expected to insist on some sort of currency tie with the area and on the admission of more German goods there.

Adenauer stopped here for four hours at the start of a three-week state visit to Greece and Turkey. He had proposed the talks in hopes that some progress on settlement of the issue of the Saar would influence the French national assembly to act soon on the European army treaty, which would arm German troops within the international force.

Three Peterborough Rinks Qualify For Final Rounds

When Mrs. V. Selkirk, president of the ladies' curling club, and Dr. M. McCartney, president of the Peterborough Curling Club, in brief speeches welcomed all curlers to this open bonspiel, the annual mixed rink affair was officially declared open Monday morning. The spiel will run right through until Friday. Of the seven rinks that qualified to return for the final round on Friday, four were from visiting clubs and three from the local club. All of the 14 rinks played three 10-end games and today 14 different rinks are doing the same.

The qualifying rinks are:

The Empress Hotel Trophy—B. Dench, Peterborough; C. Selkirk, Peterborough.

The Calvert Trophy—C. Grills, Lindsay; J. Henderson, Bobcaygeon.

The T. Eaton Co. Trophy— J. Curtis, Fenelon Falls; L. Walker, Lindsay.

Gordon K. Fraser Trophy—R. Bastable, Peterborough.

Petes Even Series With Orillia Taking A 5-2 Win

By CEC. PERDUE

Breaking fast from the barrier in Orillia last night, the Petes maintained a steady pace through the course to earn a 5-2 victory over the Pontiacs and square their OHA senior "B" group semi-final series at two wins each. Fifth fray of the best-of-seven set is Wednesday here, and the sixth back in Orillia on Saturday. Nearly 2,000 fans, many from Peterborough, saw the TPT team humble the Pontiacs Monday night. Reversing the procedure of last Saturday's local loss here, the Redmond-Jopling squad racked up a 4-1 lead in the first period, and played on even terms the rest of the hot duel, Pontiacs scoring once in the middle chukker and Petes firing one home in the third.

GENERALLY CLEAN

Again it was a hard-hitting but generally clean contest, well handled by Referees Body and Yeo of Owen Sound. Again it was a fast, tense tilt all the way, and once more the meeting of these teams produced smart playoff hockey. The main difference this game was that the Petes hustled hard from the start and didn't waste a period getting going. They looked the better club on the night's play as they boiled the series down to a best-of-three set the rest of the way.

Peterborough markers were by Toodie Greenlaw, Gus Leonard, Ted Collins, Chum Fryia and Bert Hill. Two assists went to Eddie Redmond, and one apiece to McMaster, Fryia, Collins, Bill Crowley and Gus Leonard. Both goalies were good, with Jack Donlevy turning in a starry chore to hold down the Orillia count in every period. They peppered him at times in the third in a desperation drive, but couldn't put a puck past him. Denny Peterson returned to action and looked good, too.

ALL STARRED

All the Petes played up to form, there being no particular star in the lineup and no laggards. They drove from the first faceoff, passed and shot well, and they backchecked, being particularly good defensively when a man short. The Petes should have had another goal but a quick whistle for a double roughing penalty nullified a marker by Fryia. The latter was winded once, and McMaster got a nasty bang on the head in a fall, but returned to action after a rest.

Play opened cautiously with both sides being careful. Favero and Montgomery were gated early for roughing but were back well before the Ponties scored, Richardson blazing a high angle drive into the twine on a combination drive with Bowen and Grigg in close. This fired the Petes and they roared back to score three goals in a hurry. In fact, all four goals were scored within one minute—a most unusual feat. Greenlaw tore in to slam home a rebound on a sortie by McMaster and Redmond, and then Leonard lit the lamp seconds later on fine in-close combination with Fryia and Redmond, the goalie sprawling in a vain attempt to hold out the shot. Collins dashed right in again on a fast stab to cuff home Crowley's pass by the edge of the crease. The Orillia goal was at 8:44 and the third Petes' marker came at 9:43 to leave the fans gasping at the savage and sudden rally by the visitors. Aitkin was gated for tripping and Fryia scored on a return pass from Leonard with a high shot as he tramped right in on Shropshire.

BIG BILL HURT

McMaster was hurt early in the second in a fall. Favero went over for hooking and Peterson followed for high sticking. Payne got it next for hooking but all were back and the Belisle line pressed hard in speedy going. Aitkin finally notched the final Orillia goal when he poked in a rebound in a scramble with Payne and Favero, Donlevy being down on the ice after one save. The Hill trio tried hard and later Leonard almost notched one. Favero was waved for tripping near the close of the middle chapter.

A neat backhand try by Favero to start the third stanza just about slipped by Donlevy but he did the splits to toe it out. A good rush by Monty and Hill followed and then Prentice took a trip for tripping. Ponties poured it on plenty in his absence but fine checking by forwards and defence, as well as brilliant net-minding, kept them out. Woods was thefted on a clean breakaway and the Petes continued to check doggedly into corners, around the net and down the ice. Fryia broke loose and was crossing the blue line fast to go in and score when the whistle just beat him, Grigg and Munro up behind the other net being penalized for roughing. The Petes argued hotly that the play shouldn't have been stopped till it was over for a penalty, but the refs ruled it no goal. Montgomery later went over for roughing and Fryia, Leonard, McMaster and Redmond did Yeoman service checking the fighting Ponties till he returned. Hill scored the last one late from Collins after a corner faceoff to clinch matters.

Petes: goal, Donlevy; defence, Redmond and McMaster; centre, Leonard; wings, Fryia and Greenlaw; alts.: Hill, Crowley, Collins, Belisle, Prentice, Peterson, Montgomery, Munro and Armstrong.

Orillia: goal, Shropshire; defence, Shewchuk and Robertson; centre, Bowen; wings, MacDonald and Richardson; alts, Nelson, Woods, McCrone, Payne, Aitkin, Favero, Grigg, Pearsall and Desroches.

Referees, Body and Yeo.

IN ON TWO GOALS EACH—Above are three of the Petes who figured prominently in their club's 5-2 senior "B" semi-final playoff win last night in Orillia, Gus Leonard (left), Chum Fryia in centre, and Ted Collins. Each of them was in on two goals as the squad turned in a starry effort to sew up the series at two victories apiece. The playoffs resume here Wednesday, a best-of-seven set.

Fryia Leading The Petes With 54 Points

Official league scorer George Carver of Belleville has drawn up the scoring lists for the scheduled games in the OHA senior "B" group race. Ed Duncan leads Belleville and the whole group with 78 points. Clary Payne is tops for Orillia with 63 points, three less than Don Murray of Kingston. Chum Fryia heads the Petes with 54 points and he leads the league in actual goals scored with 40. Ed Hooper is best for Oshawa with 49 points. Following are the Petes' scorers, with penalties in minutes also listed:

	G.	A.	Pts.	PIM
Fryia	40	14	54	29
Leonard	14	36	50	2

Sullivan Assured Scoring Title

NEW YORK (AP)—George Sullivan of Hershey Bears is virtually assured of capturing the American Hockey League's scoring title as he closed in on one of the circuit's all-time records in games through Sunday.

The hustling centre has compiled 104 points on 28 goals and 76 assists, and holds a commanding lead over Jackie Gordon of Cleveland and Don Marshall of Buffalo, both of whom have 86 points.

With two more weeks of the campaign still to go, Sullivan has a chance to break the AHL mark of 118 points set by Carl Liscombe of Providence in 1948. He already has established a new standard for assists this season.

Buffalo's Jacques Plante, recalled by the parent Montreal Canadiens, still is the top goaltender with an average of 2.69 goals-against a game.

Greenshirts Beat St. Michael's 9-1

WATERLOO (CP)—Toronto St. Michael's Majors, hit with injuries and with only five regular players in their line-up, were walloped 9-1 by Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A game Monday night.

The third-place Majors, with 12 juvenile players on their roster, were no match for the fifth-place Greenshirts who peppered Irish netminder Gerry McNamara with 65 shots. The Collegians hit the Kitchener net with only 19 drives.

Del Toppal led the winners with three goals. Other Kitchener counters went to Greig Hicks, Doug Vaughan, Bud Hillman, Beryl Klinck, Gary Collins and Glen Cressman. Bob Holmes scored for Toronto.

CALGARY (CP)—The 1954 Canadian figure skating championships, organized by the Canadian Figure Skating Association, open Thursday with the finals scheduled for Saturday.

Interest will be centred on Frances Dafoe and Norris Bowden of Toronto, holders of the world's pairs championship won last month at Oslo. Others who also competed in the world championships and will be trying for Canadian honors include Barbara Gratton, Toronto; Ann Johnson, Toronto; Carole Pachl, Montreal; Sonja Currie, Calgary; Charles Snelling, Toronto; Peter Dunfield, Toronto; and Douglas Court of St. Catharines, Ont.

A FINANCIAL SUCCESS

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — The Swedish Ice Hockey Association earned about $150,000 on the world championship tournament, the association's secretary, Pelle Bergstroem, said Monday.

Nearly 150,000 persons watched the tournament, Bergstroem said.

One of Babe Ruth's most publicized holdouts ended 24 years ago today when the home-run king signed a two-year contract with New York Yankees for a total of $160,000. The $80,000-a-season figure was the highest Ruth ever reached in his playing days between 1914 and 1938. Ruth, who died in 1948, earned an estimated lifetime total of $1,425,000 including world series and other sources.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Central Ontario Baseball League will operate this summer with or without a Peterborough entry. They decided at a weekend Belleville meeting to allow the Petes a couple of more weeks to decide whether or not to play ball in the loop, but meantime accepted Watertown (for weekend double-headers in some cases) as a fourth club along with Kingston, Oshawa and Belleville. Many of the former Petes' officials are not interested in fielding a local senior squad this season, though some of the chaps would like to hold a re-organization meeting and see what could be done. We feel that such a meeting should be held within the next week or 10 days and see if a local entry cannot be made. Let's not let it go till too late and then cry over missing the boat.

George Dudley and the CAHA brass which sent Toronto Lyndhursts to Europe for the world's amateur hockey championships are being blasted plenty now since the Soviet squad won the crown over Canada. And well they should be. They were warned repeatedly by prominent puck officials and the press and radio not to sell the Soviets short — that a strong team should represent Canada, the home of hockey. Politics enter into sports wherever the Communists are concerned, and Canada left herself wide open for European ridicule. You can't blame Lyndhursts. This senior "B" team did its best, but it just wasn't a worthy Canadian representative. The CAHA pulled the boner.

Their Scoring Marks

Elsewhere tonight are the scoring figures for the TPT Petes in their regular four-month schedule. Chum Fryia led the locals with 54 points, his 40 goals being high for the league, though Ed Duncan of Belleville topped the circuit with 78 points. He had no less than 53 assists. Gus Leonard was high in assists for Petes and second high in points with 50, besides serving only two minutes in penalties all season. Playing coach Eddie Redmond did a big job as a defenceman to rack up 38 points, including 33 assists, but he also led in penalties with 113 minutes. Bert Hill followed Redmond in scoring with Rod Belisle next, and then Doc Prentice and Denny Peterson.

Senior "B" semi-final playoffs, both brackets being best-of-seven affairs, continue to grind along this week. Oshawa Truckmen tackle Goodyears in Kingston on the morrow, boasting a 2-1 lead in games, and they tangle again on Belleville ice Friday night. Orillia Pontiacs play the Petes here Wednesday eve, and the Petes are off for Orillia on Saturday. Both series must be cleaned up no later than next Monday night, with the four-in-seven group finals starting within the next couple of days. It it quite likely that the winner of this group will step right into the provincial senior "B" semi-finals. Kingston Goodies won the Ontario crown last year but are finding their own loop competition much stiffer this season

Squaring up Series

The Petes' 5-2 win last night in Orillia squared that series at two triumps apiece, making it a best-of-three series the rest of the way. Petes hope to wrap up the set by Saturday night away, after taking the Wednesday game here. No easy task, but they could do it by playing the same hustling style of hockey they showed last night from the first faceoff. You can't fool around with the husky Ponties or spot 'em two or three early goals. It's a case of dig-dig-dig from bell to bell to beat that outfit. TPT-ers did just that last p.m. to earn the win in the first period and play on even terms the rest of the route. Some stiff checking seen, but a fairly clean fray before a hefty crowd. Quite a few folks from here enjoyed proceedings from Orillia pews.

* * * * * * *

Four goals within a minute blew the thing wide open in the first frame. Orillia scored first at 8:44 and the Petes flew right back to bang home three, last one coming at 9:43 before the amazed Pontiacs could slow down their surge. Later in the joust, Fryia's goal was nullified by a too-hasty whistle by a referee, though the officiating otherwise was okay. Gus leonard, Chum Fryia and Ted Collins were in on two goals each, Denny Peterson helped his line after a knee injury side-lined him some time ago. Jack Donlevy shone in goal, our defence was solid, Rod Belisle was the hardest worker out there — and so it went. They all turned in a dandy effort for Eddie Redmond and Drake Jopling. So let's get behind 'em tomorrow and root them into group fihals.

Amateurs Fight Out Five-Round Draw

TORONTO (CP) — Denny Williams, a rugged boxer from Oshawa, and Clayton Kenny of Ottawa RCAF fought to a five-round draw in one of the two main events at the weekly amateur boxing show here Monday night.

Kenny, trying for a spot on Canada's British Empire team, is a veteran of several years and easily took the best shots Williams had to offer.

In a three-round bout in the 135-pound class, Walt Kelly of Oshawa and Cliff Chapman fought to a draw.

Marmora Gets First One From Havelock

HAVELOCK (ENS) — Havelock went down to defeat by a score of 6-2 Monday night in a TVL playoff with Marmora in the first game of the final series for the championship of the northern division.

Over 800 fans witnessed the game which was refereed by McFaul and Acquino of Belleville, who handed out seven penalties, six to Havelock and one to Marmora.

Marmora started early when Jones scored in the first period. He followed with two more goals in that period, making him the top scorer of the evening. Vitarelli got the first tally for Havelock in the first period. The second goal for the locals was scored by Doris from Laing and Ruttan in the second period.

Nicholls, the local goalie, stopped a spectacular breakaway by Jones in the third. Wootton shone on defence.

Havelock: goal, Nicholls; defence, Hannah, D. Mortimer; centre, Eakins; wings, Mason, Vitarelli; alts.: Kane, Doris, Slater, Laing, Ruttan, Scott, Wootton.

Metal Objects Thrown At Leafs

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs, returning home after Sunday night's 4-0 National Hockey League victory over the Rangers in New York, complained of being the targets of two metal objects thrown from the gallery in Madison Square Garden.

Leafs said puck-shaped pieces of heavy metal, weighing about three-quarters of a pound each, narrowly missed two Leaf players. The discs travelled about 60 feet down from the gallery of the Garden.

In Montreal, league president Clarence Campbell said he had heard nothing of the metal-throwing incidents. He said the protection of players against such incidents is the responsibility of the home team.

Lindsay Leads By 3-1 Over Ports In Playoffs

LINDSAY (ENS)—A late third period goal last night gave Lindsay Muskies a 2-1 win over Port Hope Redmen in the fourth game of their Lakeshore league inetrmediate "A" final series. It was the Muskies' third straight win and gave them a stranglehold on their third championship in a row.

Grant Green scored the winner at 18:25 in the third period after the teams had battled through two periods with a score of 1-1. Captain Stu Hicks set up the goal, stickhandling through the Port defence with Evans of the visitors sitting out the last penalty of the game. Green flipped home a short shot after Hicks deked Wasson at the crease. Teams split a pair of goals in the first period. Hicks notched the Muskies first counter when he took Sutton's pass from the board and picked the corner with a low shot.

Great goalkeeping by Wasson was all that kept his mates in the game during the next two periods as the Muskies roamed at will through the Port zone but couldn't crack his netminding. The Muskies' defence was working at top efficiency at the other end to protect O'Connell in the Lindsay nets and he had less than half the work that Wasson had to do.

Hicks, Corley, Parker, Packer and Crawford were best up front for the winners, while the defence of Green, Al Burns, Hennessey and Davis was at peak form. Wasson was best for the losers while McKeen, Freeman, Medhurst and Tod Lintner showed well.

Burlington Winner Dave-Pinkney Trophy

STRATFORD (CP) — Tommy Burlington of the Owen Sound Mercurys has been chosen winner of the Dave Pinkney trophy, emblematic of the most valuable and most gentlemanly player in the Ontario Hockey Association senior A group.

He scored 108 points during the league schedule.

Don Lockhart, Niagara Falls Cataracts' goalie who went overseas to augment Toronto East York in the world's hockey championship, was second and Ken Laufman of Kitchener Waterloo Dutchmen third.

Eleven sports writers and broadcasters from the seven senior centres cast ballots.

WINDIES-TOURISTS DRAW

GRENADA, Windward Islands (Reuters) — England's touring cricket team drew a two-day match with the Windward Islands Monday.

Windward Islands scored 194 runs in reply to the Englishmen's first innings total of 205 for seven declared. With a definite result out of the question, the Britons batted lightheartedly in their second innings and had made 177 for three by the close.

St. Peter's Juniors Trim Uxbridge For Group Laurels

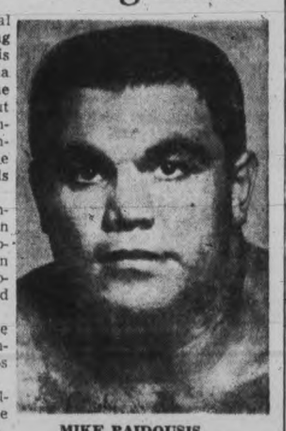
St. Peter's trounced Uxbridge High 75-37 at SPS gym here last night to capture their cage group honors by 48 points and advance into COSSA junior "B" playoffs. They carried a 10-point lead into this return game and dominated play throughout last evening's return match before a fair-sized gallery of fans. It was 21-11 for the Saints in the first quarter and 37-15 for them halfway through. They staved off a drive by Uxbridge in the third quarter and outscored them 18-12 doubling the count by 20-10 in the final frame of a wide-open hoop tussle. Comparatively few fouls were called in the clean contest. Coach Johnny Lynch's smart junior "B" squad will be in the COSSA championship tournament this coming weekend in Toronto, along with other local high school teams.

MASTERSON STARS

Masterson was the big gun for the Saints, turning in a terrific scoring chore to notch 33 points, 20 of them coming in the last half. Quinlan clicked for 14, Hickey getting 10, Board eight, Shaughnessy six, Buckley three and Loescher one. For the losers, Harris was a standout as he hooped 23 points, 14 in the final two quarters. Fellows was good for six, Wallace four and Gould and More two apiece.

The SPS boys started fast and worked down the floor repeatedly to set up mates for quick shots mostly at close range from all angles. They checked well, too, to keep Uxbridge rivals off-balance on their return sorties. The winners cashed in better, also, on free throws, though there weren't too many of these called on either side throughout the tussle. Teams:

Uxbridge — Harris, Fellows, Wallace, Taylor, Gould, More, Cornell.



St. Peter's — Board, Quinlan, Masterson, Allen, Shaughnessy, Hickey, Buckley, Loescher, James, Flynn.

Referee — J. Smith.

Sensational Tex McKenzie Headlines Wrestling Card

MIKE PAIDOUSIS

"Tex" McKenzie, sensational six-foot-nine, 265-pound young giant from Texas, will make his ring debut at the Brock Arena on Wednesday night in the feature wrestling match, but you could hardly call his opponent a gracious welcoming committee, for it's Tiny Mills, the 274-pound member of the Mills Brothers, alias Murder Inc.

One thing for sure, if McKenzie comes out of this match in good standing, he'll have established his worth in no uncertain manner. McKenzie was introduced to last week's crowd and made a good impression.

"Big Ike" Eakins (how the fans hate him), 270, from Kentucky, will meet Ray Cernandos in the semi-final.

Mike Paidousis, former All-American gridder, will oppose Toar Morgan in the first test.

THE SIGN OF FRIENDLY SERVICE

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Not long ago there was a junior hockey game in which the play grew so rough and vicious that the referee himself was knocked down. It seemed inevitable that someone would get hurt or even killed if the game continued. The referee stopped it. This happened in an organized league.

This shocking incident has an alarming significance. In the past year, junior hockey was beset by many scenes of violence and assaults on visiting players. According to the reports, there have been charges, counter-charges and even court cases.

By no stretch of the imagination can all this be considered part and parcel of good sportsmanship. But such a sad state of affairs could hardly have developed without some poor examples. Youngster in hockey, as in all other sports, copy their elders. They trust the judgement of their coaches and leaders. They look to them for guidance.

In the light of those incidents of rough play one may wonder what Canada's junior hockey players are being taught, by instruction and by example. If, as one must suspect, they are learning the dubious arts of thuggery, slugging and foul language, then the outlook for major hockey of the future is a sorry one indeed.

But there is another, vastly more disturbing aspect to the matter: this kind of conduct is liable to be copied by generation after generation of players: each may always be expected to follow worshipfully in the footsteps of its synthetic heroes of the ice-lanes. The result could be disastrous to Canadian sportsmanship as a whole.

What major hockey players perpetrate in the way of mayhem and discord is unseemly enough; but it is not significant as the sheer rowdyism that is becoming more and more prevalent among juniors. Senior players are already set on their careers. But the juniors are just being launched on what amounts to a pattern of life. Unless many of the reported incidents in Canada's junior hockey are exaggerated, it's going to be a pretty sorry pattern. Unless many of the reported incidents in Canada's junior hockey are exaggerated, it's going to be a pretty sorry pattern.

The juniors are at the turning point of their lives as future athletes and as future citizens. With the wrong kind of leadership, they could easily go the wrong way. If there are, within the junior ranks, those who would teach tough methods rather than good sportsmanship, they should be weeded out — but fast.

Cut-Throat Games May Decide NHL Standings

MONTREAL (CP)—Six ties in nine games last week contributed only feebly toward deciding second-and fourth-place finishers in the fast-waning National Hockey League race. But this week things may be different. Two cut-throat games, the kind coaches call four-pointers, find Toronto Maple Leafs visiting Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers playing Boston Bruins in Boston. Both games come up Thursday night. Canadiens had to settle for three ties in three outings last week, and the Leafs took over second place by a single point. The Leafs played four games, losing only one and collecting four points for a win and two ties.

The Bruins had a win and two ties and stretched their margin over Rangers to three points from one point a week ago. The New Yorkers lost ground by failing to post a win and getting two ties in three starts.

Meanwhile, the league-leading Detroit Red Wings, almost mathematically home free, kept their nine-point margin intact by winning once and tying twice. They have seven more games to go; the Leafs and Canadiens six each. The Bruins with six to go, have a game in hand over Rangers.

GOALIES BATTLE

The battle for goaltending honors swung slightly more in favor of Detroit's Terry Sawchuk over Harry Lumley of Toronto. Detroit was scored on six times last week and the Leafs nine, the Leafs playing one more game than the Wings. Sawchuk's savage last week was 1.72 and Lumley's 1.75; now they are 1.73 and 1.78.

Maurice Richard of Montreal banged in his 35th goal of the season last week and collected two assists but his total of 61 points is still 10 behind the pace-setting 71 for Gordie Howe of Detroit. Richard's 35 goals top the goal-getters, Howe following with 28.

Ted Lindsay of Detroit with a goal and three assists, increased his total to 55 and now is only six points behind Richard. Defenceman Red Kelly of Detroit went pointless but held fourth place with 48 points. Bert Olmstead of Montreal moved from eighth place to a fifth-place tie with his teammate, Bernie Geoffrion. Each has 47 points.

Eddie Sandford of Boston Bruins moved back into the leading 10 point-scorers, displacing Wally Hergesheimer of New York who dropped from ninth to 11th.

Leafs Offer To Tour Soviet Union

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League have offered to make a tour of Russia, managing director Conn Smythe said Monday in a telephone interview from Florida, where he is on holidays.

Smythe told the Toronto Telegram that the only condition is "suitable compensation which would include travelling expenses and a small remuneration for the players."

He would "very much like to see Canada regain her lost prestige in world hockey," said Smythe, who added that he would personally accompany the team which could leave right after the NHL playoffs.

A committee of Toronto citizens has started raising funds for the trip which would include a brief tour of other European countries than Russia. It was estimated the trip would cost $50,000 excluding any share of gate receipts.

Toronto's Mayor Allan Lamport said he personally would put $5,000 in the kitty to send the Leafs to Russia.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

CAHA Invites Sports Critics Suggest Way To Choose Team

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The much-maligned Canada Amateur Hockey Association Monday night invited critical Canadian sports writers and others to "come up with some concrete suggestions" about choosing the country's representative in future world hockey championships. It warned "it isn't the simple problem it appears to be."

Smarting under a country-wide barrage of criticism as a result of Canada's 7-2 loss to Russia in the tournament at Stockholm, CAHA secretary-manager George Dudley of Midland presented the CAHA's case in a statement to The Canadian Press.

In effect, he said, it was "impossible" to send a team of higher ranking than the senior B Toronto East York Lyndhursts that bowed to the Russians in what has been described as a "black eye" to Canada, a "catastrophe," "a national calamity" and "a resounding slap in Canada's face."

MAY MEETING

The issue will be threshed out at the CAHA annual meeting in Vancouver May 10, but sports writers, former professional players, coaches and just about anybody who ever had anything to do with hockey, pounced on the CAHA. None blamed the Toronto team for the loss and many felt that the CAHA chose "a boy to do a man's job."

Many charged the CAHA with "stupidity," "bungling," "blundering" and "short-sightedness." Some suggested that Canada should pass up the championships if the CAHA can't choose a stronger team than a senior B outfit and others called for a "new deal" in the CAHA.

To all this, Dudley put it squarely to the critics to solve the problem.

"In my opinion, teams in Canada which could be regarded as better than the Toronto East York club are those competing in the senior A and junior A series of the association, and these are very expensive teams to operate. It would be out of the question to remove them from competition in their various leagues even for the length of time that would be involved in flying them to Europe and back.

"This would involve a minimum loss of time of at least 15 days and it would come just at the time the senior A or junior A leagues have started their playoffs or when clubs are in their last drives for a playoff position. In my opinion it would be impossible to get one of these clubs to leave."

FINANCIAL PROBLEM

Dudley stressed in his statement that "if a team was flown to Europe and back for the championships the expenses would have to be paid by the CAHA."

"While the general impression prevails that the CAHA has lots of money, that is not so.

"Our revenues are derived entirely from money taken in from the Allan and Memorial Cup playoffs and clubs competing in these series have been insistently pressing that less money be taken from the playdowns for association purposes.

"I believe the CAHA could afford to pay for such a trip for one year only, if it were possible to find a senior A or junior A club to go, but this would be out of the question as a permanent annual policy."

RULE OUT OLYMPICS

Dudley pointed out that senior and junior A teams would be eligible under amateur rules of the International Ice Hockey Federation to compete in the world championships, and added: "But when the Olympic Games take place, as they will in 1956, the very rigid old-fashioned definition of an amateur prevails which would bar this type of player from the games."

Some comments:

Elmer Ferguson, Montreal Herald: "Sunday's defeat was a national calamity, a national humiliation and a mortifying experience. The only plesant feature is that our side didn't do any whining or offer any excuses. They turned out to be a team not quite good enough in the clutch. . . Let's have no more blunders, stupidities and bungling such as the CAHA committed with this piecemeal and disjointed team."

Doug Vaughan, Windsor Star: "The CAHA, through its shortsightedness, has made a sucker out of this country. . . Losing a hockey game isn't important, but losing face in these cold-war days is; and that is just what we have done."

INFERIOR TEAMS

Dink Carroll, Montreal Gazette: "For years we have been sending inferior teams to Europe to take part in these tournaments. We have been lucky enough to win most of the time, but it isn't reasonable to suppose that we could get away with it forever. . . Here in Canada we may have fallen into the error of believing that we are the only country in the world that knows how to develop great hockey players."

Baz O'Meara, Montreal Star: "They (the Russians) trounced our fourth-class team in a third-rate tournament. . . They won it handily, on their merits, and so they deserve credit. . . There will be plenty of criticism for the CAHA in sending over such a side. Still, on their behalf, it might be countered that they picked the best team available for such a tourney. . . ."

Wallace Awarded 10-Round Decision

HAMILTON (CP)—Gord Wallace of Brantford was awarded a 10-round decision over Al Hogan of Toronto in the main bout of the professional boxing card at Hamilton Forum Monday night.

Wallace weighed 163½ pounds to 169½ for Hogan.

In the seventh round, Wallace, trying for a knockout, wound up with a roundhouse right but missed Hogan and hit referee Jack Silver in the mouth.

Joey Clarke of Brantford, 144, was awarded a unanimous decision over Kenny Hohner of London, Ont., 151, in a four-round preliminary.

Molotov Pleased At Hockey Win

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW (CP)—Foreign Minister Molotov Monday received John B. C. Watkins, Canada's ambassador to Russia, and talk of hockey lightened the conversation.

Watkins congratulated Molotov on Russia's 7-2 victory over Canada that gave the Russians the world amateur hockey championship at Stockholm.

"He (Molotov) seemed happy at the thought and said that the Canadians played a good game. He laughed when I replied that they didn't play good enough," Watkins told The Canadian Press after the five-minute meeting.

Pravda carried a two-column account of the game with a picture of the Russian team.

Trappers Begin Fight Back In Semi-Finals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

North Bay Trappers, who spotted Sudbury Wolves a 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern group semi-finals, are starting to fight back. But it may be too late.

The Trappers, who have won the last two games to narrow down the series to 3-2, have to play the final games on Sudbury ice. The sixth game is Wednesday and the seventh, if necessary, will be Thursday.

Trappers won their second game of the series Monday night in North Bay when Ches Koneczny tallied in the last minute of the game to give them a 4-3 victory. The goal was scored on a two-man break with Mike Bukacheski.

Bo Elik previously notched two markers for North Bay with Fred Valenti firing the other one. Mauno Kauppi scored two for Sudbury, Red Barrett getting the other.

MAROONS STILL ALIVE

Chatham Maroons, who also gave Owen Sound Mercurys a 3-0 jump in the best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series semi-finals, won their first game of the series in Chatham Monday night.

The Maroons rolled to a surprising 8-3 victory over Owen Sound. But they will have to win in Owen Sound Thursday to prolong the set.

Ed Didone led the Chatham marksmen with two goals. Singles went to Gord Byers, Ernie Dick, Paul Oliver, Don Savage, Jim Connelly and Joe Carveth. Roy Leckie counted two of Owen Sound's total and Bill McComb rounded out the total.

The other OHA Senior semi-final starts tonight when Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen travel to Stratford for their first game of the best-of-five set against the Indians. The Dutchmen eliminated Hamilton Tigers in the quarter-finals while the Indians disposed of Windsor Bulldogs.

Winner of the Stratford-Kitchener series will meet either Owen Sound or Chatham in the league finals.

Concordias, Danubias Promoted 1st Division

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Concordias and Welland Danubias have been promoted to the first division of the Southern Ontario Soccer League.

A total of 32 entries, 13 more than last year, was received and the league will again be divided into two divisions. There will be 12 teams in the first division and 20 in the second. The second division will be sub-divided into two 10-team sections. Concordias have entered a second team, the Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, which will play in the second division.

Nominate 316 Trotters For Harness Stakes

TORONTO (CP) — Horsemen from Canada and the United States have nominated 316 trotters and pacers for 11 harness-racing stakes which will be contested at Woodbine Park here during the 35-day meet which opens July 5.

The $8,500 Canadian Cup for pacers has drawn 26 nominations. Argyle Grattan, owned by Duncan Campbell of Ailsa Craig, and Malcolm Hanover, owned by Kenneth MacKinnon of Owen Sound, are among the former winners of the Canadian Cup which are entered for 1954. The Canadian Cup will be run Aug. 7.

Solve Mystery Bopped Bobby

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Windsor police have solved the mystery of the bopped bobby.

Constable James Keeley was struck on the head Sunday and knocked unconscious while checking the rear entrance of a store. He woke up in a pool of his own blood and staggered away looking for help.

A man standing nearby when the incident happened offered no assistance nor did passing pedestrians. One motorist stopped, remarked the policeman looked as though he had been shot and drove away.

The constable received first aid in a nearby house. He thought the first man on the scene had slugged him. Detectives thought he was hit by a piece of falling ice, loosened by the warm weather.

The detectives were closest. The culprit was a building brick which had become dislodged from the second floor of the building. It was taken into custody.

Huge Wool Trade

CANBERRA (CP)—Official figures show Australia exported wool valued at $486,000,000 during the last six months of 1953. The shipments were $70,800,000 higher than in the same period of 1952.

Traffic Toll 414 Second Quarter 1953

OTTAWA (CP)—Motor vehicle accidents claimed 414 lives in the second quarter of last year compared with 376 in a similar period of 1952, the Bureau of Statistics reported today. Fatalities in the first quarter totalled 305.

The number injured rose to 11,287 from 8,729 in the first quarter and 10,350 in the second quarter of 1952.

Diplomat Dies

HELSINKI (AP)—Hjalmar Procope, 65, former foreign minister and Finland's envoy in Washington from 1939 to 1944 during the critical period of the two Finnish-Soviet wars, died Monday.

Austria Avalanches Claim 12 More Lives

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — Austria's week-end toll of avalanche deaths climbed to 12 Monday as rescue workers uncovered the bodies of three more skiers buried under a 30-foot-deep snowslide.

The deaths brought to 153 the number killed by snow slides in Austria this year. Most of those killed were skiers overcome suddenly by thundering tons of snow.

New French Teacher Hired Lakefield High

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Tentative estimates for 1954 were presented by treasurer Miss Grace Yonge when the Lakefield District High School Board met with chairman Chester Hamilton presiding. These were discussed in detail with auditor Edward Humpage, who advised the board to postpone final decisions until report of the delegation to Toronto regarding the provincial grants for the current year was received.

The resignation of Mrs. Eileen Hill was received with regret and Miss Donna Wall, of Ottawa, will be engaged as French teacher at an annual salary of $2,900, with duties to begin in September of this year.

Committee chairman N. A. Moore reported that water softener, a master valve in the science room and curtains at the back of the stage had been purchased and installed.

Management committee chairman William Whetung reported on a special meeting held and requested permission to have Reeve J. Gifford added to the list of delegates to interview the Department of Education. This request was granted.

The board decided to ask the permission of the Department of Education to establish a Department of Agriculture in the school beginning in September.

Principal J. E. Stephens reported attendance for February as 228 pupils; average attendance 213.33 and percentage 93.33. He requested that accumulative sick leave plan for teachers be considered. He also presented reports from inspectors of shop and home economics.

Costs for operation of the recently opened cafeteria were $570.64 and general accounts totalled $1,471.40. Fees to the Peterborough Board of Education were $1,827.72.

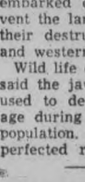
Committee Studies Lamprey Problem

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario legislature's committee on lands and forests had a lesson in natural history Monday.

They studied five sizes of sea lamprey and assorted jawbones of deer, as well as a walking-stick seed drill for planting trees.

The sea lamprey exemplified the remarks by fisheries expert N. S. Baldwin who said the eel was the major cause of the destruction of commercial fisheries of Lake Michigan and now is attacking lake trout in Lake Huron. This year commercial fisheries in southern and eastern Lake Superior have started to drop off. The federal and provincial governments have embarked on a program to prevent the lampreys from spreading their destruction to the northern and western parts of the lake.

Wild life expert Dr. C. D. Fowle said the jawbone of the deer was used to determine the animal's age during a survey of the deer population. A similar method was perfected recently for moose.



Gives Warning Against Catholic Propaganda

OTTAWA (CP)—A Presbyterian clergyman has suggested that the move of the National Film Board to Montreal may result in Roman Catholic propaganda creeping into the board's films.

Rev. Robert Good, minister of Erskine Presbyterian church, said in his sermon Sunday that "it is no accident" that the board's production facilities are being moved into Quebec province from Ottawa. An encyclical by Pope Pius in 1936 "said it would be a good thing if the whole film industry was controlled by the Catholic Church."

"Moviegoers in the United States and Canada have seen with bewilderment one Catholic film after another in quick succession across our screens (since 1936)," Dr. Good said.

"It has become increasingly difficult to attend a motion picture theatre without being propagandized. Now it is to invade the living rooms of our homes via television."

DROPS DEAD AT GAME

George Dicker, 75-year-old Orillia plasterer, dropped dead of a heart attack Monday night during the exciting first-period of the senior B hockey playoff between Orillia and Peterborough.

CAR FOR FIRE CHIEF

The finance committee of city council Monday night recommended acceptance of the tender of J. K. Hughes on a new sedan for the fire chief. The net price of the tender, exclusive of the turn-in value of the chief's present car, was $1,900.

WAGE NEGOTIATIONS

The finance committee of the city council Monday night declined to endorse a resolution by London city council asking the provincial legislature to amend the legislation governing wage negotiations with municipal employees. The London resolution would transfer arbitration from arbitration boards to the municipal board.

RE-EMPLOYED

The finance committee of city council Monday night, on the recommendation of City Engineer A. E. Chalmers, recommended the re-employment of Murray Metcalfe on the staff of the works department, from which he retired last July for employment with a private firm.

HOCKEY CLUB'S TRIBUTE

Several members of the Peterborough Hockey club mentioned today that they were happy in sharing in the felicitations extended to Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Graham on the occasion Monday of the 50th anniversary of their wedding. The club sent flowers to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Graham, Gilmour St.

ELECT MUNCIPAL COMMITTEE

The three-man municipal committee was elected Monday night at the February meeting of the Peterborough and District Labor Council. Members are William Triggs and Edward Silvester of Local 293, UPWA (CIO-CCL), and William Yates of Local 19, NUPSE (CCL).

HORTICULTURAL DELEGATES

Delegates of Peterborough Horticultural Society to the 48th annual convention of the Ontario Horticultural Association March 11 and 12 in Toronto, are Mrs. Jean Long and Miss Phyllis Denne. Also attending will be Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Fraser, and daughter, Noreen, and for one day Mrs. Floyd Curtis, and Mrs. Ruth Maynard.

PRIVATE BILLS

The city's two private bills have passed first reading in the provincial legislature. One bill is designed to permit erection of the Memorial Centre in Exhibition Park; the other would endorse the city's purchase of industrial property and the landfill garbage disposal site in North Monaghan township. The Memorial Centre bill is being studied today by a committee of judges at Osgoode Hall, prior to being sent to the private bills committee of the legislature.

Man Appeals After Serving Jail Sentence

Judge Upholds Conviction Of Magistrate

A Toronto youth on Monday gave a new twist to the procedure of appealing a magistrate's decision.

Bernard Collins, a 23-year-old Korean veteran, appealed a conviction on a charge of drunken driving after serving his seven-day sentence in jail. Neither he nor his counsel indicated what was the purpose of the appeal.

In any case his effort and money were to no avail. Judge John de N. Kennedy upheld the conviction handed out last Oct. 20 by Magistrate R. I. Moore.

Collins was the driver of a car that twice went off the road during a night-long ride last July. The second time it careened 127 feet along the shoulder of Highway 28, near the Haliburton county boundary, dropped into a four-foot ditch and continued along for another 118 feet.

Damage to the 1952 vehicle was estimated at more than $1,000. Collins suffered a hip injury in the accident.

OPP Constable Jack McKendry of Apsley said Collins' breath smelled of alcohol. Two unopened bottles of rum and an unopened case of beer were found in the trunk and a empty bottle of rum was found near the car.

THREE PASSENGERS

Three passengers in the car—Shirley Ray and Shirley Robinson of Bancroft and Paul McLeod of Toronto—all said they didn't see Collins take a drink in the car.

The two youths and two girls started out from a lodge on Paudash lake and drove to Bancroft. Then they took a wrong turn and arrived at Combermere. At Combermere they turned around and at Bow lake, six miles southwest of Bancroft, the car went off the road and became mired in the soft shoulder. A farmer pulled them out with a truck about 4.30 a.m.

As the car was slightly damaged Collins and his chum decided to go to Apsley to have it fixed. The accident happened while they were driving to Apsley.

John Corkery, counsel for Collins, argued that there was a conflict in evidence. He said the incriminating evidence was circumstantial in contrast to the direct evidence of witnesses.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, argued the case for the Crown.

Judge Kennedy, who heard the argument in his chambers, dismissed it with costs against Collins who had already served his jail sentence.

"It seems to be your client got off pretty lightly . . . getting only seven days after running off the road twice and drinking all that rum," said the judge.

Rent Controls Should Be Kept —Labor Council

Rent controls are needed and city council shouldn't have abolished them. That was the main theme of a discussion Monday night at the February meeting of the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL).

The labor council are disappointed at city council's stand on this issue and they are writing a letter to say so. They are going to suggest that city council reconsider their decision.

Mayor Norman Graham was singled out for criticism. Some of the trade unionists said that the mayor had reversed his stand on the rent control issue: at first he was for it; then he was against it.

President Alfred Barber called Mayor Graham's stand "wishy-washy".

(City council at a special meeting Feb. 16 voted unanimously not to assume rent controls when they were dropped on March 2. If there were complaints of too-high rents during the early stages of de-control then council would consider setting up a three-man committee of council members to hear the complaints, Mayor Graham said.

(Mayor Graham also said that from the time it was first suggested that city council might take over rent controls letters from protesting landlords outnumbered letters from approving tenants by 30 to five.

(He estimated that the cost of setting up municipal controls would have been $30,000 or $35,000.)

The delegate who pressed the matter was Jack Benstead of Local 570, IUE (CIO-CCL).

"It's not too late to do something," he said. "The people of Peterborough are beginning to realize that the rents are too high."

William Triggs of Local 293, UPWA, said that he had sounded out a number of workers on rent control and he found them indifferent. As a matter of fact, he added, Mr. Benstead was the first person he met who had definitely come out in favor of controls.

Nurses' Registry Grant Of $500 In City Budget

It was revealed at Monday night's meeting of the finance committee of city council that at a special meeting of the committee on Friday a recommendation was made to include a grant of $500 to the Peterborough Community Nursing Registry in this year's estimates.

Friday's meeting of the finance committee was one of a series held last week to consider the estimates for the year preparatory to striking the 1954 tax rate.

$1,000 VOTED DOWN

The quesion of a grant to the registry has been booted about by council almost since the first of the year. The issue was thought to have been closed at a meeting of the committee of the whole council a week ago, when a proposal to grant the registry $1,000 was voted down.

It is understood that Ald. Harold Rehill at Friday night's meeting asked to have the question re-opened on the grounds that a point of procedure may have deprived the registry of a $500 grant when the vote was taken on the previous Monday evening.

This is what happened at the meeting a week ago. Ald. Gordon Powell's motion to grant the registry $1,000 was seconded by Ald. Art Burrows. But before the vote was taken, Ald. Rehill moved an amendment, changing the amount to $500, which was seconded by Ald. Bill Beggs.

VOTE FIRST ON AMENDMENT

Rules of procedure require the vote to be taken on the amendment before the original motion is voted on. Ald. John Dewart voted with Ald. Rehill and Ald. Beggs on the amendment but the other supporters of the grant, holding out for the larger amount, did not vote on the amendment. When the vote on the $1,000 grant was taken, only Alderman Burrows, McBride and Powell supported it.

At Friday's meeting, when Ald. Rehill suggested the matter should be re-opened, Ald. Powell's motion to that effect was carried, as was Ald. Burrow's motion to recommend a grant of $500 to the registry, it has been reported.

Absent from Friday night's meeting were Mayor Norman Graham and Aldermen Alene Holt, Gordon Farquharson and Bob Knox. None of the four had voted in favor of either the $1,000 or the $500 grant at the meeting on the previous Monday.

A letter was read from the recently-elected executive of the registry, saying that the new officers intended to carry on with the registry but there was still a need for financial assistance.

Commission Backs Requests In 1954 Recreation Budget

A delegation from the recreation commission urged the finance committee of the city council on Monday night to grant them the full amount of money they had asked for in their 1954 budget. The commission have requested $18,868.82 this year, an increase of $1,368.82 over the amount they actually received in 1953.

"In our opinion, we require all the money we asked for and we have come to ask you to be lenient with our requests," said the delegation's spokesmen, Wilfred Langan, who was accompanied by C. I. Archibald and recreational director Ken Robinson.

QUESTION BAND GRANT

Chief items questioned by council members were: $3,057 for the Citizens' Band, $300 for the ski school, $145.17 for crafts, and $140.43 for adult education.

Mr. Langan said that as working hours were shortened, the problem of what to do with leisure time was becoming greater. It was the objective of the commission to stimulate leisure time activities.

The money for adult education was used to conduct courses in leadership and to support the Soed program of the YMCA, which included an extra session this year and would probably require more money.

Asked by Ald. Alene Holt if the So-ed program could not be made self-supporting, Mr. Langan said it was a question of setting fees as high as possible without setting them higher than most people would be willing to pay.

Mr. Langan admitted that the money spent on the ski school was open to question and explained that it was used to pay transportation costs of pupils by bus to Kemp's hill and rent of the ski tow. The chief problem was one of collecting fares, which the bus company had refused to do.

INSTRUCTIONAL

"The ski school is instructional," Mr. Langan explained. "It isn't our intention to provide skiing for the general public, but skiing is exciting and children want to learn. It is also dangerous and we want to prevent broken legs."

In reply to Ald. Pat Anglesey's suggestion that ski instruction ought to be given inside the city, Mr. Langan contended there wasn't a park in the city as safe for skiing as Kemp's hill. This year's transportation had already been paid, he said, but promised that steps would be taken next season to increase the fees to cover the cost of transportation.

Another contention of Ald. Anglesey's was that the participants in the various activities should be required to pay a larger share. Mr. Langan reiterated that it was a question of stimulating interest and pointed out that the budget for crafts, as an example, had been decreasing each year as interest increased.

BAND A HOBBY

Ald. Anglesey also said that when he had first been elected to council, it was understood that the request for a grant to the Citizens' Band had been to get the band started. He thought the band was composed of musicians who were interested in playing; it was a hobby with them.

"I don't know of any city that could maintain a band for less than $3,000," Mr. Langan said. "The Citizens' Band is a very well run organization; they watch every penny they spend.

"The members themselves have more money tied up in it than the city. They always turn out when they're asked, but they have a hard time trying to collect the money when they're asked to play. The bandmaster takes a net loss on his salary because he has to forego opportunities to play with a dance orchestra.

"I don't know who sold the city the bill of goods that the band would be self-sustaining. I don't think the city can hope to have a band unless they pay for it."

Two Will Join Provincial Lobby Seek Checkoff

Two delegates from the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL) have been appointed to join the Ontario Federation of Labor's lobby when it interviews Premier Leslie Frost and the cabinet next week.

The number one item in the OFL's brief is a request that the government put through legislation making it compulsory for an employer to check off union dues if a majority of the employees in the bargaining unit want it that way. Each employee wanting the checkoff would have to sign an individual card.

Delegates at the February meeting of the labor council on Monday night elected their representatives: Alfred Barber, president of Local 210, UPWA (CIO-CCL), and president of the labor council; and Ed. Humphrey of Local 434, UPWA.

It will be a two-day session in Toronto. In the morning of March 16 they will be part of the lobby putting the OFL trade union case before Premier Frost and his cabinet; in the afternoon they will attend an executive meeting of the OFL. Next day they will approach the MPPs individually, urging them to vote for the checkoff and other items in the OFL brief.

This lobby is an annual event with the CCL presenting their brief on the federal level and the OFL on the provincial level. Trade unionists jestingly refer to these interviews with the two governments as "cap-in-hand sessions."

Young Speakers Show Form As Festival Opens

St. Peter's auditorium was partially filled with primary school students early today, their heads barely surfacing the seat backs, and bobbing like choppy water. These were the first participants in the 8th annual Peterborough Kiwanis music festival and their function was choral speaking. Mrs. Michael Meiklejohn, verse speaking adjudicator from Ottawa, expressed the wish that there were more entries in this class as they were "absolutely charming".

"I was much impressed with the unusually wide pitch," said Mrs. Meiklejohn of the first group made up of grade 1 and 2 pupils from Immaculate Conception school.

"This is one of the best choirs of this age that I have ever adjudicated." The second group, Grades 3 and 4 from Sacred Heart school, also impressed the adjudicator, who "liked, very much, the changes in tone . . . however a little more softness at the beginning might have accentuated the triumphant ending."

A group from Queen Alexandra and another from King Albert school, Lindsay, competed in the Grades 5 and 6 class. The Lindsay group won by one point. "This choir has one of the most beautiful tones I've ever heard . . . quite unusual in children's voices . . . that captured the unworldly feeling of the poem (Yeats' "The Stolen Child").

SOLO VERSE

Three classes of solo verse speaking followed the group offerings. Eleven pupils from Port Hope and Peterborough presented their individual interpretations of Sir Walter Scott's "The Gathering Song of Donald the Black," but none, said Mrs. Meiklejohn, "quite got what I wanted . . . nobody gave me that feeling of urgency. She advised less shouting and more feeling would achieve the desired effect and save voices. Carole Watters, of Port Hope, was judged the winner in this class.

The next class, limited to pupils not past Grade 7, had an opposite effect on the adjudicator. "I was very pleased with the entire class," she said. "All got the feeling of absolute sincerity . . . not artificial or over-emotional." Suzanne Perry, of Port Hope, placed first.

In the final class of the morning three Grade 9 contestants recited "Moonlit Apples," by John Drinkwater. Mrs. Meiklejohn said she chose this poem because of its difficult vowel sounds and punctuation, and that none of the girls had fallen into any of the many pitfalls. For "grasping the dreamy atmosphere, without loss of rhythm," Margaret Hayden, of Port Hope, placed first with 85 points.

Class 275, Choral speaking—grades 4 and 2, Over the Hill (George Macdonald): 1, Immaculate Conception school, 87.

Class 276, Choral speaking—grades 3 and 4, Song of the River (Charles Kingsley): 1, Sacred Heart school, 80.

Class 277, Choral speaking—grades 5 and 6, The Stolen Child (W. B. Yeats): 1, King Albert school, Lindsay, 88; 2, Queen Alexandra school, 87.

Class 288, Verse speaking—grade 8, The Gathering Song of Donald the Black (Sir Walter Scott): 1, Carole Watters, Port Hope, 84; 2, Judith Johnson, Port Hope, 83; 3, Rita Mills, Peterborough, 82; others: Shirley Gardner, Barbara Wood, Patricia Leuty, Pauline Thompson, all of Port Hope, Wayne Rusaw, Michael Triggs, Anne McMurray, Gerald Clough, of Peterborough.

Class 287 Verse speaking grade 7, The Old Woman of the Roads (Padriec Colum): 1, Suzanne Perry, Port Hope, 86; 2, Willa Bigelow, Port Hope, 85; 3, Karen Leith, 84; others: Jean Gooderham, Mary Ann Hagerman, Brenda Key, of Port Hope and Margaret Whitfield and Jean Hickey, of Peterborough.

Class 289, Verse speaking—grade 9, Moonlit Apples (John Drinkwater): 1, Margaret Hayden, Port Hope, 85; 2, Helen Ingham Millbrook, 84; 3, Helen Marston, Port Hope, 83.

Two Accidents Result In $650 Damage

Two city accidents, involving four passenger cars, resulted in $650 damage but no injuries on Monday.

Antonio Zen, 47, of 127 Lindsay Ave., Toronto, was driving west on Lansdowne St. in his 1954-model car when at 7.45 p.m. he came into collision with a northbound car driven by Harold Stewart, 48, of 703 Little St., at the Monaghan Rd. intersection.

The front end of Zen's car was smashed and damage is estimated at $300. Damage to Stewart's car is estimated at $250.

GREEN LIGHT

Both drivers told Constable Ed Patterson that they had the green light.

Damage of $100 was caused to the right front fender and door of a car driven by Travis M. Mersereau, 39, of 25 Green Lane, Toronto, at 10:35 a.m. His 1952-model car was in collision with a 1950-model car driven by William H. LeClaire, 32, of 354 Caddy street.

Mersereau was in the intersection of Woodbine and Ludgate Sts. and was about to turn left. LeClaire was reversing when the slight collision resulted.

Constable Dennis Smith investigated.

Fred R. M. Davies To Be Buried In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Funeral service for Fred R. M. Davies, 51-year-old newspaper man and eldest son of Senator W. Rupert Davies of Kingston, will be held here Friday.

Mr. Davies, assistant general manager of the Nassau Guardian, was killed Sunday near Nassau, Bahamas, when his car went out of control and hit a tree. The body has been flown from Nassau to Miami, Fla., and is being brought to Toronto by train by Senator Davies, who has been in Florida.

The funeral will be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday from Morley S. Bedford Funeral Chapel, Eglinton Ave. W., with burial in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Great Potential In Canada For Uranium

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's potentialities for uranium production are "fantastic," Sherman Oliver, of Uranium City, Sask., and Toronto, said today.

He spoke as a representative of prospects at a panel discussion headed by representatives of government, industry, and prospectors at the annual convention of the Prospectors and Developers Association.

His opinion was based on many thousands of miles of flying across Canada from Lake St. John, Que., to the Northwest Territories, and on the numerous signals of radioactive material which his instruments had recorded.

"I may be sticking my neck out," he stated, "but I believe Canada will eventually be capable of producing more uranium than the rest of the world put together."

If it became feasible to mine lower-grade uranium ores than at present, he hesitated to forecast what the possibilities might be.

Prospectors were assured by other speakers that they could think in terms of large markets for any uranium they may find.

SEES BIG DEMAND

Dr. David A. Keys, scientific adviser to the president of Atomic Energy of Canada, Ltd., Chalk River, predicted that demand for uranium will increase greatly, as the demand for power increases in all countries.

Eleven groups in the United States are investigating power development from fissionable material.

Thomas Gillingham, of the United States atomic control board, said the future for the next 10 years is quite certain; beyond that it probably is just as rosy.

F. R. Joubin, of Toronto, a spokesman for private companies, said current security regulations were like "an ostrich with its head in the sand and its tail fathers in the air," but he did not think, as some delegates seemed to think, that they handicapped the raising of public money for financing uranium companies.

Mr. Joubin said brannerite, prominent in Ontario's Blind River area, contains both uranium and titanium and would come into prominence. This area, he stated, has enormous potentialities with favorable production economics.

OBITUARIES

RICHARD H. PARNELL

A member of Peterborough's first full-time fire brigade, 77-year-old Richard Thomas Parnell of 503 Parnell St. died Monday at his home after a long illness.

He was one of the 11 men on the fire brigade when city council decided to hire a permanent full-time force in 1908. W. A. Howard was chief of the brigade at the time.

Mr. Parnell was born and educated in Smith township. He was the son of the late Martin Parnell and Elizabeth Lee. He lived in this district all his life. In 1951 he retired from the Canadian Nashua Paper Co.

He leaves his widow, the former Bertha Buller; six daughters, Mrs. Madeline Fidge, Mrs. H. Boucher (Grace), Mrs. W. Tatryn (Molly), Mrs. J. Magee (Isabel), all of Toronto, and Mrs. L. Blodgett (Claire), Mrs. D. McIlwain (Dolly) of Peterborough; a sister, Mrs. William Harron of Peterborough; and two brothers, Roy Parnell of Peterborough and Bert Parnell of Saskatoon.

Mr. Parnell was a member of George Street United church.

The funeral will be 2 p.m. Thursday at the Kaye Funeral Home with the Rev. Arnold Mathews of George Street United church officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

MRS. HARRY BROOK SR.

A resident of Peterborough for 37 years, Mrs. Harry Brook Sr., 62, of 99 Princess St., died Monday in hospital here. Death came after a long illness.

Mrs. Brook was the former Janet Elizabeth Smith, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Smith. She was born in London, England, and she was educated there. She came from London to Peterborough 37 years ago.

She leaves her husband, Harry Brook Sr., two daughters, Janet and Irene at home; four sons, Harry Jr., Alfred, Edwin and Douglas of Peterborough; two sisters, Mrs. T. Parks and Mrs. J. Sandbach of Fraserville, and five grandchildren. Another sister, Mrs M. Mitchell, died a month ago.

Mrs. Brook attended St. John's Anglican church.

The funeral will be 3:30 p.m. Thursday at the Kaye funeral home, Major H. G. Roberts of the Salvation Army officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

COUNTING VOTES in the Sunshine Sweepstakes in which already 170,000 votes have been cast for sales clerks in Peterborough stores participating in the free holiday contest. 170,000 Votes For 60 Clerks In Sunshine Sweepstakes

More than 170,000 votes have been cast in Sunshine Sweepstakes contest to pick a Peterborough sales clerk who will win a 13-week expense paid vacation in Florida in May

More than 50 sales clerks are already entered and the votes are well distributed among them. The 13-week contest closes May 15.

Some 100 letters a day have been brought in to The Examiner from citizens anxious to see that their choice wins the holiday at luxurious Glades hotel in St. Petersburg.

Any clerk in one of the stores that is participating is eligible. They can be recognized by the badge they wear bearing their names. Citizens can vote by clipping a coupon that appears daily in The Examiner on page 2. This coupon together with a sales slip from one of the participating stores entitles the citizens to 100 votes.

The names of those clerks in the running are: Rose Barker, Jean Fowley, Irene Buckton, Mrs. D. Bannister, Helen Heffernan, Anne Devine, Anne Frost, Teresa Moher, Melva Davies, Mrs. McKay of Kresge's; Rita Keating, Pearl Hawthorn, Elaine Savingy Agnes Mowry, L. 500 Unemployed Vote To March On City Hall

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Five hundred unemployed, at an organization meeting here Monday night, voted to march on city hall next Monday for the weekly city council meeting.

The meeting, sponsored by the CIO Peninsula Labor Council and the AFL Trades and Labor Council of St. Catharines, passed resolutions asking more unemployment insurance and an immediate start on public works' projects.

Co-chairman Ernest Briginshaw said 3,810 persons now are registered as unemployed at the St. Catharines unemployment office, nearly double last year's total in this season.

Hold-Up Man Killed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A liquor store operator, who said he was tired of being held up, shot it out with a gunman late Monday night and fatally wounded the bandit. Fay Terry, 62, told police that a man identified as Milton Earl Garvin, 30, announced: "This is a stick-up. Give it to me." "I did," said Terry. Garvin was hit four times.

Truman Remarks On Threat To McCarthy

NEW YORK (AP)—Former president Harry S. Truman had two comments—one light, one serious—when told today about a mysterious threat against Senator Joseph McCarthy.

On his customary pre-breakfast stroll Truman heard from reporters of the anonymous telephone call received early today at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel warning that "something terrible" would happen to the Wisconsin Republican senator.

The ex-president smiled and jokingly said:

"O, pshaw I don't see why anyone would want to kill him. We'd have no entertainment at all if they killed him."

Then the smile vanished and Truman added soberly: "I don't believe in government by assassination."

The former president added that "the best assassination a politician can get is vote assassination." But the man who upset the pollsters in the 1948 election said he was making no election prophecies.

Start Hauling Ore About April 20

CLEVELAND (AP) —Pittsburgh Steamship division of United States Steel Corp., said today its fleet of 59 ships will start hauling ore on the Great Lakes "approximately April 20."

The firm also announced it has sold two 474-foot vessels — the Malietoa built in 1899 and the Cornell built in 1900—to Jupiter Steamship Co. of Cleveland.

The Malietoa will be renamed the Mercury and the Cornell the Neptune. They will be operated by Jupiter subsidiaries.

$95,425 In Grants

SARNIA (CP) — Sarnia will receive about $95,425 in per capita grants replacing the former provincial fire and police grants, city manager E. Royden Colter said today.

Mr. Colter said this represented an increase of about $50,000 or approximately a mill over the amount received from the province last year.

Secret Hearings Being Held On Baby Case

NEW YORK (CP)—Closed-door hearings by a visiting Canadian commission resumed today under terms of an American-Canadian reciprocal agreement permitting them to question a number of New York couples said to have bought babies through a $3,000,000 ring operating in Montreal.

The commission came to New York to take pre-trial testimony from the parents in connection with the coming trial of two Montreal lawyers charged with falsifying birth certificates.

Judge Gerald Almond, head of the commission, said no information will be forthcoming from the hearings here, which may last throughout the week or even longer. Reason for the secrecy was that the defendants "have not yet undergone the due process of law."

The United States immigration service disclosed Monday that the baby ring had been under surveillance for months.

Although the majority of foster parents who bought their infants at from $3,000 to $10,000 are immune from prosecution, at least four of the couples are open to smuggling charges, a service spokesman said.

Production Staff Arrive For Festival

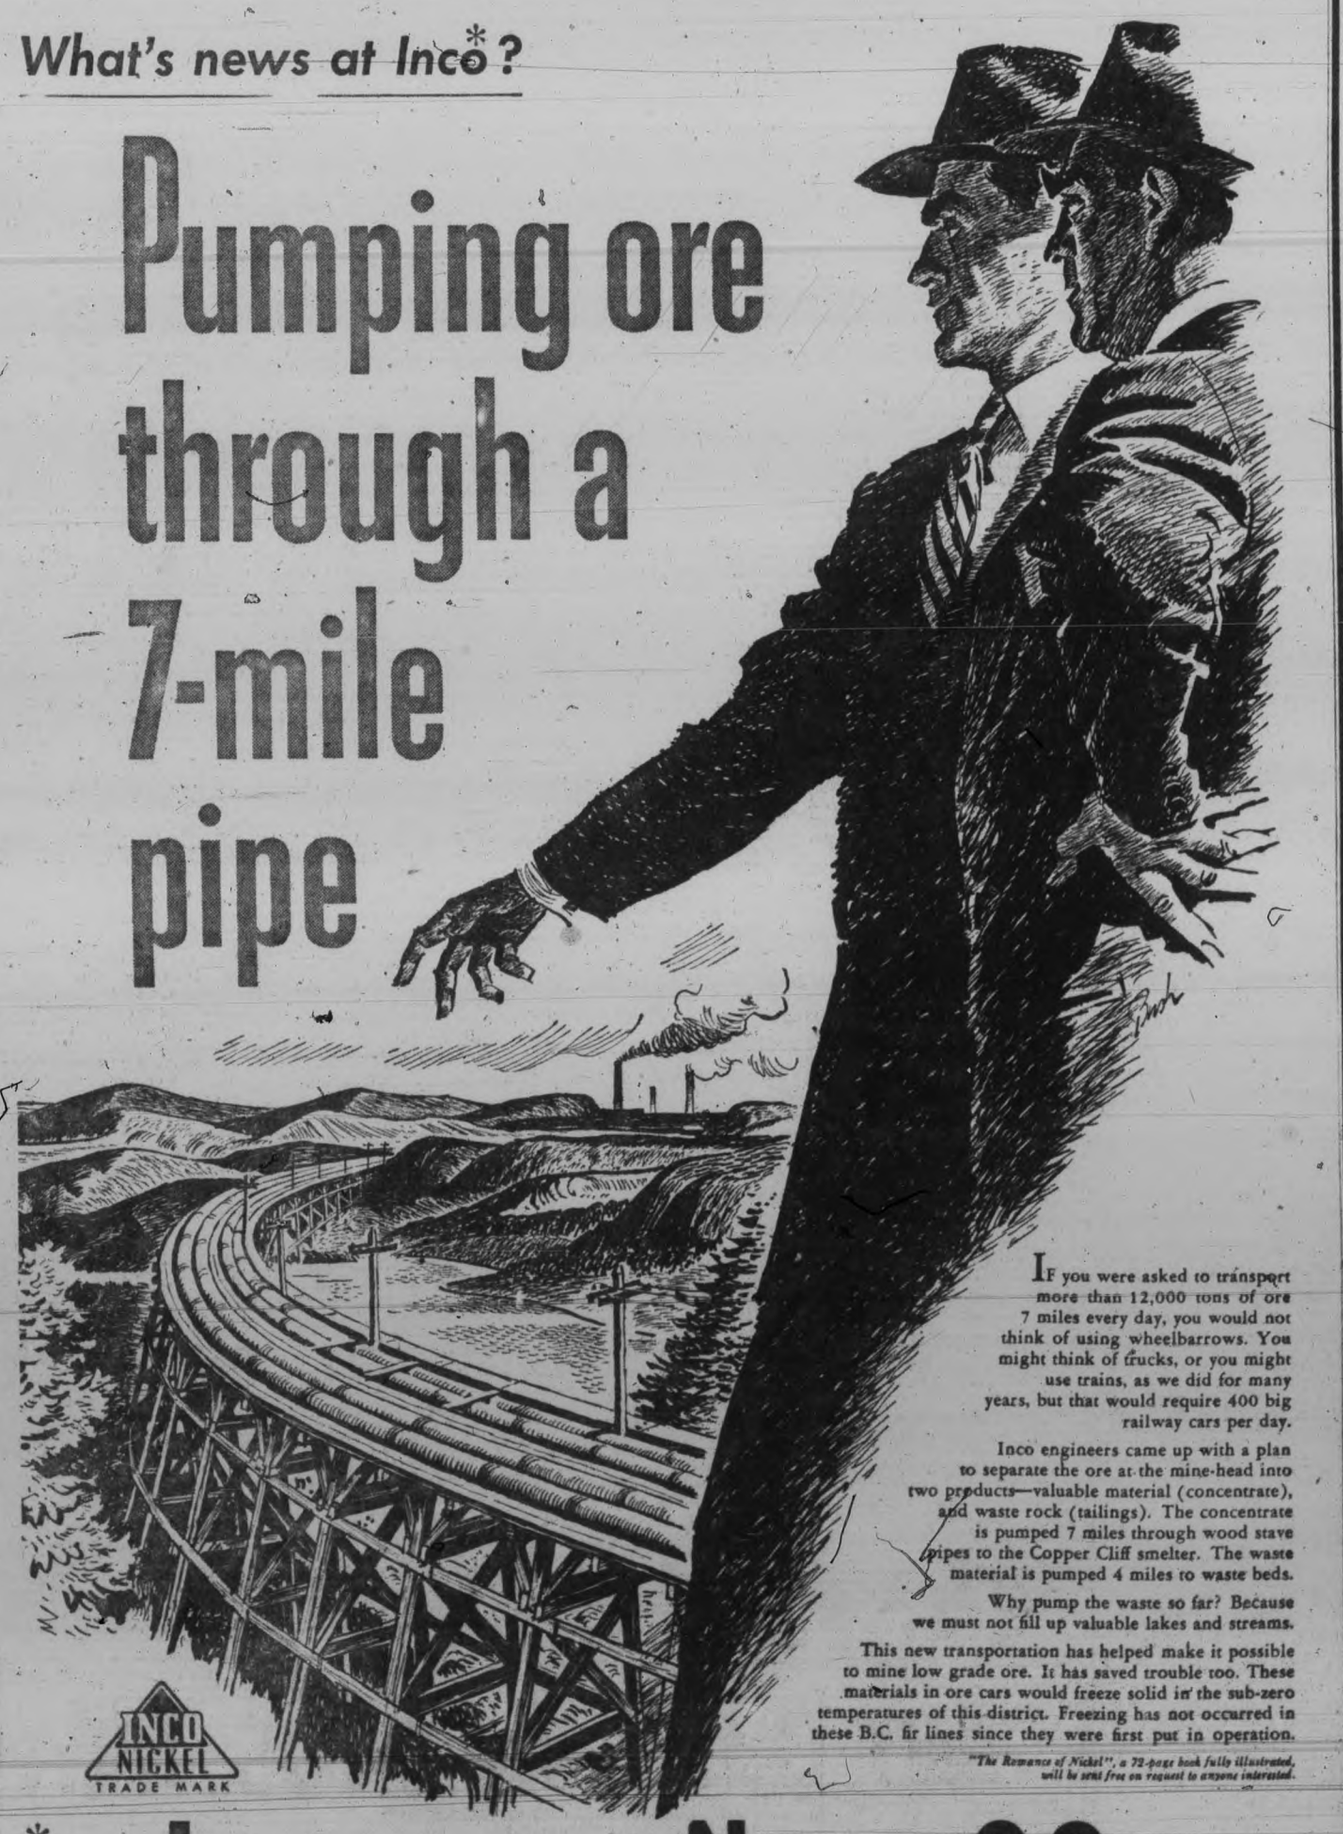
STRATFORD (CP) — Production staff for the second annual Shakespearian festival, headed by artistic director Cecil Clarke of London's Old Vic theatre, will arrive here Saturday it was announced today by the festival foundation board.

With Mr. Clarke will be his wife, Jacqueline Cundall, property mistress; Ray Diffen and Annette Geber, in charge of wardrobe. All are from the London theatre and all performed the same duties here last year.

Production manager Tom Brown, also of the Old Vic, will accompany the group. The festival opens June 28 and stars James Mason, British stage and film actor in "Measure for Measure," and "Oedipus Rex." Third production is "Taming of the Shrew."

A Calgary actor, Edward Holmes, has been signed for roles in the three plays.

A leading lady from London will be signed, Mr. Clarke said, for "Taming of the Shrew." Two experienced Canadian actresses, Frances Hyland of Regina, and Eleanor Stuart of Montreal, have been engaged for top roles in "Measure for Measure," and "Oedipus Rex," respectively.



Both actresses have won distinction on the London stage.

Germany Prepares CD

BONN (AP)—An official source today said the West German interior ministry has drafted a detailed plan for the country's first civil defence program since the war. It aims at getting started within six months on the building of new air raid shelters, repairing of old community bunkers and establishment of air alarm centres in close co-operation with the Western Allied occupation forces.

What's news at Inco*?

Pumping ore through a 7-mile pipe

IF you were asked to transport more than 12,000 tons of ore 7 miles every day, you would not think of using wheelbarrows. You might think of trucks, or you might use trains, as we did for many years, but that would require 400 big railway cars per day.

Inco engineers came up with a plan to separate the ore at the mine-head into two products—valuable material (concentrate), and waste rock (tailings). The concentrate is pumped 7 miles through wood stave pipes to the Copper Cliff smelter. The waste material is pumped 4 miles to waste beds.

Why pump the waste so far? Because we must not fill up valuable lakes and streams.

This new transportation has helped make it possible to mine low grade ore. It has saved trouble too. These materials in ore cars would freeze solid in the sub-zero temperatures of this district. Freezing has not occurred in these B.C. fir lines since they were first put in operation.

"The Romance of Nickel", a 72-page book fully illustrated, will be sent free on request to anyone interested.

Coalition Bid By Ex-Premier

HELSINKI (AP) — Ex-premier Urho Kekkonen, head of four post-war Finnish governments, bid today for a revival of the socialist-agrarian governing coalition following week-end elections from which the two parties again emerged as the largest factions in Finland's parliament.

There was no immediate public reaction from the socialists, but observers doubt that the two parties will get together soon because of the bitter election campaign each waged against the other.

Neither party came near winning a majority of the single chamber's 200 seats. They will be allotted in several days on a system of proportional representation, but almost-complete returns today indicated that the Social Democrats (socialists) would get 54, a gain of one, and Kekkonen's Agrarian Union (farmers) 53, a gain of two.

The communist People's Democrats again appeared to have won 43 seats—no change—to hold their place as Finland's third-ranking party.

Eisenhower Chooses Nixon To Reply To Stevenson

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower, it now is known, picked Vice - President Richard Nixon for the Republican reply to charges by Adlai Stevenson that the ruling party is using "slander, dissension and deception" to try to win the coming congressional elections.

But Senator Joseph McCarthy, while terming Nixon an "excellent choice" to speak for his party, made it clear Monday night that he still expects the big networks to give him free radio and TV time to reply to what he called a "vicious attack on me personally" by Stevenson, the Democrats' 1952 presidential candidate.

"I am delegating to no one the authority to defend me," McCarthy told reporters in New York after he had learned that NBC and CBS had rejected his demand for equal air time but had agreed instead to give the Republican party a 30-minute rebuttal period Saturday night.

MAY COMPLAIN TO FCC

The Wisconsin Republican senator hinted strongly that he might take the matter to the Federal Communications Commission, of which his friend, Robert E. Lee, recently became a member. The FCC licenses and regulates radio and television operations.

"The FCC rules," McCarthy asserted, "provide that I must be given time to answer these charges . . . I intend to do everything I can to make the television companies live up to their obligations."

Commission sources Monday night said FCC basic law requires that candidates for public office be given "equal opportunities" on the air. But this would not seem to cover the present situation, since no one involved is an active candidate.

However, these sources also said the commission has tried to see to it that broadcasters treat all controversial issues fairly.

Addressing a big Democratic rally in Miami, Fla., Saturday night, Stevenson aimed much of his attack at McCarthy, whom he accused of seeking to lead the Republican party to a "malign and fatal totalitarianism."

Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican national committee, claiming that Stevenson had "impugned the Eisenhower administration," got in ahead of McCarthy Monday with a formal bid for equal radio and TV time to reply.

High administration sources Monday night said Eisenhower himself made the suggestion that the Republican national committee seek free radio-TV time to answer Stevenson, and that it was the president himself who chose Nixon to speak for the party.

It was understood that Hall did not consult McCarthy before asking the networks for rebuttal opportunity.

Mill Increase

WATERLOO (CP) — Waterloo may have about a 1½ mill increase in its tax rate this year.

Council's finance committee today pared the preliminary estimates down to 72½ mills, compared to last year's rate of 71 mills. It is expected the tax rate will be set next week.

Arrest Two Men For Hold-up

HAMILTON (CP)—The assistant manager and a former employee of Quality groceteria were arrested Monday night in connection with a Feb. 27 hold-up at the store.

Both men have been charged with armed robbery and with conspiracy to commit armed robbery.

Two men already were in custody and facing armed robbery charges in connection with the $4,000 hold-up. Joseph Leaver, 35, and Frank Peterson, 22, are scheduled to appear March 16. They were arrested in the store on the night of the robbery.

David John Munro, 29, and Philbert Woods, 28, were remanded until March 16 by magistrate Bamer Hopkins this morning.

400 Firemen Fight $750,000 Blaze

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A ruined 10-storey warehouse continued to smoulder menacingly early today as nearly 200 firemen guarded against fresh outbreaks of a general-alarm fire that raged out of control for seven hours Monday and caused injury to at least eight persons.

There was no immdiate official estimate of damages to the Bison Waste and Wiper Co. building, but unofficial estimates by firemen put the loss as high as $750,000.

Tremendous clouds of black smoke swept across the city for hours.

Every available fireman, including those off duty and on vacation, was summoned as the fire threatened to engulf adjoining warehouses. In all, 400 firemen, assisted by civil defence volunteers, fought the stubborn blaze.

SHOWN ON TV

In mid-evening fire commissioner Charles Halloran said the fire had been brought under control. At least 3,000 citizens jammed the area to watch, and thousands more saw it on their television screens after WBEN-TV televised it from atop the Hotel Statler a mile from the warehouse.

Halloran said the blaze apparently started when a spark from a welder's torch ignited some tar paper on the third floor.

Three firemen and four workmen in the building suffered from smoke inhalation. Fireman Glen Ralph, 42, suffered a severe head injury.

About a dozen firemen and the four workmen, temporarily trapped on the third floor by an explosion, made their way to safety down some aerial ladders.

In addition to the Waste and Wiper Co. the building housed warehouse space of manufacturers of foam rubber for furniture and automobiles.

Waste and Wiper manufactures wiping cloths and packs waste materials.

DR. CHARLES GAITSKELL

Dr. C. Gaitskell Art Expert To Speak In City

Dr. Charles Gaitskell, provincial director of art for the Ontario Department of Education, will speak on the elements of design in the Queen Mary auditorium Wednesday at 8:15. His address will be under the sponsorship of the Peterborough Handicraft Guild.

The author of four books on art education, Dr. Gaitskell is particularly interested in arts and crafts in junior grades of school. He has co-authored two other books on art education in the kindergarten and art education for slow learners.

On Wednesday he will attempt to show how the basic elements of design—line, space, color and mass—are combined to form good design, with reference to examples of both good and bad design in daily use.

Dr. Gaitskell is a member of the Museum of Modern Art, the New York committee on art education, and the Arts and Letters Club of Toronto. He took his doctor's thesis, after earlier training at U.B.C., at the University of Toronto on "Art Education in the Province of Ontario."

Senate's Right Reject Bills, Weakness–Euler

KITCHENER (CP) — Senator W. D. Euler said Monday the Senate's power to reject any bill that comes before it from the Commons is a weakness in Canada's parliamentary system.

Senator Euler, a Liberal, said in an address to the Kitchener-Waterloo Rotary Club that to that extent the Senate would allow for a more representative body than the present system of appointing senators.

The Senator added that in his 14 years in the Senate he has never seen a division on strictly party lines. He had heard suggestions that Liberal senators are in the red chamber principally to support the government, but if that were the case he himself would favor abolishing the Senate. It was his view that persons appointed under the present system should leave all partisan feeling behind them.

Search Nudist Colony

LOWER PEOVER, Eng. (Reuters)—Nudists donned clothes to join police in an intensive search of a 38-acre nudist colony here for Mrs. Hilda Mary Groves, 38. Mrs. Groves, not a colony member, was visiting nearby, when she hurried out of the house hatless and coatless and drove off in the family car. The car was found soon afterwards by her husband with its door swinging open.

'Quake Hits Greece

ATHENS (AP) — The Ionian islands and western Greece were rocked by earth shocks Monday, followed by torrential rains which later turned to snow. No casualties were reported. Twenty shocks in rapid succession hit the island of Kefallinia, toppling the shells of houses ruined in the devasting earthquakes of last autumn which took an estimated 1,000 lives and left 130,000 homeless.

'Queen' Battles Storm

LONDON (AP)—The liner Queen Elizabeth today was reported battling Atlantic gales on her way home from New York. Cunard officials estimated the vessel would arrive in Southampton at least 12 hours late early Thursday.

Gov.-General Asks Canada Help Newcomers

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Citizens of Canada today have an immense opportunity to build a greater nation by helping newcomers from lands across the ocean adjust themselves to a new life in a friendly and promising country, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, governor-general of Canada, said Monday night.

Speaking in the Lakehead exhibition auditorium before 500 men and women, members of the Fort William and Port Arthur Canadian Clubs, Mr. Massey called upon Canadian Clubs to accept this challenge and lead the way in keeping with their traditions of the past.

Tracing the history of Canada, Mr. Massey said that now, when former New Canadians of the plains are becoming old inhabitants, Canada is privileged to welcome again a crowd of newcomers from older parts of the world.

GOOD BACKGROUNDS

"These newest Canadians are as varied in race as any of their predecessors. They are also, as we know, even more diverse in their intellectual and social backgrounds. They are, some of them, in the sciences, letters and arts, persons not easily drawn away from the greatest centres of civilization, persons now rooted up and flung abroad by the political revolutions of our times.

"These present to us a new opportunity. Not only do many of them come to us as distinguished representatives of the great Western civilization of which we are proud to be a part, but they bring to us a pure patriotism, which is moving and inspiring."

Self-Applied Tourniquet Saves Man's Life

TRENTON—A Belleville railroad man saved his own life tonight when he wrapped a tie around his mangled leg to stem the flow of blood after he had slipped and fallen from a moving freight train.

Frank Bateman, about 55, a veteran of 35 years with the CNR, was admitted to Trenton Memorial Hospital where doctors amputated above the knee.

Dr. W. A. L. McDonald, who performed the operation, said Bateman saved his life when he applied the tourniquet after one of the car wheels almost severed the limb.

The switchman was working at the CNR junction two miles north of here when he fell. He lay on the tracks for more than 30 minutes before he was discovered by railroad employees.

Puerto Rican Nationalists Fanatic Followers Of Wild-eyed Old Rebel

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Back in the late 20s, a bushy-haired Puerto Rican with eyes of fire and the look of a messiah was acting out a fantastic charade.

It was real only in his tormented mind. In his mind, Puerto Rico had become an independent republic and he, its president. The seat of his "government" was Aguas Buenas, south of San Juan, and every morning it was the "president's" custom to call in his secretary and say:

"Please ask the foreign minister to come in with the morning mail."

In those days, Pedro Albizu Campos was a national joke in Puerto Rico. But nobody has laughted lately. In 1950, two of his followers in the Nationalist party tried to assassinate the president of the United States. Last week four Nationalists, making no more sense than Campos ever did, tried to shoot up the Congress of the United States and wounded five representatives.

The full story of Campos and his Nationalist party reads like a psychiatrist's case history of a paranoid, someone who suffers from delusions of persecution.

MANY STILL UNDERGROUND

You get this story in New York from Puerto Ricans who have known Campos and his Nationalists both here and on their native island. But none of these sources would allow his name to be used because between 60 and 100 Nationalists still are working underground here.

Is there something in New York's big Puerto Rican colony which breeds such explosive action?

New York has about 450,000 Puerto Ricans, roughly twice the population of the capital city of San Juan. They have been coming here for years but the heaviest migration (more than 260,000) has occurred since the end of the war.

Most live in dirty, crowded slums. You walk through crowded streets, past dirty lots, littered with old cans, half-torn campaign posters or old Spanish movie ads.

The crime rate is high. Larceny, stabbings, narcotics—you get a little or lot of everything here.

You hear complaints here and there: Puerto Ricans in New York can't get a decent place to live; they are discriminated against; they get the worst jobs.

Does it all mean that here in New York Puerto Ricans are smouldering with resentment against the government of the United States?

You talk to people in the tenements, to shop keepers, to men in bars. Everywhere you get the same answer: As bad as Puerto Rican living conditions may be here, they are far better than in Puerto Rico. They say they don't want to go back.

STARTED AT HOME

So, in trying to trace the fuse of the bitterness which exploded at Blair House and Congress, one must look past the crowded tenement roofs of New York. Look back in time and space to the tormented mind of a young man with eyes of fire and the look of a messiah.

Pedro Albizu Campos, dark-skinned son of a wealthy merchant, was a graduate of Harvard by the time the First World War came along. Like many Americans, he was drafted. He was assigned to an all-Negro outfit. Burning with fury over what he called a terrible humiliation, Campos vowed vengeance against the Americans who forced him to serve with Negroes.

Back in Puerto Rico, Campos began organizing the Nationalist party, screeching for independence and always preaching race hatred and violence.

At his peak, according to estimates here, Campos gathered around him about 2,000 young men and women. The males, dressed in white pants and black shirts, were called "cadets of the republic." The women wore white skirts and black blouses and were called "nurses of the republic."

In 1932, the Nationalist party entered its first and only election when Campos ran for senator-at-large. He got 5,000 votes out of more than 600,000 cast. He never dared try the ballot box again.

In 1936, Campos incurred the wrath of University of Puerto Rico students by calling them "effeminates" and "little women" because they refused to follow him. The students staged a mass meeting to denounce him. A car full of nationalist musclemen tried to break up the rally.

FIVE PERSONS KILLED

Police ordered the car to head for the police station. The Nationalists opened fire. Two police and three Nationalists were killed.

A week later, the insular chief of police, an American from Baltimore, was shot to death on his way home from Sunday Mass in the cathedral. In the next few days, police stations were shot up and post offices bombed. In all, the outbreaks took 13 lives.

Campos and Julio Pinto Gandia (now reputed to be the leader of the Nationalist wing in New York) were arrested with other party leaders and sentenced to six years in Atlanta federal penitentiary for insurrection.

Released in 1943, Campos spent a few years in New York during which, according to one Puerto Rican source, "he definitely was financed by Communists."

In 1948, Campos returned to Puerto Rico, and in October, 1950, led his fanatics in another revolt. They bombed post offices, opened fire on police stations and one car load of gunmen even tried to storm La Fartaleza, the governor's palace.

BOAST TO LIVE UP TO

About 30 people were killed as Campos' wild-eyed followers tried to fulfil his oft-repeated boast "If I told them to shoot every man on the police force, they'd do it the next day."

Two days after the island outbreaks, two Puerto Ricans tried to shoot their way into Blair House and kill President Truman. One guard and one terrorist were killed.

Back in Puerto Rico, Campos was arrested again and sentenced to terms totalling 56 years. In 1951, he was suffering from so many hallucinations he was removed to a prison hospital. Last September, Campos was pardoned by Governor Luis Munoz Marin in a "Humanitarian" gesture towards an obviously unbalanced man.

But that morning Puerto Rican police blasted their way into his blazing home with tear gas and hauled him off to the hospital as he gasped, "I am asphyxiated." Thirty-five of his closest associates also were arrested in an island-wide roundup.

Governor Munoz Marin said his government would go all out to eradicate the "poisonous snake" of subversion.

Boats Pick Up Men

L'ANSE, Mich. (AP)—A conservation department launch and small commercial fishing boats picked up 15 ice fishermen off the wind-blown ice floes of Keewanaw bay Monday. Police said that if winds had been stronger, all of the 15 might have been lost. The floes were being blown out into Lake Superior when the boats sped to their rescue.

Fire Destroys Lodge

ESPANOLA (CP) — A lodge owned by Art Lachance on Lake Penage, 10 miles southeast of here, was destroyed by fire Saturday. Word of the blaze reached this town, about 50 miles west of Sudbury, today.

Lachance and two friends were able to save only a few blankets. Snowblocked roads forced them to use a team of horses to get here.

Mark St. Church Fathers, Sons Scout Banquet

13th Peterborough Scout troop of March St. church held their annual father and son banquet Friday, marking the 15th anniversary of their charter. One hundred and twenty boys and their fathers sat down to an excellent dinner prepared by the ladies' auxiliary.

Guests present were Scout Commissioner Ed Cotton, Assistant Commissioner H. Wilson, the Rev. Dr. N. D. Patterson, Assistant Provincoal Commissioner K. Jakins and the speaker of the evening, Campbell Rowatt.

The program with chairman H. A. Allen presiding began with a sing-song led by K. Jakins and N. Hewitt.

C. English thanked the ladies for their time and effort in preparing the banquet. Mrs. G. Dixon, president of the auxiliary, replied and presented the cubs with a totem pole and the scouts with a signal set on behalf of the ladies.

W. Borland, scout leader, gave a report on the year's activities and presented cub instructor badges to scouts A. Allen and K. Pomeroy also service stars to the following, 4-year star to E. English; 3-year to R. Dixon; 2-year to D. Woodward and 1-year stars to B. Dorrington, G. Nixon, A. Chalmers, R. Duncan, M. Fowler and J. Cullen.

C. Munro, cub leader, spoke briefly to the fathers and presented service stars to the following cubs: 4-year stars to D. Munro, B. Cullen, F. DeNoble; 3-year stars to D. Inne, R. Moore, R. Orr, J. Reid, H. Dinesen; 2-year stars to R. Brady, P. Berardi, W. Aitchison, W. Ash, W. Casselman, P. De Noble, T. Mahoney, R. Searles, P. Tobey, R. Gibbons and D. Payne; 1-year stars to R. Hamley, R. Hewit, J. Guppy, A. Keating, R. Pinch, R. Reynard, W. Wilson, P. Ferguson, D. Dixon, T. Bell and K. Van Allen.

Dr. Paterson spoke briefly on the tendency of boys to emulate their fathers. Commissioner E. Cotton and Assistant Commissioner H. Wilson brought greetings and good wishes from the local association. Assistant Provincial Commissioner for Sea Scouts, K. Jakins, paid tribute to the leaders and gave some helpful hints to the men of the group committee.

M. Clysdale introduced the speaker, Mr. Rowatt, who gave a very interesting and instructive talk on forest and fish and game conservation, followed by a film entitled "Canoe Country". C. Ferguson thanked the speaker.

The retiring chairman, Mr. Allen, turned the meeting over to H. Humphries, chairman for the coming year.

The evening closed with Bruce and James Cullen singing "A Scout's Day", accompanied by Mrs. C. Searles on the piano.

Sudbury Teachers Get $200 Pay Increase

SUDBURY (CP)—Sudbury teachers and the public school board have agreed upon a general pay boost of $200 a year, effective next September. The increase will be in addition to the regular annual increment.

With approximately 100 teachers on the Sudbury school staffs, this will mean an addition of some $20,000 to the budget for the next year.

Salaries now run from a minimum of $2,400 to a basis maximum of $4,200. This maximum can be further increased by degrees and summer courses to $5,000.

Galt Farmer Wins Three Championships

WATERLOO (CP)—W. C. Barrie of Galt won three championships at the Waterloo county seed fair here Monday.

It was the 15th consecutive year that he has won the title for winter wheat.

He also won a special prize of 15 pounds of oron orchard grass as the champion small seed grower for his specimen of alfalfa seed. The third championship was for malting barley.

FASTER THAN ATOMIC — Britain's first hydrogen peroxide-driven submarine, the 225-foot Explorer, is launched in England. The secrecy-shrouded vessel, claimed to be faster than the U.S. atomic submarine Nautilus, was developed for long-range missions without surfacing.

Labor Council

Labor delegates to the Peterborough and District Labour Council, (CCL) are still opposed to the principle of a city council grant to the Chamber of Commerce, and they are using a familiar free-enterprise argument to bolster their case.

The Chamber of Commerce asked city council for $6,395 on the grounds that they were devoting 30 per cent of their time doing work that the city would have to do if they didn't do it. They were referring specifically to promotional work and running the Better Business Bureau.

City council have tentatively put $1,800 in the budget for the Chamber.

"As the Chamber of Commerce is so in favor of private enterprise and free competition . . . I say let them stick to their rules and do like any other business . . . Pay for it themselves," said Ed Humphrey of Local 434, UPWA (CIO-CCL).

William Whibbs of Local 524 (CIO-CCL), said that while it is true Peterborough generally does benefit some from the promotional work of the Chamber of Commerce the chief beneficiaries are the retailers and resort owners. He suggested that they should supply the money, not the ratepayers.

Wr. Whibbs opposed the grant on two grounds:

"1. Duplication of services.

"2. The Chamber of Commerce has consistently opposed subsidies, yet here they are coming to the city council and asking for a subsidy— that's what it amounts to."

This was the cue for William Gunn of Local 293, UPWA to remark: "I think we should commend the Chamber of Commerce to have the nerve to ask for a grant."

Alfred Barber of Local 210, UPWA, asked: "Why are there two Chambers of Commerce —a junior and a senior? Haven't the juniors enough ability and brains to be up there with the big shots?"

He said only about one per cent of the tourist resort owners are affiliated with chamber. And he was curious about the percentage of merchants who belong to the retail section.

Another letter will be sent to the city council expressing the labor council's disapproval of any grant to the chamber.

Curb Bargaining Power Of Police, Firemen

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP) — A move to curb the bargaining power of firemen and policemen was made by Waterloo aldermen today.

Council's office committee supported a London, Ont., council resolution recommending that the Ontario municipal board, rather than a board of arbitration, decide wage disputes between municipalities and firemen or police.

"Now there's something that has some sense to it," said Ald. Mrs. Anna Hughes, as the resolution was read.

It was stated firemen and police have sometimes taken their cases to an arbitration board and received more than they requested.

Fairmount WMS Holds Day Of Prayer Service

Fairmount WMS held a world day of prayer service at the home of Mrs. Harry McBain, with 15 ladies present.

Mrs. Fred McIndoo was assisted in the program by Mrs. Downes, Mrs. C. W. Seymour and Mrs. H. McBain. A solo, "'Tis the Blessed Hour of Prayer," was sung by Mrs. L. A. Hooton.

It was decided to secure a speaker for the Easter thank-offering meeting.

Stuck In Chimney

CHICAGO (AP) — Six-year-old Robert Unger, missing for nearly six hours and hunted by more than 150 persons, was found Monday night stuck in the chimney of an outdoor fireplace 30 feet from his home.

He had become stuck in the foot-wide chimney while playing outside in near-freezing weather. He was suffering from exposure, shock and bruises.

LIKE A LION—A Cleveland motorist digs out his vehicle after March roared in like a lion and buried the city under more than 15 inches of snow. The worst of the winter, the storm slowed traffic on main avenues and made smaller side streets almost impassable. Snow was also reported to have fallen as far north as Knoxville, Tenn.

Call For Study Sex Deviation In Ont. Province

TORONTO (CP) — A thorough study on the subject of sex deviation in Ontario is called for by the Ontario legislature's select committee on reform institutions.

The committee, in tabling its report in the house Monday, said the core of a new approach to the problem should be recognition of the fact that sex deviates are "sick people" and that a closed security unit should be established for the offenders.

"Their incarceration, in most cases, should be regarded as hospitalization rather than penal detention, with the best efforts of medicine and science concentrated on finding cures for individual patients. The cure will not be simple . . . . Each sex offender must be treated, not as an ordinary criminal, but as an individual problem."

One of every 10 sex offenders is female and the principles of her treatment should be the same as those formulated for males.

"The first step toward more effective treatment of sex deviates should be a re-examination of the laws. . . . Complete segregation should be provided. . . . Ample provision should be made for productive hard labor. Under no conditions should inmates of this institution be housed in dormitories or in any manner that would facilitate the engagement in homosexual activities."

Within the special institution, segregation of perverts from the other deviates should be complete.

"For the others, there would appear to be some hope for a cure; for the perverts, on the basis of present medical knowledge, there would appear to be no hope."

Free Of Serious Crime

CHATHAM (CP) — A pair of white gloves, signifying a county free of serious crime, were presented to Mr. Justice J. L. Wilson Monday at the opening of the spring assizes of the Supreme Court of Ontario in Kent county.

Nine non-jury and two jury cases will be heard but there are no criminal actions.

U.S. Trailer Owners "Blacklist" Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — American trailer owners have "unofficially blacklisted" Ontario because of its lack of attractive parks, the Canadian Trailer Coach Association said Monday in a report to the legislature's travel and publicity committee.

The association proposed regulations governing the planning, building and maintenance of trailer parks in order to attract that section of the tourist trade.

The report said the trailer industry was "no fly-by-night, or back-pasture industry."

W. M. Murdoch (PC — Essex South) suggested that the tourist industry problem should be considered by a select committee of the house.

Schoolgirl Drowned

BELLE RIVER (CP) — An attempt to save a few minutes on her way home from school cost an eight-year-old girl her life Monday when rotten ice in Pike creek suddenly gave way. Carol Suzor was drowned and her companion, Doris Marentette, 8, scrambled to safety.

Canadian Economy Still Strong Says Manufacturers' President

MONTREAL (CP)—There is no real cause for trembling in Canada, J. D. Ferguson of Rock Island, Que., president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said today.

In a speech prepared for delivery (12:30 p.m.) to the Montreal Rotary Club, he said:

"The plain truth is that our economy is growing so steadily and has such reserves of strength that it will take a major catastrophe to stop us in our tracks or even blunt our progress over any appreciable length of time.

"Admittedly, seasonal employment is fairly high, but so is production and wages. Stabilizing prices and a good level of economic activity have coincided to endow Canadians generally with genuine prosperity."

Part of today's trouble, said Mr. Ferguson, "is that we have been operating so long at 100 per cent capacity that a 10 per cent drop becomes real grist for the mill of the press agents of depression."

Demand, he added, is less urgent in its pace and more discriminating in its choice, but while this might present a problem, "we should be foolish to confuse a problem with a tragedy.

"There is no reason why the economy's balance cannot be secured by improvement of products, cutting of costs, reduction of prices and plain hard selling."

Some argue, continued Mr. Ferguson, that Canada is over-produced. Rather, he thought, "we are under-consumed."

Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures indicate half of Canadian households have furnaces and 65 per cent have hot and cold water supply. One-third of Canadian homes have no telephone, no mechanical refrigerator, no bath or shower. Hundreds of thousands have no washing machines, no sewing machines, no cars and no vacuum sweepers.

"Don't these figures indicate that, while salesmen have a real challenge, they also have a real opportunity?"

Kinmount Girls Club To Hold Open House

The Kinmount Girls' Working With Wool Club met in the High school Friday, March 5, with 18 present.

It was decided to have an additional meeting of the girls alone before an open house meeting of mothers and all interested in seeing and hearing the results of the club effort. A review of the care of the skirt, particularly by pressing, was stressed. Invisible mending, as done by tailors, was taught by instruction, demonstration, and individual participation.

Some special leaflets were distributed to the girls, containing sewing secrets. Hostesses were Marilyn and Marie Emmerson and Mabel Dovell.

Youths Pay $225 For Disturbance

KITCHENER (CP)—Four youths from Guelph were fined a total of $225 Monday when they were convicted of charges arising out of a disturbance at the Station Hotel Feb. 19.

Joseph Morrison, 19, was fined $75 and costs on charges of consuming while a minor and for assault and creating mischief. Mario Innocente, 18, was fined $50 and costs on the same charge. It was Morrison's second offence on the liquor charge.

Also fined $50 and costs were Anthony Cassolate, 25, and Sydney Spira, 21. They were convicted of causing a disturbance and creating public mischief.

Magistrate R. P. Locke bound the four over to keep the peace for one year and further ordered they were to stay away from Kitchener hotels.

Plan Housing Project

TORONTO (CP)—Plans for a $15,000,000 apartment project in midtown Toronto, just north of Maple Leaf Gardens, were announced Monday. Norman Hill, a real estate agent acting for the Shields Construction Company says the project depends on the city expropriating the land. The plan calls for 10 18-storey apartments. It is the third such project proposed for the same area.

Indian Role To Bring Peace To World Says Commission

The aim of India's foreign policy is to "extend the region of neutrality which the cold war cannot penetrate," Ramji Saksena, India's High Commissioner to Canada, told the Rotary Club Monday.

By extending the area of those who do not believe in war, India hopes to create an ever-widening buffer area between east and west. But this, said the high commissioner, is but a temporary expedient. If there is to be a permanent solution to the world's ills, there must be "freedom for all countries under foreign domination or else trusteeships for those countries not yet able fully to govern themselves."

"There are only two enemies in the world which matter, and these are want and disease."

Using this premise, Mr. Saksena sketched India's attitude to world affairs, and how she hoped to be a bridge between east and west.

The philosophy of peace, said the speaker, "not only forms the very warp and woof of our life" but is essential if India is to progress economically.

FACES CHAOS

Chaos existed in India after the last British Viceroy, Lord Mountbatten, left in 1947. This was due to several factors, including the presence of 2½ million restless war veterans, Communist agitation for government reforms and the partition of India and Pakistan.

Partition was "a great blow to India's unity and to our economic life." The Indian economy was further imperilled by a series of bad crops, disorganization in the railways, lack of doctors and hospitals, obsolete machinery in run-down factories and a low standard of education.

India needs peace, said Mr. Saksena, to raise herself from depressed post-war conditions. In 1947 there was only 15 per cent literacy, life expectancy for the average Indian was 27, and the average per capita income was $50 a year.

To raise India to the status of a major world power is a long and painful process, Mr. Saksena said. A unified government was set up as the various maharajahs were pensioned off. A five-year plan is now in progress which will enable Indians to live in relative security "but only if we have peace."

"Those who think war is inevitable are wrong," Mr. Saksena categorically declared. The serious Indian mind, he said, "recoils at the very thought." India is seeking to "promote mutual trust and confidence between world's nations."

HOPE IN UN

Later, Mr. Saksena told The Examiner that his country believed the hope of the world was in the United Nations. He wanted the admission of not only Red China, but also Spain and all other autonomous nations in what he called a "packet deal."

Historically, too, Indian philosophy is inextricably bound up with the idea of peace. Just as an individual is a product of heredity and social environment, so is a nation a product of culture, tradition and a world of environment.

A country is a product of its historical growth and "can't run away from its destiny any more than an individual can."

Mr. Saksena briefly sketched the history of India from the time of the Aryan invasions 4,000 odd years ago. For a long time the country was divided into intermittently warring factions and kingdoms, with political, economical and social outlooks developing pragmatically. The caste system developed as a "functional division of society" to make administration more efficient in earlier times.

But the "most important fact of Indian history," with reference to her present foreign policy, was the establishment of the religion of the Hindus.

ONE SUPREME SPIRIT

The basic tenet of the Hindu faith is that there is no duality in the world, but only one supreme spirit. The division of everything into energy and matter, according to Hindu philosophy is illusory. Thus the only escape from the life-death cycle is through meditation, knowledge and prayer.

"The solemnity of mind and tranquility of spirit" thus engendered is the foundation of the Hindu spirit, said Mr. Saksena. He said that this concept was improved and modified by Bhudda who stressed that a middle path of compassion should be sought between the extremes of complete withdrawal from worldly affairs and complete absorption in them.

Ultimate crystallization of this attitude, said the commissioner, came with the technique of Mohandus K. Gandhi. He taught the dual principles of non-violence and the pursuit of truth.

No Indian, said Mr. Saksena, was bitter against the British after they left because this love of peace was so firmly ingrained. He recalled that Gandhi had spent many years in British jails, and that present Premier Nehru had been a prisoner for nearly 30 years altogether.

In summary, Mr. Saksena's thesis was that India wants peace, first, because she needs peace to survive economically, because of the pressure of environment and second because over the centuries the desire for peace has become the cornerstone of Indian philosophy.

The High Commissioner was given a standing ovation by Rotarians. He was introduced by the Rev. Henry Cotton and thanked by Hugh Waddell.

Mr. Saksena brought to the Peterborough Rotary an impressive list of qualifications. He holds three degrees from the University of Allahabad. He began his career as professor of economics at this university, later switched to government service in the field of finance.

In the crucial 1937-1940 years he was India's trade commissioner to Japan. From 1941 to 1947 he held a similar position to Australia and New Zealand, returned to the external affairs ministry in New Delhi.

He came to the U.S. as consul general in New York from 1948 to 1951, when he was appointed High Commissioner to Canada. He has represented his country on a score of UN agencies, and was India's delegate to the International Red Cross in Toronto in 1952. He is fluent in Japanese, Russian and English.

One Anson Airplane Kept As Memento

OTTAWA (CP)—The air force relented and decided not to throw all four of its remaining Anson training planes on the scrap heap.

Brushing away a collective tear, RCAF headquarters announced Monday that one will be kept as a historical memento. It will be stored at Chater, Man., site of a wartime RCAF relief field, with other Second World War aircraft, now obsolete. These include a Mosquito, Hurricane, Tiger Moth, Lysander and Fairey Battle.

Last week, the air force announced its last four Avro Ansons would be flown in a few days from Ottawa to Trenton, and turned over to War Assets Corporation for disposal.

St. Mark's Otonabee Anglican church has honored several members of the congregation with presentations. A custom of giving family Bibles to young married couples of the parish has been carried on for more than 40 years, and last week Mr. and Mrs. Earl Robinson were recipients of two such Bibles. The honor of a life membership in the Diocesan WA was bestowed upon Mrs. G. W. Robinson, Sr., this given by members of her family and two friends as an expression of esteem and affectionate recognition of long years of faithful service. She also has the distinction of being the first member of this church to receive a WA life membership. Rector the Rev. H. Peasgood pinned the gold pin on Mrs. Robinson, and also told the history and meaning of a life membership.

To Read Lenten Articles

St. John's Anglican Women's Auxiliary (Evening Branch) monthly devotional meeting was held Monday evening. President Mrs. M. Montgomery recited the opening prayers. Miss M. Lancaster read a passage from the scriptures. Considerable correspondence was read by Mrs. M. Langford, including a letter from the prayer partners, the Rev. H. S. and Mrs. Shepherd of Bishop Horden Memorial school at Moose Factory, Ontario. It was decided that the members alternate in reading mission articles from the "Leaflet" and "Church Times" at the sewing meetings during Lent. The proposed rummage sale is to be held after Easter, on April 24. Miss M. Dainton read and discussed a chapter of the study book on Africa. Refreshments were served by Mrs. M. Montgomery and Miss A. Stout at the close of the meeting.

Annual church service of the Home and School Associations, marking the opening of education week, was at Murray St. Baptist Church Sunday evening. Eighty five, including some teachers, registered their attendance as representatives of city and district associations. They were welcomed by the Rev. Ivan Morgan, during the service. Mr. Morgan spoke on "The History of the Bible," as it was the 150th anniversary of the British and Foreign Bible Society. He pointed out "The Bible contains purest gold, but we do not appreciate its worth, and often leave it to gather dust. It is still a 'best seller,' and in 1953 more than two million copies were printed in more than eleven hundred languages." Three important points to remember about it he listed were: "It is the Word of God, the Word of Truth and the Word of Life."

Police Matron Speaks to YPU

Police matron Mrs. Mel Shadgett gave a most interesting talk on "Juvenile delinquency and the problems of young married couples today to the YPU of George Street United church on Monday evening. She stressed numerous times during her talk "the importance of church life in your life." She also spoke of the terrible toll that alcoholism is taking in th lives of young couples. Cases of girls as young as 14 years being found in a drunken condition were cited. Mrs. Shadgett suggested to the young people what they as Christian youths may do to stop the increase of such situations. The citizenship and community service group headed by Miss Isobel Cruikshanks was in charge of this meeting and served refreshments and led in the worship service. Mrs. G. Hadwin read the scripture selection and prayer was offered by Gordon Bradford who also led the recreation.

Active Couple Of Lakefield Observe 60th Anniversary

LAKEFIELD, (ENS)—A host of friends and neighbors called Monday afternoon and evening to offer congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Queen St., who are celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary.

The couple were married in Trinity United Church, Peterborough, by the Rev. J. Edwards. Mrs. Smith was the former Alma Green and was born in Lakefield. Mr. Smith was born in Peterborough and they have lived in this district most of their lives, except for a number of years spent in Utica, N.Y. Before his retirment, when they moved to Lakefield, Mr. Smith was employed by the Quaker Oats Company. They have lived in the village for the past 14 years.

The Smiths are members of the United Church and Mrs. Smith is a valued member of the Women's Missionary Society.

Mr. Smith is a member of the Canadian Legion, Branch 77 and Mrs. Smith of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Legion. Both are interested members of the Lakefield Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Mr. Smith enlisted in the 80th Brigade of the Trench Mortars in 1915, but upon arriving overseas was transferred to the 11th Brigade where he served until the last six months of the war when he was wounded and hospitalized in England for several months before returning to Canada.

Mr. Smith thinks the young people of today are fine, but feels if they want to live to celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary thy will have to go a bit easier.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith received many beautiful gifts, flowers, cards and messages of congratulations from their friends.

Lavery-Spence Lakefield Nuptials

A pretty wedding took place at the family residence, Regent street, Lakefield, Saturday afternoon, when Jean Isobel, daughter of Mr. George Spence and the late Mrs. Spence, was united in marriage to Mr. Jack Vincent Lavery, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Lavery of Guelph.

Against a setting of white 'mums and ferns, the ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. C. Wolfraim of the Lakefield United church. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Harry T. Hill, and during the signing of the register Mrs. Donald Hendren sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a waltz length gown of white lace over taffeta with full skirt. The fitted rhinestone embroidered bodice had a scalloped neckline, and she wore a fingertip veil of white nylon tulle caught to a coronet of pearls and rhinestones, and carried a nosegay of red roses and white 'mums.

She was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harry Spence of Peterborough, frocked similarly in shadow blue with matching headdress. She carried a nosegay of pink roses and white 'mums. Mr. John Bulger of Guelph attended the groom.

Receiving at the reception was the bride's sister, Mrs. Kenneth Jakins, wearing a dress of Kelly green taffeta with matching hat, black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother in a gown of dusty rose crepe with silver metallic trimmed jacket, blue flower hat and a corsage of Bettertime roses.

For a plane trip to New York the bride choose a light blue silk bengaline dress, small white sequin hat with black trim, black accessories and a muskrat coat.

They will live in Lakefield where the groom is accountant at the Royal Bank.

Women Unite Prayer Service

The World Day of Prayer was observed in Bethany with a joint service of members of both churches gathering in St. Paul's Anglican church. The Rev. T. S. Gault led the devotions. Prayers for the royal fimily, the citizens of all nations, for true and lasting peace, for homes and families around the world, for missionary societies and the missionaries in all parts of the world, and for the church universal were given by Mrs. Allan Gribble, Mrs. T. S. Gault, Mrs. H. F. Rayson, Mrs. Lawrence Norman, Mrs. J. P. Henderson and Mrs. T. J. Jackson. The Rev. Lawrence Norman of the United Church gave the address.

Calgary-Born Skater Wins Acclaim In English Shows

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The most excited Canadian skater in London probably is Vancouver's Jeane Matthews. She's going to South Africa for an Easter ice show and returns to Britain to star in a summer show at Brighton, south coast seaside resort.

Chestnut-haired Jeane was runner-up to Ottawa's Barbara Ann Scott in the Canadian figure-skating championships of 1948 after Miss Scott won the Olympic title. She says skating is her life and she wants to make a name as a solo skater in Britain.

Miss Matthews has three solo spots in an ice revue scheduled for a seven- to eight-week appearance in Johannesburg. She will then play for three months at Brighton, starting in July.

The 24-year-old Calgary-born skater came to Britain in the fall of 1953—because she was tired touring in Canadian "Ice Cycles." She prefers British ice shows "because they stay in one place for the run of the show."

NOW AT WEMBLEY

She arrived too late to audition for solo parts in the Christmas ice shows and has since been cooling her skates back stage at Wembley, understudy to Gloria Nord and Daphne Walker in "Humpty Dumpty on Ice." "Good fun and a well-paid opportunity to study British ice skating technique," she said.

Miss Matthews has skated twice before in British rinks. She came with the "Ice Cycles" for 16-week summer shows in 1949 and 1950.

Miss Matthews has been sharing London accommodation with Nancy MacKenzie of London, Ont. Miss MacKenzie came to Britain on a holiday with school friend Joyce Vine of London, and decided to stay and skate in the chorus of "Humpty Dumpty on Ice," continuing her holiday in early spring.

Norwood United WMS Holds Meeting

NORWOOD (ENS)—The Norwood United Church Women's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. Roy Brown. Mrs. John Starke presided and there was a good attendance.

The meeting opened with a reading, "A Pattern for a Day," by Mrs. Starke. Supply Secretary Miss M. A. Carter had on display several articles for the overseas bale. Mrs. G. A. Brethen gave a reading on temperance.

Mrs. Fred Gardner and her group took charge of the devotional period. The theme for the worship service was, "The Church in the House." Mrs. W. H. McMillan gave the scripture reading, after which Mrs. Gardner led in prayer.

The topic, chapter nine of the study book, "Our Own Back Door," was given by Mrs. Rork Ferguson, Mrs. Wm. Baker, Mrs. Roy Brown and Mrs. Gardner.

Mrs. Wm. Baker invited the members to her home for the April meeting.

Weekend In Paris Soon To Be Says Travel Agent

"A weekend in Paris" is going to be no longer fiction but real life right in Peterborough. Unbelievable as it may sound, this was stated by Mr. Harvey Strub travel agent, at the meeting of the University Women's Club Monday evening.

Mr. Strub smiled calmly while his audience laughed at the suggestion, then reminded them that the idea of a two-week vacation in Paris had been laughed at once. "Now it is possible to tour the whole of Europe in two weeks" he said.

"Weekends in Bermuda" are now being sold in New York, and further south they have them for the Caribbean area, the speaker advised.

Modern airline service has made the greatest change in the travel industry. However, for those who want to see their own country first, Mr. Strub recommended bus tours, and he described new busses going into service on some lines which will provide the acme of comfort on the road.

He said the private automobile has given people the opportunity to see how others live and has done a great deal to promote the present surging desire to travel. Other contributing factors include the movie "shoris" of scenes in other countries.

Cruises are perhaps the most luxurious way to travel and Mr. Strub told of some of the services that are rendered to passengers on the ships. He also explained about "freighter travel" and displayed a book listing ships that will take passengers, mostly from two to 12 persons, but sometimes 40 to 50 depending on the size of the vessel.

"The travel agent is like a tailor," said Mr. Strub. "He cuts out a trip for you just like a suit, fitting it to your special needs and desires." He also has "ready-mades" that can be purchased simply according to the length of time and money you can spend. The "package tours," usually personally conducted, are gotten up for holiday weekends and vacation periods and are appreciated especially by career women.

Business meeting of the club preceded the travel talk and was conducted by president Miss Katherine Macdougall.

Omemee Couple Wed 40 Years

"OMEMEE — Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Mahood R.R. No. 1 Omemee celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary recently with their Family and Friends. Mr. and Mrs. Mahood have lived in the Bethel neighborhood for the past four years.

'Variety Night' Staging Highly Pleases Audience Of Art Association Guests

So thoroughly entertaining that requests for a repeat performance are being made was the "Variety Night" presentation Monday by the study clubs and guilds of the Women's Art Association.

One hundred and ninety-five guests, including some gentlemen, were crowded into the YWCA recreation room for this occasion, the first of its kind and a unique type of program for this city. Each year there is a money-making event planned so that the treasury may be kept in good standing.

A variety night was the original idea of president Mrs. Ford Turner, who supervised the preparations but unfortunately was taken ill and could not be present as chairman Monday night. First vice president Mrs. Harold R. Scott filled in capably.

The Literary Study Club truly highlighted the stage presentations by bringing to life some of the women of literature they have studied in the past several years. Casting and costuming for these impersonations had been so aptly and cleverly done that onlookers were able to name some of the characters without benefit of Mrs. N. D. Seaton's charming introductions and thumb-nail sketches of the connecting stories.

First lady presented was Mrs. Erlynne of "Lady Windermere's Fan", a fascinating woman excellently portrayed by Miss Helen Staples. Next was a lovely lady, The Duchess of Sutherland, mistress of the court of Queen Victoria, portrayed with grace by Mrs. T. H. Glover. Mrs. Thomas Stewart from Robertson Davies' play, "At My Heart's Core" was impersonated by Mrs. C. D. Munro.

Mrs. Leo Copp was the star performer in this little show as Eliza Doolittle, the street flower seller of Shaw's "Pygmalion". The characterization was quickly recognizable, but even friends did not know her in her unkempt, untidy and over-dressed appearance.

From a Scandinavian play, "Hedda Gabler" was portrayed by Miss Maida Connor, and from a Bergerac play, Miss Olive Armstrong presented "Roxanne". Fry's "Lady's Not For Burning", Jennet Jourdemain, was Mrs. W. G. Ovens. "Lavinia" of Noel Coward's "Tonight at Eight Thirty" was Miss Margaret Lees.

Book characters in person, as it were, were Elizabeth Bennett of Jane Austin's "Pride and Presence" by Mrs. John Allen. Charlotte Bronte's Jan Eyre by Miss Ila Giles, Betsy Trockwood, great aunt of David Copperfield by Mrs. W. R. Philp, and a very fancily dressed, ringleted lady, Becky Sharp of "Vanity Fair" was Mrs. Charles Pilon. Browning's Pippa of "Pippa Passes" was Miss Jessie Cowling.

But applause for "The Lady that's known as Lu" portrayal in the days of the Klondike fashion by Mrs. J. E. R. Munro, drowned out explanation that she was impersonating the woman of Robert Service's poem, "Dangerous Dan McGrew".

Following this came another clever stage presentation by the Guild of Arts and Crafts. This was a short skit titled "An Afternoon with the Art Association" and it was adapted from an Anna Russell recording by Mrs. L. B. Martin who took the part of the "highly cultured president". "Speaker for the Meeting", a French artist, was played by Miss Anne Jamieson. Again the costuming was excellently suited to the characterization.

The Music Study Club, under direction of Mrs. James Goldie, opened and closed the program with songs. They chose a Czechoslovak "Dance Song", "Steal Away" as arranged by Noble Cain, "Dark Valley", and "Follow Me Down to Carlow".

Mr. Charles Allen accompanied the choruses and Mrs. R. Y. Kenny played softly during the Literary Club's parade.

The Art Study Club's contribution was the showing of a film with scenes from the life and works of Grandma Moses now 90 odd years of age, and a budding artist. Her simple home life on a farm in New York State where she observes the landscape through the changing season and writes her impressions with paint was interestingly described. Miss Mal Lees introduced the film and the projector was operated by Mrs. Q. McKinney.

In half hour periods before and after the program the Home Arts Guild conducted sale of delicious home baking, convened by Mrs. W. C. McCreery, and craft work of Guild of Arts and Crafts members was sold, with Mrs. G. Reindhart in charge.

Tea and sandwiches were served the guests by those taking part during the evening, the ladies still in the costumes of their stage appearances.

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Has No Regrets, Now Pay Cheque Is Her Own

DEAR MISS DIX: I judge from your column that you have many letters from women who share my experience. Perhaps they'd like to know how one woman managed to put a sorry mistake behind her.

I worked after marriage, and my husband soon got the idea that he was the happy possessor of two salary cheques. I paid all the bills, couldn't buy a dress for myself without an argument, while he went out to ball games, races, or just for an evening with the boys at least three times a week. He spent weekends away from home, while I spent them washing, cleaning and preparing meals for the week ahead. I didn't know what it was to have an evening out. Finally, he asked for his freedom, and I gave it to him, although I thought my heart was broken. Well, I'm thankful to say, it didn't work out that way. I realize now how much better off I am. My three children are grown, I am still young (47) and, with my job, am well able to get along. The children stuck by me beautifully, and after two years, I can say the bitterness of my 22-year marriage is passing. My ex-husband? Well, he married the woman who took him from me; now she stays alone most of the time while he squanders his money (and hers) on horses and other women.

Men like this never change; wives are just letting themselves in for unending heartbreak if they hope for reformation. To me, the past is now just a bad dream, and the future full of hope.

G. G.

WIFE WITH SALARY

ANSWER: Thanks for your helpful letter. There are indeed many women living through the same situation as yours before your husband lit out. It's a pitiful sight to see wives making every concession, every sacrifice in the hope that one day they may win a little affection from a stonehearted mate.

It's usually hopeless to try to convince them that the waiting is futile. Of your own accord, you probably never would have come to any conclusion except that of plodding on desperately hoping for a change. Your husband took the decision away from you; few men will follow his example. A man who has a wife with a pay cheque, and who does all the housework in return for exactly nothing, rarely leaves. Why should he? With no financial responsibility to his home, and his mate willing, in fact, actually eager, to pamper him by turning over anything she has, keeping things in order, meals available to suit his whim, he's well satisfied.

Unless a woman clamps down, but hard, on a freedom-loving mate, she has to bear this burden with no hope of change.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: During my courtship with Gloria, I gave her several expensive gifts, including a wrist watch. After buying these presents for her, I began to realize that she didn't care too much for me, and sure enough, she informed me, through a mutual friend, that she was through. Now, although I have consulted a lawyer, I haven't succeeded in getting my gifts back. How can I force her to return them?

M. J.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your lawyer is the only person who can help you. Morally, of course, the girl should return your presents, but the legal ruling must come from a professional source. If you don't get them back, cross the expense off as the cost of experience.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My boy friend's sister lives near me, but he's out on a farm. He's only 15, therefore too young to drive, so I see him only when his family comes to call on his sister. Should I wait until he can visit me on his own, or give him up?

Myra

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Depends on how much you like the boy. There's no reason why you can't hope for the time when he'll be more available, but in the meantime make friends of other boys, too. Even if he showed more interest in you, the restrictions of transportation would make him an unsatisfactory steady.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Using Soy Flour In Place Of Wheat

Hold everything! This is a cry for succor. I'm asking you to hold off writing to me for two days so that I can catch up on the stack of correspondence from you that is on my desk.

Unless somebody is dying of starvation or food poisoning (how in tarnation I'd help I don't know) don't write for two days, and I'll wrestle with answers to the best of my ability, then you can start writing again.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Since I am very much in need of recipes for baking with soy flour I thought you might have some available. One of my youngsters is unable to eat anything containing wehat flour, and my efforts at baking just substituting the soy for wheat flour have been most unsuccessful. — Thelma Mcl.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You have a difficult problem. You may have seen letters here from other readers who have this wheat allergy to contend with. You can order 100 per cent rye bread in some communities, but since you live in a rather sparsely populated area I think that is out. I am not proud of the soy Muffin recipe I am giving you, but it is better than nothing.

SOY FLOUR MUFFINS

One cup soy flour, 1 cup cornmeal, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ cup sugar, ½ teasp. salt, 1 cup milk, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons melted butter. Sift dry ingredients together. Make well in centre into which put eggs, milk and melted butter, and beat until smooth. Turn into buttered hot muffin tins and bake about 30 minutes at 375 degrees Fehr.

NOTE: Try the oven at 450 degrees Fahr. once in a while for these—it makes them puffier, but crusty.

Would readers please come to our rescue with other soy flour products Without Wheat if they have them?

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I enjoy your column every day, but that recipe for Quiche Lorraine . . . I am terribly sorry but it has nothing to do with Quiche Lorraine. The name is Quiche, not Guiche. The recipe is far more simple than the one you gave. I have learn how to make that recipe in France. All my French friends do it the way I do it, and moreover all my French cooking books give the same recipe as following:

QUICHE LORRAINE

(Courtesy Isabelle B.)

Line an ordinary pie plate (9 inches) with pastry . . . beat three eggs with ½ cup cream. Add salt if you want and fresh pepper. On the pastry put a few pieces of salted pork, cut very thinly. Pour the eggs mixture and cook 35 minutes in moderate oven instead of pork you can use thin pieces of Gruyere cheese . . . In France this is always served as an entree in the French meaning of the word, that is before the meat course. It is served tepid—never hot or even warm . . . and please, believe me, no 12 minutes pre-cooking, no ground ham, no chicken, no cheddar, no Roquefort, no paprika, no chili sauce, no catsup, and no salad. The only accompaniment is Rhine wine or Alsace wine . . . the recipe you gave is certainly worth while trying. I'll make it one of these days and call it "Canadian Quiche" if you don't mind, but quiche lorraine is quiche lorraine and nothing can change that . . . I apologize for my poor English and for the contradiction . . . there is a quantity of recipes of "pies" to be served as entrees: Tourteau lyonnais, Tourteau cerevolle, tourte Bourbonnaise, quiche tourangelle, etc. These are a very pleasant way to start an otherwise light meal. Are you interested?—Isabelle B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Yes, I am, Isabelle, and thank you very much for your help and correction. As you say mine was a Canadianized version. Do send the others and don't apologize for your English. It is charming.

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Lakefield Figure Skating Club sponsored one of the most successful carnivals held here in recent years. It was their first venture of this kind and they are receiving congratulations on their achievement.

The club is planning to join the Canadian Figure Skating Association in time for next winter's activities.

The first item was a waltz number. Those taking part were, as gentlemen: Mary Ellen Young, Dorothy Clark, Judy Doubt, Anne Junkin, Marilyn Webster, and Sharon Jewell; as ladies: Sylvia Freeburn, Marilyn Jones, Isobel Coons, Wendy Nickels, Linda Webster, Judy Slater.

This was followed with a number by seven girls, with narration by Perce Archer. They were: Sally Foster, Marion Webster, Isobel Coons, Judy Doubt, Wendy Nickels, Anne Junkin and Georgia Jeffery.

Mrs. E. Kelcey, of Peterborough, guest skater of the evening, executed a delightful solo number, and later an encore.

All the younger members of the club did a clown routine, led by Isobel Coons and Sally Foster.

"Two In Swing Time" was the number skated by Wendy Nickels and Anne Junkin, dressed as sailors.

Solos were done by Dorothy Clark, of Young's Point, and Linda Webster.

A precision march by the entire club closed the first part of the program.

Mrs. Kelcey was presented with a gift by the youngest member of the club, Gail Wood. Costume prizes were won as follows: Girls, fancy, seven years and under, Linda Leonard, Patsy Brattain; boys, David Cockrill, Ray Goodall, Allen Lockwood. Girls, comic, seven and under, Gail Payne.

Girls, fancy skating, eight to 14 years, Alda Webster, Lois Farrow; boys, fancy, Jack Brattain, Tom Freeburn; girls, comic, Margaret Richardson, Athabelle Hendren; boys, comic, Ted Witherstone, Tom Sullivan.

Race results: Girls, seven and under, Lorrie Warren, Molly Hall, Gail Payne; boys, Gordie Coons, Billy Stabler, Terry Lister.

Girls, eight to 10 years, Jane Bolton, Eleanor Davidson. Girls' race around rink, eight to 10 years, Carolyn Northey, Linda Godfrey; boys, Peter Northey, Carl Crowe, Michael Spencer.

Girls, 11-14, Athabelle Hendren, Patty Jakins, Margaret Richardson; boys, Jim Galvin, Laurence Neil, Bob Brattain.

Adult couples: First, Mrs. V. Payne and Willie Spencer; second, Mrs. T. Payton and Jim Webster.

Birthday prizes were won by Margaret Richardson and Donna Farrow.

Following the carnival refreshments were served by the executive members to the guest skater and members of the club who had participated.

Apsley WI Give Donation to Centre

APSLEY (ENS)—The monthly meeting of the Apsley branch of the Women's Institute was held in public library with a smaller attendance than usual due to the severe weather.

The moccasin dance put on in the arena was successful. The sum of $50.25 was cleared and donated to the Community Centre.

Another supperware demonstration will be held in Public Library June 23rd. The members were asked to meet in the auditorium of Apsley Central School at 9.30 a.m. on Tuesday to make and hang curtains. Committee in charge: Mrs. B. McIlmoyle, Mrs. W. Lean, Mrs. C. Smith.

The Extension Service for the homemaker was discussed and will be decided on at the April meeting.

A card party was planned for Wednesday, March 10 in the Public Library. Hostesses Mesdames Robt. Reddick, Norman Reddick, C. McColl and W. Lean.

THE MOVIE COLUMN:

Benny's Daughter's Wedding To Cost $25,000

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jack Benny's reputation as a tight-wad gets a jolt tonight when he foots the bill for a lavish wedding of his daughter Joan to Seth Baker of New York.

Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin is scheduled to marry the young pair in private ceremonies at the Beverly Hills Hotel. Present will be the parents of the couple—the Bennys and New York industrialist Harry Baker and his wife, plus a few intimate friends of the family. These include Barbara Stanwyck, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Bob Hope, Mr. and Mrs. William Goetz and Claudette Colbert.

After the ceremony, the hotel's Crystal Room will be packed with about 500 well-wishers, including more of Hollywood's top stars.

"Outside of having an elopement, there were only two ways we could have done it," sighed Benny. "We could have had a very small wedding and invited only the family and a handful of friends. Or we could have a big affair and invite everyone. Because too many people would have been slighted, we decided to have a big wedding."

I remarked that this might ruin his reputation as a money-pincher, built up for years on radio and TV.

"Reputation nothing!" he protested. "This might ruin me!"

He estimated that the entire affair may run up a bill in excess of $25,000. This might seem high to all those except fathers who have had to finance weddings lately.

"Oh, well, I have only one daughter," said Benny bravely. "I don't care what it costs, just so the kids have a happy marriage."

He added that Joan's wedding is a contrast to when he married Mary Livingstone.

"We did it in Waukegan at the home of a friend," he recalled. "There were six or seven people there, and the cost of the wedding was nil. We didn't even have time to have a reception. We were married in the afternoon, and I had to grab the train to Chicago, where I was appearing in a show that night."

Joan, 19, is an adopted daughter and was a junior at Stanford when she decided to get married. She has appeared on the Benny radio show and was on his TV program last month.

Of Interest to Women

DAD'S INNOCENT—Mrs. Lawrence D. Howley of Hartford, Conn., with his six-month-old son Kenneth, laughs with relief to hear that four men have been arrested in connection with a bank robbery for which her husband was convicted and sentenced last May.

spiced Crabapple cake

Fresh whole milk for fresher flavour . . . lighter texture . . . spiced fragrance of cinnamon . . . and a completely new and fresh idea in the fluffy frosting!

Make it with a package of SHIRRIFF'S White Cake Mix . . . a cup of fresh milk . . . and a teaspoon of cinnamon. Remember that a cup of whole milk is the tried and true way to bake a good cake!

CRABAPPLE JELLY FROSTING

Place ½ cup Shirriff's Pure Crabapple Jelly, 1 unbeaten egg white and a dash of salt in double boiler. Beat constantly over heat until jelly disappears . . . then remove from heat and continue to beat 'til frosting stands in peaks. Colour to pink perfection.

fresh whole milk makes a fresher, lighter, better-keeping cake!

Shirriff's white cake mix

Contains Shirriff's own famous flavouring

6—In Memoriam

BOYLES—In loving memory of Eric Leslie Boyles, who passed away March 8, 1953.
Today recalls sad memories
Of our dear son gone to rest,
And the ones who think of him today
Are the ones who loved him best.
—Ever remembered by mother, Dad, Evan and John.

COPPAWAY—In loving memory of Alfred Coppaway, who passed away March 9th, 1950.
We do not need a special day
To bring her to our minds
For the days we do not think of Mon
Are very hard to find.
—Always remembered by her husband, Alfred Coppaway and daughter Mrs. George H. Taylor and family.

DECK—In loving memory of my dear father, Thomas Deck, who passed away, March 9, 1952.
God took him home, it was his will
But in our hearts he liveth still.
—Sadly missed by Herb, Bessie and family.

EVERITT—In loving memory of Arnold Everitt, who passed away March 9, 1947.
There is a link death cannot sever,
Love and remembrance last forever.
—Remembered by his wife Irene, son Ted and daughter, Mrs. E. Hotrum and Mrs. J. Kanally.

In Memoriam Verses

A Booklet, from which In Memoriam verses may be selected, is available at the Advertising Counter of The Examiner. Telephone Classified Department 4641.

6—In Memoriam

JACKMAN—In loving memory of William Percy Jackman who passed away March 9, 1953.
Calm and peaceful he is sleeping
Sweetest rest that follows pain
We who loved him, Sadly miss him
But trust in God to meet again.
—Lovingly remembered by wife and family.

MONAGHAN—In loving memory of mother, Mrs. Mary E. Monaghan, who passed away March 9, 1952.
Your memory to me is a keepsake
With which I will never part.
Though God has you in His keeping
I have you in my heart.
—Sadly missed by Joan.

MONAGHAN—In loving memory of Mother, Mrs. Mary E. Monaghan, who passed away March 9, 1952.
We often sit and think of her,
When we are alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
Like Ivy on the withered oak
When all other things decay.
Our love for her will still keep green
And never fade away.
—Sadly missed by Kay, Vic and the children.

7—Card of Thanks

Mr. and Mrs. George Paudash, of Hiawatha wish to express their appreciation and thanks to all their neighbours and friends for their assistance in helping to save their home at the time of the fire.

Mere words are inadequate to express our gratitude to Rev. F. G. Ongley of St. John's Church and to each and everyone who has helped us through these days of sorrow. With beautiful flowers, words of sympathy and deeds of intimate kindness, we can only say "Thank You" so much. Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hume and Don.

We take this opportunity to express our sincere thanks to all our friends and neighbours, who sent us, beautiful flowers, gifts, and cards, on the occasion of our Golden Wedding. Many thanks, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Kent.

Mercurys Willing To Play World Series '55

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Owen Sound Mercury's, Allan Cup champions in 1951 and first-place finishers in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series for the last two seasons, might be willing to represent Canada in the world hockey championships next year, team officials indicated today.

A Mercury spokesman said the team would make the trip if it would not be required to make a lengthy exhibition tour of Europe and if expenses paid the players would be enough to keep their families while they were away.

He was commenting on a statement by George Dudley, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, that "it would be impossible to get one of these clubs (Senior A or Junior A) to leave."

WOULD NEED A BYE

Mercury officials noted the OHA senior schedule this year ended Feb. 24, three days before the start of the world tournament. The OHA Senior A final is to start March 19. Thus the Mercurys or any other club in the league could have been given a bye into the group final and flown to Stockholm for the tournament immediately after the schedule. The team concerned would have to end league play by Feb. 18-20.

Mercury players would not expect anything for playing in the tournament but would want $40 or $50 per man per week to compensate for lost wages while they were away. This would not exceed $2,000 for a 20-man party for a two-week trip.

"There isn't any doubt in my mind that a couple of exhibition games at the arena here would pack the rink if the proceeds were to help finance a trip by the Owen Sound club to the tournament," said one official.

Truck Receives $300 Damage

KITCHENER (CP) — Provincial constable William Coxworth took a fast second look as he checked a driver's permit at a mishap near here today.

"W. L. Mackenzie King" the licence read.

"I suppose the W. L. is for William Lyon," Coxworth asked.

"That's right," said W. L. Mackenzie King, 33, of RR 1, Elora.

A truck driven by King received about $300 damage when it went out of control and struck a pole after getting into deep snow at the road shoulder.

Coincidentally, the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King was born in Kitchener, then known as Berlin.

Mrs. W. Boddy Leader Apsley Prayer Day

APSLEY —(ENS)—The World Day of Prayer was held in St. George's Anglican Church with the theme "That they may have life".

Mrs. W. Boddy, wife of the minister was leader at the opening of the service, she asked for a minute's silence in memory of Dr. Sarah Chakko of India, author of the service; she asked for a min- was adapted.

Prayers were taken by Mrs. Montgomery and Mrs. W. Everett from St. George's and by Mrs. Keith Watson, Mrs. John Tucker and Mrs. Gerald Watson from Trinity United Church.

Mrs. O. Montgomery received the offering.

Mrs. Wellington Lean was at the organ for the service.

"Telephone Assault" Not Worrying Mayor

TORONTO (CP) — Mayor Lloyd Jackson of Hamilton stated today he had suffered little nuisance so far from the "telephone assault" launched by residents of Sunning Hill avenue, on the mountain. The campaign is planed to subject his worship to a telephone call every half hour of the day and night "until something is done" to put the streets into shape.

Turkish Gov't Cracks Down On Newspapers

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Turkey's national assembly today approved a new press law making it a criminal offence for newspapers to "insult the honor" of any Turkish citizen or delve into his private life. The vote was 301 to 32.

The law carries penalties of six months to nine years imprisonment. The vote was on party lines with only the Democrat party, which runs the government, balloting for the law.

Opposition deputies charged the new measure was intended to gag press criticism of the government and its officials and influence the national elections two months away.

Premier Adnam Menderes said the law was necessary to protect the dignity and reputation of all. He charged some Turkish newspapers are published only to spread malicious gossip.

The new law also makes it a criminal offence to publish "false information which can harm the political or financial reputation of the state or which disturbs or incites public opinion."

Young Woman Dies In Hospital

PORT COLBORNE (CP)—Mrs. Harold Knox, 22, died in hospital here Monday during a blood transfusion. Stimulants and cardiac massage failed to revive the young woman.

Death was attributed by coroner Dr. E. A. MacKenzie, Sr., to air entering the veins and the heart. He said no inquest will be held.

Mrs. Knox, who had been in hospital for some weeks, gave birth to a son Thursday. Post-natal surgery was performed Monday by Dr. E. A. MacKenzie Jr., attending physician. He said he visited Mrs. Knox in the obstetrical ward during the morning and found her awake and talking. He had, however, ordered a blood transfusion, he said.

Later he had been advised that the blood was not entering the veins and air had been applied with a blood pressure bulb to assist the flow of blood from the bottle into the young woman's veins.

To Open School For Traffic-Violaters

KITCHENER (CP)—Kitchener's traffic-violaters school, believed the first of its kind in Canada, will open March 23.

The school, aimed at educating the unsafe driver, will include psycho-physical tests, lectures, films and slides. A written examination is the final item.

Also eligible to attend are drivers seeking to check on and improve their own standard of driving.

Conducted by the Kitchener police department, the course is open to all county residents. The school already has more than 300 would-be students.

Illegal Entrants

FORT ERIE, Ont. (CP)—Two 18-year-old Hamilton youths—Michael Bernier and Joseph Dolan—accused of illegally entering the United States during the week-end, were held today by U. S. immigration authorities.

Immigration officials said Bernier had been deported previously at Fort Erie and now faces prosecution. Dolan will be deported Wednesday.

Reds Interested In Tour Of Hockey Team

STOCKHOLM, (CP) — Informal remarks by Russian hockey officials indicating they would like to have a top Canadian team tour the Soviet Union apparently have not been followed up, it was learned today.

During the world hockey championships here, which Moscow Dynamos won, Russian team leaders told the Canadians they intended to extend an official invitation to Canada to send a team over because they thought they could learn a lot from a top-calibre Canadian club.

It was not made clear at the time whether the Russians would want a professional or amateur team. Questioned today, the Russians would only say they are interested in a visit by a Canadian team.

During a cocktail party here after the world championships, the Russians told members of the Canadian team they would be welcome to visit Russia. However, Don Preston, manager of the East York club, said today neither he nor any of his players have received a formal invitation.

Charges City Money Hungry

TORONTO (CP)—Harold Robinson, solicitor for Saltfleet township, charged today that the City of Hamilton wants to annex 1,580 acres of the township "only for money."

"What it wants is land on which it can establish industry for tax purposes," Mr. Robinson told members of the Ontario legislature's private bills committee. "What it wants is money at the expense of Saltfleet township. I submit it is unfair, unjust, and shouldn't be so."

Mr. Robinson appeared before the committee to oppose the application of the City of Hamilton to have confirmed the decision of the Ontario municipal board granting annexation of 1,580 acres on the western outskirts of the city.

The solicitor spoke after Hamilton's Mayor Lloyd Jackson urged the committee to confirm the application.

The committee room overflowed with members and a 60-man delegation from the township.

Chairman W. M. Nickle (PC—Kingston) said the committee would sit tonight if the presentations were not completed this morning.

$2,100 Donated Assist Build New Home

ALVINSTON (CP) — A total of $2,100 collected from Alvinston residents was turned over to William Stover here Monday night to aid in the rebuilding of his home destroyed by fire Jan. 27. Stover's four-year-old son William died in the blaze.

Volunteer labor from the village has already built the foundation for a new building. All the rough work will be completed by volunteers.

The fund was begun by the Alvinston Rotary Club and taken up by the Canadian Legion. Alvinston is 42 miles southeast of Sarnia.

Reds Reaffirm Rebel Offer Of Negotiations

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Hoang Minh Giam, Vietminh foreign minister, today announced that he has been authorized to reaffirm a rebel offer last November of negotiations to end the Indo-Chinese war.

Giam's statement, in a broadcast by Vietminh radio heard here, said it is still the Communist-led group's "present fundamental policy" to offer a settlement if the French government wants one.

Giam said his forces fully support the Big Four Berlin decision to discuss the Indo-Chinese settlement at the Geneva conference next month.

(France has expressed willingness to enter into negotiations for a cease-fire, provided the Vietminh offer is made through diplomatic channels.)

COMMANDO RAID

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — The French announced still another Vietminh commando raid in the vicinity of Haiphong today and said paratrooper guards are being strengthened at American-serviced airfields in the area of that major north Indo-China seaport.

The French already had declared a state of emergency there following a commando raid Sunday—the third such attack this month—on Catbi airfield near Haiphong, where 44 United States technicians are servicing American planes supplied to the French.

Toronto Trading Prices Mixed

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were mixed in moderate early afternoon stock market trading today.

Papers, steels, foods, liquors, financial institutions and textiles led the industrials lower in moderate trading. Utilities, refining oils and motors were stronger. Ford dropped $2.50. Golf added $3.37½ and Canada Packers A was down $1.

Western oils aded slightly.

Golds and seniors were slightly ahead, juniors down a little and holding companies quiet.

Uraniums were strong. Bathurst-area base metals were down.

All base metal categories were lower with seniors trading actively while juniors and Manitouwage-area issues drew little attention.

Predict Abolition Downtown Parking

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Within a few years every large city in southern Ontario will have abolished downtown street parking. This was the prediction today of Dr. E. G. Pleva, head of the department of geography at the University of Western Ontario and head of the traffic committee.

Addressing the annual conference of the Ontario Association of Real Estate Boards, Dr. Pleva said: "Parking is a privilege and just that. The streets are made for the movement of traffic, not the storage of vehicles."

British Forces Kill 26 Terrorists

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — British security forces killed at least 26 Mau Mau terrorists today in continuing battles in the Fort Hall, Thika and Kiambu districts north of Nairobi.

In the same areas, at least 40 terrorists were killed Monday.

PoliceRecover$14,000 Stolen By Gunman

TORONTO (CP)—Police have recovered all but $600 of the $14,600 stolen by a panic-stricken gunman from the Imperial Bank of Canada branch in downtown Toronto Monday.

The bandit shed his hat, a pair of gloves, a trench coat, his pistol and a green metal cash box containing most of the money while escaping. The clothes, gun and cash box were found in a lane, a short way from the bank at Yonge and Bloor streets.

Request Review Of Application For Gas Station

The finance committee of city council Monday night made a recommendation to the planning board to deal immediately with the application of M. K. Reid to build a service station on the northwest corner of Park and Chamberlain streets.

The application was originally turned down by the planning board, pending the report of planning expert Gordon Culham on his preparation of a zoning by-law.

An appeal from the planning board's decision was made in a letter to city council from George W. Carphin, public accountant. When the letter was discussed in the board of works meeting two weeks ago, several council members strongly criticized city planning methods.

POLICY OUTLINED

In spite of this criticism, the board of works advised Mr. Carphin that it was not the policy of council to go contrary to the recommendations of the planning board, pending Mr. Culham's report.

When he appeared at Monday night's meeting of the finance committee, Mr. Reid said he intended to retain his present service station as a repair garage on the opposite corner from his proposed new site.

"I would like to expand my business and still remain in the same location to protect my interest in the future of Peterborough," Mr. Reid said.

The proposed location is on a triangular piece of land containing one house, of which the present owner had refused to sign a petition supporting his application.

"But I understand he hasn't filed a complaint," Mr. Reid added.

"Mr. Reid is highly regarded in the garage industry," said Ald. Stan McBride, a service operator himself. "He wouldn't be doing any body work in his new location, and that is a big contribution to noise."

Will Take Offensive Against Red Rebels

SAIGON, Indo-China (Reuters)—Gen. Henri Navarre, French commander-in-chief in the war against the Vietminh rebels, told his troops tonight they will soon take the offensive in Indo-China.

In a message in the troops' magazine, Navarre said the present campaign is "certainly the hardest Indo-China has ever known." He said the Vietminh rebels are using all available troops and making an effort they could hardly surpass in future.

"We still have some hard weeks ahead of us . . . but from now on we are certain the enemy will be unable to attain any of his objectives in this campaign—and soon it will be our turn to take the offensive," Navarre said.

No Need Institute Instalment Fines

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario legislature's select committee on reform institutions has turned thumbs down on the instalment payment of fines.

"The committee believes there is no need to institute a system of instalment payments," the committee said in its report tabled in the House Monday. "It already is provided for, in effect. It is common practice now for magistrates to allow time for the payment of fines. Several remands often are given to allow the offender time to raise the money."

However, the committee suggested that the courts inform all offenders that they may have the opportunity of deferred payment.

Roving Anti-Red Bands Beat Up Iran Voters

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Seven men were beaten up by roving anti-Red bands today as Tehranis started voting to elect 12 deputies to the Majlis, the lower house of parliament.

Polling will continue through Thursday at 53 balloting spots in the capital and suburbs.

An undetermined number of persons were arrested during the morning, but otherwise the city was calm.

British Officer On Trial For Atrocities

By RONALD BATCHELOR

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — A Mau Mau suspect's ear was sliced off on orders of British Army Capt. Gerald Griffiths, a military court was told here Monday.

The atrocity was ordered last summer, the prosecution contends, to frighten suspects into revealing hideouts of the terrorist organization which has been battling forces in this British colony for the last 16 months.

The army is trying Griffiths, 42, on two charges of causing grievous bodily harm to Africans and four charges of "cruel, disgraceful conduct."

The day after the tribesman's ear was sliced off, Griffiths compelled a Somali solder to jab a hole in the ear of another suspect with a bayonet, the court was told, and wire was rammed through the hole so the African could be led through Kenya forests to hunt Mau Mau gangs

Prosecutor J. G. Hobson gave this account:

Two captured Mau Mau suspects, Njeru Ndegwa and Kavenki Njoka, were turned over to Griffiths, a battalion commander, for use as trackers in sorties against the anti-white terrorists.

WIDE SEARCH

The pair was brought to Griffiths by Somali Private Ali Segat at a clearing near the edge of a forest. Griffiths handed Segat a knife and told Njeru he was going have him mutilated. Njeru's clothes were removed but the mutilation did not take place.

Later the captain ordered Segat to cut off Njeru's ear, which was done. Griffiths then took the knife from Segat and walked away.

Segat was found Sunday after a search of 1,000 square miles of wild Somaliland bush country. He will be the prosecution's chief witness.

Three Boys Charged With Car Thefts

LINDSAY (ENS) — Three youths appeared in police court here Monday and were remanded on a series of charges involving thefts of cars and breaking in at Lindsay garages.

Two of the youths, Donald Campbell and William Tracey, both 17, were arrested early Saturday morning by Scarboro police and returned to Lindsay by Chief John Hunter and Constable Ross Bailey.

They were remanded for a week on the charge. Tracey along with Robert Carpenter, 18, was also charged with breaking, entering and theft in connection with the February entry of the Kawartha Motor Sales when a sum of cash and cancelled cheques were stolen.

The youths were also charged with auto theft in connection with the theft of a car from the same firm at that time.

The car was discovered later in the ditch on Highway 7 west of Lindsay.

Impaired Driver Fined $50 And Costs

LINDSAY (ENS) — Parnell O'Neill of Downeyville, was convicted in police court on Monday of driving while his ability was impaired and fined $50 and costs of $11.

O'Neill was invovled in an accident on February 18 at the intersection of William and Wellington streets. His car collided with the rear of another vehicle at the stop street. Constable Percy Mark who investigated, decided O'Neill was "in no shape to be on the street" and took him to the local police station where the charge was laid.

Mid-Air Fueling For Jet Heavy Bombers

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Air Force may turn to swift, high-flying jet-powered tanker planes to provide mid-air refuelling for the new B-52 all-jet heavy bombers of the strategic air command.

The B-52s are expected to begin coming off the production line late this year. Each is being equipped to replenish its fuel supply in flight to offset the high rate of fuel consumption by its eight jet engines.

Mid-air refuelling for medium B-47 jet bombers is standard practice, but all tanker planes now used are piston-engined aircraft, the KC-97 Boeing stratofreighter, with tanks and a "flying boom" for transfer of fuel to jet bombers or fighters.

Airmen are highly pleased with the current method of replenishing jet bombers and fighters in mid-flight. But they also say that a loss of efficiency, time and fuel exist when a jet bomber refuels from a piston-engined tanker.

ALTITUDE PROBLEM

A jet engine performs best at high altitude where the air is thin. A piston-engined aircraft produces more power at lower altitudes.

Observers who have ridden a tanker plane in a refuelling operation with the B-47 note that the bomber is close to "stalling" speed as it nears full fuel load while throttled down to 300 miles an hour or less to match the top speed of the tanker plane.

The air force disclosed last fall that it was experimenting with a B-47 converted to a tanker plane by the Boeing Airplane Co. Boeing expects to get a cruising speed of about 550 for the transport, and at the same time make it possible to operate the tanker at the bomber's normal cruising altitude.

Canada Should Not Rush Trade With Russia Says Diefenbaker

TORONTO (CP) — John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Prince Albert, said Monday night he hopes Canada will not rush into trade with Russia. He also said Canada must not recognize Communist China nor support her entry into the United Nations.

Speaking at the annual dinner of the Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities, he said Russia's recent offers to expand trade should be viewed with suspicion.

"The state is in absolute control there and while materials they might seek from us would not appear strategic, we can be sure they would be regarded by Russia as necessary to her foreign and domestic strategy."

Earlier the convention heard Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar discuss the new system of unconditional per capita grants under which Ontario municipalities this year will receive $11,306,151 from the province. Convention talk ranged from municipal income tax levies to the responsibility in cases of cars wrecked on icy municipal roads.

Mr. Dunbar said the new grants replace the former fire, police and guaranteed one-mill grants the province has paid since 1949. He said the amount to be paid under the plan compares with $5,229,278 paid last year under the old system.

Answering criticism that cities and towns seemed to be getting more under the new plan than rural areas, he said the per capita grants vary according to the size of the municipalities. The rates ranged from $1.60 a person to $2.25 in towns and villages, from $2.50 to $4 in cities and from $1.50 to $2.25 in townships.

TOWNSHIPS GET MORE

"No doubt it was this table of figures which led rural residents to believe they were going to suffer under the new system."

The minister said that actualy townships made the greatest gain under the new arrangement. Their total grants increased by 265 per cent and they would share a total of $4,632,256 in 1954.

Grants to cities increased 92 per cent to $6,039,816, those to towns 47 per cent to $1,262,514, and those to villages 59 per cent to $371,565.

The per capita grants will amount to 9.1 per cent of the township tax rate, 6.34 per cent of the city tax rate, 6.68 of the town tax rate and 7.5 per cent of the village tax levy, Mr. Dunbar said.

The unconditional grants were based on 1951 census figures. If municipalities could prove their population has increased seven per cent since then, the grants would be reckoned on the higher figure.

Two Men Hurt In Collision

NORTH BAY (CP) — Two Sudbury men were injured Monday night when their automobile collided head-on with a transport truck and plunged down an embankment just west of here.

George Verley, 30, and Heino Saar, about 30, were admitted to hospital.

Robert Mortimer, 28, of Toronto, who police said was the driver of the truck, suffered minor injuries as the transport left the road and went down the 25-foot embankment.

Harry Ford of Sudbury, also in the cab of the truck, was thrown 30 feet, passed under the trailer of the transport and picked himself up from the pavement unhurt.

Bailieboro Centre Of Day Of Prayer

BAILIEBORO (ENS) — The World Day of Prayer service was held in Bailieboro United church on Friday with ladies present from Centerville Presbyterian, Bailieboro United, Bailieboro Anglican and Bensfort United.

Mrs. Harland Seens was pianist and Mrs. H. C. Howson gave opening message and announced the hymn; followed by prayer by Mrs. H. Yarr. Leaders for the afternoon were Mrs. Edwin Eagleson, Miss Louie Jackson, Mrs. Lorne Harris, and Mrs. Howson.

Mrs. Roy Whittington gave a very inspiring but brief address. A trio was sung by Mrs. J. Wood, Mrs. W. Patton and Mrs. J. Egerton with Mrs. Alan Dawson at the piano.

Those leading in prayer included: Mrs. James Johnston, Mrs. Howard Fair, Mrs. Reg. Atcheson, Mrs. John Nurse, Mrs. Roy Brackenridge and Mrs. Clifford Hall. Ushers were Mrs. H. Syers and Mrs. W. Jones.

Juvenile Delinquency Fault Of Parents

TORONTO (CP) — Investigation by the Ontario legislature's select committee on reform institutions "leaves no doubt" that a great portion of juvenile delinquency is due to parental delinquency, the committee's report says.

"Legislation could do little. . . What is needed is an awakening of public interest in the causes of juvenile delinquency, perhaps through a campaign of public education to impress on parents their responsibilities toward their children," said the report, tabled in the House Monday.

The report listed several factors in juvenile and parental delinquency "indicating the complexity of the problem."

They were: Depression and war, parental example, severed church connections, broken homes, deserted wives, educational deficiencies, pinball machines, publications radio and television and motion pictures.

Suggest Senators Retire At 75

OTTAWA (CP)—Legislation providing for retirement of senators at the age of 75 was introduced Monday in the Commons.

Frank S. Follwell (L—Hastings South), sponsor, said the bill would not apply to present members of the upper chamber, appointed for life.

"I have always believed the Senate should be reformed," he said. The measure would bring "some measure of reform," putting senators on the same basis as judges, who are retired at 75.

The measure will go on the order paper after eight other private members' bills. These are debated two hours a week, on Tuesdays and Fridays, so it is not known whether Mr. Follwell's bill will come up for debate.

B.C. To Increase Sales Tax To Five Per Cent

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

British Columbia plans to increase its sales tax to five per cent from three, making it possible to abolish premiums in its compulsory health insurance program.

The premiums amounted to $39 a year for married persons and $27 for single.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced the proposed change Monday when he brought down the budget in the house at Victoria.

He said the government also proposes reduction of the 17½-per-cent amusement tax to 15 per cent, reduction of the fee for automobiles being licensed for the first time in British Columbia from $10 to $1, abolition of a 10-per-cent tax on liquor by the glass, exemption from the sales tax of children's clothing and shoes, and a $5 increase in the province's cost-of-living bonus to old-age and blind pensioners and to recipients of social assistance and mothers' allowances.

ECONOMIC ILLS

Russell Cunningham (CCF—Cape Breton East) said in throne speech debate in the Nova Scotia legislature that the national importance of his province's coal industry in any future emergency justifies immediate government help.

"Failing this, the only hope would be the nationalization of the industry as a last resort to keep it from going out of existence."

Premier A. W. Matheson of Prince Edward Island said in the legislature he hopes a proposed Maritime economic development council will help cure seasonal unemployment in his province.

Details of a $1,100,000 increase in provincial grants to schools were announced in the Saskatchewan legislature. All elementary schools will receive a per-day grant increase of 50 cents a classroom, raising the grant to $2.50.

An Alberta school teachers' association official told the Alberta legislature teachers have used the teacher shortage to get higher salaries.

Increased Grants

TORONTO (CP)—Health Minister Phillips said Monday night the province's spending on hospitals has increased more than sevenfold in the last eight years.

In an address prepared for delivery over a CBC provincial network, Dr. Phillips said that government grants to hospitals for maintenance purposes have increased from $1,600,000 in 1946 to more than $9,000,000 in the present fiscal year.

Canals Expected To Open Early

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's main canals will open this year ahead of the 25-year average if ice and weather permits but will be later than last-year's record early opening.

The transport department announced Monday that the Welland ship canals are scheduled to open April 1, the Sault Ste. Marie canal April 5 and the St. Lawrence canals comprising the Lachine, Soulanges, Cornwall and Williamsburg canals, April 19.

The department said they would endeavor to advance the opening dates in the St. Lawrence river canals if weather conditions and repair programs permit.

The 25-year average for the St. Lawrence system is April 21, the Welland canal April 18 and the Sault Ste. Marie canal April 18.

Jail At End Of Line

TORONTO (CP)—A 22-year-old Toronto man found a three-months jail sentence awaiting him at the end of the line after his joyride at the controls of a Toronto streetcar. Romeo St. Pierre was sentenced Monday for creating a public nuisance. Motorman A. J. Deans testified that St. Pierre was drunk and annoying passengers on the car last Feb. 27. Deans said when he left the controls to look for a policeman, St. Pierre took over the controls and nearly capsized the car at a loop.

Soldiers Leaving For Boer War Told In Old Paper

A yellowing page from the Globe of January 3, 1900, advises that a royal sendoff was given to thirteen Peterborough soldiers off to the South African War.

The clipping has for 54 years been tucked back of a frame in a display picture now in the window of Walker's store and came to light only recently.

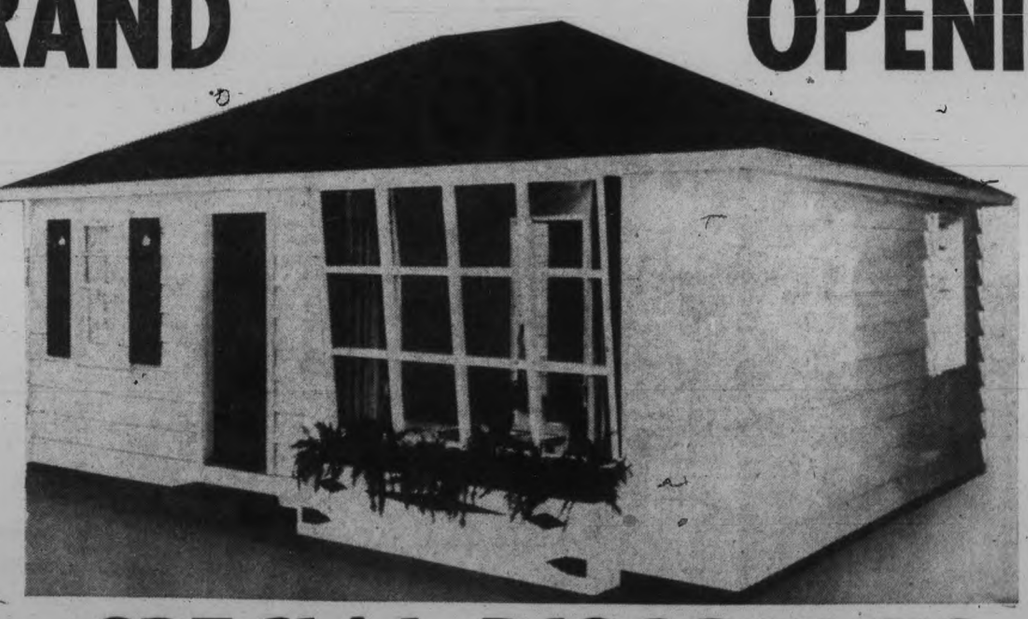
Commanding the Peterborough contribution to the Canadian Mounted Rifles was Major Greenwood of the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons.

The major was "besieged with applications" for service in South Africa, the Globe reports. Perhaps one reason was that $25 in gold was being given all members of the local 57th Battalion who enlisted for overseas service.

The warmth of the sendoff, the Globe glowingly reports, was "in inverse ration to the cold of the weather." It goes on to report that "to the chorus of hearty cheers and encouraging plaudits the gallant little contribution from Peterborough started off on the long journey to South Africa.

Major Greenwood, a graduate of RMC, was on the engineering staff of the Trent Canal system. He was married to a daughter of the onetime Quebec premier, Sir Henri de Joly Lotinbere.

The marching soldiers were seen off by many who, in the words of the Globe, "almost passed the medical examination and hoped to the last that a little point might by waived in their favor."



The Peterborough contingent consisted of these men: Adam J. Hall, 57th Battalion; Daniel M. Spence, 57th Battalion, Sergt. Fred Pressler, Percy Wasson, Norwood, civilian; W. J. Hampton, Peterborough, civilian; Percy R. Price, Otonabee, third PWD; W. A. Brown, Colborne, third POW; Sergt.-Maj. Terrill, Prince Edwards, third PWD; Sergt.-Maj. Willoughby, third POW, Colborne; A. E. Hillyard, third POW, Peterborough; George Fleming, civilian, Bewdley; R. G. Johnson, civilian, Cavan, and E. Thomson, civilian, Lakefield.

Granted New Trial

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Appeal Court Monday granted Garnet Armstrong, who was sentenced to three months on a charge of dangerous driving, a new trial. The charge against Armstrong resulted from an accident on No. 7 highway between Peterborough and Lindsay last July which caused the deaths of two persons.

Most Complaints Minor Lakefield 1953

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — In his first report to the Police Commission, Police Chief Price Morris noted that there were two serious crimes committed in the village during the year, the assault and robbery of Charles Smith and the attempt to burn the Coronation Cafe. In the former case an arrest was made, but the charge was dismissed after the accused was tried by the County Judge. In the latter case the matter is now before the court.

Most of the complaints received during the year were of a minor nature and were mostly cases of teenagers annoying residents and destroying property.

Only five accidents could be attributed to the driver being intoxicated and Mr. Morris stated that he felt this was quite favorable with so many cars passing along Highway 28 which passes right through the municipality.

During the fall a public safety patrol was organized with students on duty at two intersections. Mr. Morris expressed his gratitude to principal E. G. Sloan and members of the school board for their co-operation and assistance.

During the period from March 16 to December 31, 1953, Mr. Morris received and investigated 109 complaints and investigated and reported 23 traffic accidents. Fires attended five; committed to mental hospital 1; drownings 1; theft of cars 3; cars recovered 3. There were 19 criminal prosecutions and 18 criminal convictions. Fines collected under Criminal Code amounted to $130. There were 153 convictions under the Highway Traffic Act and five under the Liquor Control Act. Highway fines collected were $845, and the fines from liquor infractions $125. The village receives 41.1 per cent of these last two items amounting to $398.94.

Cars checked were 47 with four ordered off the road. Four summonses were served for the Ontario Provincial Police and 23 for other forces. Assistance was given the OPP five times and to other forces seven times. Eight dogs were destroyed.

Property reported stolen amounted to $835.18 and property recovered $67.50. Two bicycles that had been stolen were recovered.

The village of Lakefield does not receive any fines collected under the Criminal Code as these are paid directly to the County of Peterborough.

Scientist Dies

KIEL, Germany (AP)—Dr. Otto Diels, 78, who shared the 1950 Nobel Prize for chemistry with a former pupil, died in a Kiel clinic Sunday. Dr. Diels won the Nobel prize four years ago with Kurt Adler for their outstanding work in the field of organic chemistry.

U.S. Subpoenas 75 Puerto Ricans

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal authorities subpoenaed at least 75 persons of Puerto Rican extraction today to appear before three grand juries for examination in connection with the investigation of the shooting of five congressmen last week.

U. S. marshal Thomas Lunney, in making the announcement, said members of his staff and agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation began serving the subpoenas at daybreak.

Royalty Hears Billy Graham

LONDON (Reuters) — Royalty took a seat on Billy Graham's platform Monday night for the first time in the young evangelist's preaching career.

Mutesa II, King of Buganda, exiled from his African protectorate last year by Britain, bought a ticket for the "greater London crusade" meeting at the huge Harringay sports arena. He was recognized by Graham's assistants and ushered to a seat of honor on the platform.

A capacity crowd of about 12,000 persons flocked to the arena for Graham's seventh meeting. All standing room was taken, doors had to be locked, and 1,000 persons were turned away.

A total of 92,500 persons so far has attended the seven meetings in London. Monday night 312 members of the audience answered Graham's invitation to come forward and make a "confession of faith," bringing the total number of converts to 1,943.

Commons Agrees To Gov't Housing

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's new housing legislation has passed the Commons. It now goes to the Senate for study.

The legislation Monday was given third reading on division—without a recorded vote—after the CCF attempted to set a fixed limit on the rate of interest on loans under the bill.

As the measure was called for final approval Joseph W. Noseworthy (CCF—York South) moved that it be referred back to committee so that a fixed limit could be inserted. His amendment was defeated by 142 to 35.

Mr. Noseworthy said outside the Commons that the CCF planned to propose that the limit should be 5¼ per cent, the current rate on loans under the National Housing Act.

The interest rate under the new legislation will be announced after the legislation has been proclaimed. It is speculated that the rate will be 5¾ per cent.

96% RMC Cadets Favor New Uniforms

OTTAWA (CP)—In April, 1950, The Marker, monthly publication at Royal Military College, Kingston, conducted a poll which showed that 96 per cent of the cadets favored a return to the 1876 scarlet uniform with pillbox cap.

The Marker complained that cadets dressed in their navy blue uniforms and wedge caps had been mistaken, among other things, for:

Conductors, bellboys, washroom attendants, ushers, police, firemen, trainmen, Norwegian air force, postmen, Salvation Army, bus drivers, sea cadets, royal marines, doormen, elevator operators, U.S. Air Force and taxi drivers.

"In some cases, RMC cadets have actually been taken as RMC cadets," remarked The Marker, adding brusquely that it wasn't trying to make a joke.

Saturday, Defence Minister Claxton announced at Kingston that the blue uniforms will be ditched in favor of the scarlet tunics for cadets in their second, third and fourth years. Scarlet tunics will also be worn by second- or last-year cadets at the other two tri-service colleges, Royal Roads at Esquimalt, B.C., and College Militaire de Saint Jean, Que.

The same scarlet uniform was worn until the Second World War when college operations were suspended.

The scarlet tunic has blue collars and cuffs, both ornamented with lace and Russian braid. The cap is blue and red with a gold button on top. The trousers are blue with red stripes.

The uniform is similar to the "review order" of the British infantry of the line and the facings (collars and cuffs) are similar to those of the King's Own Royal Regiment (Lancaster), Royal Warwickshire Regiment and Royal Canadian Regiment.

Metropolitan Opera Pull Surprise Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—The maestros of the Metropolitan Opera rolled up their sleeves and toiled like roustabouts today after stagehands pulled a surprise—and crucially-timed—strike.

With no one else to do it, top executives shed their coats and ties and buckled down to wielding hammers, pushing brooms and hoisting scenery.

An expensive dress rehearsal was scheduled this afternoon and a performance of "Tannhauser" on the program tonight. General Manager Rudolf Bing turned all-around flunkey trying to get ready. So did other opera officials.

Stage hands, members of the Theatrical Protective Association (AFL), are among union members negotiating for a new contract with the Met, but a spokesman called the strike a "complete surprise."

It was uncertain whether the Met could go on with its performance tonight.

Canada's Mining Possibilities Well Beyond Expectations

TORONTO (CP) — Mining possibilities in Canada have, since the war, astonished even the most optimistic, Mrs. Viola MacMillan, president of the Prospectors and Developers Association, said at Monday's annual meeting.

Her review opened three days of discussions by 1,400 delegates from nearly all parts of Canada.

Since January, 1953, said Mrs. MacMillan, 40,000 claims have been staked in New Brunswick, a record for any province in one year.

It was the greatest exploration year, too, in Newfoundland. With completion of the railway from Seven Islands into the interior of Labrador and Ugava, a large section of New Quebec "literally demands" to be prospected for iron and base metals.

THREE DISCOVERIES

Three promising discoveries had been made in Ontario - uranium fields in the Blind River and Bancroft areas, and base metals in the Manitowadge country — with each giving indications of being major finds.

In Manitoba the railroad to Lynn Lake had pushed the frontier back another 144 miles. Saskatchewan really started to come into its own, mine-wise. Alberta continued to make oil news.

A metal-price dip had produced a temporary slowdown in British Columbia but there was little, if any, let-up in prospecting interest.

The depressed condition of gold had affected Northwest Territories "but it takes no great foresight to be certain that this slowdown is only temporary."

ASK ACT CHANGES

The annual meeting passed a series of resolutions concerning mining development.

One asked that $5,000,000 be spent on access mining roads in Ontario this year; another asked that shaft-sinking, drifting, or other lateral work, from 10 feet below the surface, count in Ontario as work at the rate of four days in respect of each man employed in such work for each day of development.

A further suggestion was that the Ontario Mining Act be amended to require that individual claims be named when staked, and that the time between the date of staking and that of affixing tags be extended from six months to one year.

Another suggested amendment for the Ontario Act would permit staking of 18 claims in each mining division on one mining license.

The Association concurred with the Ontario mines department in the view that "surface rights only can be expropriated on unpatented mining claims that may be required for town-site purposes."

It noted a recent court decision that unpatented mining claims can be taxed for municipal purposes, and put itself on record as opposed to such taxation, except for school purposes where necessary.

The Association said it is "in complete agreement with the request of the Flin Flon, Man., branch that more than one charter be granted by the Air transport board to base at, and fly north of Lynn Lake."

Fined Price Of Old Car

KITCHENER (CP)—Convicted of driving a car with defective brakes Orval Dezell of Fergus was fined the price he paid for his car when he pleaded guilty to the charge Monday.

When police testified the brake pedal went all the way to the floor of DeZell's 19-year-old car, Crown Attorney Daufman asked how long Dezell had owned the car.

"This was my first time out since I bought it," Dezell answered.

"Did you have to pay him money for it?" Mr. Daufman asked.

"I paid $15 for it," accused answered.

"I'm going to fine you the amount you paid for that wrecked old car plus costs," Magistrate R. P. Locke said.

Canadian Brigade In Korea Situated In Rolling Country

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—With the potential enemy looking over their shoulders Canada's 25th Brigade are ready for anything.

This is the opinion of the brigade commander, Brig. Jean Allard, DSO, who at 40 rides about in his jeep from the rear echelons to the forward observation posts like an energetic subaltern. Setting the style for the command, he comes home at night and goes immediately to the sports court for exercise.

Physical, mental and spiritual character building is the program of this self-styled unorthodox soldier who keeps his brigade on such a busy schedule that there is little time for misconduct. His brigade has one of the best records on the front in which they hold the key spot for the 1st Commonwealth Division north of the Imjin river.

FAMOUS UNITS

Facing the Chinese along the front are men of the Royal Canadian Regiment, the Royal 22nd and the Black Watch. With them are such hard-hitting units as the tanks of Lord Strathcona's Horse and the 4th Royal Canadian Horse Artillery.

Their mobile role suits the brigadier because it affords him ample opportunity for general training. The troops have rehearsed their role repeatedly and in fact tried it out in a couple of false alarms. The brigadier says everything worked smoothly and with no panic.

"I like the role of mobile operation because our purpose here is to train soldiers—period; not to train them for a specific theatre like Korea," Brig. Allard said.

"Their Operation Continue sees them doing three distinct jobs: Taking part with the Commonwealth Division in the defence of South Korea, policing the southern boundary of the demilitarized zone and carrying out a training program under the most practical conditions possible.

ROLLING COUNTRY

The brigade is situated in beautiful rolling country reminiscent of Quebec's Laurentians. The civilian population has been evacuated, the rice paddies grown over. The great pock-marks of last year's battles have disappeared.

The units are comfortably housed well fed, their tents heated with oil stoves, floored and lighted by electricity supplied by unit generators.

The brigadier operates on the theory that "anybody can be miserable and we may have to be again in any future emergency, but while it's possible to be clean and comfortable we're going to be just that because it pays off in efficiency and alertness."

On the same grounds the brigade, which has taken some kidding about being a "Cadillac" outfit, has some of the best recreational facilities in the field. These include gym, theatre, library and lounge within two miles of the Chinese lines.

There's been an unusually large response to the padres' plan for religious training—all on a voluntary basis — and it's leading, through regular classes, to many new members for the various denominations.

Also the Canadian soldier has shown by his attendance and enthusiasm that he likes programs of good music and clean and artistic entertainment on his new concert stage.

The theatre and recreation centre as a whole were certainly underwritten by the taxpayer. But the troops themselves have set on discarded oil cans for footlight screens discarded ammunition tins for stands, and sapper know-how and labor provided the general construction.

STARTED IN TANKS

Sparking the whole show is the six-foot, 190-pound Brig. Allard who looks a bit like Progressive Conservative leader George Drew.

He started out as a tank man with his native Three Rivers regiment and has contributed notably to tank-infantry co-operation. He's a former commander of the Royal 22nd, now a part of his brigade, has been a vice quartermaster-general and held the ticklish post of military attache in Russia during the espionage trials in Canada.

He dislikes formality but he's strict and adheres to a policy of spit and polish and parade-ground ceremonials. This is to encourage pride in regiment and in self and also because he believes that a regiment that can act as one on a parade-ground order can act with cool efficiency on the field.

"All in all," said the brigadier, "our training ground is favorable and practical, our program is busy and interesting and the men of this brigade will leave Korea in completely good shape as soldiers and Canadians."

The brigadier keeps a close personal eye on the Chinese, manning positions less than 4,000 yards away from the advanced Canadian lines.

On one trip to the front, Brig. Allard scrutinized the Chinese position and noted they had moved a gun to a new position.

"This certainly must be one of the screwiest situations in history," he commented. "Here we're both watching each other like hawks and getting ready in case we have to go to war with each other again. And down the middle is arable land that should be used to help feed the people who we're defending."

EXPECT CITY'S TAX RATE BE 49 MILLS

A SNOWY OUTLINE—Throughout the city trees and buildings were outlined in snow after the light fall late Tuesday afternoon. Citizens didn't appreciate the snowy, wet flakes at the time but today when the bright sun transformed the district into a beautiful snowy-white wonderland, they fully appreciated the late wintry snow. George St. United church's four-spired turret, with a light covering of snow, was among the beauty spots amid branches, outlined with a slight white edging.

Plan To Take Soundings For Causeway

Victoria County Rate Struck at 14.2 Mills Reduction of 1.2 Mills

LINDSAY (ENS)—Criticism of the Lindsay town council and chamber of commerce was made at the March sessions of the Victoria county council on Tuesday when the Pigeon lake causeway came up for discussion. Reeve Peter Perdue of Emily township lead in support of the causeway.

Council finally agreed to take sounding over the proposed route of the causeway before the ice goes out this spring.

Mr. Perdue said the benefits to be derived from the causeway would come in a large measure to Victoria county and Lindsay but Reeve Richard Butler interjected to ask "why all this talk about a causeway now we know the price—about $19,000 for Victoria county, and the council of Lindsay, the chamber of commerce and the citizens have expresed their disapproval of the plan."

A lively discussion ensued, with Reeve Claude Bottum of Bobcaygeon, claiming that Lindsay would derive nothing but good from the causeway plan. Warden Robert Bradt agreed with Mr. Bottum, and asked "What changed Lindsay's mind about the plan? They were in favor of it last year."

After further discussion, the council voted to have soundings of the proposed route of the causeway taken as soon as possible, in order to make use of the 27 inches of ice still on the waters.

Other Words?

LONDON (AP)—One week ago a parrot landed on the shoulder of Frank Whittingham as he was walking to his home in suburban Southfields. Tuesday the bird, breaking a seven-day silence, uttered the words "Renown 2961." Whittingham dialed it and got Mrs. Kathleen Meyers. "That's my Joey," said she. "Smart, isn't he? He knows lots of other words."

Women Setting Pace In Drive For $100,000

Mrs. J. E. Watters' energetic women's division is setting the pace in the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign. Returns for the first two days of the drive show that this group already has $2,221.50, nearly a third of its $7,250 objective.

Total raised so far is $13,869.50, close to 14 per cent of the $100,000 total objective. Section results are listed below with objectives in brackets.

Special Names $7,469 ($29,350), Industrial $2,586.50 ($43,500), Retail $831.50 ($19,250), Women's $2,221.50 ($7,250). Penny-a-day went $115 over its $650 objective last week.

Although the Retail section is off to a slow start, a chest official felt that this was normal for this early stage of the campaign.

Chest's Chairman Alex Elliott was optimistic about the chances for reaching the $100,000 objective. He reported two large donations received this morning and said "if this keeps up we should do very well."

Legislation To Enforce Road Signals

Stiffer Penalties Hit-and-Run Motor Offenders

TORONTO (CP)— Legislation making it compulsory for motorists to signal right turns and stops was introduced in the legislature Tuesday.

The legislation, amendments to the Highways Traffic Act introduced by Highways Minister Doucett, would also provide stiffer penalties for hit-and-run drivers and the introduction of rear bumpers on high-bodied trucks.

The left-turn signal has been required for several years in Ontario but the right turn and stop signals have not been required because of a lack of uniformity in other jurisdictions, Mr. Doucett said.

The signals would be made "by means of hand and arm or mechanical signalling device."

Officials said the present Highways Act already provides for "a mechanical or electrical signalling device." They said such a device may include either flashing lights or the illuminated arm used on some imported cars. The act also specifies that the device must be self-illuminated.

Magistrates would be given wide discretion in imposing more severe penalties for hit-and-run drivers. A convicted person could be fined from $100 up to $500, jailed up to six months and have his licence suspended for one year.

SPEED LIMIT UP

Another amendment would allow municipalities to increase the present speed limit of 30 miles an hour on certain sections of highways under their jurisdiction. A reduction of speed limits would be allowed on highways within cities, towns, villages and police villages.

A ban on the littering of highways with rubbish would also be put into effect. Farmers would be required to equip their tractors with two separate means of attachment for farm wagons and implements on a highway, thus reducing the possibility of accidents caused by equipment becoming detached from the tractor.

Drop Of 15.5 Mills Brought About By Re-Assessment

By PHIL CALDER

City council was expected to strike a tax rate of 49 mills at a special meeting this afternoon. Although a last-minute variation of a fraction of a mill was still considered possible at press time, The Examiner's information from all available sources was that 49 mills would be the rate struck for 1954. Although this year's figure appeared to be a drop of 15.5 mills from the 1953 rate of 64.5 mills, no accurate comparison can be made on this basis of last year's re-assessment, which increased the city's total assessment somewhere in the neighborhood of $16½ millions.

SPENDING IN 1953

Total of all civic spending in 1953 was estimated by last year's council at $3,121,161.61, covering general administration, debenture charges, garbage collection, schools and relief. Credited against this amount was $399,327.52, the estimated receipts from all sources other than taxes. That left $2,721,835.09 to be collected from property taxes.

This year's estimated spending is understood to be a definite increase over last year's estimate. If the 1953 requirements had been based on the new total assessment, it has been calculated that the 1953 tax rate would have been 46.15 mills. So the closest comparison that can be given is that, if the council were to strike a rate of 49 mills this afternoon, it would mean in effect, an increase over last year of 2.85 mills.

There is yet no information as to what rate for separate school supporters was to be struck. The rate last year was 67 mills, 2½ mills higher than the rate for public school supporters. It was not known whether this 2½-mill difference would be maintained.

What this year's exact total assessment will be when the court of revision have completed their hearing of appeals is of course another important factor.

Aussies Rush To See Queen, Duke

BRISBANE, Australia (CP)—Mothers, aided by police, had to fight today to keep their children from being trampled as several thousand people rushed into this Queensland city's exhibition grounds to see the Queen.

The rush started almost an hour before the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh were due to arrive.

The huge crowd had been waiting for hours in stifling heat. Finally they stampeded.

Prompt action by police and ambulance officials prevented a tragedy. They moved in at the gates as the crowd surged past and helped mothers snatch their children out of danger.

The children had been given a holiday and the royal appearance at the fair grounds was especially put on for them. Some 10,000 had parts in a school display planned for the royal coupte.

After the Queen and the duke had arrived, the crowds broke through barricades again and began advancing into an area where the Queen was inspecting a guard of honor.

Police and army officers joined hands to halt the oncoming mob.

Dozens of children fainted later before the eyes of the Queen in the sticky, sub-tropical heat.

The Queen appeared flushed from the heat as she rode through the city, but was composed at both the children's rally and a parliamentary luncheon. She held up a small parasol against the blazing sun.

During the day the Queen also presided at a meeting of Queensland's executive council.

U.K. Admiralty Discloses New 6-Inch Gun

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain is arming her cruisers with a new six-inch gun whose revolutionary rate of fire makes them the match of Russia's most modern cruisers, the House of Commons was told early today.

The disclosure came from Cmdr. A. H. P. Noble, parliamentary secretary to the admiralty, towards the end of an all-night sitting largely taken up with consideration of navy costs for the coming year.

During the debate, James Callaghan, a former Labor government financial secretary to the admiralty, complained that Britain had about 24 "middle-aged or elderly" cruisers between 5,000 tons and 10,000 tons armed with 5.25 and six-inch guns. He asked if these cruisers were to face the "magnificent" Russian cruisers of the Sverdlov class.

Noble said Britain is continuing to modernize her six-inch cruisers and when this is done they will be first-class ships able to take on Sverdlov cruisers on "quite favorable terms."

"We now have a new, first-class six-inch gun which is really of a revolutionary rate of fire. Four of these guns will deliver five tons of metal per minute.

"Similar progress has been made with a new three-inch gun which

Housing Situation Worse Than Before World War II

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The economic adviser of the trade and commerce department said Tuesday more Canadian families now are without homes of their own than either before or immediately after the Second World War. Dr. O. J. Firestone told the annual conference of the Ontario Association of Real Estate Boards estimates of housing needs range from 75,000 to more than 500,000 units but the actual demand was only for some 25,000 to 35,000.

He said lower down payments under new National Housing Act legislation may enable more families to invest in property. A person financing a house with a low down payment should be prepared to pay more interest over the life of the loan, said Mr. Firestone.

Prospects for 1954 indicate a continued high level of house building activity, he said, but some areas may find the supply has caught up with demand.

OLD HOUSE BUYING

Earlier, the association called on the Ontario government to consider ways of making it easier to buy an old house. Down payments of up to 50 per cent force prospective buyers to resort to expensive second-mortgage financing, a resolution said.

The association also deplored "an ever-increasing tendency to divert municipal tax revenues into services to persons rather than services to property." The Ontario government was asked to establish equity in municipal taxes.

St. Laurent Accused Of Appeasement

SEOUL (CP)—A South Korean newspaper today said Prime Minister St. Laurent is one of a group "becoming tools and dupes" of the Communists.

The English-language daily Korean Republic assailed the Canadian leader for saying here Monday that he believes the Allies should be realistic about recognizing Communist China.

"In the prime minister's definition, it would be 'realistic' to accept disease and murder and brigandry just because we have them with us," the paper said.

It added that "the St. Laurents of this world actually are embracing the faceless creed of communism by unwittingly advocating a policy of appeasement."

The semi-official paper said "the prime minister makes the same Red-inspired and terribly perilous error in indicating that the Chinese accept their Communist masters."

The prime minister, who concluded a Korean visit today, had been quoted as saying he felt the eventual recognition of the Red Chinese regime must be accepted since it was the government the people wanted.

$200,000 Fire Guts Warehouse

TORONTO (CP) — Fire caused an estimated $200,000 damage early today when it raged out of control for two hours in a five-storey warehouse of the T. Eaton Company in west-central Toronto.

The building housed furniture, bedding, refrigerators, radios, television sets and other electrical equipment.

Exploding oil drums on the top floor of the brick building tore holes in the roof and sent flames soaring 50 feet. Clouds of black smoke billowed hundreds of feet in the air.

The fire-weakened roof of the warehouse crashed down at the height of the blaze.

20 FORCED OUT

No one was hurt in the three-alarm blaze which forced 20 nearby residents out of their homes.

The warehouse watchman, Nevin Parker, escaped from the burning building and turned in the alarm.

All available equipment from 12 fire stations was thrown into the battle. For a time the fire threatened two blocks of stores and houses in the area, about half a mile from downtown Toronto.

The first alarm was at 3:15 a. m. Four hours later more than 100 firemen were still fighting the dying fire which gutted the structure.

2 Infants Burn Mother Injured

PARRY SOUND, Ont. (CP)—Two children were burned to death today and their 23-year-old mother severely injured when fire destroyed their one - storey frame house here. An oil stove was believed to have exploded.

Nancy, 2, and Kenneth, 1, the only children of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Greer, died in the blaze.

Mrs. Greer, who was burned attempting to rescue her children, is in critical condition in hospital. Doctors said she suffered "excessive burns."

Mr. Greer, a brakeman with Canadian National Railways, was away at the time.

Chris Kalio, a neighbor, pulled Mrs. Greer from the burning building. Her hair and clothing were on fire. He had to restrain her from re-entering the burning cottage.

Britain Moving HQ Suez To Cyprus

LONDON (AP)—Britain has decided to move her Midle East military headquarters from the Suez canal zone to the island colony of Cyprus, government sources reported today.

A new headquarters building now is being erected in the Mediterranean island garrison big enough to accommodate the nerve-centres of both British land and air commands.

Neither the defence ministry nor the foreign office would comment on the report.

Rhee Warns Against Sell-Out Of Korea

SEOUL (AP)—President Syngman Rhee has indicated that South Korea will attend the Geneva conference on Far East problems, but insists, "We must have iron-clad assurances there will be no sell-out of Korea."

Rhee likewise makes no secret of his views that the April meeting "will achieve nothing." And he voiced a "final warning" that South Kora "cannot wait for unification for endless months while idle talk drags on."

The South Korean president said his country needs further information from the United States before announcing its decision on the Geneva meeting. All the major countries except South Korea have agreed to go to Geneva April 26.

Admiral Leatham Found Dead

LYMINGTON, England (CP) — Admiral Sir Ralph Leatham, former governor of Bermuda, was found dead in his bedroom today. He was 68.

The admiral apparently collapsed on the floor as he was about to retire Tuesday night.

Leatham commanded the Royal Navy and Royal Canadian Navy anti-submarine flotillas which crushed the Nazi U-boat threat to Britain's invasion forces in Europe.

Liners Warned Watch For Floating Mines

LONDON (AP)—Coast guards today warned the liners Queen Elizabeth and United States to watch out for mines in the English channel.

The Norwegian destroyer Oslo exploded one by gunfire off Folkestone Tuesday night. Two others were spotted near the Isle of Wight.

Coast guards said the mines probably were torn from wartime moorings by week-end gales.

General Motors Sets Record Sells $10 Billion Products

NEW YORK (AP) — General Motors Corporation reports it sold more than $10,000,000,000 of its products in 1953, a record for any private corporation.

Its direct taxes exceeded $1,250,000,000 and with sales and excise taxes, the corporation's total tax bill was nearly $2,600,000,00.

The giant auto maker, world's largest manufacturing concern, said its sales of $10,027,985,482 compared with $7,549,154,419 in 1952, the previous high for general motors or any other company.

However, its net profit of $598,119,478 was only its third highest, being eclipsed by the net income of $656,434,232 in 1949 and the record high of $34,044,039 in 1950. But it remained the biggest money maker in American industry.

In their annual report to the GM's 495,000 stockholders, Harlow H. Curtice, president, and Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of the board, commented:

"Earnings continued to be adversely affected by excess profits taxes, and in 1953 earnings also were affected by higher materials costs, particularly higher premium steel costs, high labor costs including large amounts for overtime premiums, and increased costs for special tools."

The net income amounted to six per cent of net sales and was equivalent, after the $12,928,312 annual requirement for preferred dividends, to $6.71 a share on GM's 87,000,000 shares. Last year's net income was $558,721,179 or $6.25 a share, which amounted to 7.4 per cent of net sales.

The company's total taxes came to $1,898,000,000, equivalent to $21.77 a share, including $661,000,000 in sales and excise taxes collected by GM on sales of its products.

Curtice and Sloan reported General Motors sold 3,760,000 cars and trucks in 1953, a gain of 43 per cent over 1952 sales of 2,629,000. Of the cars and trucks sold in 1953, 3,276,000 were produced in U.S. plants and 484,000 in Canada and overseas. Of every 100 passenger cars sold from U.S. and Canadian factories last year, 45 were GM cars.

Police Scatter Demonstrators

TEHRAN, Iran (Reuters) — Police fired in the air today and successfully scattered demonstrators calling for the election to parliament of former foreign minister Hussein Fatemi, missing since he was reported "torn to pieces" by mobs last August but later reported to have fled the country.

The demonstrators handed out leaflets in Tehran's main streets proclaiming Fatemi as underground leader of the national resistance movement. They urged the population to elect him to parliament during the current balloting in the capital.

Fatemi served as top spokesman for Mohammed Massadegh's government which was overthrown in street riots last August. He faces treason charges.

"Equal Pay For Equal Work" British Women Pester Govt.

By PHILIP CLARKE

LONDON (AP) — Weary members wound up another all-night session of Parliament at sunrise today with the shrill clamor of the biggest women's "equal pay" demonstration still echoing in their ears.

Carrying banners demanding "equal pay for equal work," more than 6,000 chanting cheering women advanced Tuesday night on Parliament where they waited to buttonhole MPs and applaud speakers at four separate mass meetings outside.

They unloaded two bulky petitions containing the signatures of 680,000 supporters, read out a declaration of demands at the statue of suffragette hero Emmeline Pankhurst in Westminster, and even poked their faces in a House of Lords window to shout and chant.

The modern-day feminists didn't go as far as their mothers and grandmothers who chained themselves to railings around Parliament to enforce demands for women's vote, but most harassed members thought the women got their point across well enough.

In the House, the women's supporters peppered the chancellor of the exchequer, Richard A. Butler, with 25 qustions on equal pay. The speaker had to clamp a lid on more questions.

Finally, Labor member Douglas Houghton, a 55-year-old married man, introduced a bill "to set women free"—establishing by law the principle of equal pay for equal work by both men and women. Without a murmur, the House scheduled a second reading of the bill for April 9, three days after announcement of the new budget.

Butler parried most questions, but repeated a government promise to start giving equal pay to women in the civil service as soon as Britain can afford it.

Only one male MP boldly spoke out against the women. Brig. Ralph Rayner, 57-year-old married Conservative, said "We have it on the highest authority that women were put into this world to make it a much more beautiful place and to perform various other gracious duties, but not to compete physically and economically with men."

Predict Retirement Churchill This Year

LONDON (AP)—A new retirement date was predicted today for Sir Winston Churchill. The Daily Sketch, which strongly supports Churchill's Conservative party, said the prime minister will quit "in the autumn of this year."

Churchill will be 80 on Nov. 30. Since his serious illness last year there have been persistent reports that he will soon step down from party leadership.

Explosions, Fire Rage In Formosan City

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Explosions and fire ripped through natural-gas tanks at Taichung today injuring 170 persons, at least 10 critically.

The tanks were touched off by flames from a truck which caught fire while parked in the west Formosan city.

The first explosion destroyed the town's bus terminal building.

New Brunswick Increases Gasoline Tax

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New Brunswick has cut its retail sales tax and put up its gasoline tax by two cents a gallon.

The changes were anounced in the budget brought down Tuesday in the legislature at Fredericton.

The sales tax, known officially as the social services and education tax, will be three per cent instead of four, effective today. The gasoline tax will go to 12 cents a gallon from 10 April 12, making the price in Saint John 43.2 cents a gallon for regular grade and 45.2 for high test.

The Maritime Automobile Association, representing 10,000 New Brunswick motorists, said it will protest the increase.

Donald D. Patterson, provincial secretary treasurer, said in bringing down the $51,000,000 budget, he estimates a surplus of $59,710.

ANOTHER SURPLUS

The Nova Scotia budget also was brought down Tuesday. Provincial Treasurer R. M. Fielding estimated revenue at $50,718,191, highest in the history of the province, with no new taxes. He budgeted for a surplus of $347,224.

The Manitoba legislature defeated by 32 to 22 an amended resolution calling on the province to provide free medical, dental and optical care for needy old-age pensioners. Also defeated was the original resolution which asked the government to consider supplementing incomes of old-age pensioners whose total revenues did not exceed $40 a month.

Doctor Charged Careless Driving

Dr. C. B. Waite, of 512 Hunter St., was charged in magistrate's court today with careless driving as a result of an accident January 27 at the corner of Aylmer and Sherbrooke Sts. Both Crown and defence closed their cases, and adjournment was made until March 17 when it is expected magistrate W. R. Philp will give his decision.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw charged that Dr. Waite, travelling west on Sherbrooke, failed to stop at the intersection, and, as a result, was in collision with a truck southbound on Aylmer, a through street. The truck was driven by Lorne Robertson.

Mr. Robertson, who lives in Cavan township, testified that he was driving south and did not see the doctor's car until just before the impact. He said his half-ton truck, loaded with snow, was travelling 20 mph. The impact turned it around until it was facing north.

Robertson's passenger Raymond Walker of 168 Antrim St., said that he saw Dr. Waite's car slow down at the stop-sign, then accelerate across the intersection. Then he yelled to Robertson, but "it was too late."

Defence counsel Alex Elliott brought from the defendant testimony that he had applied his brakes quite a distance before the stop-sign because he was afraid that slippery road conditions would otherwise skid him into the intersection. He said that he came to a full stop a car length back of the stop-sign, started up, skidded and made slow progress across the intersection.

Harry Holbrook, a mechanic, testified that he was driving 100 feet behind Robertson when he noticed Dr. Waite stopped "further back than people usually do" from the stop-sign.

Crown Attorney Bradshaw argued that even if Dr. Waite did stop for the stop-sign, the Highway Traffic Act, he said, requires that a driver have full control of his vehicle when crossing a through street. Dr. Waite had earlier testified that slippery conditions had slowed his progress across the intersection.

Constable W. G. Scott said damage to the truck was $575, and to the doctor's car, which had only 4,000 miles on the speedometer, $750.

After the accident, Dr. Waite was found in his car in a dazed condition. Driver and passenger in the truck were also shaken up.

Unemployment Blamed On Taxes

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal tax reductions would help combat unemployment, Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, chief labor spokesman for the Progressive Conservatives said Tuesday night.

Mrs. Fairclough said taxes are partly responsible for high production costs which she believed had priced some Canadian goods out of foreign markets.

Mrs. Fairclough, Commons member for Hamilton West, spoke in an address prepared for delivery in the CBC's political free time series.

She said well-informed tax authorities now are saying taxes could be cut without "drastically endangering" the condition of the federal budget.

"Certain it is that tax reductions of any sort would help the present situation," she said, "and it is my opinion that a healthy reduction in the hidden taxes would provide a noticeable impetus to a weary economy."

Toronto Trading Prices Higher

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were higher in light early afternoon stock market trading.

Papers, utilities, steels, motors, liquors, financial institutions and textiles were slightly higher as the industrials gained. Foods slipped a little and refining oils and manufactures were steady.

Western oil gains and losses were in balance. The largest change was General's 40-cent loss.

Base metal seniors were well ahead with Hudson Bay, Consolidated Smeltens and Noranda up 50 cents. Juniors were slightly ahead.

Golds drew little interest. Building companies were strongest.

Uraniums were up with Gunnar ahead 15 cents. Bathurst-area base metals were slightly ahead.

Steel Outlook Worse In United States

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel outlook in the United States is no worse than it was three weeks ago despite an operating-rate decline of five points in that period, Iron Age, national metal-working weekly, said today.

Operations are scheduled at 69 per cent of rated capacity, down 1.5 per cent from last week, but "the drop in the ingot rate was not caused by a fresh decline in steel business; rather it is attributed to postponement of the expected pick-up," said Iron Age.

An upturn is still expected, it added.

Sale Averages Good At Bull Auction

TORONTO (CP)—Sale averages were good at opening auctions of bulls to Ontario farmers in a sale sponsored by the Ontario Beef Cattle Improvement Society Tuesday.

A group of 93 hereford bulls brought an average of $517 with a top figure of just over $800. This was just under last year's figure. In aberdeen angus, the top was $1,000 while the 40 head brought an average of $417.

Gets Lung Cancer Man Sues Tobacco Firms

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A factory worker, blaming his lung cancer on cigaret smoking, today sued four tobacco firms and a grocery store group for $250,000.

Ira C. Lowe, 39, named as defendants R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., American Tobacco Co., P. Lorillard Co., Brown and Williamson Tobacco Corp., and Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co.

Lowe, an assemblyman for Lincoln Engineering Co. here, said in his petition that he had accepted the defendants' public assurances their respective brands of cigarets were free from harmful substance.

Lowe stated he had smoked more than two packs a day from 1930 until 1952 when he entered the Jewish hospital here, found he was suffering from cancer and underwent an operation for removal of his right lung.

The suit charged Lowe's earning capacity has been impaired, that he has lost wages at the rate of about $60 a week for two years and has incurred medical expenses totalling about $2,000.

Give Priority To Farmhands

OTTAWA (CP)—Former farmhands who have become jobless in other industry this winter will be sought for farm jobs this spring.

Offices of the labor department's National Employment Service have been asked to give priority to these workers in meeting farmers' seasonal requests for help, and the farmers themselves have been asked to put their requests in early.

Officials said Tuesday it is not expected many unemployed will be absorbed this way, but it might have at least a minor effect in lessening the number of jobless. Also, it would provide a good calibre of farm labor insofar as it operates.

Another effect is that it may tend to counteract a possible reduction in the number of farm immigrants coming from abroad. Such a reduction could result from recently-tightened selection methods on prospective farm help in Europe.

The selection procedure is being jacked up for two main reasons. One is that many immigrants listing themselves as experienced farmers have proved to be without farm experience. Another is that they have been jumping their contracts to remain on farms for a year.

first of more than 500 appeals. Scheduled to hold 26 evening sittings to hear appeals on residential assessments, the court have held eight extra evening sittings and eight day-time sittings, including Saturday afternoons. They are now in the midst of daytime hearings of industrial appeals and evening hearings are scheduled to continue until next Monday.

Meanwhile, City Clerk E. A. Outram has presented council with an estimate of assessment totals, based on decisions of the court of revision on assessment appeals up to and including February 27.

He has recommended that the following figures should be used in calculating the various tax rates for 1954:

General purposes and secondary schools—$58,967,680.

Assessment for garbage purposes—$64,372,450.

Assessment for public schools—$52,461,515.

Assessment for separate schools —$6,506,165.

Not included in these figures are assessments on the utilities commission and the Ontario Hydra Commission properties, since these properties are exempt from the assessment rolls.

However, payments in lieu of taxes, amounting to the same as taxes, are received on a $293,480 assessment of the utilities commission and an assessment of $17,590 of the hydro commission.

IN LIEU OF TAXES

In addition to taxes based on these figures, the city receives payments in lieu of taxes from the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, amounting to $12,415 from public school supporters and $3,610 from separate school supporters.

These figures are subject to change if Central Mortgage decide to sell more of their houses during the year. In that case, owners would be charged full taxes for the balance of the year.

Payments in lieu of taxes are distributed as follows: on current account, $1,283.54 to collegiate, $2,746.70 to public schools, $1,014.57 to separate schools and $10,127.91 to the general fund of the city; and on debentures, $455.77 to collegiate and $396.51 to public schools.

Mr. Outram pointed out to council, in presenting his estimate of the assessment totals, that he did so in order to assist council and the education boards in arriving at their 1954 rates. The estimates were set out only after considerable deliberation and review of all the factors entering the picture, he reported.

"It is only fair to state that the court of revision has not completed its decisions on some assessment appeals which concern large amounts, but without in any way endeavoring to pre-judge the decisions of the court in matters still pending, I am convinced that any reductions which may in future be granted by the court of revision or on appeals from the court of revision in regard to these assessments, will be more than compensated for, so far as the city and its revenues from taxes in 1954 is concerned, by added assessments made to the assessment rolls during 1954, under section 51 of the Assessment Act.

"In conclusion, I am convinced that in recommending the use of the figures above, the city has a reasonable safety factor, for the reasons stated," Mr. Outram said.

Gov't Rejected 4-Point Plan Says H. Daoust

TORONTO (CP)—Harold Daoust, Canadian director of the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO-CCL), said today three federal cabinet ministers have told the union the government will not implement the union's four-point plan to combat depression in the textile industry.

In a statement he commented on a meeting Monday between union representatives and Labor Minister Gregg, Transport Minister Chevrier and Revenue Minister McCann.

Mr. Daoust said the ministers "bluntly rejected TWUA's four-point plan designed to alleviate depressing unemployment and give relief from the flood of cut-rate imports that have reduced the industry's share of the Canadian market from 75 per cent in prewar years to less than 50 per cent in 1953."

The union delegation was from Cornwall, Renfrew, Ont., and Marysville, N. B., where textile mills are shut down and 1,500 workers unemployed.

ASK PROTECTION

The 27,500-member union asked the government to:

Limit textile imports immediately to the extent necessary to allow the continued existence of the Canadian industry; advance defence orders to those textile areas in depressed condition irrespective of whether they tendered the lowest bid; further strengthen anti-dumping regulations; not take any action on a commercial treaty with Japan until an agreement on a program can be reached.

In an interview, Mr. Daoust said, "We did not ask for higher tariffs but for quotas. If Canada needs 5,000,000 yards of woollen cloth, for example, and the country can only produce 4,000,000, then we think only 1,000,000 yards of cloth should be imported."

REDS RUSHING SUBS

He said nine ships of the Sverdlov class are in existence and others are being built. Much of the Russian effort was going into the building of ocean-going submarines.

Opening the debate on the $353,000,000 estimates for 1954-55, J. P. L. Thomas, first lord of the admiralty, said greatly improved "homing" weapons for destroying submarines will shortly be in service, and a new swept-wing jet fighter able to carry atomic bombs will be built for the navy.

He could not say when the new jet will be in service, but he did say the navy will shortly get new anti-submarine weapons.

These include a guided missile launched from the air which "homes" on its target and an improved type of depth charge called the "limbo"—aimed and automatically fired by an electronic brain after it has found a submarine.

NEW LOCATING DEVICE

Another weapon on the anti-submarine front would be a locating device dropped into the sea at the end of a wire from a hovering helicopter. This "dipping sonar" promises a great improvement in finding the accurate position of a submerged submarine, Thomas said.

The minister also reported steady progress in the development of a large guided missile for fleet and convoy protection. The first guided-weapons trial ship will be fitted out soon, he said.

Thomas added the warning that it would be a mistake to imagine that guided weapons would be in general service at sea or would supersede "for years yet" the gun as a means of medium and close-range defence against air attack.

Pastor Dies

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) —Rev. George Innes, 52, pastor of Zion Lutheran church here, died Tuesday night.

During his ministerial career he held pastorates at Northfield, N.S., Montreal, Lunenburg, N.S., and Williamsburg, Ont. He was a Canadian Army chaplain in the Second World War. The funeral will be held in Kitchener Saturday.

when they set the mill rate for 1954 at 14.2 mills for the municipalities within the county roads system, and 8.2 mils for the townships outside it. The rate represented a decrease, for the good roads municipalities, of 1.2 mills, while the other townships saw a decrease of 1.7 mills in their tax rates.

The decrease in the mill rate came mainly from a drop of 1.8 mills in the estimates for general account spending, resulting from a drop in estimates for bridge spending, and the use of a surplus accumulated during 1954.

The county road rate was increased .5 mills this years. at the January session, to 6 mills, and the rate for the home for the aged was boosted from .4 to .5 mills in the estimates submitted Tuesday. The cost of the high school debenture was the same as in 1953, two mills, for those townships in the high school area.

The county mill, for the area in the road system, raises some $23,000 this year. The saving of the mill, therefore, will cut Lindsay's share of county spending by some $5,400, since the town contributes some 27 per cent of county rates.

Estimates of spending for the home for the aged; $105,033 for the high school debenture, less $61,000 revenue; and $131,943 for general expenditures, after deducting revenue of $67,087.

KENMOUNT BRIDGE

Reeve Robert Bradt, of Verulam township, expressed concern to Victoria county council at the evident cooling of Peterborough county officials to the building of the Kinmount bridge.

At the January session of Victoria council, estimates for the construction of the bridge were passed, with Peterborough's share, 50 per cent, to be billed as an account receivable. Reeve Bradt, however, noted that the warden of Peterborough county had seemed cooler to the idea, and that no mention of the Kinmount span had been made at the January session of the Peterborough council.

C. O. Hodgson, Reeve of Somerville township, said that Victoria county has done everything it was required to do about the bridge, and expressed the hope that Peterborough would fall in line this year.

WOULD ABANDON ROAD

Premier Frost has advised Victoria county council to abandon the Sir Adam Hughes road plan for highway 35, from Lindsay to Cameron. The plan was advanced at the January session of council as a remedy for the curving road now there, on which several fatal and near-fatal accidents have occurred during recent years. The worst curve is at McLaren's Creek, about halfway between the two towns.

The premier wrote a letter to the March session of the council. He said the plan would probably be lost by now, since it was drawn up at a time when the provincial government had no authority over roads. He proposed that the council consider recutting the highway through the Fenelon Hill, an escarpment leading down to the flats of McLaren's Creek, and projecting the road straight north to Cameron from the beginning of the series of sharp curves over the large marsh north of the hills. Several of the worst curves would be eliminated this way.

Reeve C. O. Hodgson, of Somerville township, concurred in the premier's recommendation, commenting that he had counted 11 curves in the nine-mile stretch of the highway in question. "It's not a highway at all, it's just a road with that many curves," he said.

"I think anything that would cut out some of those curves would be good."

The premier also noted that the department of highways would seriously consider making the new development road from Fenelon Falls to Kinmount a provincial highway.

McCarthy Hailed Troubador Of US

LONDON (AP)—Pravda today described Senator Joseph McCarthy as the "troubador of U. S. fascism" and said he speaks for the leadership of the Republican party.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper, in an article broadcast by Moscow radio, said in part:

"Subjecting to fierce badgering, defamation and terrorist persecution all those who dare to speak against the dictatorship of a group of millionaires, McCarthy and his like are striving to sow throughout the whole country an atmosphere of fear and anti-Communist hysteria which contributes to the carrying out of a more reactionary anti-national policy inside the country and preparation of new military adventures."

ILA President Urges Dockers Resume Work

NEW YORK (AP)—William V. Bradley, president of the International Longshoremen's Association has sent telegrams to all New York and New Jersey ILA locals urging them to obey a federal court injunction and send their members back to work.

There was no immediate indication whether the telegrams would have any more effect than Bradley's previous efforts to persuade the men to end their defiance.

Bradley has called the work stoppage a "wildcat strike" staged by ILA men angry because "they are discriminated against by the national labor relations board."

Advocates Degrees For Military Students

TORONTO (CP)—William Nickle (PC—Kingston) said Tuesday in the Ontario legislature that educational authorities in the province should consider granting degrees to students completing the four-year courses in engineering and arts at Kingston's Royal Military College.

He quoted a Canadian army officer as saying young Canadians are not joining reserve forces, and that any suggestion that a reserve force exists is a myth.

"I'll show him differently (at Kingston)," Mr. Nickle said. "We have three reserve units, with keen, eager young men in them."

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of three per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Tuesday's noon rate was 96 13-16 cents. Pound sterling $2.73, against $2.72½.

Parliament Votes 171-21 Against State Ownership Of Canada's Banks

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament does not want public ownership of Canada's 11 chartered banks.

A CCF proposal to bring the banks under national ownership and control was defeated 171 to 21 in the Commons Tuesday night.

All members except those in the 23-member CCF group opposed the suggestion placed before the house by CCF Leader Coldwell during debate on a government bill to revise the Bank Act.

Two CCF members, Ross Thatcher (Moose Jaw-Lake Centre) and Angus MacInnis (Vancouver-Kingsway), were not in the House for the vote. The absence of Mr. Thatcher, who left the chamber immediately before the vote, was noted by Liberal members with the chant: "We want Thatcher."

Mr. Coldwell had proposed that the bill for decennial revision of the Bank Act be set aside to consider public ownership of chartered banks. After his motion was defeated, the legislation received second reading—approval in principle—and was referred to the Commons banking committee for detailed study.

LIBERALS QUIET

Mr. Coldwell's motion was opposed by spokesmen for the Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties, but was not discussed by any Liberals.

However, Finance Minister Abbott, in placing the legislation before the House, said public ownership of banks is "not illogical" for those who believe in the CCF philosophy, but he felt the House did not want to engage in a debate on socialism.

Donald Fleming (PC — Toronto Eglinton) described the CCF proposal as the "siren song of socialism." It was the surest way "to destroy confidence abroad in the Canadian economy."

Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC—Macleod) said there is not enough cash in Canada to enable any government to buy up the chartered banks. He asked CCF members to explain in detail how the purchase would be made, but the request went unanswered.

TWO-DAY DEBATE

The debate on the government bill to revise the Bank Act continued through two days. However, most of the time was spent discussing the CCF nationalization motion.

The bill would extend the life of the chartered banks for another 10 years and incorporate a number of changes in banking laws. Two major amendments would permit the banks to lend on insured mortgages and extend Bank of Canada controls over bank credit.

Henry Hosking (L — Wellington South) said banks have done "an exceptionally fine job." More people would borrow from them, at reasonable interest rates, if it weren't for the "propaganda" of those opposed to the present banking system.

Instead, people borrowed from other lending institutions which legally charged up to 24 per cent interest. Schools should educate children as to the real extent of the carrying charges involved in borrowing from such loan companies.

Mr. Hosking said his only criticism of banks is that they are closed Saturdays, when they are most needed.

Remove Horses From Barn In Morrow Park

The agitation of McGill St. residents over the semi-permanent stabling of horses in the exhibition ground is over.

Last Saturday Hugh Stewart, harness-racing fancier, removed the last of his horses from the horse barn. The nine animals are now being stabled at his brother Jack's farm, RR 7, Peterborough.

TAKEN TO MONTREAL

The other nine horses were taken from their winter quarters in Peterborough on March 1 and transported to Richilieu Park, Montreal, where they are training for the opening of the harness racing season.

This should end the controversy over the effect of stabling horses near a residential section.

A week ago today, 51 McGill St. residents started appealing their assessments to the court of revision. They claimed that noise, dust, unpleasant odors and flies from the exhibition grounds had depreciated their property; they said that their assessment should be reduced accordingly.

Now that the horses have gone it is presumed that the McGill residents will be happy. The city should be happy, too, because there will be a stronger case for maintaining the original assessment now that the "nuisance" has been eliminated.

EXTENDED TIME

At the last meeting of the board of health, February 10, the board agreed to extend the time the exhibition board could rent the stables to Mr. Stewart to April 15. The previous time limit was January 31.

Mr. Stewart assured Mayor Norman Graham that the horses, valued at $40,000, would be off the premises by April 15. The board also stipulated that he post a $5,000 bond, guaranteeing their removal.

BEAT DEADLINE

"I beat the deadline by more than a month," Mr. Stewart said today, "the horses have all gone and everything is cleaned up."

He said that he didn't think some of the residents had been very fair in criticizing the stabling of horses in the exhibition ground. He noted, too, that those who were appealing their assessment had now lost their "lever" if they were using the presence of horses as the basis of their appeal.

"We moved out to help the city get their assessment on McGill St.," he said.

Town Council Grants $500 To Campbellford Arena

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Campbellford town council held a lengthy session Monday evening, when a number of important items were on the agenda.

A delegation from the arena board asked for a grant of $500 to cover their deficit on the year's operations. They told council that ice conditions had not been favorable during the winter and that they could not meet the $1,000 payment to Mr. C. H. Davidson. A great deal of argument followed the request, with Councillors F. M. Rutherford and George Vice strongly opposing the grant. The grant was finally made, however.

SCHOOL ESTIMATES

Council received the estimates for 1954 from the public school board. These totalled $25,000, up about $3,800 from last year. Council asked the board to send a representation to a meeting on March 22, to further explain the increase. At the same time, council said they realized that the school board had full jurisdiction over the matter.

Several pool room and billiard parlor operators in the town addressed council, claiming the license on pool tables and bowling alleys was excessive and that, in their opinion, the license should not be required at all. They pointed out that business tax is paid in addition to the license and claimed the combination was a little too much. The matter was left with the finance committee, who will bring in a report.

Reeve D. R. Maybee presented a proposed plan for resurfacing some sidewalks and building others during 1954. The plan contained only minimum requirements and was approved by council.

The matter of the Garden Block subdivision, owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Palliser, was discussed. A bylaw allotting the use of lands in this subdivision was passed. An agreement will be prepared committing the owners to satisfy council in the matters of taxes, rates and local improvement levies.

GRANT FROM PUC

Mayor R. J. Locke reported the PUC had made a grant of $10,000 to the town and that it was possible council could get more at a later date, when it was known what new expenditures will be necessary in the PUC.

Mayor Locke requested a $30,000 debenture issue to complete payment on the new hospital building and equipment. Total indebtedness at present is $43,000, but the board has asked Seymour township council to provide $10,000, and have planned to raise the remaining $3,000 themselves.

A letter from Dr. F. G. Robertson, concerning improving the property from the Black bridge to Victoria St. on Grand Rd., was referred to the park committee. Council was disappointed with the $1,000 offered by the government for maintenance of the property for the next 20 years.

A grant of $200 to the Seymour Agricultural Society requested by M. B. Sayers and Jesse Locke, was approved.

Councillor Vice, reporting for the police committee, asked approval for five taxi licence renewals. This was given by council. He also moved that the salary of Constable Sam Baird be set at $2,300 per year. This also was approved.

APPOINTED OFFICIAL

There was a great deal of discussion of a report by the finance committee covering the town office. Council finally decided to appoint Eldon Ibey, who is now the treasurer, as tax collector, relief officer, and weed inspector. The salary will be $50 a week. Mr. Ibey also receives remuneration from the PUC.

In view of the fact the town clerk, J. F. McGregor, has signified his intention of retiring in the near future, it was decided to advertise for a stenographer, who eventually with Mr. Ibey, will comprise the town office staff. Council made it quite clear that the action was in no way taken to accelerate Mr. McGregor's retirement, but was taken in order that his expressed wish to retire might be eventually carried out without any undue disruption of the office.

Councillor F. M. Rutherford said he hoped soon to be able to improve conditions at the town dump. He said he is watching for a new site, when one becomes necessary.

Several property bylaws were passed.

Council adjourned until March 22, when it will meet to discuss estimates for the 1954 budget.

SNOWY FOLIAGE — Floodlights and snow gave added beauty to Peterborough's city hall Tuesday night. A light snowfall late Tuesday afternoon helped give the impression that the trees about the hall were beginning to leaf. The Examiner camera caught these branches (above) as the floodlights light up the area about the hall's clock and tower. (Examiner Staff Photo)

Dr. W. W. Baker Chairman Of School Board

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Dr. W. W. Baker has been chosen chairman of the Campbellford public school board. F. E. Frederick is vice-chairman for 1954.

Sidney Hopping is chairman of the internal committee, Mrs. H. Cowell heads the finance committee, Forrest Dennis is chairman of the property committee and W. C. Thaham remains chairman of the insurance committee.

Charles Young, inspector of public schools was present, and congratulated the board on the following improvements:

1. Providing an adequate principal's office and necessary office equipment.
2. Purchasing new maps and globes.
3. Adding equipment in several classrooms to promote better instruction.
4. Replacing teachers' desks and childrens' desks in many of the rooms.
5. Permitting distribution of cod liver oil capsules and milk to the pupils.

COMMENDS PRINCIPAL

Mr. Young also commended the fine leadership given by the principal, William Rothwell. He noted that he had found the teaching staff to be of the highest calibre and asked the board to try to make more free time possible for the principal, in order that he might organize the school and help by inspecting the work of the pupils.

The inspector also put forth a number of recommendations which he asked the board to consider.

A half hour earlier dismissal for pupils who warrant such consideration was opproved by the board. In this way, the remaining half hour can be allotted to individual pupils who need extra help on any subject, or who need more time to complete the day's assignments satisfactorily.

The biggest decision to be made was whether or not the board should provide all school supplies, which is being done in almost all schools at present, and which was especially urged by the inspector.

In view of the fact that 50 per cent of this cost is carried by the provincial government, the board decided it would be a saving to the community in most cases. It was unanimously decided that all school supplies would be provided by the board, starting next term.

Peterborough Play Seen At Roseneath

ROSENEATH (ENS) — An appreciative audience were present at the LOL hall, Roseneath, on Monday evening, when the Bible class of St. James' United church, Peterborough, presented their three-act play, "The Path Across the Hill."

The play was sponsored by Group 2 of the WA of Roseneath United church, with Mrs. Fred Norris as leader and Mrs. Charles Sandercock, secretary-treasurer.

Chairman for the evening was the Rev. J. R. Wheeler. The cast were introduced by Mrs. C. Jones. M. Drysdale contributed humorous readings between sets.

Lunch was served to the cast by the group members.

Conservative Retains Seat

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill's Conservative government today retained a parliamentary seat in a by-election in the Arundel and Shoreham division of Sussex.

Capt. Henry Kerby, the Conservative candidate, polled 24,857 votes to 11,420 cast for Mrs. Margaret Reid, his Labor opponent in the two-way fight. The by-election was caused by the retirement from parliament of Conservative member William Cuthbert.

Kerby took 68.52 per cent of the total votes against 67.37 per cent by the Conservative candidate in 1951.

Two Men Refute Alleged Cruelty To Dogs

OTTAWA (CP)—K. G. Switzer, manager of the Ottawa Humane Society, proposed in a report to the society that two Quebec City mushers be barred from future international dog derbies held here.

Mr. Switzer charged that Narcisse Dompierre abandoned a dog on the trail during the running of the two-day, 66-mile derby here Feb. 9-10 and that Wilf Lepine, two-time winner of the race, was "believed" to have used ether on his cross-bred hounds.

He said in his report that Lepine was the subject of a complaint by another contestant this year. The complaint to the judges was that Lepine "was using a substance believed to be ether on his dogs."

Lepine was charged by the society with maltreating his dogs following his victory in 1952 but the charge was dismissed in court after testimony by one of the judges, inspector H. A. Larson of the RCMP, who said he did not believe the charges were founded.

Mrs. Elizabeth Nansen, who was in charge of this year's derby won by Emile Martel of Loretteville, Que., said "action will be taken in the future regarding these two men" if the complaints are factual.

NO PROOF

Commenting on the complaint regarding ether for Lepine's dogs, Mrs. Nansen said "There is no proof." Only a blood test at the time could have confirmed such use of a dope. She added that many liniments smell heavily of ether.

At Quebec, Lepine said the charge that he used ether on his dogs during the derby is false.

Lepine told The Canadian Press: "I transported my dogs by trailer to Ottawa and it was the gasoline (fumes) that made them sick. I didn't use ether."

Dompierre could not be reached for comment.

Eisenhower Faces Questions About Statement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversy over Senator McCarthy's activities led back to the White House today with President Eisenhower facing questioning about a statement by Senator Ralph Flanders (Rep. Vt.) that the Wisconsin Republican is "doing his best to shatter" the party.

Eisenhower's press conference today also gave him an opportunity to reply to Adlai Stevenson's charge that the United States administration has embraced "McCarthyism" and deliberately embarked on a campaign of "slander, dissension and deception" in an effort to win this year's congressional elections.

Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, said at Miami Saturday night that Eisenhower must take personal responsibility for Republican tactics.

NIXON OFFICIAL SPEAKER

Vice-President Richard Nixon has been picked by Republican leaders to make the party's official reply to Stevenson. He is to speak Saturday night over the television and radio networks that carried Stevenson's speech.

Nixon was reported selected by Eisenhower after McCarthy announced he was going to demand that NBC and CBS give him free time to reply to what he called Stevenson's "vicious attack on me personally."

McCarthy called the choice of Nixon excellent. But he also told reporters he will employ counsel to test whether the networks can deny him free time to reply.

McCarthy said that as he sees it equal free time should be given to the Republican party, to Eisenhower and to himself. He said he will speak for himself, and over the same networks as Stevenson and at their expense, if possible. If the federal communications commission had a rule which didn't guarantee that right "that rule has got to be changed."

MURROW RAPS McCARTHY

McCarthy was offered free time, if he desires it, to reply to a CBS television program on which commentator Edward R. Murrow said Tuesday night that the senator repeatedly has stepped over the line between "investigating and persecuting."

A CBS spokesman said the network's switchboard was jammed for hours after the program. Some 2,500 calls were received, the spokesman said, of which about 96 per cent were congratulatory. He added that some 660 telegrams were received, of which all but six expressed approval of the program.

'Painless Deaths' Mount

VIENNA (Reuters) — Two suicides reported in Austria today brought to 36 the number of people who have killed themselves in 16 days with the German-made "painless death" insecticide "E-605." In West Germany, where 33 deaths have been reported, many chemists have voluntarily banned the sale of E-605. A death-dealing dose costs about seven cents. The government is expected soon to forbid its sale without a prescription.

Bewdley WA Guests Of Plainville Group

PLAINVILLE (ENS) — World Day of Prayer was observed by the ladies of Plainville at the United church when they had as their guests the ladies of St. Anne's WA, Bewdley.

Mrs. W. Herriott and Mrs. Frank Westington, president of the Plainville WCTU and WMS, and Mrs. Halcot Benson of Bewdley led the prayer service.

Mrs. Maclean Herriatt presided at the organ. Prayers were offered by several members. Mrs. Murray Manley and Mrs. Malcolm Buttars sang a duet. The address was given by Mrs. Harry Goss of Bewdley.

The hostess ladies served lunch in the Sunday school room.

LIFE NOT WORTH LIVING?

Then wake up the liver!

You know that sour, sunk, constipated feeling? It may be caused by the liver. If your liver doesn't pour out up to two pints of bile a day your food may not digest properly, gas bloats up your stomach and you feel that life's just not worth living. That's when the liver needs mild gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills. These famous vegetable pills help stimulate the flow of liver bile. Soon your digestion starts functioning properly and you feel that happy days are here again! Don't ever stay sunk. Always keep Carter's Little Liver Pills on hand. Only 37c.

Plan Approaches To Town Well

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—Wm. A. Hogle of Hogle Nurseries was guest speaker at the supper meeting of the Kinsmen Club on Monday at the Trent House.

Mr. Hogle, who was introduced by Forrest Dennis, spoke of "Plant Canada", a slogan arising from the term "Plant America". In many centres, various organizations sponsor "Plant America" and combine efforts to beautify their communities. This program promotes and generates civic pride.

Mr. Hogle said the approaches to a town are important, and went on to show that Campbellford is one of the finest natural beauty spots and could be made the envy of the entire area. The speaker was thanked by Irv. Blair for his fine address.

Bill Hampel reported that the ladies' night is to be held in the legion hall on Wednesday, April 28, with a banquet and dance.

Forrest Dennis reported on the Ottawa bus trip for pupils of grade 5 and a letter was read from Dr. Fred Robertson, MP, offering assist to the club on this project.

It was decided to supply a plaque for field competition in co-operation with the local school board and other service clubs of the town.

The Penal Reform Proposals

The provincial Legislature now has before it the recommendations of the Select Committee on Reform Institutions, most of which seems to be good, and all of which are interesting. The Committee deserves congratulations on a difficult job thoroughly performed. There are, however, recommendations which seem to us to need very careful consideration, and the first of these is that which concerns a Chair of Penology at an Ontario university. We question the value of such a chair, because penology is a study which must, above all things, avoid a division between theory and practice. Theorizing about criminal reform can go just as far astray as theorizing about education, and in Ontario we have unfortunate examples of what happens in the latter instance. The reform of criminals is not a matter which can profitably be divorced from other needs and aspirations of society, nor do we think that a university department should be encouraged to elaborate penology, and cloak it in the jargon of a pseudo-science. Professional prison workers, assisted by psychologists, social workers and people experienced in kindred fields, should be able to guide prison management in Ontario, without burdening a university with yet another quasi-scientific department.

* * *

Our opinion on the above matter is strengthened when we see that it is recommended that sheriffs be deprived of all their powers over prisons, and that all jail workers be made civil servants. We think it undesirable that prisons should come too completely under the guidance of people with whom the public has slight contact and over whom it exercises a very indirect influence. Let us not establish a priesthood of prison workers and prison reformers. Certainly jail workers should be better paid and better people should be recruited into the service, but we question whether the exclusion of sheriffs from all influence in the jails will prove in the end to be a wise move.

* * *

We favour particularly the suggestions that careful attention be given to mental patients of the type who are, at present, often found in jails because there seems to be no other place to keep them. Yesterday, in these columns, we offered some comment on the situation at the local Civic Hospital, which is half-way to the establishment of a good mental clinic, but which is hindered by the slowness of the Provincial Ministry of Health in providing promised assistance. Certainly a jail is not a proper place for the mentally defective or the feebleminded, and it is utterly wrong that drug addicts, sex offenders, and mildly lunatic persons should be in the same jail as juvenile offenders and thieves and brawlers who are completely sane. A jail where there is no segregation of these offenders from the lesser offenders is a crime school.

* * *

We also favour more intelligent treatment of alcoholics, with stress on reform, even if this means much longer sentences than those now possible. The reform of sex offenders presents many difficult problems, and we doubt if complete reform of all of these people will ever be a reality. But a measure of reform far beyond anything we can achieve now is certainly a possibility, and it should be diligently sought. It is important that this branch of reform work be in the hands of people with the best and most complete psychiatric training, and as psychiatrists are still very rare in Canada we must take care that partly trained people are not permitted to tinker in this difficult field. No psychiatry is better than quack psychiatry or half-baked psychiatry.

* * *

We are glad to see that recommendations have been made concerning the treatment of confirmed derelicts. These unhappy people are a problem in any society, and a problem which Ontario has not yet faced intelligently. Broken in body and spirit, they are unsuitable inmates of homes for the aged, and they are not properly subjects for our crowded asylums for the insane. They are not primarily criminals, but are driven to acts of petty insubordination by want of money and want of intellect; often the jail is the best and most secure home they know. Their state is pitiable, and it is a disgrace to all of us that nothing is provided for them now. An institution in which they can be housed according to their needs, and in which they can do work suitable to their capabilities, is surely not impossible to devise. They cannot be reformed, but they can be taken from the fringe of the criminal class, which is where they now find themselves.

* * *

Not all Ontario jails are bad, by any means. But most Ontario jails are old-fashioned, and the blame for this state of affairs lies with our social thinking, which is behind the times. Without unrealistic notions about the reform of the unreformable, but with an intelligent recognition of what society owes its criminals—and what the criminals owe to us—we should be able to accomplish much in Ontario during the next twenty-five years, and the reform proposals now before the Legislature point the way to that desirable end.

School Business

This is Education Week. Now and at various other times until the end of the month parents and ratepayers are asked to give some special thought to schooling and schools in the city and district. The request is probably unnecessary. The education of our children—the aims, the methods and the results of public schooling throughout the land, from primary to university training—has in the last four years been under particularly anxious surveillance. The high cost of schools. Teachers' salaries. The shortage of teachers. The lowering of professional standards. The indictments against the product, the charges that our schools are fostering illiteracy. All these have aroused a special and continuing concern in what our schools are doing and how well they are educating.

Two important documents are available to readers agitated by the process and results of public education in Canada. One is Dr. Hilda Neatby's book So Little For The Mind. We have discussed this indictment already in these columns. The other is a report entitled Better Schooling For Canadians, published in 1951. This report is the result of an investigation which took four years and which was financed by the Canadian Educational Association and industrial, business and labour groups.

We cannot here recapitulate all the chief findings and recommendations. We mention such a sentence as this to indicate their tenor: "The various reports of our committee indicate that there are grave deficiencies in the basic education provided by the secondary school." The recommendation: "What is needed is not necessarily more time devoted to these subjects, nor more advanced work in them, but a stronger emphasis on thoroughness". This might have come out of Dr. Neatby's book, she who charges that there is "illiteracy in elementary and secondary schools." Incidentally, the controversy stirred up about Dr. Neatby's book should not hide the cardinal fact—however sound or unsound her arguments—that she deals with a situation, she did not create it.

Even if a person is not interested in the problems or philosophy of public education, he must be interested in schooling because of the cost to him. Millions of dollars of Federal tax money; millions of dollars of Provincial tax money. Both have come from one source of money, the people of Canada. Here in Peterborough the estimated cost of operating the public and separate schools this current year is one and a half million dollars—$1,252,090 for schools under the jurisdiction of the Board of Education, $226,227 for the separate schools. Of this money, about $835,000 must be got from the public school ratepayers, and $130,000 from the separate school ratepayers. When money of this kind and amount is coming directly out of the pockets of the people of Peterborough it is well for them to try to get value for their money. That is a basic reason why people should give thought to our schools, this week, every week.

Festival Time Again

The Kiwanis Music Festival is again in full sound. This is the eighth year of this successful Peterborough festival which draws many hundreds of entrants from far beyond the city's borders. People of Peterborough as well as the contestants owe the Peterborough Kiwanis Club praise and thanks for this effort for music in the community.

The Festival gives audiences an opportunity to hear what young and old are doing musically, and to have their judgement assisted by the trained ears of the adjudicators, for the adjudications are public. For contestants the Festival offers a goal to which they can work and the occasion to set their performance against that of their fellows; it is a test of individual achievement measured in terms of what the others can do. Better, the Festival offers the entrants an opportunity to have their work expertly criticized by general standards—absolute ones, if there is any such thing as perfection in musical interpretation.

The two English adjudicators this year are Mr. Ronald Biggs (it is his second visit to Peterborough in this capacity) and Mr. Frank Odell. We welcome both to our midst. Mrs. Meiklejohn of Ottawa has judged the verse-speaking. Most of the sessions are taking place in St. Peter's Auditorium; on the last evenings they will be held at the Queen Mary auditorium. The public is invited.

SOVIET SURVEY

Blat

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

THERE is a Russian word which never appears in print. It is not a swear word — children may use it freely. But the foreigner can visit the Soviet Union over and over again without hearing it, or suspect that it exists. It is used only among friends; but it is the operative word for a whole system of life — the actual system of life behind the pretentious facade of the socialist paradise. It would be perfectly at home in the West; and, more than any other word, it defies the Iron Curtain.

The word is blat. In pre-revolutionary days blat meant the jargon of the underground. Today it refers to personal influence, or pull, which enables the citizens of a society starved of all amenities to obtain as a favour what they cannot buy as a right. It is weaker than graft, which implies straightforward bribery, (although blat may also include bribery); and yet it is stronger than "pull," because it is applied to almost every aspect of life in a society of chronic shortages and too-rigid planning. It is the oil which allows the wheels to go round. Without Blat the machinery of Soviet society would seize-up.

✣ ✣ ✣

IT IS under heavy fire at present—without being mentioned by name, without any official admission that the great aim of every self-respecting Russian who aspires to be anybody at all is to accumulate good blat for himself and his family.

It covers everything, from the smallest transactions of everyday life to immense and complicated arrangements between the directors of combines and trusts. Blat in the proper quarter will get you a corkscrew when there are no corkscrews in the shops; it will get you a room of your own in Moscow; a ticket for a trades union holiday home. If you are a doctor or a schoolteacher it will keep you in a great city when there is a danger of your being sent off to a bleak new settlement in the Far North. It will get you tickets for the opera. It will ensure that the plumbing works in your new apartment house.

✣ ✣ ✣

ON a higher level, if you are the son or daughter of disgraced and exiled parents, it will provide you with a new set of false papers, so that you can go to the university and start a respectable career. It is a fairy godmother in abstract. But it has to be cultivated with unsleeping zeal.

On a more wholesale level it has called into being a new type of man not at all like the official type of Soviet man: the "tolkach" or pusher. We might call him the Fixer. In an illegal way he does for the Russians what the middleman, or entrepreneur, does legally for people in the West. His is a risky profession, and his rewards are correspondingly high.

✣ ✣ ✣

HE IS much more than a glorified spiv. On the face of it he is a solid citizen in the employ of a highly respectable combine. But close examination shows that he is not in the employ of just one combine: he appears on the payrolls of many — perhaps as "our travelling representative" or "our correspondent in Odessa." His plural salaries are enormously augmented by lavish rake-offs in kind and cash. He is a cheery soul.

Thus, when Pravda newspaper complains that the director of such-and-such a shoe factory has managed to obtain an illegal supply of leather straight from the tanneries, and not though the planned channels, we know that the Fixer has been at work, taking a rake-off from both sides. The Fixer is versatile. He can not only obtain, and pass for a small consideration, articles required by harassed factory directors who are not keeping up their deliveries because of lack of supplies or spare parts; he can also conceal illegal reserves and arrange things so that the planned production of the factory is fixed at a level lower than the factory's real capacity — to give the management a margin to play with. He is the contact man par excellence. He knows everyone and goes everywhere. His whole existence is a monument to blat.

✣ ✣ ✣

ON a lower level we find the real spivs — "Speculators" they are called in Russia. It is good blat to know a speculator. And the newspapers have no objection to talking speculation, for it so widespread that nearly everyone has a hand in it. Trud, the trades union newspaper, has just been attacking the speculators in style:-

"The appearance of speculators and speculation in our time is caused by the shortage of certain goods. Exploiting this temporary difficulty (Trud does not say that the temporary difficulty has now lasted for thirty-seven years) every kind of parasite and lover of easy gain buys up those goods which are in short supply in order to resell them, thus disorganising our Soviet trade and causing the people great inconvenience. Like leeches they cling to the body of society, in order to live at its expense. Thus do the repulsive survivals of capitalism manifest themselves — survivals which it is our duty daily and ruthlessly to root out."

✣ ✣ ✣

THE ARTICLE then goes on to describe the speculator case of Comrade Profokeyva, a store-keeper at the great Army Shop in Moscow. How is it possible, the paper asks wistfully, that this unmarried storekeeper, with an aged mother to support, could one day appear at her work in a sealskin coat, the next day in a beaver coat and the next in an astrakhan coat, without her colleagues noticing something odd? In fact, the lady in question was not found out until, having the transaction ingeniously drawn up in the name of her brother-in-law, a university officials, she had bought herself a suburban villa for "several tens of thousands of roubles."

✣ ✣ ✣

THE brother-in-law never asked once where his wonderful new villa had come from, Trud says peevishly; and wonders why. The store manager took no initiative in prosecuting his enterprising employee; Trud asks why again. The answer is obvious: where the pickings are so rich, and where blat and speculation are taken so generally for granted, public spirit will not thrive.

"In the great mirrored windows of the Tashkent fashion house are displayed men's and women's suits," wrote Pravda last month. "The suits are fashionable and elegant and beautiful."

✣ ✣ ✣

THESE are the very same windows shown proudly to foreign tourists and duly admired by them on their visits to Soviet Central Asia. But the foreign tourists are not told what Pravda now reveals:

"Unfortunately at the moment the suits are worn only by the dummies in the shop windows. Let us suppose that you have been so bold as to decide to order for yourself one of the beautiful creations — you will be told, 'Alas, we have no suitable material.' If the material should by chance be available they will then tell you that they have no lining material, or trimmings. If you overcome this difficulty you will be asked to bring your own buttons. Along with the buttons it would be well to bring your own tailor. Otherwise you will have to wait a very long time for your order."

Pravda is talking about the Russian without blat. With blat, if you also have the money, you can get the material; you can get the trimmings and buttons; you can have your own private tailor or dressmaker to run up a suit for you. You can look just like the dummies in the shop windows of Tashkent. But without it you must dress like the crowd.

Letters To The Editor

BALANCED ECONOMIC DIET

SIR: I have just read your editorial "Who Pays the Most Taxes?" and I am reminded that too much governmental fat and carbohydrate profits in our economic diet causes too much fat to be deposited in the wrong places, and too much strain on the heart of the social system, so that our government and financial organs fail to function properly and in the near future Mr. Public will probably be given digitalis hand-outs, cautioned to go slow and watch his step, while remedy for his economic intemperance is being concocted; in the meantime he is likely to try alkalizing with some socialistic or communistic doctrine.

From the statistical figures given in your editorial it seems that an economic diet of upwards of nine or ten thousand protein-dollars would be necessary to maintain social health and repair physical and mental defects that may show. I mean that much per family per year.

Respectfully,
W. H. ROSEBUSH.

BIBLE AND BLOOD TRANSFUSIONS

SIR: At this time, when the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund program is being launched, it is with sincere regret that we read Mr. Brewer's letter on blood banks and donations, printed Wednesday, March 3, 1954, in your paper.

His letter, he states, outlines the position the religious sect known as Jehovah's Witnesses, takes on the matter of blood transfusions. He has the audacity to call himself a Christian, and endeavour to thwart a deserving enterprise such as the Red Cross campaign?

The galling part is, that through the misconceived ideas propagated in his letter, he may cause some one to give some thought to his ridiculous ideas regarding transfusions, and thereby be unsure as to whether support is deserving of the Red Cross Blood Bank.

What a shock I received when I, poor Christian that I am, checked in my King James version of the Bible on the quotations suggested in his letter. May I first point out, I am not a member of the Red Cross, nor am I of the cloth, being a very lowly Christian, but I take it upon myself, for that last reason particularly, to right a wrong.

Let us examine chapter 17 of the book of Leviticus. Mr. Brewer suggests verses 11 and 12 and he quotes: "The life of the flesh is blood; . . . No soul of you shall eat blood, neither shall any stranger that sojourneth among you eat blood." No one can obtain the meaning here by these words alone. So examine the whole chapter and you read that Moses is reciting to the children of Israel the commands of God as given to him. Generally, he says they shall not eat any flesh they have killed, unless it is taken to the temple and the priest takes some of the blood for an offering. Then verses 11 and 12 follow as above, which anyone with an ounce of common sense would see means literally and exactly what it says. Read the whole chapter and see!

Chapter 9 of Genesis refers to the same thing except it more specifically states you shall not eat or drink the blood of an animal — period. This is God's warning to Noah. Deuteronomy, chapter 12, is the next reference, particularly verse 16. Again, simply a repetition of Moses' promulgation of the code of Special laws. Verse 24 says the same thing. Leviticus 17:13, 14, repeats practically verses 11 and 12.

Read also the whole story of David at I Chronicles 11, particularly verses 15-19. It is difficult for a poor reader such as I, to gain the full intent here, but again it would simply appear David meant he would not drink the equivalent of human blood.

Acts 15 deals with the conditions of Gentile membership but repeats the first commands of God, that no one shall eat the blood of an animal. Reasonable, isn't it? Acts 21:25 and Acts 15:20 are repeats again.

Be careful with the Proverbs of Solomon, Mr. Brewer, they can backfire. In chapter 14, after verse 12, verse 25 says: "A true witness delivereth souls; but a deceitful witness speaketh lies." Get thy abominable double talk out of the public print — ye shall bring disaster to no one but yourselves!

DAVID.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

And in the synagogue there was a man, which had a spirit of an unclean devil, and cried out with a loud voice, saying, Let us alone: what have we to do with thee, thou Jesus of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy us? I know thee who thou art; the Holy One of God.

And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him. And when the devil had thrown him in the midst, he came out of him and hurt him not.

And they were all amazed, and spake among themselves, saying, What a word is this! for with authority and power he commandeth the unclean spirits, and they come out... Now when the sun was setting, all they that had any sick with divers diseases brought them unto him; and he laid his hands on every one of them, and healed them. (Luke 4:33-36, 40.)

✣ ✣ ✣

When Jesus came into the coast of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples saying, Whom do men say that I the Son of man am?

And they said, Some say thou art John the Baptist: some Elias, and others, Jeremias, or one of the prophets..

He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am?

And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou are the Christ, the Son of the living God.

And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Barjona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my feather which is in heaven. And I say unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. (Matt. 16:13-18.)

✣ ✣ ✣

The Spirit of the Lord God is upon me because the Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek: he hath sent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound . . . To appoint unto them that mourn in Zion, to give unto them beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness; that they might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified. (Isa. 61:1,3.)

Morality Standards In Films Lowered

TORONTO (CP)—Peter Manley, Liberal member of the Ontario legislature for Stormont, charged Tuesday that morality standards of film censorship in the province have been lowered.

Speaking during the throne speech debate, Mr. Manley said he recently attended a film in a "better-class theatre" in Toronto which displayed a sign saying no one under 18 could be admitted.

"The sign should have read 'No one under 80,' " Mr. Manley said. He did not name the film but called it "obscene."

"I think if there is any change in film censorsrip the house should be informed," Mr. Manley added.

Engineers Ask Gov't Grants

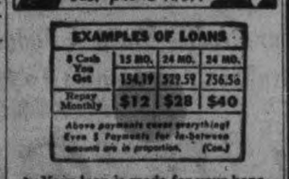
MONTREAL (CP)—The Engineering Institute of Canada today asked for annual government grants to universities to ensure a continuing supply of qualified engineers to keep pace with Quebec's industrial growth.

"The phenomenal industrial development of this province during the last decade or so has required the services of more and more engineers," the institute said in a brief to the royal commission on constitutional problems.

"If the province is to continue to progress in this direction, it must be assured of continuing supply of adequately trained engineers. To maintain this supply of engineers it should be possible for any young person of promise and with the requisite academic qualifications to proceed to one of the province's engineering schools, even though having limited financial resources."

HIGHER SALARIES

The institute also called for higher salaries for engineering teachers. Unless the salaries are comparable to those paid in industry, capable teachers will drift away.



Universities can no longer hope to build up endowment funds from private gifts, largely because of heavy taxation, the brief said. Although industry is giving more financial assistance the major part of the extra funds must come from government.

"The needs of the universities are likely to increase steadily and their own ability to raise funds is not likely to improve," the institute said. "Therefore it is desirable that grants should be made on a regular annual basis in accordance with the needs."

TRAIN SEVERS BODY

A couple of Cobourg chaps, Ed Patton and Bill Hessin, asked us to mention a hockey game down that way this Saturday between old-time pucksters of Port Hope and Cobourg. We're glad to do so, since it's a benefit for their midget team which was involved in a bad accident two months ago. The boys were en route to a game in Bowmanville and the car which hit them carried no insurance, five of the boys being injured pretty badly. The driver of their car hasn't returned to work yet. The benefit game is to help defray medical expenses resulting from the injuries sustained. We hope they pack the arena.

Local midget Shamrocks are presently in OMHA midget "A" playdowns, playing Barrie in the second round. Pat Doherty's good team, sponsored by the Police A.A., won 11-3 in Barrie the other eve to tote an eight-point lead into the return match at 8:30 this Thursday night here. The squad is much the same as the local bantam "A" Shamrocks which rolled through to capture the Ontario title last spring, and mayhap the lads will repeat the feat this year in the higher bracket. They likely will step into the quarter-final round next if Barrie doesn't pull a real upset to win their series here—something no one anticipates. Anyway, fans are urged to come out and encourage the local youngsters on their try for a title.

Re The Motor League

Oshawa is in Kingston tonight and Orillia at Peterborough to resume OHA senior "B" semi-final playoffs, both being best-of-seven sets. Truckmen lead Goodyears two games to one, next one being Friday on Quinte ice. Petes and Pontiacs are even at two wins each, and their sixth scrap will be up Orillia way on Saturday. The TPT-ers will shoot the works in an effort to take this home tilt tonight for a lead, ere going away on the weekend. Both semi-finals must finish by Monday night at the latest, with the best-of-seven group finals beginning two days later. If Petes make loop finals their season will be at least a five-month one. A pretty hefty puck haul, eh?

* * * * * *

Pontiacs' strategy so far has been to use that extra weight to wear down the lighter Petes, and the northerners are not only rugged but good checkers. Petes foiled 'em last start by dishing up their most hustle in the first frame to take a fair lead, and then hang on grimly with a fine two-way display, pushing in when the chance came and defending strongly when Orillia was on the attack. In Goalie Jack Donlevy and blue-line guardians Redmond, Montgomery, Munro, McMaster and Armstrong, the locals have a strong defence. But they also need a lots of fast backchecking by the forwards, and they got that on Monday night. They must also shun that sin bin as Pontiacs really pour in when holding a man advantage on the ice. Shapes up as another sizzler before the season's record crowd.

Raft of Clubs in COSSA

St. Peter's High seniors ousted Whitby boy cagers handily here last gloaming and will jog into COSSA senior "B" playoffs this weekend in Toronto, along with the junior "B" SPS district winners. Ab Ryan, Dave Quinlan and Doug Galvin sparked the Saints' attack, while Lloyd Scott was big shot for the Whitby crew. Peterborough will be heavily represented in the COSSA basketball championship tournament in Toronto with four PCVS and two SPS teams in action, certainly a record in hoop play for this city and possibly a COSSA record, as well. Local action this weekend finds Black's and Nurses opening intermediate girls' city finals in the YWCA.

Charles Ray last night was chosen chairman of the executive, or steering, committee of the Memorial Community Centre, and he will be vice-chairman under D. A. McGillis of the general setup. Centre officials are moving right ahead with plans, pending passing of the bill at the Legislative sitting to permit erection of the auditorium in Morrow Park. Little difficulty is anticipated in this respect as T. J. Carley, of the Morrow Trust, has recommended the move, as has the Exhibition Board. It should be up shortly before the private bills committee. If it goes through the next step will be select the exact site, and then put the building committee to work on drafting plans and checking on the cost. Committee chairman will select their members by March 20.

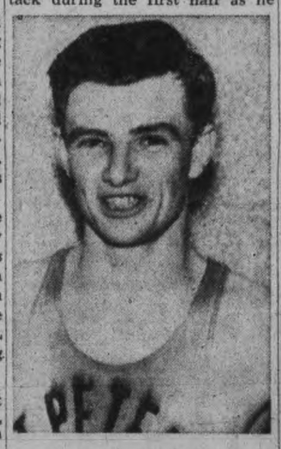
MAKE HISTORY—St. Peter's High School made sports history for the city Tuesday night when the senior Saints became the sixth Peterborough basketball team to qualify for the COSSA finals this weekend. Both the Saints' teams, seniors and juniors, will be in "B" schools' play. The seniors, paced by Ab Ryan (shooting left photo), Doug Galvin (lower right left), and Dave Quinlan (lower right) swept their series with Whitby High with a convincing 85-69 victory. Quinlan, among the top scorers is empty-handed in the action (top right) as he and Jim Feeley are alone with Whitby players. Whitby's Lloyd Scott (at right) was the game's top scorer with 33. (Examiner Staff Photos)



St. Peter's Seniors Rub Out Whitby Gain COSSA Play

St. Peter's basketballers beat Whitby High 85-69 at SPS gym last night to sweep their district senior "B" series by 34 points on the round as the Saints swept into COSSA tournament play this weekend in Toronto to join the junior "B" SPS boys' squad. The local squad, handled this winter by Hilly Yudin and Johnny Lynch, took a 19-14 lead in the first quarter but trailed 34-32 halfway through. They rallied again in the third quarter for a 32-17 margin and had a slight edge in the final frame.

Hard feelings cropped up late in the fray with some fighting, pushing and bodying seen, Ron Barchuck being ousted from the game when the Whitby player bumped Galvin right off the playing floor. The visitors were well beaten but took defeat hard.

CLASSY PLAYER

Lloyd Scott was decidedly hot for the Whitby squad on the attack during the first half as he racked up 12 points the initial inning and 14 next heat for 26 points at the halfway intermission. But he was held better after that to notch but 11 points throughout the second half. Jim Musselman clicked for a total of 15 points for the losers, Jim Jermyn getting nine, Barchuck and Russ Dodd four each, Roy Beckman three and Paul Richardson one.

St. Peter's were led by Ryan with 30 points in a starry showing offensively, followed closely by Quinlan with 26 points and Galvin with 21, this classy trio flashing fine cage work throughout the lively game. Fitzpatrick was good for half a dozen points, and Braniff got two.

Whitby: Scott, Dodd, Barchuck, Musselman, Jermyn, Richardson, Beckman, Sobazak.

St. Peter's: Galvin, Ryan, Quinland, Hull, O'Rourke, Fitzpatrick. Referee, Fraser Wade.

M. Timm Hits 319

Marion Timm hit a top single of 318 and Ruby Pearse best two of 502 (285 and 217) in the Girls City Bowling League. Mary Morton's 343 for two was closest to the blind score of 342. Collis blanked the Sevenaires, Suncos won 3-0 from Curtin's, and Black's whitewashed Austin's, as 2-1 triumphs were taken by Marines over Aces, and Cardinals against Bassel's.

Good singles: B. Castle 267, M. Behan 265, N. Ephgrace 316, M. Thompson 287, V. Scriver 281, J. Snape 264, K. Beatty 256, H. Wilson 239 and 244, M. Hawthorne 243, S. Scully 244, R. Mahoney 236, B. Pogue 234, A. Abraham 238, D. Mason 238, L. Millar 230, T. Grierson 225, R. Morris 229, J. Castle 223; good doubles: M. Thompson 491, V. Scriver 483, H. Wilson 483, M. Timm 484, N. Ephgrave 453, M. Hawthorne 451, B. Pogue 423, S. Scully 429, J. Snape 413, R. Mahoney 414, K. Beatty 411, D. Hendren 410, B. Castle 410, D. Beatty 407, A. Abraham 404, A. Anderson 400.

Bears Beat Hornets Easy Victory 8-1

HERSHEY, Pa (CP)—Hershey Bears took over second place in the American Hockey League from Pittsburgh Tuesday night by trouncing the Hornets 8-1.

The Hershey victory clinched first place for the idle Buffalo Bisons.

Arnie Kullman paced the winners with three goals. AHL scoring leader George Sullivan got two. Norm Corcoran, Murray Costello and Don McKenney completed the Hershey total. Bobby Hassard was the lone Pittsburgh marksman.

Maple Leafs Receive No Reply From Proposal Made To Russia

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto Maple Leafs told the Russian ambassador in Ottawa Tuesday that their proposed tour of the Soviet Union would "promote international ice hockey and goodwill."

No answer has been received from the Soviet embassy but lack of artificial ice surfaces in Russia would probably force postponement of the proposed tour until next winter.

Manager Frank Boucher of New York Rangers said Tuesday night that "if Canada wants to take responsibility for starting a third world war, I can see no surer way than by sending (Leaf managing director Conn) Smythe to Moscow with a hockey team."

Boucher, a longtime National Hockey League adversary of Smythe and the Leafs as a player, coach and manager, wasn't entirely serious about the dangers of world conflict.

But the reaction of European crowds and sports writers to Canadian-style hockey, even the relatively tame senior B brand served up by Toronto East York at the world hockey championships in Stockholm, gave rise to the suspicion that a taste of the thumping NHL variety might be a somewhat dubious gesture of international friendship.

KNOCK OTHER GUY DOWN

A former NHL player of smallish stature once said "you've gotta be able to knock the other guy down to stay in this league." And every coach's first word to his rookies is the warning, "If you keep your head down going in on the other team's defence, you'll get killed."

These maxims may be commonplace to fans in NHL cities, but their application on a relatively mild scale by East York players brought cries of "gangsterism" and "terror tactics" from Swedish reporters accustomed to European-style hockey, where "violent body-checking" is grounds for a penalty.

Boarding, a technical offence seldom punished under Canadian rules, also proved a thorn in East York's flesh as players found themselves thumbed off consistently for shoving an opponent into the dasher. The thump of bodies crashing into the boards can be heard frequently from coast to coast on any Saturday night NHL broadcast.

Playing under their own comparatively benevolent rules, the Leafs have committed 924 minutes' worth of infractions in their 64 games this season, a crime sheet second only to that of Montreal Canadiens.

GOOOWILL DUBIOUS

Whether the Russians would take readily to such goodwill ambassadors as centre Tod Sloan (92 minutes) and defenceman Tim Horton (90 minutes) is a question to give pause to the most sportsminded Ottawa diplomat.

Returning members of the East York club have recommended a thorough schooling in European rules for the next Canadian club that goes to seek its fortune in European play.

Since Moscow dispatches report Smythe's proposed May tour of the Soviet Union seems doomed by lack of artificial ice, the Leaf general manager might be able to give his players a little rule-book drill before reviving his plan next year.

Three Local Rinks In 'Spiel Here Qualify For Finals

The second day's play in the open mixed bonspiel finished up in the same order as did Monday's play—that is, two local rinks qualified for the Empress Hotel trophy—two visiting rinks in each of the Calvert trophy and the T. Eaton Co. trophy and a local rink in the Gordon K. Fraser trophy. So once again the visitors held the edge in the competition. As usual a large number of spectators followed the day's games.

Rinks that qualified for Friday:

EMPRESS HOTEL TROPHY

Dr M. McCartney, Peterborough.

Dr. R. Morgan, Peterborough.

CALVERT TROPHY

C. Nelson, Keene.

J. James, Lindsay.

EATON TROPHY

B. Everson, Lindsay.

Dr. J. Divine, Beaverton.

GORDON K. FRASER TROPHY

E. Bickel, Peterborough.

CALL OFF GAMES

The men's schedule games for this coming Friday night have been postponed on acount of the mixed bonspiel.

The Colts' rink is playing the "rubber" game in Oshawa this evening.

All rinks remaining in the Sturgeon Trophy, main and consolation events, are reminded that the games are called for 6:45 o'clock Saturday evening.

PLAY IN LINDSAY

Warsaw Gets A 6-4 Win Over Lakefield

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — Warsaw Flyers defeated Lakefield 6-4 here last night to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-five EPHL finals, the next game being tonight in Warsaw. The best crowd of the season saw the Tuesday game on good ice. The visitors were led by Gary Darling, and Stan and Len Lonsberry. Best for Lakefield were Heffernan, Coons and Wasson in the net. Warsaw drew two of the three penalties in clean play.

Jopling of Lakefield drew the lone penalty of the first frame in fast stepping by both sides. Williams cashed in to score for the visitors. Knox scored on a pass from Jopling later, but Clements got that back from S. Lonsberry and Mathews. Darling and Griffin teamed up for a nifty near the close to make it 3-1.

FLEW IN SECOND

Flyers flew in the second with L. Lonsberry tallying from G. Darling and Wasson had to be good to keep down the count as play became faster and more rugged. S. Lonsberry scored one more late from Clements.

In the third stanza, Lakefield fought hard but it was too late. Jopling counted early and Knox and Peterson combined for one a bit later. However, Warsaw checked closely to keep them well out. G. Darling and D. Sloan were gated and Griffin and Payne broke lose to beat Wasson. With seconds left, D. Sloan scored. Teams:

Warsaw — Goal, Wingett; defence, Watts, Payne; centre, L. Lonsberry; wings, G. Darling, Smith; alternates, Mathews, S. Lonsberry, Clements, Evans, Griffin, Williams, H. Darling, Crowe.

Lakefield — Goal, R. Wasson; defence, Coons, Jopling; centre, Paterson; wings, Hopkins, Knox; alternates, P. Calberry, R. Calberry, Pammett, D. Sloan, J. Sloan, Heffernan, McCracken.

Referee — H. Payne. Linesman, B. Kingdon.

Rangers' Chances In NHL Series Not Promising

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Lynn Patrick has just as many hockey veterans as Muzz Patrick. Ever since Muzz, coach of New York Rangers, brought old-timers Doug and Max Bentley and Edgar Laprade, National Hockey League fans expected a great stretch run by the Rangers to edge Lynn and his Boston Bruins for the fourth playoff berth in the Stanley Cup championships. They got it. The Ranger winning streak is history now but it didn't get them past the Bruins.

The Bentleys and Laprade have been terrific. They helped win many games for the Rangers. Lynn's old-timers have done all right, too. Such men as defenceman Bill Quackenbush, a 12-year man in the big leagues, Milt Schmidt, who has never had a bad season in 15 years in the NHL, and Porky Dumart have given the Bruins staying power all year.

It's a question now of whose veterans will falter.

The Rangers are up against the odds. They meet the last-place Chicago Blacks at New York's Madison's Square Garden in the only league game tonight.

The Hawks can't go anywhere in the championship race but they can help ruin Ranger hopes of catching the Bruins. The Rangers are in fifth place with 60 points, three behind Boston, and have six games left in the 70-game schedule.

The Bruins have a game advantage plus the three-point edge. If the Rangers drop one tonight they will have to count on the Bruins dropping a few games.

A big game comes Thursday night when the Rangers and Bruins meet at Boston. In two other tilts Thursday, the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs take on the third-place Canadiens at Montreal and the Black Hawks meet the league-leading Red Wings at Detroit.

Gambles $15,000 On 1955 Hockey

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver sportsman Coley Hall has offered to gamble $15,000 that he can send a Canadian team that would win the 1955 world hockey championship.

Hall, owner of the professional Vancouver Canucks in the Western Hockey League, said in an interview he is willing to pick an amateur team for the next world tournament. If the club lost, as Toronto East York did to Russia in Stockholm, Hall would finance the trip. If the club won, the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association would foot the bill. He estimated the cost at about $15,000.

"My idea is to send an amateur team, probably all players from British Columbia, and wipe out the stigma which is strictly the fault of the CAHA."

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Produce Excuses For Defeat In World Hockey

TORONTO (CP) — Canada lost the world amateur hockey championship because of some weird refereeing, unfamiliar European rules and sloppy ice conditions. And the champion Russians were about the fourth best team in the Stockholm tournament.

"We aren't crying, but that's the way it is," four Canadian team members said on arrival home Tuesday night. The consensus of the four was that the Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Canada had better teams than the Russians but that politics entered the picture—the Czechs and Swedes held back in games against the Soviet team.

The four—Eric Unger, Don Lockhart, Bill Shill and Doug Chapman—received a hero's welcome as their plane from Montreal landed at Malton airport. A crowd of about 75 was on hand, newspaper men and photographers flocked around them and they were interviewed on television.

They said the Russians had prepared four years for the Stockholm championship.

"We were told that when the team was picked, they practised eight hours a day for months," Lockhart said.

The Russians are not natural hockey players, but they are fast and their short-passing game was "pretty good," Unger said. "They don't forecheck and when they are the defending team five of them line up at their own blue line waiting for the opposition to come in."

The four had only one word—"politics"—for the Russians' 1-1 tie with Sweden and 5-2 victory over Czechoslovakia. (Canada defeated the Czechs 5-2 and Sweden 8-0).

All agreed, too, that the referees were biased.

Asked to explain Canada's 7-2 loss to Russia in the final game, the players said only that the team played a "lousy game."

"We just couldn't get going that day but I think we could take them if we ever met again," Unger said.

Indians Draw First Blood

STRATFORD (CP) — Stratford Indians drew first blood in Senior A Ontario Hockey Association best-of-five semi-finals Tuesday night by defeating Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen 4-1.

George Scholes scored Kitchener's goal in the first period while Indians were two players down through penalties. Johnny Muretich evened the count on a lone effort before the period ended.

Mickey Roth tallied the only marker of the second frame, which saw 10 penalties.

Dutchmen were forced to open up in the third period which proved fatal when Lou Bendo banged home his own rebound at 7:31. Three minutes later Fred Pletsch scored for Indians.

The second and third games will be played in Kitchener Thursday and Saturday nights.

Benny Daughter Marriage Costs $25,000

By BOB THOMAS

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Joan Benny and Seth Baker embarked on a Hawaiian honeymoon today while her father, Jack Benny faced an estimated $25,000 bill for one of the most fabulous weddings in Hollywood history.

Benny, wearing white tie, tails and glasses, Tuesday night led his 19-year-old adopted daughter through the flower-festooned crystal room of the Beverly Hills Hotel. "I'd rather not look so good and wear glasses than fall on my face," the comedian explained.

Benny gave Joan in marriage to Baker, 26-year-old New York stock broker and son of industrialist Harry Baker, before a crowd of stars of stage, radio, television and movies. Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin performed the double-ring ceremony.

Billed as a tightwad on his radio and TV programs, Benny spared no expense in the wedding. White lilacs were flown from Holland to add to the white and green motif that converted the crystal room into a spring garden. Designer Don Loper, who staged the affair, flew to France to arrange for an exclusive weave of brocaded white satin for the bride's gown. Thirty-five yards with lily-of-the-valley figurings were used.

The principals faced news cameras before the ceremony and after. Then the bride's mother, Mary Livingston, who had arranged all the details, became impatient with the photographers and ordered the reception line to begin.

Benny played it straight throughout. He smiled weakly and made some attempts at humor, but he seemed obviously nervous with his role as the doting father. He even resisted the temptation to join the orchestra of 10 violinists who serenaded the reception with "Love in Bloom."

The wedding brought the biggest star turnout within memory. Two hundred attended. The reception swelled the guest list to 600.

Murder Suspect Takes Overdose Sleeping Pills

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A beautiful Alaskan blonde, charged with murder in the slaying of her wealthy husband, has removed herself from the jurisdiction of the courts by taking a lethal dose of sleeping pills.

Negro musician Johnny Warren, 33, who claims he was her lover, faces trial alone on the murder charge in Alaska next month.

Police said Mrs. Diane Wells, 31, swallowed 30 sedative tablets and died at the Hollywood Plaza hotel Tuesday. She came here Jan. 22 for health reasons after being released on $10,000 bail.

She had been arrested in Seattle after she left Alaska. She and jazz drummer Warren were accused of murdering her husband, Cecil Wells, 51, wealthy Fairbanks auto dealer and former president of the All-Alaska Chamber of Commerce. He was shot last Oct. 17 in Fairbanks.

Mrs. Wells contended that she was beaten senseless by two men who broke into the Wells' home and her husband was killed before she regained consciousness. She had bruises and blackened eyes.

She denied Warren's claim of a love affair.

But she left a death note:

"For one thing, I am guilty, too, for ever seeing Warren, and if Warren is guilty . . . one thing is for sure, Cecil is dead. And I must be the cause of it, one way or another."

CAHA SECRETARY — George Dudley of Midland, secretary-manager of the much-criticized Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said it was impossible to send abroad a team of higher ranking than the Senior B Toronto East Yorks, defeated 7-2 by a Russian team in the world hockey championships at Stockholm. He invited critical Canadian sports writers and others to "come up with some concrete suggestions" about choosing the country's representatives in future world tournaments. The issue will be threshed out at the CAHA annual meeting in Vancouver, May 10.—(CP Photo).

East York Lost Bad Game Says President

LONDON (CP) — Toronto East York got a bad game out of its system at a bad time when the Canadians lost 7-2 to Russia in the world hockey championships, president W. B. George of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association said Tuesday.

"They played the worst game I'd seen them play," said the agricultural professor from Kemptville. "They would have had trouble beating Finland" — the squad they trounced 20-1.

That fact and the Canadians' fear of winding up in the penalty box spelled defeat, said George in an interview. He is en route home from the world championships at Stockholm, which concluded Sunday with Canada second and Russia on top after its first crack at the world crown.

He will present his report on the games to the annual meeting of the CAHA in mid-May at Vancouver, but he refused to say what view he will offer on whether Canada should pull out of the world championships.

Amputees Learn To Ski With Crutches

By RALPH HOVIS

BIG BEAR LAKE, Calif. (AP)—The challenging art of skiing, tough enough for a normal person to learn, is being mastered by a group of determined one-legged men.

Like other groups in this area they're taking instruction, but there's a difference: The members use only one regulation ski, with another on a crutch.

They are students of the American amputee ski school, the only one of its type in the country.

Its director, Scobee Smith of Lancaster, Calif., lost a leg in a bout with cancer two years ago.

The school, just started this winter, has about a dozen pupils, including three army veterans who became single amputees in Korean combat.

"The whole idea of an amputee ski school," said Smith a senior at the University of California at Los Angeles, "belong to Bob Engelien, a former army captain and an amputee, who died just three months ago."

"Bob saw amputee skiing for the first time in Germany in 1951, and gave it a try. He became convinced there should be an amputee ski school over here. He got it going just before he died three months ago."

Strangely, one of the obstacles in establishing a ski school came from some skiers who said it would be "depressing" to the public to see amputees skiing. Actually, skiers here now marvel at the amputees' progress.

"We can ride up on the rope tows, make downhill runs, do our turns and traverses like pros," Smith said. "Last week, I even went through the slalom course and did some airplane turns."

Maglie Big Hope For N.Y. Giants

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Sal Maglie had just finished his first pitching assignment of the spring, and for a man counted on bringing New York Giants well back into the National League's first division, Sal' the Barber's performance was open to discussion.

The boxscore showed that the New Baltimore Orioles — winning their fourth straight exhibition—had collected seven hits and four runs in the three innings Maglie labored.

It was a calm and unperturbed Maglie, however, who reviewed the matter in the dressing room. The main thing, the veteran hurler said was that he "felt good"—felt good pitching, and felt good in the back.

The Maglie back was a major problem last year, and the reason the barber came up with an 8-9 record in contrast to his 18-8 the year before and 23-6 in 1951.

The 37 - year - old star from Niagara Falls, N.Y., who was brought up on the Ontario side of the river, explained that obviously he wasn't putting everything on his pitches. At this stage of the spring, he certainly was not striving for a no-hitter.

Collegiate Loses Championship

KINGSTON (CP)—An ineligible player last season cost Kingston Collegiate and Vocational Institute the Eastern Ontario Secondary Schools Association B group football championship, it was announced Tuesday.

The player in question did not obtain a 50 per cent average without a failure in June examinations last year and was ineligible for participation in sports the following school year under a rule of the EOSSA constitution.

In a letter to Fred Fleming, coach of the KCVI football team, league convener B. J. Terry said: "As convener of the B group EOSSA, it is my unpleasant duty to inform you that the KCVI football team of 1953 has been disqualified in all games in which an ineligible player appeared."

Kingston has been requested to return all crests and trophies won in the 1953 season to Arnprior, EOSSA finalists.

OPERATION SUCCESSFUL

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Surgeons worked 80 minutes Tuesday to wire Ted Williams' fractured left collarbone, an eight-day-old break.

The operation probably will shorten Williams' absence from Boston Red Sox line-up from months to weeks.

After the 35-year-old outfielder had been trundled out of the operating room, Dr. Russell Sullivan told reporters:

"Everything is fine.

". . . It (the operation) had to be done, otherwise it would have been months" before the break healed.

Dr. Sullivan, aided by two other surgeons, used a six-inch steel nail to join the broken pieces of bone and also stitched a triangular fragment into place. The clavicle then was braced by insertion of bone slivers.

Dr. Sullivan said Williams should be able to bat and throw "lightly" in six weeks—when the pin probably will be removed—and should be able to play ball in eight weeks.

The big slugger suffered the fracture March 1, 10 minutes after he trotted out to left field at Boston's Florida training camp.

JACKIE MOVES TO LF

MIAMI (AP)—Jackie Robinson, former all-star second baseman, probably will open the baseball season in left field for Brooklyn Dodgers.

That was indicated by manager Walter Alston in announcing he will use his regular line-up for the first time against Philadelphia Phillies tonight.

Also announcing that PeeWee Reese would play short for the first time, Alston listed Robinson for left field and Billy Cox as his third baseman.

B.E.G. TRACK OKAYED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Composition of the British Empire Games stadium track has been approved.

The test was made by miler Bill Parnell, sprinter Bob Hutchinson and track and field officials Lloyd Swindells and Fred Rowell. Four different tracks, each composed of different mixed ingredients, were laid.

The one approved was composed of 45 per cent coke breeze—fine powdered coal—and 55 per cent clay. This will be used as a covering for the track at the game stadium.

ANOTHER RECORD CLAIMED

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A Russian swimming team Tuesday night claimed a world record for the men's 400-yard medley relay.

The Russians said they swam the complicated mixture of back stroke breast stroke, butterfly and free style in three minutes, 52 seconds.

The listed world record is 3:57.1 set last year by a Yale University team. An Ohio state team has a record application pending for a time of 3:55.1 set Feb. 6.

The Russian team has an application pending for the world's 400-metre medley relay.

Easy Winner

TORONTO (CP)—Nancy Patch, owned and driven by Allan Walker of Owen Sound, was an easy double winner in the class BB pace, top harness attraction at Dufferin Park Tuesday.

Miss Jean Chips, owned by C. Mcwhiney of Wallenstein, and guided by Keith Waples, scored a double-heat victory in the co-featured fifth event, also a class BB pace.

Fishing Honors To Anglers From Lakehead

NEW YORK (CP) — Lakehead anglers took top honors in the brook trout division of Field and Stream magazine's 1953 fishing contest.

Allan Francis of Port Arthur won first prize in the fly-casting section with a 7 lb. 2 oz. brook trout taken Aug. 23 from the Nipigon river. He used a home-tied bucktail lure.

First prize in the open section went to James Warren of Fort William who used a spinner and minnow to take a 9 lb. 4 oz. brook trout from Lake Nipigon July 23.

Canadians monopolized the brook trout open contest. After Warren was Peter Kyryluk, Fort William, with a nine-pounder; Clifford McDonald, Port Arthur, third with one weighing 8 lb. 12 oz., Bill McCollum Orient Bay, fourth with 8 lb. 4 oz., and Fred Olfield, Bolton, fifth with 8 lb. 3 oz. King Whyte of Toronto placed ninth.

In the fly-casting section, William Dykstra of Port Arthur was sixth with one weighing 5 lb. 13 oz., and F. J. Bagley of Cameron Falls, seventh.

CASH PRIZES

First prize is $100, second and third $50 and fourth and fifth $25. Further results in the annual contest are to be announced March 31.

A 36 lb. 2 oz. northern pike taken Dominion Day from Lac Seul, Ont., won first prize in its division for Aaron Greiman of Garner, Ia. He used a marathon muskie spoon lure.

Biggest rainbow trout taken from Canadian waters on a fly rod was a nine-pounder caught in the Montreal river, Ontario, Aug. 1 by John B. Keiffer of Dearborn, Mich. Top honors went to R H. Thurwachter of Milwaukee, who used a mataya streamer in taking one weighing 13 lb. 7 oz. from Rock River, Mich., May 9.

Mrs. Mary C. Legault of Rossport took fourth place with a 40-pounder from Lake Superior in the lake trout division.

Training Camp Notes

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—A sixth-inning homer by Reno Bertoia, a bonus player from Windsor, Ont., helped Detroit Tigers to their first victory in three grapefruit league starts as they edged Philadelphia Phillies 6-5 Tuesday.

Ted Kazanski, the Phils' bonus shortstop, clubbed a homer for the losers.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Rookie Rudy Regalado hit two home runs for the second time in as many days as Cleveland Indians thumped Chicago Cubs 17-6 Tuesday for their third straight exhibition victory. The youngster currently has 13 safeties in 22 trips to the plate.

A grand-slammer by Al Rosen and four-baggers by Dave Philley, Wally Westlake and former Toronto Maple Leaf first-basebal Bill Glynn added to the Indians' total.

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (AP)—Utility infielder George Freese is attracting considerable attention from the Pittsburgh Pirate bosses.

The 27-year-old Freese has been the hitting standout in the Pirates' two exhibition games to date. The Bucs beat Detroit twice by the score of 7-3.

Freese drove in six of the 14 runs. He has collected five hits, including a double and a three-run homer.

Cullen Looks Probable As Junior Scoring Victor

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Brian Cullen should become the greatest scorer in Ontario junior hockey this year.

Cullen, scoring at a fast clip with St. Catharines TeePees all season in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, tallied only once Tuesday night but it gave him his 65th goal of the season and tied the record held by two other players.

The league-leading TeePees lost 5-3 to Guelph Biltmores but the 1,789 St. Catharines fans had plenty to cheer about as Cullen moved into the select circle with the two other high-scoring champions, George Armstrong, now with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, and Lou Jankowski, with the NHL Chicago Black Hawks.

Cullen is almost a cinch to break the mark before the league playoffs roll around.

The Biltmore victory moved them into sixth place, one point ahead of Barrie Flyers who lost 5-3 to Kitchener in the only other league contest.

Cullen made it No. 65 at 19:10 of the first period when he beat Guelph netminder Bill Ramsay on a three-man rush. It gave TeePees a 3-0 lead but they soon frittered it away before the end of the game.

Brian's brother, Barry, and Wilf Roberts scored the other St. Catharines goals. Erv Scott scored twice for Guelph, Jack Muckler, Bob Attersley and Menard tallied the others.

At Kitchener, Glenn Cressman scored twice for the Greenshirts. The others went to Buddy Horne, Graham Joyce and Greig Hicks. Don Cherry tallied two goals for the losers. Ross Graham got the other.

The win moved Greenshirts into a fourth-place tie with Hamilton Cubs, two points behind the third-spot Toronto St. Michael's Majors. The Greenshirts have only one game left in the schedule, which ends Sunday. The Cubs and the Majors each have three games to go.

Tonight the Cubs are at Guelph, Galt is at Toronto Marlboros and the Flyers meet St. Michael's at Toronto.

HUMOR IN KOREA—When the members of Canada's 25th Brigade in Korea put up a sign at the entrance to the Canadian sector, identifying it as Canadian-guarded territory, the Australians and New Zealanders promptly added a map of Australia and a kiwi bird to point out they also were in the area. Commanders of the 1st Commonwealth Division say it's just part of the good-natured kidding among Commonwealth troops. Jack Frayley, Canadian Press staff writer, now in Korea, stands beside the sign. —(CP from National Defence).

25th Brigade Spearheads Commonwealth Division

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP — The well-seasoned 1st Commonwealth Division, with Canada's 25th Brigade as its striking head, is also made up of Britons, Australians and New Zealanders. In the words of its commander, everything is "going like a train."

The commander is Maj.-Gen. Horatius Murray, former CO of a battalion of the Gordon Highlanders, who thinks the main reason his troops get on so well is because they have the same sense of humor and the same broad objects in life.

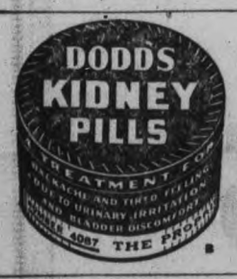
There's a lot of good-natured kidding, especially about the "wealthy" Canadians, but the general says no one ever gets sore.

FRIENDLY ARGUMENTS

An example of the kidding was the recent job done on a Canadian sign. The Canadians, under Brig. Jean Allard, occupy a section called Northland. They erected a sign which carries the red and gold maple leaf brigade patch and says "You are now entering Northland."

The Aussies and New Zealanders added in equally large letters ". . . not entire," and pointed out that units of their groups were in the same area.

"This is the sort of stuff that keeps us all happy," said the general.



He said the other three parts of the Commonwealth perhaps have more games in common like cricket and football while the Canucks are exclusive patrons of hockey and baseball. They all get together, however, in basketball and volleyball tournaments.

Visits were exchanged by the messes and "we've had no serious case of disagreement," Gen. Murray continued.

Everything is smooth, too, he said, in the conduct of divisional operations.

"When I want something done, I just ask Brig. Allard to do it but I don't tell him how and that's our secret of getting along so well," the Briton said. "We all do things a little differently but we achieve the same results and it's results we're interested in out here."

Contributing to the high morale in the division, he thought, is the fact that the troops are training and operating almost under observation of the potential enemy. The fact they could observe the Chinese Army across the demilitarized zone gave concrete emphasis to their training. And on top of everything else, the general said, his division was a sort of private army.

Responsibilities Of Penalty Belong To People

OTTAWA (CP)—A judge with 21 years experience on the Ontario Supreme Court bench says it would be "unfortunate" for the administration of justice if the courts could select the punishment for murder.

Mr. Justice J A. Hope said Tuesday the responsibility for ruling on the punishment should remain with the people—through Parliament.

At present, trial judges must impose the death sentence on convicted murderers. They should not have the choice of imposing a penitentiary term instead of the death penalty.

He said the death penalty "is one which in my humble opinion should be imposed by the whole of the people."

Mr. Justice Hope sat in the assizes division of the Ontario Supreme Court for 12 years before being appointed to the Appeals Court in 1945. He gave his personal view before the Commons-Senate committee on capital and corporal punishment and lotteries.

He said the criminal law at present is adequate with regard to murder. He saw no benefit in classifying murders by degrees—first, second or third-degree.

This was done elsewhere but Canadian law provided enough safeguards by making clear-cut distinctions between murder and manslaughter.

D. G. Blair, committee counsel, asked for comment on present provisions of the code concerning cases where the "lookout" in a bank robbery may be charged with murder if someone is slain inside the bank.

The jurist replied that sometimes the man who does not pull the trigger is the "most culpable." He might have the "dominating mind" in a group and might be much more to blame than the "weak-minded youngster who holds the gun."

Ontario Women To Tour UN

TORONTO (CP)—Ninety-six Ontario women, members of business and professional women's clubs, leave Toronto tonight for a four-day United Nations seminar tour in New York.

Their second annual tour, the women represent 33 clubs throughout the province. Last year 73 women from 26 Ontario centres attended the seminar.

Members will sit in on UN sessions for the first two days. They will be addressed by heads of UN departments and will be entertained by delegates.

Among prominent women in the group is Mrs. Ann Shipley, Liberal member of Parliament for Timiskaming.

Mrs. Margery Pewtress of Cobourg, provincial president, will attend along with Barbara McDonald, Sudbury; Harriet Bate, Lindsay; Esther McRae and Mary Ann Wickham, Oshawa; Dorothy Emery, St. Catharines; Mrs. J. S. Anderson and Gwyneth Dent, Sault Ste. Marie, and Mrs. Emerald A. Gasson, North Bay.

Order Inquest Woman's Death

PORT COLBORNE (CP)—An inquest was ordered into the death Tuesday of Mrs. Harold Knox, 22, who died in hospital here Monday while receiving a blood transfusion.

Coroner Dr. Grant Black, second coroner to investigate the death of Mrs. Knox, said an inquest will be held March 19.

Dr. Black was appointed coroner to investigate the death by county crown attorney T. F. Forestell after coroner Dr. E. A. MacKenzie Sr., had announced earlier that no inquest will be held.

Dr. MacKenzie, father of the physician who attended Mrs. Knox, attributed death to air entering the veins and the heart.

Mrs. Knox gave birth to a son, her third child, Thursday. Postnatal surgery was performed by Dr. E. A. MacKenzie Jr.

Writer Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—John Lloyd Balderston, screen writer and former foreign correspondent, died Monday of a heart attack. Balderston wrote the screenplays for "Gaslight," "Prisoner of Zenda," "Smilin' Through" and "Lives of a Bengal Lancer." As a foreign correspondent for the old New York World he covered the League of Nations in the 1920s.

Killed By Trolley

SIMCOE (CP)—James Green, 48, of the Aylmer district, was killed Tuesday night when he was struck and run over by an electric railway car south of here. Crew members of the Lake Erie and Northern Railway trolley said they saw the man lying between the tracks but were unable to stop in time.

Super-Mayor Gets Car

TORONTO (CP)—Purchase of a Cadillac automobile for Fred G. Gardiner, super-mayor of Metropolitan Toronto, to use when surveying his 240-square mile domain was approved Tuesday by the metropolitan executive committee. It will be chauffeur-driven.

BUILT CITY'S ZOO—Mayor Horace Boivin, of Granby, Que., offers a titbit to a young polar bear, recent addition to Granby's famous zoo which Mayor Boivin has built up almost single-handedly. In his trips around the world he has had promises of elephants from India, honey bears from Peru, swans from England and baboons from Toronto, more than 100 animals for the zoo, and all free.—(CP Photo).

Dynamic Mayor Is Behind Granby's Zoo

GRANBY, Que. (CP)—It really isn't a misnomer to speak of Granby's one-man zoo. Virtually singlehanded Mayor Horace Boivin has brought it about, and soon the zoo will rank second only to the provincial establishment at Charlesbourg, near Quebec City.

The dynamic mayor, who thinks and acts in terms of his lively city of 25,000, had childhood dreams of a zoo for Granby. Now they are a reality, and by next summer the zoo population should reach 100 or more.

The nice thing about it is that acquisition of the animals and birds hasn't cost the city a cent. Also, the mayor's zeal was contagious and business firms have pledged themselves to donate food for the lifetime of their specially sponsored zoo residents. The land itself, about 80 acres, was donated by Notre Dame parish.

ZOO TO THE FORE

In his travels about the world the business man-mayor has made Granby and zoo almost synonymous in his enthusiastic conversations with almost everyone he met.

Most of the animals are in barns for the winter but new buildings are being erected—the plans donated by local architects—and among new arrivals expected soon are two elephants. They are gifts from India.

Lima, Peru, pledged a pair of honey bears and penguins; Santiago, Chile, one pair of animals, species yet undecided.

London's famous Regent Park Zoo will send along a pair of black oil swans. Two light brown bears, offspring of Himalayan animals, will be donated by Zurich, Switzerland.

The Berlin zoo will decide on a couple of animals to send. Antwerp, Belgium, will ship a pair of wild bears. From Egypt will come two camels.

TWO POLAR BEARS

The zoo's polar bear will be joined by another from Churchill, Man., through courtesy of Capt. Pat Campbell, whose father, Dr. James Campbell, is curator of the Toronto zoo. Dr. Campbell, honorary president of the Granby Zoological Society, is contributing a pair of barbary sheep. The Charlesbourg zoo has pledged a llama.

Calgary has made contributions—a pair of coyotes and a hawk. The KLM Royal Dutch Airlines, in co-operation with the city of Amsterdam, will send either tigers or leopards. Lars Christiansen of the Christiansen South African-Canadian Steamship Lines has given two zebras.

Toronto became one of the largest single contributors when Mayor Alan Lamport gave Granby a pair of baboons. The Winnipeg Lions Club contributed a lion cub.

The zoo came into existence almost unnoticed in 1943 when the national parks of Canada gave Granby two North American bison. But the real growth began in 1946 and since then the mayor and his fellow-townsmen have become constantly more ambitious.

Elected President Real Estate Boards

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Murray Bosley of Toronto Tuesday was elected president of the Ontario Association of Real Estate Boards for 1954, succeeding P. J. Harvey of Brantford.

Regional directors include: Angus Buchanan, Sarnia; Dick Whitney, Kitchener; and William Caswell, Sudbury.

The farm brokers' division of the association elected Lorne Weber of Kitchener president and Edwin Taylor of Woodstock vice-president.

Motorist Hurt In Collision

TORONTO (CP)—An automobile collided with two western Ontario transport trucks Tuesday night in suburban Etobicoke township and the motorist was severely hurt, police said.

Thomas Coe, 32, was admitted to hospital in critical condition. When taken unconscious from his wrecked car he had head, chest and leg injuries.

Police said his car collided with one truck, bounced off, went 100 feet along the roadway, then crashed head-on into the other truck. Drivers of the trucks, who police said were Fred Winship, 25, of Chatham, and Glen Leatherdale, 24, of Ridgetown, were unhurt.

BABY'S COLDS

Help Nature To Fight Them Off

Medical Science denies there is any such thing as a cure for colds—only Nature herself can do it. So when baby's sniffles, or stuffy breathing warn you of a cold's presence—cooperate at once with Nature.

See that baby is kept warm, gets plenty of sleep and take extra care that the bowels are thoroughly cleared of harmful waste. To do this without upsetting baby's whole system and further weakening it, try Baby's Own Tablets. Mild, yet act promptly in getting rid of irritating materials that make baby restless and feverish.

One Nova Scotia Mother says: "My baby of 16 months caught a nasty cold so I tried Baby's Own Tablets and the three this cold off quicker than ever before. I certainly am for Baby's Own Tablets from now on." Equally good for, restlessness and peevishness resulting from irregularity at teething time, for constipation, digestive upsets and other minor infant troubles. Get a package today at druggists.

Must Protect Alberta Gas States Howe

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament must ensure there is no interference with a natural gas pipeline from Alberta to central Canada, acting prime minister Howe said Tuesday.

Dealing with a bill to incorporate a company to bring United States gas into Ontario, he said in the Commons it should not become law until the company has negotiated an agreement with the bigger firm proposing to pipe gas from Alberta to the Ontario-Quebec market.

"It would be tragic if the smaller proposal were to be permitted to interfere with the larger one," Mr. Howe said.

He spoke during continued debate on a measure to incorporate Niagara Gas Transmission, Ltd., which would build a pipeline from the Niagara area to carry Louisiana gas to the Toronto market. The company is a subsidiary of Consumers' Gas Company of Toronto.

The incorporation bill was still under discussion when the hour devoted to private members' legislation expired. It may come up again Friday. The measure is sponsored by J. W. G. Hunter (L—Toronto Parkdale).

The proposal of the Niagara company is being weighed by the Commons in relation to one of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines to build a $300,000,000 natural gas line from Alberta to Montreal with lines serving Ontario.

NO GUARANTEE

In last Friday's debate, Opposition Leader George Drew asked Mr. Howe—who has been in charge of pipeline negotiations for the federal government—to give a government promise that western gas from Canada will not be frozen out of the Ontario market by the construction of a Niagara-Toronto system.

Mr. Howe said today he could not give a government "guarantee" to that effect, but he agreed it would be desirable. And he said he thinks ways can be worked out so that the "considerable" investment of Niagara gas can be "assumed" by Trans-Canada.

He added that, when the Niagara bill is before a House committee, the committee should add a clause that the proposed incorporation should not come into force until there is a mutual agreement between the two companies approved by the board of transport commissioners. The board is the federal body that regulates, among other things, pipelines.

Committed For Trial

COOKSVILLE (CP) — William Mitchell of Palermo, 46-year-old Canadian National Railways gateman, Tuesday was committed for trial on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Wilfred Howes, 26, of Lakeview, at Clarkson Jan. 13. Howes was fatally injured when his truck collided with a passenger train on a level-crossing.

Overflow Crowds Hear Billy Graham

LONDON (Reuters)—Evangelist Billy Graham held an unscheduled revival meeting Tuesday night for 1,500 Londoners who overflowed from the 11,000-seat Harringay Arena where he is holding a three-month crusade series.

The crowd waited outside for two hours. Every seat in the arena was packed for the first session and another 1,000 persons stood in the aisles.

It was the first time Graham has had to hold a second meeting on a week night since his crusade began March 1, though he held three meetings to accommodate the crowds last Saturday night.

He now is considering making two meetings a regular week night feature.

Believe Man Fell Into Sewage Tank

CAMP BORDEN (CP)—Michael Whalen, 65, is missing and authorities Tuesday night started a search for his body in a 750-gallon tank that is part of the sewage plant at this big army base.

Whalen, a civilian employee at the camp, had the job of walking around the edge of the circular tank and sweeping it clean.

Officials expressed belief he either slipped or collapsed and fell into the outdoor tank, 150 feet in diameter.

Oldest Member Cuts Cake At Mark Street

About 200 members and friends of Mark Street United Church enjoyed a pot-luck supper in the church basement Monday night to commemorate the 25th anniversary of the building of the church.

The room was decorated in blue and silver. Centered on the stage was a four-tiered anniversary cake, topped with an icing replica of Mark Street church. The cake was baked by Mrs. Gordon Eason and decorated by Harold Deyell.

Highlight was the cutting of the cake, preceded by a short speech by the minister, the Rev. Dr. N. D. Patterson, who also introduced the guest speakers.

The Rev. Arnold Mathews, of George Street United church, chairman of the Peterborough Presbytery, brought greetings from the presbytery. The Rev. A. I. Higgins of MacKay United church, Ottawa, who is guest preacher at the anniversary services all week, gave a short talk.

A. W. Gamble gave the history of the building of the church. Stuart Laing, president of boy's work, gave a talk on the financial standing of the church.

The Rev. E. W. Rowland, a former minister of the church and now assistant minister of George Street United church, accompanied Mrs. A. Troop onto the stage, where Mrs. Troop, as the oldest member of the congregation, cut the anniversary cake.

A service was held in the church after the dinner was over and Rev. Higgins' sermon was on "Christianity, Hard or Easy".

Editor's Wife Dies

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Mrs. Laura Knight Currie, 76, wife of Hon. J. S. Currie, president and editor of The Daily News here, died Tuesday after a lengthy illness. Besides her husband she is survived by a son, Chancey, vice-president and managing director of the newspaper, and a daughter, Mrs. Flora L. Chafe, a director of the News. Funeral services will be held from her home Thursday.

Canada Worried About Long-Term U.S. Policies

NEW YORK (CP) — Canada's health minister says Canadians are worried about the long-term commercial policies of the United States.

Hon. Paul Martin made the statement here Tuesday night in a speech prepared for delivery to the Economic Club of New York.

He also said:

1. Canada's high level of economic activity will continue through 1954 and for some time to come.

2. Canada and the United States will continue to provide for adequate defence of the North American continent.

3. The free world faces the grim threat of a third world war which would destroy civilization.

4. Canada will continue to seek establishment of a world order in which all nations can walk together in mutual respect.

NEED FOREIGN TRADE

Mr. Martin said the prosperity of Canada depends on a considerable extent on foreign trade. As a result "we are somewhat concerned about your (American) long-term commercial policies."

Canadian-American trade problems, he said, will be discussed in Washington March 15 at the first meeting of the joint United States-Canadian committee on trade and economic affairs. The meeting "will provide an opportunity for our two governments to consider at the ministerial level those steps that can properly be taken to improve economic relations and to encourage the flow of trade between our countries."

Mr. Martin said Canada's rapid economic expansion is not yet over. Despite temporary set-backs in particular industries or localities, "We have confidence in the continuation of high levels of economic activity throughout 1954 and for some time to come."

Mr. Martin said the significance of Canadian-American relations during the last 125 years is that "we have had peace in spite of differences—friendship in spite of difficulties."

Canada would continue to seek the establishment of world order and lasting peace through the U. N. However, Canada and the U. S. would continue to build their defences "as long as storms of violence threaten the international climate."

Prospector Gives Some Advice

TORONTO (CP)—Roy Barker, one of three prospectors who are potential millionaires as a result of their discovery of the Manitouwadge base metal field, gave prospectors some advice Tuesday night.

Speaking to the Prospectors and Developers Association, he held up a black bag and said:

"I have here an instrument that has helped in the establishment of every mine in Canada, and, if used, will help find many more."

He opened his bag, held up a prospectors pick and commented: "Don't mind bending over and doing a little digging."

The second piece of advice had to do with map reading. It was: "Work on the first 10 miles off the watershed, and let the geophysicists have the rest of it."

In the discovery of Manitouwadge, he added, "all we had was a map."

Rejects Idea Relieve Unemployment

MONTREAL (CP)—Works Minister Winters Tuesday night rejected the idea that public works be used specifically to relieve unemployment.

A public project, to be of real value, should carry with it the prospect of contributing to the long-term growth and development of an area, he said in a speech prepared for delivery before the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association.

Mr. Winters said he can't agree that Canada is experiencing a recession: "The major factors of gross national production; foreign trade and retail sales volume; capital investment from both Canadian and outside sources; and the continuing succession of discoveries and development of natural resources do not support the arguments of those who would cry 'ruin.'"

Public works themselves did not necessarily provide many jobs. An example was the $23,000,000 Canso causeway linking Cape Breton island and mainland Nova Scotia. Less than 200 men were required to keep the project up to schedule.

Gov't Bill Calls For Study Of Redistribution Of Seats

TORONTO (CP)—Redistribution of seats, new highway regulations and a new provincial parks policy, were contained in three important pieces of legislation introduced in the legislature Tuesday.

In presenting a bill calling for a study of redistribution of seats in the 90-seat legislature, Premier Frost appointed an 11-man select committee to examine the question and report back to the house within the next two or three weeks.

Highways Minister Doucett introduced several amendments to the Highway Traffic Act calling for motorists to signal right turns and stops, rear bumpers on high-bodied trucks, stiffer penalties for hit-and-run drivers and establishment of a minimum of $100 damage for obligatory accident reports.

Development of smaller parks near urban centres and the classification of provincial parks into four categories was proposed in a new Parks Act introduced by Hon. G. C. Challies, minister without portfolio.

BUDGET THURSDAY

The government intends to introduce a new financial administration act today and an end to the throne speech debate is anticipated. Mr. Frost said Monday he intends to bring down the 1954-55 budget Thursday.

Redistribution of seats would be the first since 1933 when the number was cut from 112 to 90.

In reply to a question by opposition leader Farquhar Oliver, Mr. Frost said in his opinion the cutting up of historic ridings "would be a mistake."

Speculation at Queen's Park is that at least eight new ridings may be established at Ottawa, Hamilton, Sudbury, Windsor, the Oshawa and Oakville areas and two in Toronto.

In proposing the development of smaller parks, Mr. Challies said this type "was most desirable." They would be within easy reach of urban centres and would provide "a quiet and convenient place where a motorist may stop for a picnic lunch or a rest or where a family from the nearby city may enjoy a quiet afternoon away from crowds and traffic."

LOCAL CHARACTER

Another type would be park areas sponsored by counties or municipalities, "more local in character."

The class I type of park would include such parklands as Algonquin, Lake Superior, Queticot and Timagami. Class II would include the large recreational areas such as Rondeau and Presque 'Ile within easy reach of urban centres.

Continuing the throne speech debate, W. M. Nickle (PC—Kingston) urged the immediate calling of the public accounts committee to study alleged irregularities in the highways department.

Peter Manley (L — Stormont) charged the government played "party politics" at the expense of the "cheese producers" last year when the price of cheese dropped to a record low.

J. N. Allan (PC—Haldimand Norfolk) urged a greater campaign for public safety on Ontario highways.

Denies Giving Approval Of Treatment

John McNulty Critical Of Treatment Brother Received

EDMONTON (CP)—John J. McNulty of Peterborough Tuesday denied that he expressed approval of treatment given his 38-year-old brother Frank, a convicted arsonist and murder suspect who developed polio while in nearby Fort Saskatchewan jail.

He commented on statements made in the Alberta legislature Monday by Attorney-General Maynard, who was questioned about a published report that McNulty sought a full investigation of his brother's treatment in jail before he became an iron-lung polio patient.

Mr. Maynard said Frank McNulty was placed in an ordinary cell, that he was admitted to hospital an hour after he first reported sick and that the warden notified McNulty's father after receiving confirmation of the polio diagnosis.

The attorney-general added: "On Friday, March 5, the brother of the prisoner contacted the warden. When the warden explained the procedure followed in all such cases, the brother stated he had been misinformed and that he was perfectly satisfied with the treatment his brother had received."

NO TELEGRAM

John McNulty said his brother was admitted to hospital on a Tuesday but word did not reach their father in Lindsay until the following Saturday.

"Furthermore, instead of being informed immediately by telegram we received notification by letter, just as if my brother had nothing more serious than a common cold," he said.

John McNulty said that the day before he talked with the jail warden, he visited his brother in his cell but the brother was not able to talk.

"The warden told me 'When Frank is able to talk he will tell you he received good treatment.'"

McNulty said he went to see his brother in hospital the next day.

"The information I then got from Frank was that he was in solitary confinement at the jail for 28 days without exercise and that he was ill four days before he was taken to hospital."

Frank McNulty was sentenced in Calgary Jan. 14 to three years for attempted arson after a small fire at the Salvation Army hostel. Police at St. Thomas also hold a warrant for his arrest on a charge of murder in connection with the deaths of two men in a YMCA fire there last November.

Attorney-General Maynard said McNulty was lodged at Fort Saskatchewan jail before being sent to penitentiary at Prince Albert, Sask., to serve his three-year sentence.

Two City Industries Receive Awards

Two Peterborough manufacturing industries, Western Clock Company and Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company, have received awards for meritorious design of products by the National Industrial Design committee.

These honors were presented in Ottawa, Monday by Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Trade and Commerce.

The award to Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. was granted for their new Johnson 5½-horse power Seahorse outboard motor that features particularly its quiet performance.

Western Clock Co. won their distinction for the second sucessive year on their Westclox Travalarm.

350 ENTRIES

Since 1948 the National Industrial Design committee, a branch of the National Gallery of Canada has invited Canadian manufacturers to submit new products as entries for its annual awards. The 1954 winners were selected after judging more than 350 entries from approximately 130 Canadian manufacturers and producers.

There were 95 awards this year, as compared with 46 last year. Seventy-one firms received the committees' certificates.

Selections were made on the basis of form (pleasing appearance, good taste function (suitability for purpose); originality (basic improvement of traditional designs); good value, (simplicity, usefulness, price); consumer acceptability (suitability for the Canadian market.)

NATIONAL INDUSTRIAL DESIGN COMMITTEE awards were presented by Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe in Ottawa Monday to Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. and Western Clock Company of Peterborough, two of the 71 Canadian firms honored for outstanding designs of products. Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. was represented by John W. Madden, sales manager of the outboard division and Russ Baer, advertising manager. Their new 5½ h.p. Johnson Seahorse outboard motor won the award for that Peterborough company. Mr. Baer is shown (top) with Mr. Howe and one of the new outboards. W. J. Hardill (lower) general sales manager for Westclox, received the 1954 certificate for his company for their new Westclox Travalarm.

Judges Report Favorably On City's Bill

There are indications that the private bills committee of the provincial legislature will soon consider Peterborough's bill to permit erection of the Memorial Centre in Exhibition Park.

Although no word has been received from Queen's Park as to when the bill will be heard, the private bills committee is now holding regular sessions.

REPORT FAVORABLE

A committee of judges at Osgoode Hall reported favorably on the bill when they considered it Tuesday. This is expected to facilitate passage of the bill through committee. T. J. Carley, QC, and City Clerk Outram attended the Osboode Hall sitting.

It is expected the private bills committee will study the Memorial Centre bill on the same day they consider another private bill from Peterborough, one designed to give legislative endorsement to the city's purchase of land in North Monaghan township for industrial sites and the landfill disposal project.

Both bills have been given first reading in the legislature. Three readings are required before the bills can become law.

Sale Of Subdivision Lots Points To Building Boom

Sale of lots in the Manor subdivision on the old Hatton property, north-east of Civic Hospital, indicate there will be a three-quarter million dollar building boom this spring.

John Wocker, Peterborough manager of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, announced that 48 of the 98 lots in the subdivision had been sold in the first week of the sale. With the average value of houses to be erected there estimated at $15,000, sales to date justify a prediction that $720,000 worth of building will get under way once the sales have been closed.

Sale of the lots, which had been vacant since the war-time houses were removed, got under way in spectacular fashion a week ago Monday, when 40 lots were sold in the first couple of hours. Some buyers stood in line from 4 a.m. to get first choice of the lots, as a result of the corporation's "first come, first served" policy.

After the initial rush, sales slowed down to an average of just over one a day thereafter. Total value of the 48 lots sold so far is $82,000.

RESTRICTIONS

Certain restrictions imposed on building plans support the estimate of $15,000 as the average price of houses to be constructed on Manor Heights. The minimum floor area in a bungalow is to be 1,000 square feet, a 1½-storey house 1,250 square feet and a two-storey house 1,500 square feet.

An indication of the eventual appearance of the subdivision is given by an illustrated wall map in the corporation's office on the second floor of the Cherney building. The pictorial sketch is designed to show buyers how to place their houses on the lots to the best advantage and gives the impression of a high-class residential area.

Just how soon building on the subdivision will get under way is not known. The corporation has stipulated that building must get under way within six months of their acceptance of the offer to purchase, and houses must be completed within 18 months of the starting date.

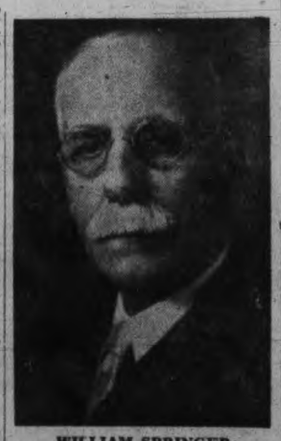
But in any case, building will not get under way before April 1. The corporation has 14 days within which to accept the offers to purchase signed a week ago; following that, the purchasers have another 15 days in which to seek clear titles to the land. So sales cannot be closed before the end of this month.

Building on any of the lots other than those sold March 1 will not get under way before May 1. The corporation's policy is to close all sales at the end of the month and the 29-day waiting period will carry over into May.

First Employee Of Lock Co. Celebrates 90th Birthday

One of the practical founders of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company, William Springer of Belleville is 90 years old today.

He came to Peterborough early in 1885 with six other skilled mechanics who were the staff nucleus of the company on Simcoe St. that was conceived by George A. Cox. Among them were Charles Tabor and George Ahearn, names that have remained in the memory of the community.



Mr. Springer was born in Cleveland, O., in 1864. Abraham Lincoln was president of the United States, and Jefferson Davis, the presumptive president of the Confederacy.

He was the son of William G. and Margaret Springer, eldest of a family of five children, of whom one son is still living in Cleveland.

MADE IN PRISON

The engagement of Mr. Springer for Peterborough employment was recently told in the Lock Company chapter of a series of articles about the city's industries and the personalities behind them. It was recalled that locks were made in the federal prison at Kingston prior to 1885. A man here named William Brooks raised a question in his own thinking as to why this industry should not be in private ownership. He mentioned his idea to George A. Cox, and enquiries at Ottawa elicited the information that the government was prepared to retire from lock manufacturing if private capital was ready to assume the investment and the job.

Organization here in Peterborough proceeded from that projective stage, and Brooks recruited skilled workmen when the company was ready to move into the former Helm foundry in the present premises of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing on Simcoe St. So, William Springer was one of the department heads of the first privately owned lock-making plant in Canada. He was a versatile mechanic, and helped a great deal in getting the business into operaton.

Mr. Springer remained with Peterborough Lock from 1885 until 1894 when he returned to Cleveland for further experience in the manufacture of builders hardware. While here he met and married Florence Nethercut, who died at Belleville, May 22, 1952. Their daughters are: Mrs. David R. Dunham, St. Augustine, Florida and Mrs. Helen McElhiney of Belleville.

FORMED LOCK COMPANY

With the further experience he sought in Cleveland, Mr. Springer was attracted back to Canada and its opportunities before the turn of the century. He came to Belleville in 1901, consulted R. J. Graham, then mayor of Belleville, and assisted in the organization of the Belleville Harware Company. Ten years later he sold his shares in that company, and crossing the Moira River he formed another lock company, and be-

Autopsy Shows Smith Drowned

Gordon Smith, 41, of 514 Water St., drowned Saturday night in Lock 22, three miles north of the city.

That conclusion was reached late Tuesday afternoon following an autopsy by Dr. John H. Whitesides, government pathologist, at the Civic Hospital.

Smith's body was recovered from the lock about 2:30 a.m. Tuesday after a day-long search. He had been visiting the lockmaster Ed Parberry Saturday night and left about 11:30 p.m. He apparently became confused in his sense of direction and walked into the lock, falling into 20 feet of water, instead of going in the opposite direction to his truck.

POLICE ALERTED

When Smith didn't return Sunday or early Monday morning, the provincial police was alerted and a search started. It ended when the lock was emptied and Smith was found at the bottom.

Coroner, Dr. H. G. Carleton, said today the findings of the autopsy were definite "that he was drowned." He added the abrasions on Smith's head "did not contribute to his death."

Dr. Carleton wasn't sure if an inquest will be held. He said he will discuss the drowning with Crown Attorney John Bradshaw.

District Highways Slippery Three In Hospital When Two Cars Collide

Two Marmora Women Escape In Second Highway Accident On Highway 7 East of Peterborough

Three people were taken to Civic Hospital late Tuesday afternoon after a head-on crash between two cars on Highway 7, two miles west of Norwood. Icy conditions on district highways were the cause of this and several other accidents Tuesday afternoon and evening. The most serious accident occurred at 4:30 p.m. when an eastbound car driven by a Norwood district man went out of control and was in head-on collision with a westbound car driven by a West Hill man. The impact wrecked the front ends of both vehicles.

Taken to hospital were:

William Lye, 42, of RR 2, West Hill, a broken jaw and cut forehead. His condition today is satisfactory.

Alfred McMillan, 48, of RR 1, Norwood, a broken nose and cuts and bruises. He was released at 11:05 p.m.

Mrs. Donna McMillan (Alfred McMillan's wife), 43, a cut forehead and other facial cuts and bruises. Her condition today is good.

The McMillans were driving east along the slippery highway when Mr. McMillan lost control of his 1951-model car after it hit the south shoulder. Then it veered north and came into headon collision with the 1953-model car being driven west by Lye.

Both vehicles ended up facing west— Lye's on the north shoulder of the highway; McMillan's in the middle of the highway.

Two Marmora women escaped with nothing worse than a shaking up at 6.20 p.m. when their car skidded at the Indian River hill and knocked off three guard rail posts.

Driver of the eastbound car was Marguerite Harrigan and her passenger was Mrs. Mary Stephens.

Miss Harrigan stepped on the gas when she approached the hill on Highway 7 east. The car skidded on the slippery road surface, turned and sheared off three guard rail posts. It ended up facing west on the right shoulder.

Damage to the car is estimated at $500..

OPP Constable John Cawood investigated both accidents.

Another accident on Highway 28, two miles south of Springville, caused about $50 damage.

A Toronto Brick Co truck at 4 p.m. slid off the highway into the east ditch and toppled on its side. The bricks fell off as well. There was damage to the truck but the driver, 34-year-old Gordon Baker of Toronto, was unhurt.

OPP Constable Gordon Gray investigated.

Woman Hurt On Way To Golden Wedding

COLDSPRINGS (ENS) — Mrs. Paul Harris was injured in a car accident Tuesday afternoon while driving to Cobourg to join in the golden wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. David Dines of Camborne.

The accident occurred at 4:30 p.m. two miles south of Coldsprings on the county road between Cobourg and Harwood. Mrs. Harris was in collision with a car driven by Dennis Corkery of Harwood.

She received a gash over one eye that required eight stitches to close. She was also badly bruised and shaken up, and was attended to by a Cobourg doctor.

Both cars received $500 damage.

Mrs. Harris is a music teacher for school area No. 2 in Hamilton township.

Charles J. Ray Chairman Executive Body

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Memorial Community Centre on Tuesday night in the Mayor's office, Charles J. Ray was elected chairman of the executive committee and vice-chairman of the general committee to assist Chairman D. A. McGillis of the general body.

E. A. Outram reported on the progress of the Peterborough Centre bill at the Legislative sittings in Queen's Park, saying it would be presented shortly to the private bills committee. Mayor Norman Graham, City Clerk Outram and delegates of the Memorial Committee will attend the hearing when it is announced, possibly later this week.

Chairmen of the various Centre committees (site, publicity, building and finance) will meet March 20 to present lists of members chosen for their committees.

It was again emphasized by Mayor Graham, general chairman D. A. McGillis, executive chairman C. J. Ray and building committee chairman Lionel Browne that the Memorial Centre was for the use and entertainment of all citizens and would be built with this in mind, the project being considerably more than just a hockey and skating arena.

Believe Fishing On Downgrade

GRAND MARAIS, Mich. (AP)— A disappointing 700-pound commercial catch of lake trout Tuesday led a tug crew to express belief commercial fishing is on the downgrade in the area.

The catch, made by Sellman Brothers of Manistique, showed a majority of the fish scarred by lamprey eels.

The Sellman tug fished Lake Superior last week about five miles offshore.

Commercial fishermen said the nets, which cover up to a mile, ordinarily would bring in several thousand pounds of lake trout in one haul.

They blamed the falling off of quantity on the invasion of the eels, a parasitic creature which has cut into the great lakes fishing industry in recent years.

Indian Clerk Retires

BRANTFORD (CP) — Elliott Moses, estates and titles clerk here for the department of Indian affairs, retired today after 30 years' service with the department.

Born on the Six Nations Indian reserve near here, Mr. Moses is a member of the Delaware tribe. James S. Powless, chief councillor of the Six Nations council, has been appointed to succeed him.

Rural Municipalities Enter Highways Fight

TORONTO (CP) — The Southwestern Ontario Highway Association, which for the last several months has been feuding with the provincial highway department over methods used in taking over farmland for road-building purposes, Tuesday received backing from the Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities.

The association passed a resolution criticizing the department's methods and asking that all agreements for purchase of land for controlled access highways be signed before fencing or construction is undertaken.

Other resolutions the 300 delegates approved asked the province to increase grants for education and social services, to design a simpler method for dealing with the expenses of the administration of justice, to widen grant terms for drains and to increase substantially the subsidy for maintenance of wards.

Approved was a suggestion from Niagara township that it be made an offence for any vehicle to pass a standing school bus on any road or highway. The association also decided to ask the government to adopt a standard color and marking scheme for school buses.

CENTRAL EXECUTION SITE

The association approved a petition from the united counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry that a central site for executions be established in the province. The request will be sent to the attorney-general.

The united counties of Prescott and Russell sponsored the request for increased subsidies to counties for children's aid work. Delegates from those counties said maintenance and operating expenses are increasing at an alarming rate and the provincial contribution is inadequate. They asked that the subsidy be paid directly to the county, rather than to the municipality, and that present campaigns for private donations be replaced by grants.

The association elected John McLennan of Martintown president in succession to W. M. Abraham of Chatham. C. A. Keeley of Windsor and W. J. Holsgrove of Westbrook are vice-presidents and F. B. Seaman of Stoney Creek is secretary-treasurer.

Directors for 1954 are: Willard Ferris, Merlin; Lewis W. King, Tilbury; Arthur Hendershot, Hannon; Chester Little, Atwood; Nelson Charlebois, Navan; Bert Oakes, Alvinston; John M. Eckert, Seaforth; and Harold Vardey, Tweed.

United Church To Buy 2 Hospitals For Aged

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto conference of the United Church of Canada plans to buy the Lady Minto Hospital in New Liskeard and Hillcrest Hospital in Orillia and to enlarge the Ina Grafton Gage Home in Toronto. They will be used to accommodate elderly persons, Toronto West Presbytery was told Tuesday night.

Curb TV Drinking Ads

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan legislature Tuesday night passed a bill to ban the showing of people drinking beer and wine in television advertising. It now goes to the state senate. Representative John J. McCune, a Republican who sponsored the bill, said the purpose is to keep children and young people from getting the idea that drinking is socially acceptable. It was not intended to end beer and wine advertising on television.

Illegal Staking Indicated In Mining Fields

TORONTO (CP)—A considerable proportion of the staking in Ontario's new mining fields may have been illegal, two officials of the Ontario mines department indicated Tuesday night.

The officials, H. C. Rickaby, deputy minister of mines, and Forbes McFarland, chief of the mining lands branch, also indicated that some purchasers of mining claims may find their purchases are valueless.

Both spoke to a discussion session of the annual convention of the Prospectors and Developers Association.

Mr. Rickaby said he hoped fears of widespread infractions are without foundation. However, the rumors would be investigated and if there were foundation "appropriate action must follow."

Under Ontario law a licensed staker may stake nine claims in one mining division, and must be on the scene. The reported infractions have to do with evasions of this provision.

Mr. McFarland, citing what he termed "disturbing incidents," said one licencee had paid for personally and recorded 500 claims in an active area, and added: "We are concerned with the possibility that this staking was not done by the licencees in each case."

FAST WORK

In another instance, staking time for 27 claims by three men was given as 15 minutes for each claim, and there were numerous cases of nine or more claims being staked in a day. It was impossible to properly stake a claim in such short time.

One licencee, to whom tags had been sent, phoned to say he had never taken out a licence nor staked a claim.

"The licence had been taken out in his name, the applications signed with the licencee's name and the fees paid by the same person who paid for the licence."

There had been numerous cases where the applicant had never even been on the ground. There had been a marked increase, too, in licences to women and staking of claims by them. It seemed unlikely that the majority of these women had gone into the bush in the middle of winter to stake claims.

It is rumored, Mr. McFarland added, that a large proportion of the claims staked in the Blind River uranium field and the Manitouwadge base metal field "have been staked by proxy."

He said the effect of evasion of the law was that a few men blanket all the ground around a mine and leave little for the individual prospector.

He suggested that purchasers of claims who "buy solely on location" should realize that they may be buying claims which have not been staked in accordance with the act.

Mr. Rickaby said a proposed amendment to the Mining Act would provide that prior to the issue of a certificate of record for a claim, there must be first a report by an inspector that requirements of the act have been met.

Roy Barker, one of the discoverers of the Manitouwadge base metal field, expressed concern that inspection of every claim might lead to long delay. Mr. Rickaby replied:

"We may be faced with serious difficulties, but we are not running away from the problem."

Arrest 2nd Man For Conspiracy

TORONTO (CP) — An off-duty police inspector on his way to a movie Tuesday night spotted and arrested Naiffe M. Stephen, 43, wanted by police on a conspiracy charge.

Inspector Arthur Harris took Stephen into custody at a downtown intersection.

Stephen was the second man arrested in connection with an alleged conspiracy said to have cost a west-end branch of the Dominion Bank $32,000 over the last three years.

David S. Bloxham, 46, former manager of the branch, Tuesday was remanded to March 16 on $5,000 bail.

Police said Stephen is a former president of the Lebanese Liberal Association here.

Charles E. Manning

The funeral was held from the Kaye funeral home Tuesday afternoon of the late Charles Edward Manning of 650 George St. N., who died in Peterborough hospital Sunday.

The Rev. Henry Cotton of St. Andrew's United church officiated. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Pallbearers were Percy Hooper, George Worboy, Roy Menzies, C. Mandam, William Townsley and Harry Carter.

Raise Gov't Grant

TORONTO (CP) — The government grant to the rehabilitation of the worker would be raised from $100,000 to $200,000 under legislation introduced in the legislature Tuesday.

In introducing the amendment to the Workmen's Compensation Act, Labor Minister Daley said it was found that $100,000 was insufficient.

Jail Kidnap Accomplice

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP)—An accomplice in the Feb. 19 kidnapping of young Faunccio Bcardi, the rum heir, was sentenced Tuesday to four years. The prosectuion had asked 14 years for Manuel Echavarria. The kidnapped child was found alive after a 12-hour search. A chauffeur of the Bacardi family, Guillermo Rodriguez, was arrested and killed when, police said, he tried to escape.

Jilted Youth Shoots His Rival

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que. (CP)—A youth, jilted by a pretty teen-aged girl six months ago, Tuesday night shot and killed his rival for her affections.

Gilles Bourassa, 18, was shot through the left eye when he answered a knock on the door at the home of dark-haired Colette Lefebvre, 17.

Mrs. Benoit Lefebvre, the girl's mother, was struck in the stomach by a bullet but hospital authorities said she was not in serious condition.

Municipal police said Gerard Abel, 18, walked into the station and gave himself up 15 minutes after the shooting.

Police said he announced "I just shot a man," and then made a "full confession."

37 BULLETS

They said they found 37 bullets in his pockets.

The shooting occurred in suburban Shawinigan Falls East, 27 miles northwest of Trois-Rivieres.

Miss Lefebvre, who stopped seeing Abel "because I liked Gilles better," told police Bourassa was shot just after opening the door. The mother, hearing the shot, pushed Colette into a bedroom, but was herself hit.

It is expected an inquest will be held today. In Quebec charges are not normally laid until after an inquest.

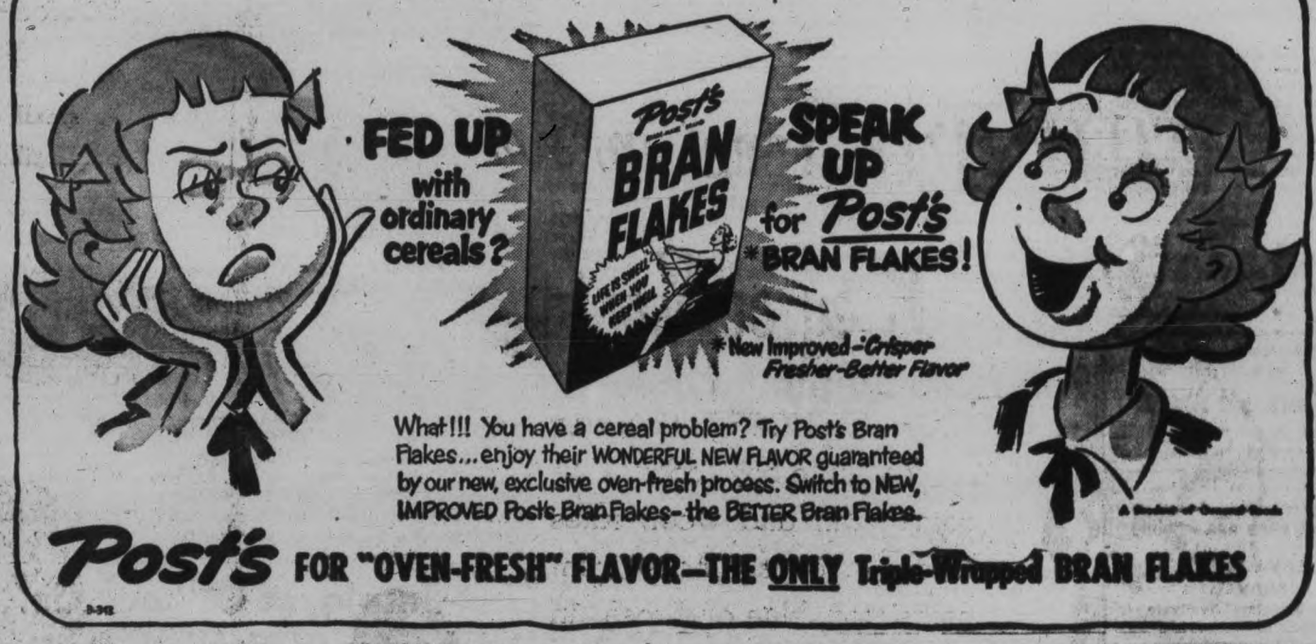
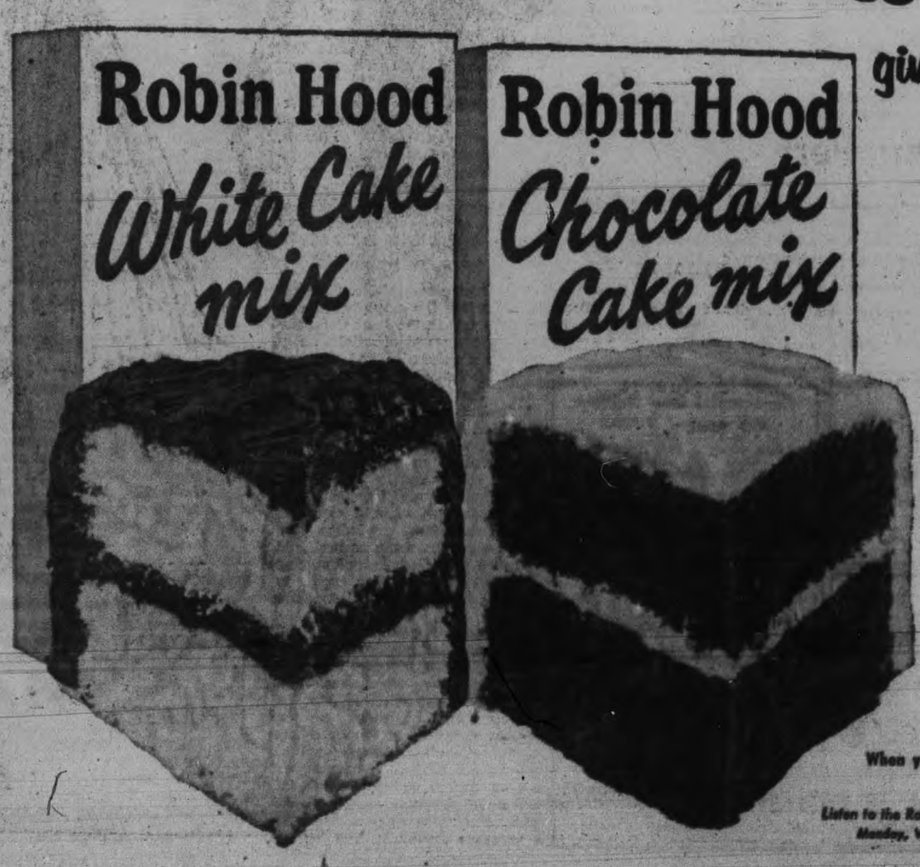
Royalty Picnics At Covent Garden



LONDON (AP) — The Queen Mother and Princess Margaret had a picnic at Covent Garden opera house Tuesday night. No special reason—they just decided to eat there for a change.



Queen Mother Elizabeth, the Princess and friends were preceded to the theatre by royal servants who brought hampers containing canapes, sandwiches, wine, silver salvers, a white table cloth and an alcohol [illegible] for heating tea and coffee.

All the theatre pro[illegible] was a folding table. The picnic took place in an anteroom off the royal box.

The occasion was a gala performance for the benefit of the Sadler's Wells Ballet benevolent fund.

George St. WMS Meeting

The Women's Missionary Society of George St. United church met in the board room Tuesday afternoon with a fairly good attendance. Mrs. J. H. Might and Miss J. Schaffer received at the door. Mrs. J. M. Beatty, president, opened with a hymn and short prayer. Satisfactory reports were presented by the conveners. It was announced a joint WA and WMS meeting will be held in April. Devotion period was in charge of Mrs. J. P. Bickell, leader of group 5, who read a short poem, entitled "A Lent Well Spent." Scripture was read in unison, and Mrs. Beatty lead in prayer. The offering was accepted by Mrs. F. Latimer and Mrs. H. Coon. Guest speaker was Miss Greta Clark, who spent 34 years teaching and doing missionary work in China, and returned to Peterborough in 1951. She gave an inspiring message and referred to "Billy Graham," the evangelist, as "a true worshipper, who worshipped the Father in spirit and in truth." She said she loved her work and the people in China, and showed several photos of Chinese folk that have given their hearts to God She is continuing the work here, teaching children and visiting with the Chinese. She urged the ladies to have a revival and offer prayers for the people in China, and the whole world, especially all missionaries. Mrs. J. P. Bickell thanked the speaker.

The second chapter of the study book was given in two sections. Mrs. Willis Hall and Mrs. Dick Hutchison led in the first part, "Cheer Along the Way." The second part, "Is It Worth While?" was taken by Mrs. Clifford Hall, Mrs. Gerald Larmer, Miss Allie Berry and Mrs. Ronald Isbister.

A life membership certificate was presented to Miss Evelyn Donaldson by Mrs. William Morrison, with Mrs. James Whittington reading the address.

A reading, "Brother of Man," was given by Mrs. Karl Huggins.

The meeting was closed with prayer by the president.

Small Percentage Young Canadians Said Christians

"Only 25 per cent. of the young people in Canada are Christians," was the startling statement of fact revealed by Miss Margaret Wolstenholme in her talk on "Missions in Our Backyard" at the Elizabeth Parker Auxiliary meeting in Trinity United church parlor Monday evening.

She said that, according to the 1951 census, 96 per cent. of the population indicated some religious affiliation, but the Canadian Youth Commission reports that 25 per cent. of the young people of Canada were completely indifferent to Christian religion, 50 per cent. were slightly religious, leaving a bare 25 per cent. who were really religious.

She further quoted statistics to show that the United States has 87 million church members, but that there are almost 73 million people in North America who have no religious affiliation at all, and yet we proudly acclaim Canada and the United States as Christian countries.

Miss Wolstenholme illustrated her talk with several factual stories of human interest, such as one about a little girl in America attending a country Sunday school for the first time and asking, "Who is Jesus?", that no one had ever told her about Him before; and another about seven North American soldiers rescued from a watery grave, during the last war, by a Solomon Island group, who fed, sheltered, cared for and hid them for several months before they were able to return to duty, and during that time they converted all seven men to be Christians. She also cited instances of racial discrimination which she claimed was all too prominent among so-called Christian people of North America.

She told of work being done in slum areas of large North American cities and of nine mission boats that ply the outlying coasts of the Canadian Atlantic and Pacific sea coast. She stated that nearly 165,000 strangers found their way to Canada last year, which, she claimed, was a further challenge for Christian workers.

Declaring that not all the work of Christian missions is to be found in foreign lands, or even in the slums, or the mountains, or the sea coast, but that sometimes God's mission field is right next door "in our own backyard," Miss Wolstenholme concluded her talk.

Theme for the worship period was "The Church in Their House," led by Miss Greta Giles and shared by Mrs. W. A. Davidson and Miss Mignon Mayneord.

Mrs. T. W. Horton presided for the short business session and Mrs. S. Harrison gave a short paper on temperance and Mrs. W. Head one on Christian stewardship.

Dainty lunch was served by group two, under leadership of Miss Giles and Miss Wolstenholme.

THE 65TH ANNIVERSARY of the WMS in St. Andrew's United church, thought to be the oldest WMS organization in the city, was celebrated at the meeting Tuesday afternoon with a candle-lighting ceremony and tea. 65th Anniversary St. Andrew's WMS Marked By Service

Candle-lighting ceremony to mark the 65th anniversary of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's United Church was the highlight of the program planned for this occasion Tuesday afternoon.

First of the five candles was lighted by Mrs. Wishart Van Every, daughter-in-law of the first president, Mrs. Wm. Van Every, and later Mrs. Van Every cut the anniversary cake. Next candle was lighted by Mrs. E. R. Shirley for her aunt, the first treasurer of the Society. Next by Mrs. C. M. Scott who spoke briefly of home and overseas mission work in the early days and of her own experience in India where the great leaders have been educated in mission colleges and schools.

Mrs. E. Hawley, an active member of the WMS, was chosen to light a candle because her grand children represent the 5th generation of the family in this church. And to recognize the younger groups of the church, a candle was lighted by Mrs. D. L. Gilmour, leader of the CGIT.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Henry Cotton at conclusion of the service. Mr. and Mrs. Cotton contributed a pleasing duet selection to the program and were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. R. Y. Kenny.

Some members who are not able to come to meetings frequently were brought to the church parlour on Tuesday and all were welcomed by president Mrs. A. A. Munro, who gave the call to worship on the theme "The work of our hands." Worship was led by Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, and the offering was dedicated by Mrs. R. Jones.

Miss Clara Barn's group had the study period and presented "The ministry of radio" with Mrs. B. Fowler, Mrs. E. Grandy, Mrs. F. Gillespie and Mrs. F. Mason taking part.

Arrangements for a CGIT Mother and Daughter banquet on March 31st were announced, and some plans were made for the annual Lilac Tea on May 26th.

Fashion Parade Becomes A Production With Entertainment and Styles For Both Sexes, And Up To Grandmothers

The annual Easter parade of fashions, sponsored by the Local Council of Women, is becoming something of a production. It started several years ago as a children's fashion show—now it is an evening of entertainment for the whole family with the performers ranging from 18 months to grandmother's age.

In this year's show there were not only professional women models of two age groups, but men as well, and for the first time there was a male commentator to describe the men's wear shown. He was Graham Gordon of the CHEX staff.

Mrs. Maurice Holt was again the women's and children's fashion commentator, doing an excellent job of pointing out little details the observer might miss. Coats, suits, dresses, rainwear, bathing suits and evening gowns for collegiate and adult wear were in the second part of the show, with the children, up to teen-age, showing their clothes first.

The bride and her all-important-day ensemble was not forgotten—not at all. In this show there were three brides, all very lovely in most exquisite gowns, and they posed on the runway making a picture of unbelievable beauty that quite out-shadowed the lone groom, though he was immaculate in midnight blue dress suit.

Applause-getters of the wedding scene which came as the finale, were a much younger bride and her groom, little Sonia Alberico and Eddie Collis, behaving quite appropriately in outfits just as perfect as the others. The little groom added a top hat to match his finely tailored black evening suit.

Entertainers brought for this occasion had talent not often enjoyed in Peterborough. Four girls of the Barry Townley string ensemble were not only accomplished violinists but were lovely to look at on the stage. Their repertoire included a History of the Violin, through the decades, and it was when they came to "fiddling for an old-fashioned square dance" that they got the biggest hand from the crowd.

A panoramic stage setting in keeping with the spring season was background for the fashion parade. When screens were first drawn the children all stood posed on the steps, and among them was a large size, very friendly "bunny."

Comedy entered the scene twice — without being announced — when a bathing beauty of 50 years ago sauntered in, and later a man in very loud plaid suit appeared.

CHILDREN'S STYLES

As usual, the children's clothing received less notice than the adorable young models themselves, but mothers did take note of quality and washability, etc., as well as noting the style trends displayed. Tiny Debbie Vaughn was the 18-month-old starter of the parade, and had to be helped up and down the big steps by her laughing young escort, John Comstock.

Future "Babe Ruth's" of Peterborough will all be wanting the baseball player's outfit that was shown, and school girls would all love the petunia color leather jacket and matching pony-tail hat that was modelled by Sandra Reichardt. A confirmation outfit with removable armlets in the dress would enable it to be used for parties afterward. Janice Crary modelled a navy and white printed swim suit and matching stole with the assurance that comes from being a good swimmer even at her tender age.

Three collegiate girls modelling were Joan Heard of St. Peter's High School, Carol Fallis of Kenner Collegiate and Betty Dalton of PCVS. They displayed school outfits from the special collegiate shop of the Allan B. Collis store and also party frocks.

WIDE VARIETY

Wide variety without repetition was achieved in the selections for the business girl, young and older matron made by Mrs. Collis. All the merchandise in the show, men's, women's and children's, and the hats, jewelery, gloves and the very swish umbrellas were from her store.

The navy princess coat, the loose coat with bead-trimmed collar and a bright red raincoat and hat with umbrella matching the striped trim on collar and cuffs were good staples for every wardrobe. Parisian styling and fit were noted in a ribbed wool weskit, worn with wool plaid skirt under a leather jacket in the new bittersweet color. This was a twin to a gentlemen's leather jacket in the same shade, also modelled.

Pearl bead trim was at the bustline of a navy bathing suit and the model carried a decorative new bathing cap. There was an attractive new pedal pusher set for the bicycle crowd.

High Empire midriff, so much talked about this year, was displayed in pale blue crash material, with skirt fullness coming from unpressed pleats. The popular sheath dress was shown in navy with a stole jacket lined with navy and white check to be worn both sides out, and atop this a very natty navy sailor hat with starched feather to the fore.

FULL SKIRTS

The beloved full skirted dress for summer was very nice in a black and white print. An imported summer cocktail gown was in sapphire blue cotton, which didn't look like cotton, and a pretty summer evening frock had an intricately draped bodice, back and front, and was highlighted with a large costume pin. An unusual version of the coat dress, so well liked by busy women, was shown in navy with check taffeta at front, and with it a most unusual shell bonnet in white.

A black and white silk jacket dress shown would be extremely suitable for the Peterborough matron who attends many meetings. For her lighter moments there was a navy afternoon dress with jewel-trimmed front, worn with a stole, and for evenings a rosewood taffeta gown with lace long torso bodice.

Two styles of dress for wedding flower girls were shown in pink and blue, and a bridesmaid's dress or evening gown was beautifully designed of pink tulle and lace.

PRIZES DRAWN

Mrs. A. W. Nelson, president of Local Council, opened the show and introduced Mrs. Holt as commentator. Later she called on the mayor's wife, Mrs. Norman Graham to make the draws for 21 prizes that were donated for the evening.

Prize-winners included Misses Joyce Huggins, Leona Harris, Ivy Steele, Jean Hunter, Mabel Gillen, Mildred Steinkraus, Clara Hayward, Marg Sullivan, Mary Wannamaker, and Mrs. J. M. Beatty, Mrs. Wm. Kinlin, Mrs. E. Johnson of Young's Point, Mrs. R. Grant, Mrs. A. D. Nelson, Mrs. D. Mahood, Mrs. Selma Kay, Mrs. Thos. Hendry and Mrs. E. Thompsented by the Council to Mrs. son.

Bouquets of flowers were pre-Holt and to Mrs. Collis, and boutonniers were given to Mr. Collis and Mr. Gordon.

Arrangements for the show were looked after by Mrs. George H. Hewitt, and Mrs. Collis secured the models and entertainment.

MILLBROOK SCHOOLS

The rooms of Millbrook Public school were open to inspection by parents and friends of the pupils on Monday evening. The children had left books open on their desks and there were handicraft, art and plasticine displays. Percy Hamilton, the principal, Miss Jean Burnham and Mrs. L. J. Stuart were in their rooms to greet the visitors and to discuss pupils progress with their parents. There was a good attendance and nearly every one stayed for the Home and School meeting which followed.

During the business meeting Mrs. B. B. Dawson, the president, was appointed as delegate to the Home and School convention being held in Toronto during Easter week. In case she cannot attend Mrs. M. E. Hobbs, vice-president was named as alternate. The attendance award for having most parents present went to the pupils of Mr. Hamilton's room.

Mr. Hamilton gave the commentary and Wilfred Elson showed two films, "Citizen Jan Varek" and "The prevention of communicable diseases."

Plans were made to attend St. Thomas' Anglican church in a body on the evening of March 14 to mark the close of education week. Mrs. Homer Ouellette reviewed a pamphlet on "Understanding Teen-Agers."

The pupils of the senior room presented a program.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilfred Elson, social convener and her committee.

COLORFUL TROUT

ROTORUA, N.Z. (CP)—Harvey, a four year-old four-pound trout among a school of fish at the Tarawha Springs, is a great tourist attraction and his owner has refused an offer of $3,000 for him. Harvey is brown in front and green at the tail, but at feeding times he reverses the colors.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Finds Canadian Cooking Too Much On Stingy Basis

Grietje (Dutch for Margaret) writes " . . . wouldn't it be more fair to introduce the Canadian cooking on a not quite so stingy basis?"

Her long letter was engaging and individualistic and I would dearly love to print it but she hoped I would not.

After dinner last night I thought "Now there's a meal Grietje can't call stingy" Yet the meal was not extravagant, as you can judge for yourselves. It bears out my argument that you can serve an infinite variety of meals from foods that are all procurable on Canadian markets.

In my opinion the following shrimp dish is a rare treat.

SHRIMP AND SMOKED OYSTER CASSEROLE

One lb. shrimp in the shell ($1.25), 1 4-oz. can smoked oysters (Saico brand Japanese 39c or Reese brand U.S. 59c), 2 cups whit sauce (see below), 2 oz. or less old Cheddar cheese grated, two-thirds cup buttered crumbs, ½ teaspoon each salt and MSG (Accent).

French shrimp in the shell are a nuisance to prepare but the crispness they retain even after cooking is worth all the trouble. Shell and remove feelers and tail. With sharp pointed knife scrape out the dark vein from the back. Drain the oil from the smoked oysters. Make a white sauce by heating in top of double boiler 2 cups whole milk, and stir into it a mixture of 4 tablespoons each melted butter and flour, until thick. To it add the grated cheese, salt and MSG. Gently stir in the prepared shrimp and drained oysters. Turn into casserole. Sprinkle sifted crumbs which have been stirred into 2 tablespoons melted butter, over top. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. or 400 deg. Fahr. for 30 or 25 minutes or until bubbling all over and tinged with gold.

We served this with new beets and spinach and celery hearts and our semi-annual.

APPLE PIE A LA PEADY

Six average-sized Spy apples, 2/3 to ¾ cup light brown sugar, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, about 1 or 1½ tablespoons butter, about ¼ to ½ teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg.

The Pastry (for deep 10-inch pie plate): Two cups unsifted all-purpose flour. Put this in sifter and sift into bowl and 1 teaspoon salt. Cut into these with pastry blender or 2 knives 2/3 cup good quality shortening and when this resembles fine meal sprinkle over top 3 or 4 tablespoons cold water (3 tablespoons are preferable) and cut in with knife just until flour is moistened. Roll out half of it on floured board to just fit pie plate. Line pie plate. Slice pared Spy apples thinly into crust, sprinkling half of the sugar over apples when half of them are in. Finish with applies then sugar. Sprinkle over the spices then dot with the butter. Roll out top crust, gash centre section to allow steam to escape, fit over apples, seal edges by moistening under rim, trim off excess dough and seal by pressing with tines of fork. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 15 minutes; reduce heat to 400 for another 30 minutes or until apples are thoroughly tender and crust is pale gold.

We are cheese addicts so we served old cheddar and Roquefort. There are folks who come to this house who want home-made ice cream on this, but by the time I've made a shrimp casserole, after peeling the shrimp, and made an apple pie after peeling the apples, they are lucky to get cheese with it.

I certainly hope you more venturesome cooks will try the shrimp dish and add it to your permanent cooking repertory. It will serve six adequately.

DOROTHY DIX

Unassertive Youth Wonders Why Fails To Keep Girls

DEAR MISS DIX: I want to know if I'm too lenient with the girls I date. My friends say I am. I date a girl for a while and she seems to like me. But then, suddenly I am dropped. The girl I go with now is 18; I'm 19. I buy her a corsage for every dance that comes along; I never argue with her, although sometimes I am inclined to when I think she's wrong. I'm so afraid I may say something to hurt her, for then she'll turn all my other friends against me. I feel that she's not as interested in me now as when we first dated. How can I keep her regard?

GENE

✧ ✧ ✧

CONCERN TOO OBVIOUS

ANSWER: You try altogether too hard, Gene, to keep your young ladies. Most girls like a boy who's easy to talk to. You make your concern so obvious that the girls become disinterested. Instead of trying to impress the young lady with your desire to give her every last word learn to be yourself, and argue when necessary. Now, that doesn't mean bickering, but simply helping to create intelligent conversation. When one party of a duo is a dyed-in-the-wool yes-man, conversation is impossible. Good talk takes two, each with opinions.

Be well aware of the social amenities expected of a young man, but don't go overboard observing every last one to the smallest detail, and—most important of all—don't spoil the evening by worrying.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 17, and my boy friend is 18. We're in love, and want to marry. My family is against it. His folks are in favor of it. My father doesn't like him because he won't work.

R.R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your father is right; you should drop the boy, but fast. His family's acquiescence to your marriage plans is probably due to the fact that they'd like to get him off their hands. Since you propose to live with your folks, the young man undoubtedly expects free room and board for the rest of his life. Any man who has an allergy against work will make a poor husband.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My beau goes to college in a nearby town. He used to come down two or three times a week but lately he lets as much as two weeks go without seeing me. I know he's doing poorly in two subjects; do you think that could be the reason for his lack of interest?

PATSY.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There certainly couldn't be a more logical reason than the probability of flunking two subjects. Don't nag for more attention while his mind should be thoroughly settled on books. With spring exams coming up he needs to devote much time to study.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 15 years old, and am expecting a child. The boy involved doesn't want me to divulge his identity, but my parents want to know who is responsible. What should I do?

M.M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: By all means tell your folks. They have a right to know.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

6—In Memoriam

GALL—In loving memory of George T. Gall, who passed away March 11, 1952.
Till memory fades and life departs
You live forever in our hearts.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

MOONEY—In loving memory of a dear father, William Mooney, who passed away March 10, 1949:
God knew that he was suffering,
That the hills were hard to climb,
So He closed his weary eyelids,
And whispered, peace be thine.
Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair,
Some time, some day, we know not when,
We will meet out loved one there.
—Ever remembered by son Percy, Daughter-in-law Muriel.

SHEWARD—In loving memory of a dear mother, Selina Sherward, who passed away March 10, 1948.
We have only your image dear mother,
To remember our whole life through,
But the sweetness will linger forever
As we treasure the image of you.
—Lovingly remembered by family.

TALLMAN—In loving memory of Mrs. Flossie Tallman who passed away March 10th, 1943.
When days are dark and friends are few,
Dear mother, how I think of you.
Friends are friends if they are true;
I lost my best friend, when I lost you.
—Ever remembered by daughter Eva.

Enormous Crab Has Museum Officials Agog

HALIFAX (CP)—A crab as big as a barrel head has the Nova Scotia museum of science agog today. Deep red in color, the spider crab is believed to be the first caught in Canadian waters.

Known technically as lithodes agassizi, the crab was hooked near Sable island, due east of Halifax.

Two City

The panel of judges comprised D. B. Strudley, Stratford, chairman of the National Industrial Design committee; R. C. Berkinshaw, New Toronto, president of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. of Canada; Mark Ely, Toronto, president of Canadian Retail Federation; John Bland, Montreal, director of the School of Architecture, McGill University; Mrs. W. R. Walton, Jr., Oakville, Ontario, past president of the Canadian Association of Consumers.

At the presentation of awards by Mr. Howe, Westclox was represented by W. J. Hardill, general sales manager; and Outboard Marine & Manufacturing Co. were represented by John W. Madden, sales manager of the outboard division who received the award for his company, and Russ Baer, advertising manager.

Japan Rolls Out Red Carpet For Prime Minister St. Laurent

TOKYO (CP)—The prime ministers of Canada and Japan shook hands today as the former enemy power rolled out the red carpet for the visiting Canadian leader who arrived here on the last official stop of his round-the-world goodwill tour.

Prime Minister St. Laurent clasped hands warmly with Japan's Shigeru Yoshida and other dignitaries as he arrived for a three-day state visit.

The Nipponese welcome was impressive, and the red carpet was literal—a 50-foot plush affair rolled up to the RCAF C-5 transport after it taxied to a stop at Haneda airport.

The Canadian leader was the first guest to be met by a Japanese prime minister since the war. Last fall Vice-President Richard Nixon of the United States, the other post-war state guest, was met at the airport by the deputy premier.

Emperor Hirohito sent his chief court chamberlain, Yusumasa Matsudaira, to welcome the Canadian party, and Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki and other cabinet ministers were also on hand.

WAVES TO CROWD

The prime minister looked fit as he stepped from the plane which had flown him from Seoul after talks Tuesday night with President Syngman Rhee. Carrying his hat in his hand, he stepped out into the freezing cold, waved to the waiting crowd and stepped briskly down to greet Canadian ambassador Robert Mayhew.

The Tokyo metropolitan police band played "O Canada" and the Japanese national anthem, then the two prime ministers were introduced and the round of handshaking began. The Canadian leader personally greeted some 50 members of the Tokyo diplomatic corps and Japanese officials.

He immediately won the respect of the group, who had been waiting at the bleak airport for some time, by shaking the hand of each and chatting with everyone in turn, if only for a moment.

NOT FEELING COLD

Showing no signs of feeling the cold himself, he then spoke to Canadian residents and their children who had come to the airport to greet him.

He also had a word with Canadian-born Japanese who also turned out, and in a short talk he said he brought "warm greetings to the people of Japan from their friends in Canada, and assurance that we shall retain your friendship and hope you will continue to consider us your friends."

Then, escorted by motorcycle police, the Canadian party drove to the Canadian embassy where the prime minister took a brief rest before meeting Yoshida again at his residence later in the day.

OBITUARIES

MRS. JOHANNA MOLONEY

One of the county's oldest residents, Mrs. Johanna Moloney, RR 11, Peterborough, died today at her residence in her 98th year.

Born in Douro township, she was the daughter of the late William Moloney and Mary Crough. She resided most of her life in Douro and for the past 13 years has lived in Otonabee township.

Mrs. Moloney was a member of the Church of the Assumption, the Altar Society and the Catholic Women's League.

Surviving her are her children, Mrs. Stephen O'Toole of Peterborough, Mrs. Harry Armstrong and Mrs. Leo Spencer, both of Lakefield, Josephine, at home, Roger of Peterborough, Edward of Douro and Daniel at home. Her husband, Daniel Moloney, predeceased her 37 years ago, as well as three brothers.

The funeral will be held from the Lane Funeral Home, Hunter St., 9.30 a.m. Saturday, to the Church of the Assumption for Requiem Mass at 10 a.m. Burial will be in the St. Peter's cemetery.

JOHN F. GUIRY

Following a brief illness, John Francis Guiry of Downeyville died in his 77th year in St. Joseph's hospital, Peterborough.

The funeral was held from Burrow's funeral home, Lindsay to St. Luke's church Downeyville where requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. S. J. Coffey, who also said the prayers at the grave assisted by Father Lynch and Father McCarney. Present in the Sanctuary were Rev. Fathers McFadden, Lynch, Corkery, McCarney, McGuire and O'Donoghue.

Pallbearers were Thomas Murtha Ambrose Herlihey, Frank O'Leary, James Guiry, Paul O'Leary and Fabian O'Neill

The late Mr. Guiry was born in Emily township, son of the late Hanorah Crowley and Garrett Guiry.

He is survived by his wife Catherine (O'Leary), one son Joseph at home, three daughters Sister Honora of St. Joseph's Convent, Cobourg, Nora of Lindsay, Rose Marie of Toronto. He also leaves three sisters Sister Mary of Victory and Sister Clement of Mount St. Joseph, Peterborough, Ada of Lindsay and two brothers Joseph of Toronto and Herbert of Trout Creek. One brother, the Rev. J. J. Guiry and two sisters Mary and Alice predeceased him.

First Employee

came president and general manager. That was the beginning of Springer Lock Manufacturing Co. of Belleville which he operated for 20 years.

At his Belleville home today Mr. Springer said the American Hardware Corporation of New Britain, Conn., had been urging him to sell his interest in Springer Lock. He turned back those approaches until his doctor imformed him that he had an incurable eye condition. Shaken by that prospect he disposed of his shares to the firm now known as Corbin Lock Co. of Canada.

That was the third lock manufacturing company which Mr. Springer helped to establish in Canada and in this central section of Ontario. He said that was one of his regrets was the sale of his business to Corbin. Not long after that accomplished fact he consulted doctors in Montreal who succeeded in healing his eye condition and saving his sight.

There were several other manufacturing interests in his business career which was begun in Peterborough and ended in Belleville. He is still an active member of Belleville Rotary Club, he has been chairman of the Belleville School Board, a director of the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, and president of Belleville Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Springer has also been on the board of management of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Although he is 90 years old today, he is still alert and active, handicapped only by some deafness.

Missionary Dies

MONTREAL (CP)—The Most Rev. Gabriel Breynat, 86, a legendary figure in the Canadian Arctic where he served as a Roman Catholic missionary for 51 years, died Tuesday night near Lyons, France.

$10,000 Damages Action Dismissed

WHITBY (CP)—A damage action for $10,000 brought by Mrs. Doris Sikariw, 50, of Oshawa against her landlord, Michale Matthews was dismissed Tuesday at a session here of the Ontario Supreme Court.

Mrs. Sikariw said she was "nearly cooked" when a stove in a garage annex collapsed while she was preserving peaches.

In dismissing the action the judge ruled that Mrs. Sikariw was not a tenant and consequently a trespasser in the annex when the floor collapsed over a 4½-foot excavation. She said she suffered severe burns from the boiling syrup and injuries from the falling stove.

Mr. Matthews said Mrs. Sikariw had not been granted permission to use the garage and that there was a sign on the door saying "Keep out." Mrs. Sikariw claimed that Mr. Matthews had given her permission to use it.

The accident occurred in the fall of 1952.

Want Referees Restored

SUDBURY (CP)—The Sudbury employment advisory committee voted unanimously Tuesday to ask the unemployment insurance commission to restore a court of referees in unemployment cases in the Sudbury area.

Nels Thibault, of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) said absence of the court could result in hardship for Sudbury district jobless forced to go to North Bay at their own expense for hearings.

The court, whose function is to hear cases in which jobless persons challenge an unemployment insurance commission decision to deny them out-of-work benefits, was abandoned here about two years ago. Thirty-six cases from this district were heard at North Bay during 1953.

22 Entries Scratched From Grand National

LONDON (AP)—Only 35 of the original 57 nominees for the Grand National steeplechase were named today in the official list of final acceptors for the March 27 grind.

The four-mile, 856-yard race—the world's toughest steeple-chase—will be worth £10,495.

The winner will get £8,671.

Wot No Sun, 33 to 1 at the last betting call-over, is among the scratched horses. There will be another betting call-over tonight.

Mrs. Annie Murphy

The funeral for Mrs. Annie Murphy who died Saturday was held Tuesday from her residence, 57 Park Hill Road, to St. Peter's cathedral where the Rev. John T. Hickey celebrated requiem mass.

As her son, Leo Murphy, is a sergeant on the Peterborough Police Force, the policemen formed a guard of honor.

The graveside prayers in St. Peter's cemetery were said by the Rev. G. Gaughan. Pallbearers were: Emery Smith, Joseph McCarthy, Jack Keating, Ernie Francis, Ed Nizol and Reginald Corrin.

Cecil P. Butler

The Right Rev. Msgr. P. P. Butler celebrated requiem mass Tuesday for his brother, Cecil P. Butler, at the Immaculate Conception church. Mr. Butler died suddenly at his home in Toronto Saturday.

The graveside prayers at St. Peter's cemetery were said by Msgr. Butler, assisted by the Rev. Dr. F. M. Grant, the Rev. J. V. Masterson, the Rev. W. C. McCarney and the Rev. G. Weiss.

Pallbearers were: Herbert O'Heron, Emmett Kylie, Leo Tobin, Ray Healey, Roland Bonneville and Malcolm Cavanagh.

Toronto Youths Stand Trial For Murder

BARRIE (CP)—The first of at least 26 crown witnesses was scheduled to testify today at the murder trial of Ian Robertson, 21, and Stephen Kingsley, 19, in the shooting last Oct. 29 of Fred (Scotty) Cameron, 60-year-old Toronto investment firm messenger.

The trial started Tuesday in Ontario Supreme Court with Mr. Justice H. A. Aylen presiding. A defence request to have the two Toronto youths tried separately was turned down.

Crown attorney W. M. Thompson, outlining the crown's case to the all-male jury, said he will seek to prove that robbery was the motive in the slaying of the former professional soccer player for St. Mirren of Paisley in Scotland, whose body with five bullet wounds was found in a ditch in this area 50 miles north of Toronto.

Robertson and Kingsley listened as Mr. Thompson told the jury:

"The crown's case is that the two accused drove Cameron from Toronto and robbed and killed him. Whether the robbery came before or after the killing is immaterial. The evidence indicates Cameron was robbed and killed by two men who had gone out on a joint enterprise.

"How could two young men get a man of Cameron's age to go for a ride in the country? It is sad but true that some men are afflicted with homosexuality. Some satisfy their sexual urge with male persons. Part of the crown's case is that, knowing this, Cameron would be a very willing victim and in the course of the car drive was led to his death."

Mr. Thompson said witnesses will testify that when the youths were arrested Nov. 25, police seized a bloodstained car at the home of Robertson's father.

The jury comprises a hospital attendant, a merchant, a mechanic, a trucker, two agents and six farmers.

At the time of the slaying, friends described Cameron as a confused and lonely man who often played bagpipe records in his cheap boarding-house room.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Parker (Mother of 5)

March is here . . . bringing promises of another lovely spring. But the weather is still fickle! So when you're fresh-airing baby, take an extra sweater or blanket in case the temperature topples. A sizeable square of sheet plastic, tucked in carriage or stroller makes an excellent "protector" if sudden showers surprise you.

• • •

Weather change catch you short of drying space? Just turn baby's play pen on its side for extra rack room.

• • •

Vitamin C . . . easy as 1-2-3. No squeezing, no straining to give baby the precious Vitamin C he needs every day. Gerber's Strained Orange Juice is specially processed for babies. It's made from tree-ripened oranges, selected for uniform Vitamin C content and the mild, fresh-fruit flavor tykes take to. Carefully pasteurized and finely strained so it can be fed from bottle, cup or spoon.

• • •

Cover-up! If you do not use all the orange juice, or any baby foods, at one feeding, leave the remainder right in the container. Just cover well before placing in your refrigerator. If you don't have Gerber's handy can covers, a bit of wax paper and a rubber band will serve nicely.

• • •

Five to go! Gerber's five famous Baby Cereals are all pre-cooked and ready to serve. Simply add milk, formula or other liquids to get a smooth, easy-to-swallow texture. Each one has a delicate, but distinctive flavor pleasing to unawakened taste buds. And all five are enriched with blood-building iron, bone-building calcium and the important B-Vitamins baby's growing body needs. For variety, rotate: Rice, Barley, Oatmeal, Wheat, and Mixed Cereal.

• • •

Important! When first introducing cereal to your eager little eater, try a soupy mixture at first so the texture will seem more familiar. Increase the thickness of the cereal gradually as your baby learns to swallow.

DONALD MacDONALD, recently elected leader of the Ontario Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, will be a visitor to this district in March. He will speak in the Port Hope town hall on Thursday evening and the regional conference of CCF members and supporters in Peterborough March 20-21.

Methodist Head Criticizes Billy Graham

LONDON (AP) — A Methodist leader declared today that evangelist Billy Graham is preaching a version of the Bible "which was abandoned by every scholar of repute half a century ago."

The American preacher has been drawing an average 10,000 persons a night in the 10 nights since he opened his revival campaign at Harringay sports arena.

The criticism was made by Rev. Bryan M. Reed, secretary of the British Methodist youth department, in the magazine Methodist Recorder. He wrote:

"My own anxiety is lest young people influenced by this campaign may be drawn into some of the narrow fundamentalist groups which are its main supporters.

"I do not object to their fundamentalism—we are all entitled to our own beliefs—but I greatly deplore their intellectual intolerance."

First Parliament Opens In Sudan

KHARTOUM (Reuters) — The Sudan's first parliament session, guarded by jittery soldiers, opened in Khartoum today.

The parliament buildings were protected by barbed wire. Troops were on the alert and police patrolled the capital to prevent a repetition of the March 1 riot which killed 34 persons and forced postponement of the opening.

The Sudanese legislators heard a pledge by Governor-General Sir Robert Howe to build up a Sudanese army for the new African state capable of resisting "any outside aggression" after British and Egyptian forces withdraw, some time in the next two years.

The March 1 riot followed arrival of Egyptian President Mohammed Naguib. Today there were no distinguished foreign guests.

Trapper Shoots It Out With U.S. Posse

CRYSTAL FALLS, Mich. (AP)—A trapper who "lived like a coyote" shot it out with a posse from a cabin in the lonely woods of upper Michigan Tuesday, saving his last shell for himself.

Sheriff Edward P. Fandri said the trapper, Emil Schroder, 57, committed suicide, firing his last shot into his head after wounding one of the law officers who came to get him.

Harry Urban, a 70-year-old turnkey, was shot in the elbow and thigh.

Fandri said Schroeder, a parolee from Wisconsin's Waupun state penitentiary, had been wanted since September when he fired a shot at his employer, who had fired him.

The sheriff said Schroeder lived off the woods, trapping and selling pelts, but always dodging the police.

British Electricians Get Wage Increase

LONDON (Reuters) — British electricians today ended their three - month "guerrilla" strike campaign following the acceptance of a wage increase by employers.

The National Federated Electrical Association, the employers group, offered the 200,000 men another two pence an hour subject to their arranging to resume work in all areas at the earliest possible moment.

The Communist-led Electrical Trades Union had asked for three pence an hour more in London and 2½ pence in other parts of the country. Contracting work on industrial sites all over the country has been held up by the stoppages, some of 24 hours and some of a week's duration.

Gets Defence Nod

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday nominated Navy Secretary Robert B. Anderson to be deputy secretary of defence, succeeding Roger M. Kyes. Anderson, a Texas rancher-lawyer-business man, was a "Democrat for Eisenhower" in 1952. The White House said there would be no immediate announcement on a successor to Anderson in the top navy post.

Legislation Consolidates Revenue Fund

TORONTO (CP) — Legislation officially reorganizing the provincial government's treasury department was introduced in the Ontario legislature today.

The legislation—the Financial Administration act—was introduced by Premier Frost who said it merely places on the statutes what is actually in effect.

The act consolidates the Revenue Fund act, the Public Revenue act, the Provincial Loans act and certain sections of the Audit act that provide for duties of the treasury department rather than the provincial auditor.

Deputy provincial treasurer Chester S. Walters would supervise matters relating to the responsibilities of the treasury department as comptroller of finances.

ECONOMIC TRENDS

Provincial economist George Gathercole, as assistant comptroller, would study and report on economic and social trends and their effects on the policies of governments, on economic and social conditions, on the relations between federal, provincial and municipal governments and on any other matters that the treasurer may assign to him.

As comptroller of revenue, P. T. Clark would examine the methods of administration and control applied in any department in conection with collection and accounting of public money.

He would also make studies as to the sources and rates of any taxes or revenue being collected.

Harold Walker, as comptroller of accounts, would examine continually the methods of administration and control applied in any department in connection with the accounting of the disbursement of public money.

Skunk Refuses To Give Way

It was an exciting race, but there would seem to be some question as to who won.

Kenneth Hicks, 535 Downie St., was driving on the Lakefield-Bridgenorth road Tuesday evening when one of nature's screechers loomed up in front of the car. The headlights revealed that the little fellow had a white stripe down his back.

Mr. Hicks tried to pull ahead of the skunk, but the latter refused to give him either lane and spent his final moments in a frantic criss-cross manoeuvre before ending his days beneath one of the car's wheels.

Mr. Hicks and his four passengers opened all the doors of the car and leaped into what ordinarily would have been the fresh air. Of course it wasn't much fresher than on the inside; so they piled back in and the car was removed to a comparatively safe distance of about a mile.

Feeling a little the worse for wear, the travellers once more debussed and aired the car by leaving all the doors open. They returned to Peterborough with the windows turned down.

Mr. Hicks' only consolation is that the appearance of the skunk on the open road may have been a sign of spring.

Charge U.K. Navy Being Extravagant

LONDON (AP)—A Labor member of Parliament charged Tuesday night that the Royal Navy has been wildly extravagant in the construction of the Queen's new yacht, Britannia.

C. R. Bence, who represents a Scottish constituency, told the House of Commons the original cost estimate of £1,800,000 will be exceeded by £250,000.

Bence said it is common talk around Clydebank, where the Britannia is being built, that so many men have been assigned to the job that they are "falling over one another."

He declared high naval officers have ordered cushy modifications to the point where the construction of the yacht is "a disgrace to the admiralty."

Officially, the yacht is being built to serve the Royal Family in peacetime and the Royal Navy as a hospital ship in event of war.

Establish Industry At Simcoe

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian Coupling and Fittings, Ltd., a new company, will establish a new industry in Simcoe, Ont., shortly, Hon. W. K. Warrender, Ontario minister of planning and development, announced today.

The company, the announcement said, represents a combination of Canadian and American capital and is sponsored by Pittsburgh Pipe and Coupling Company of Allison Park, Pa., which will provide guidance.

It has bought an eight-acre site. Employees at the outset will number about 25, increasing to 100.

Walls-Harrison Fight Postponed 2 Weeks

TORONTO (CP) — The Earl Walls - Tommy Harrison heavyweight fight, scheduled March 22 here, has been postponed for at least two weeks, promoter Frank Tunney said today.

An injury to Walls' hand while training to meet Freddy Beshore in Edmonton caused the postponement.

Rev. W. Heustin Moderator Of Presbytery

The quarterly meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church of Canada was held at St. Paul's church, Peterborough, Tuesday, with full attendance of ministers and all the constituent congregations represented by elders.

Rev. W. H. Heustin, Millbrook, was elected moderator to succeed Rev. E. A. Toombs, Campbellford, for the term of one year.

Arrangements were made for the opening of the new St. Giles' church, Park St., Peterborough. Its congregation was instructed to proceed to call the Rev. G. D. Smith, who upon completion of the forms required of the congregation will be officially inducted as minister.

Presbytery appointed Mr. Smith as commissioner to the 1954 general assembly, with Mr. Toombs; alternates are Rev. R. D. Duncanson, Norwood, and Rev. Norman Caswell, Colborne. Elder commissioners are: James Dutton, Peterborough; E. Hircock, Cobourg, with J. G. Purcell of Buckhorn alternate.

Earl Powers of St. Giles' church, Peterborough, was welcomed as a new member of the Presbytery.

Eleven of the 23 congregations reported that the Presbyterian Record, national Presbyterian magazine, is being placed in every home. Grants were authorized for Lakefield and associate charges, Buckhorn and associate charges, Bowmanville and Newtonville, and St. Giles' and Keene.

The Presbytery will send up two overtures to the General Assembly. One asks that the every-person canvass be made obligatory annually in all congregations of Canada. The other asks for greater care in the authorization of special ordination to the ministry and the length of courses for students.

Representatives of the congregations of Nestleton, Ballydugg, and Janetville were present, and asked for ordination of their catechist, Herbert McComb, who, it said, has done excellent work in that field. Presbytery at its next meeting, April 6, will give frther consideration to details of this petition, and will forward it to the General Assembly for its judgment and action.

A grant was authorized for the Nestleton field.

Beer Garden Approved

KITCHENER (CP) — An old-fashioned beer garden has been approved as a feature of Kitchener centennial celebrations June 27 to July 3, the centenial committee said today. Jerkined waiters and beer served in steins are to help recreate the atmosphere of old Germany.

5 CPR Freight Cars Derailed In Muskoka

NOBEL (CP)—Five empty cars of a southbound Canadian Pacific Railway freight train were derailed Tuesday night near this Muskoka district community on the main Sudbury-to-Toronto line. The line was blocked overnight.

Cause of the derailment on CPR freight No. 84 was unknown. There were no injuries.

The line was blocked from 6 p. m. Tuesday until 3:30 a. m. today. It was cleared by auxiliary cranes sent from Sudbury and Mactier.

Nobel is 80 miles south of Sudbury.

French Bomb Vietminh Rebels

HANOI, Indo - China (AP) French air attacks today hit Vietminh rebel positions around Dien Bien Phu in northwest Indo-China for the 90th straight day, and ground sorties from the fortress town made light contact with the enemy.

Only two rebels were killed in the offensive ground sorties from the important French-held fortress in the Thai country. Fighters and bombers carried out strafing and bombing attacks on road points. Other aircraft showered incendiary bombs into the jungle where troops of the Communist-led Vietminh are believed hiding.

The Vietminh captured a Viet Namese militia post 35 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Three Candidates For By-Election

NORTH BAY (CP) — At least three candidates are foreseen for the by-election expected to be called to choose a member of the Ontario legislature for Nipissing.

Spokesmen for Liberal and CCF parties said they expect their parties to contest the seat left vacant by the death March 1 of W. B. Harvey, Progressive Conservative, elected in 1948.

Several have shown interest in obtaining the Progressive Conservative nomination.

Beaverbrae Frees Self

BREMERHAVEN (Reuters)) — The 9,000-ton Canadian ship Beaverbrae ran aground in the Weser estuary Tuesday night but freed herself with her own power after two hours, shipping authorities reported. The Canadian Pacific steamship, carrying emigrants from west Germany, continued her journey to Canada.

RELIEF PROMISED

For Arthritic and Rheumatic Pain

New relief without pills by greaseless, odourless, stainless cream.

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—Discovery of an entirely new method of relieving pain has been announced here. Science has now developed a cream that acts in a new way to bring relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains. Sold under the brand name "InfraRUB", this new odourless and greaseless cream relieves these pains without the need of pills and other internal medicines.

InfraRUB does not merely set up a surface irritation but penetrates deep down into sore muscles and joints. This permits fresh oxygen-rich blood to flow freely through afflicted areas and actually helps drive away the pain-causing congestion and pressure.

Another feature of InfraRUB that appeals to so many people is its ease of application. No long and painful rubbing is necessary as InfraRUB penetrates in a few seconds and vanishes with a moment's light massage.

InfraRUB leaves no oily film or pungent objectionable odour on the skin. Users find they are able to put on clothing in complete safety immediately after application.

Written medical reports on the success of this new help for patients suffering from rheumatic and arthritic pains and general muscular aches and pains have been prepared, based on hundreds of cases in British and French hospitals. InfraRUB users claim almost immediate relief from rheumatic and arthritic pains, sore muscles and joints.

Now for the first time, InfraRUB can be obtained without a prescription from your local drug store for only $1.39. InfraRUB is guaranteed to give hours and hours of comforting relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains or your money will be refunded in full.

Split Committee Discusses Annexation

TORONTO (CP) — Confirmation of a municipal board's decision allowing the annexation of 1,580 acres of Saltfleet township by the city of Hamilton was given Tuesday night by a divided and fighting private bills committee of the Ontario legislature.

The confirmation — seen at Queen's Park as a key decision affecting future annexations—added a rider to the section in a private bill presented by R. E. Elliott (PC—Hamilton East) that the farm owners of the area be protected for the next five years by having an assessment fixed annually by agreement between the city and the farmers. If disagreement arises the question would be considered by the municipal board.

WILL REPORT BILL

The committee finally moved that the bill be reported to the legislature. The annexation is retroactive to Jan. 1. The municipal board's decision was handed down last December.

The committee room, overflowing for the sessions, was rocked by applause, jeers and arguments over the issue.

The same problem confronts the committee for the next two Tuesdays when private bills from London and Sandwich West will be considered.

Mayor Lloyd Jackson of Hamilton said the city had run out of industrial property and proposed to develop the Saltfleet land on the western fringes for light industry.

Harold Robinson, solicitor for Saltfleet township, argued that the city wanted the annexation "only for money."

Reeve Bertram Corman said it would be "years" befre the city could supply services to the area.

Eric Deuxberry, representing the Saltfleet fruitgrowers, claimed that within 10 years the city would have possession of 50 per cent of the fruit farms for tax arrears.

Comet Yields No Clues

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Miles Thomas, chairman of British Overseas Airways Corporation says wreckage of the Comet jet airliner which crashed in the Mediterranean Jan. 10 has given "no lead at all to the cause of the disaster." Thomas told a radio audience Tuesday night that he is satisfied the framework of the Comet "is sound and airworthy." About 10 per cent of the wreck has been recovered in intensive salvage operations.

Verse Speaking Adjudicator Commends Festival Talent

In the opinion of Mrs. Michael Meiklejohn, the drama, verse and public speaking talent, adjudicated by her at this year's Kiwanis music festival, is, for the most part, top-notch. Betty Anne Stevens of Peterborough with an aggregate of 180 for her two solo performances was named "an unusually talented entry."

Her first offering, "A St. Helena Lullaby" earned her 95 points and the highest respect and appreciation from the audience and contestants. "I can not think of anything to criticize," said Mrs. Meiklejohn. "This is one of the finest pieces of verse speaking I've heard in a long time. Miss Stevens' other offering from "Elizabeth the Queen" was a "wonderful job," but "I believe your youth found you out," said the adjudicator. You didn't quite sustain the implacable iron-ness of the tired old women.

TEACHERS' COLLEGE CHOIR

Another performance of particular note was that of the Peterborough Teachers' College choir; a group of pretty young ladies who, in their last selection, uttered a prayer for the immediate ensnarement of handsome, young husbands for each of them. For their interpretation of Belloc's Tarantella they received 92 points.

Joseph M. Vance and Malcolm A. McMartin tightly contested for honors in interpreting Eliot's Murder in the Cathedral but Mr. Vance won by two points with a mark of 80. Mrs. Meiklejohn said it was possible that both men had missed the vital point in the selection— the stressing of the final temptation in the Bishop's introspection beginning, "Now my way is clear . . . ". The adjudicator also condemned unnecessary gesture in preference to stage movement.

Shirley E. Green, the only entry in the women's open Shakespearean drama was described as "having great feeling, pathos and power' 'in her offering. The fact that she played up-stage to the imaginary messenger detracted from the overall performance, but this fact is of no consequence so far as Miss Green's ability is concerned, "I feel you have great promise," said Mrs. Meiklejohn awarding 81 points.

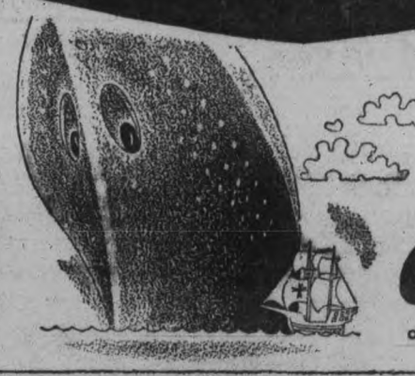
Two Injured Head-on Crash

BROCKVILLE (CP) — Two Quebec residents and an Ottawa woman were brought to general hospital here Tuesday suffering from injuries received in a head-on collision during a snow storm on Highway 2 about nine miles west of here.



In hospital are Mrs. Amy Bringloe, 62, of Outremont, Que., with lacerations of the scalp, legs, multiple abrasions, acute shock and possible internal injuries; Miss Mary Truaisch, 32, of Ottawa, fractured breastbone, injuries to the feet and knees; Henry L. Godbout, 60, of Montreal, minor cuts and bruises to the face and hands.

Mrs. Bringloe was on her way to Mexico for a holiday. Mr. Godbout was a passenger in her car.

Mrs. Bringloe was heading west and Miss Truaisch was returning from Kingston after a visit with her brother, Jack, chief of police there. The two cars met on a curve. Slippery roads were blamed for the accident.

Damage to the two new cars was estimated in excess of $3,000.

Children Spend Whole Week In Moscow Nurseries Go To Parents For Weekend

Bill Boss describes in this story what he saw in a visit to a Moscow nursery. The Soviet foreign office arranged his visit and sent along an official as an interpreter. All news reports from Russia are subject to strict censorship.

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW (CP)—Baby goes to her day nursery here before mummy cooks her own breakfast in the morning.

Working Moscow mothers—and that means most—park junior in the nursery at 7 a.m. They don't get him back until 7 p.m.

The number of Moscow day nurseries run between 1,800 and 2,000 I visited one opened three years ago. Like most of the rest it is a two-story brick building accommodating 100 toddlers from two months (mother returns to work when they're that old) to three years.

About one-half the children stay in the nursery all week from Monday morning to Saturday evening when the parents take them home for Sunday. Parents who do the occasional night shift for a week also leave baby in the clinic that week.

NURSERY ROUTINE

Apart from his nights at home the whole routine of baby's life is in the clinical motherly care of the nursery staff.

When mother takes baby to the nursery in the morning, he is stripped down in a "filter room" before being admitted to the clinic proper. One of the nursery's three doctors takes temperature, records pulse and examines skin. No sick babies get by that daily test.

Each child has his or her own nursery clothes. In the nursery boys and girls dress alike—shirt waist and pants, with a sort of corduroy cover-all that looks like a shirt and buttons down the back.

Some parents like their little girls' hair cropped short for the first three years. Nonetheless they, too, like ribbons around their heads. So the absence of the ribbon is the only way a stranger can tell a boy from a girl.

FOUR MEALS DAILY

The nursery serves the children four meals daily totalling 2,000 calories.

Babies usually are breast-fed during the first year. Mothers are driven from work twice during the day to feed them.

Baby is weighed before and after feeding. If mother hasn't been generous enough the nursery adds more. If mother makes a habit of this baby gets pasteurized mothers' milk, delivered to the clinic bottled.

The tots take regular fresh-air naps the year round in enclosed verandahs. They wear snuggie pyjamas and are rolled up in blanket-type sleeping-bags.

The staff of 47 is headed by a pediatrician, buxom Dr. Marie Victoriavna Piatiery, who at 38 has been a doctor 14 years. She is an affectionate person and has two sons of her own, aged 14 and six.

MUSIC TEACHER TOO

Her staff, besides three doctors, includes two teachers, one music teacher, 17 registered nurses who share day and night duties, 11 nannies aged from 20 to 60, four cooks and assorted laundresses, dishwashers and cleaners.

Her babies are the children of various types of workers, office employees and a good number of students. The parents pay according to income. Most pay between 10 and 15 rubles a month. Some pay as much as 40, the top.

(Moscow is a city in which a good pedagogical student earns 300 rubles a month, a high school teacher 800, a barber 1,000 and a high school principal, 1,800. The ruble's artificial rate of exchange is 25 cents.)

The children seem to have a really grand time. The teachers tell them stories which they illustrate with toys, lead them in games, and teach them songs and dances. Musical education begins young here.

"Their parents complain that at home they break the rules," Dr. Piatiery said, "but on Monday morning the children complain to us. They say their parents don't go to bed, so why should they?"

MOSCOW DAY NURSERY—Russian children from two months to 3½ years are left at day nurseries while their mothers are at work. They are brought in before 7 a.m. and taken home at 7 p.m., although some children sleep there during the weekends. Nurses tell the children animal stories and nursery rhymes. One youngster at left seems more interested in the camera.—(CP Photo).

Post Office Objects To Film

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"I needed money," the beautiful blonde explained Tuesday. "They promised me $50 per picture, so I agreed to let them take my picture.

Sound familiar?

Well, it wasn't Marilyn Monroe explaining her famous calendar pose in the altogether.

It was long-stemmed Sheree North explaining four short home-type movies that have two Hollywood film distributors in a hassle with the post office department.

The post office barred the reels from the mails as "lewd, lascivious, obscene and licentious."

The distributors, Joseph and John Bonica, brothers, retorted that the movies are "terpsichorean art."

RESTORE SERVICE

Federal judge Ernest A. Tolin Monday issued a temporary injunction directing postmaster Otto K. Oleson to restore mail service to the Bonicas. He set March 16 for a hearing on a permanent injunction.

Miss North recently was signed by Miss Monroe's studio, 20th Century-Fox, after doing a sizzling dance on Bing Crosby's first TV show.

Joseph Bonica said Miss North's dance on film is identical with the one she did on the Crosby show and further:

"The scantiest array worn by our film figures are Bikini suits. The post office is 50 years behind times."

STARTED COUNT

Dionysius, learned Greek theologian, introduced the method of counting the years from the birth of Christ.

Wolf's Head Needed To Claim Bounty

TORONTO (CP)—Hunters would be required to bring in only the wolf's head instead of the whole carcass to claim a bounty under new legislation introduced in the legislature Tuesday.

The proposal was contained in an amendment to the Wolf and Bear Bounty Act introduced in the house by Lands Minister Gemmell.

Mr. Gemmell said the amendment was made to encourage destruction of the wolf.

CLERGYMAN NOMINATED

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Rev. John R. Waldie, minister of St. George's Presbyterian church here, Tuesday was nominated by London Presbytery as moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church which meets in Toronto next June.

$601,459,000 Expenditure Reported For Record Spending Year In Ontario

TIMMY HELPS OUT—Peterborough Rotarians prepared for their annual appeal for funds to help crippeld children Wednesday night when they held their Easter seal stuffing bee at the Empress Hotel. This year's Timmy, Ray Badger, symbolic of crippled children, visited the club from Toronto, chatting with the Rotarians and their wives while they filled thousands of envelopes with seals to be sent throughout the Peterborough district. Two Hospitals Get Grants Of $121,800

Supplementary Vote In Ontario Budget Totals $300 Per Bed

Peterborough hospitals receive $121,800 in supplementary grants from the government of Ontario as announced today in the budget address of Premier Leslie M. Frost in his capacity of provincial treasurer.

Civic Hospital has been allotted $67,000 and St. Joseph's Hospital $54,000.

Total of this provincial treasury aid to the hospitals and sanatoria in Ontario is $32,620,129, of which $26,138,208 has already been distributed.

RETIREMENT OF DEBT

In the section of the budget setting out special grants to hospitals, Premier Frost said: "The government is again this year providing hospitals with additional grants for retirement of capital debt and for the rehabilitation of facilities and equipment."

The grant to each hospital will amount to $300 for each recognized bed in service on December 31, 1953.

Payments are made by the government for the fiscal year 1953-54, explaining the fact that most of the money allotted as supplementary aid to hospitals has already been issued.

At the rate of $300 a bed, Peterborough Civic Hospital receives $67,800 for its 226 beds, and St. Joseph's Hospital $54,000 for its 180 beds.

Total grant to Peterborough for its accommodation of 406 beds is $121,800.

U.K. Newspaper Hits Out At Eisenhower

LONDON (CP)—The mass-circulation Daily Mirror in a dispatch from its Washington correspondent today said "America is dishappy, bewildered and frightened because of the appalling failure of the self-proclaimed crusader she elected president."

The dispatch, from correspondent John Walters, said President Eisenhower has surrounded himself with back-slapping tycoons whom the writer called the spokesmen of an "arrogant capitalism."

The front page carried a smiling picture of Eisenhower wearing an "I Like Everybody" button.

Below the picture was this bitter comment: "But the trouble is that hardly anyone likes Ike."

BITTEREST BLAST

The blast was one of the most vitriolic ever launched against a non-British statesman by The Mirror, which has a daily circulation of 4,500,000.

Walters' article continued:

"In his election campaign, Dwight Eisenhower promised that he and other Republicans would boldly lead the nation into an era of happiness, honesty, decency and security.

"But today, Dwight Eisenhower does not lead. He is led."

British newspapers have been critical for days of Eisenhower's handling of the McCarthy issue.

Grants Made For Education To Municipalities Exceed One-Third Revenue

Eleventh Consecutive Budget Surplus With No New Taxes For Coming Year Forecast In Annual Financial Address

(See Page 10 for additional Budget News)

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario, closing out a year of record spending, will pay out $134,000,000, more than one-third of its ordinary revenue, in educational and other grants to municipalities in the coming year, Premier Frost announced today.

Figures the premier tabled in the Ontario legislature in his budget address showed that total spending in the fiscal year ending March 31 would reach a record $601,459,000 total, made up of $376,465,000 for current requirements and $224,994,000 in capital expenditures. The previous high was $518,885,701 in the last fiscal year.

In what he called a "progress budget," the Premier announced a surplus of $1,009,000 for the year just ending, the 11th consecutive surplus since he became provincial treasurer in 1943.

FORECAST $185,000

The surplus compares with a forecast a year ago of $185,000. It was achieved after distribution of an extra $30,850,000 in supplementary grants and allocation of $2,500,000 beyond estimates for sinking fund, or debt retirement.

For the coming fiscal year, ending March 31, 1955, he forecast a surplus of $539,000.

The new fiscal year "marks a signal event in the development of our program of assistance to municipalities" with first payments of unconditional assistance grants, totalling $12,000,000, announced a year ago. Previous grants for police and fire services would be terminated but municipalities would benefit by an increase of $7,000,000 in payments. Educational grants to municipal school boards would increase $3,600,000, from $57,800,000 to $61,400,000.

Other grants would bring the total for municipalities to $134,000,000 compared to the current year's total of $125,100,000, an amount equal to 45 per cent of municipal tax levies in the province last year.

Police Seek Firebug In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Police today sought an arsonist who set a blaze that did $500 damage in a west Toronto factory Wednesday night and said the man may be responsible for setting other fires in rooming houses and other buildings in Toronto in recent weeks.

The blaze, at the factory of the Mennen Company, a toilet preparation manufacturer, was the second in the Dundas and Bloor streets area within a week. Fire department investigators said the man may also have caused a small blaze that broke out at Puddicombe Motors next door to the Mennen Company last Saturday.

"Last night's fire had been deliberately set in at least four places," said Capt. Bill Carson of the Ontario fire marshal's office.

Meanwhile, the fire marshal's office investigated a fire Wednesday at Parry Sound in which two children died, with a view to bringing the installation of floor heaters under more direct control. The frie, like one March 3 at Highland Creek near Toronto in which two children died, spread from a floor stove.

Longshoremen Defy Pickets Go Back Work

NEW YORK (AP) — About 125 longshoremen defied 100 hooting pickets and marched to work on a freighter pier in lower Manhattan today in the first break in a seven-day-old wildcat strike that has hamstrung port activities here.

A dozen foot patrolmen, two mounted and two motorcycle policemen stood by at pier 3, and there was no violence. A newly arrived fruit ship was waiting to be unloaded.

The longshoremen who went to work were said to be members of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association. The waterfront tie-up has been caused by defiant members of the rival Independent Longshoremen's Association who are ignoring a federal court order and the plea of leaders to return to work.

SECRET UNIT RUNS STRIKE

Union officials called for end of the wildcat walkout several days ago but have been obeyed only on the Brooklyn waterfront.

A secret rank-and-file committee of 70 members of the independent ILA announced Wednesday it was sponsoring the strike, and declared the walkout would continue until their union is certified as bargaining agent for the port's 24,000 dock workers.

St. Laurent Not Considering Immediate Recognition Reds

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson Wednesday quoted Prime Minister St. Laurent as saying in the Far East that Canada is not considering immediate recognition of the Red government of China.

Mr. Pearson added that the Canadian government does not know if the Communist regime is the government that the Chinese people want.

He made the statements in the Commons in reply to earlier questions by opposition leader Drew, who has been challenging statements concerning Red China recognition attributed to Mr. St. Laurent in recent press conferences during his round-the-world tour.

The minister, whose department for the last two days has been cabling the prime minister's party for his actual words, was questioned again Wednesday by Mr. Drew. He gave the house this paraphrase of a Seoul press conference, from notes taken there and from Mr. St. Laurent's recollection:

"The prime minister stated. . . that the immediate recognition of the Communist government of China, as a government which had been committing aggression against the United Nations, was not under consideration.

MUST BE REALISTIC

"The prime minister then stated however, it was necessary to be realistic in regard to this matter and that no doubt in due course

Claim S. Korea "Sold Out"

SEOUL, Korea (Reuters) — The Korean Republic, a newspaper run by the South Korean government, today charged that the United States has "sold out" South Korea.

"We find that America has sold us out or deserted us at least three times," the newspaper said. "It is our feeling that the United States has certain obligations to us as related to these misdeeds or mistakes."

In a full-page editorial, the newspaper listed various complaints.

It said Americans have expressed "superiority and impatience" and that "too many Americans look down on Koreans."

The main complaints were:

1. Calling of the April 26 Geneva conference on Korea and Indo-China, with Communist China sitting in.
2. American "siding with the Japanese" in disputes with Korea.
3. Lack of speed in Korean post-war reconstruction.

Wounded Senator Undergoes Operation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representative Alvin Bentley (Rep. Mich.), seriously wounded when Puerto Rican fanatics shot up the House of Representatives March 1, underwent surgery again Wednesday night.

The emergency operation was to close a wound in the abdominal wall that had come apart, the congressman's aide, Elwood Brake, said today.

Brake quoted Dr. Joseph Young, Casualty hospital chief of staff, as saying the Bentley's condition suffered a "slight setback" as a result of the operation.

Four other representatives were less seriously wounded.

Churchill Urged To Retire Soon

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill is under strong pressure to retire within the next few months.

His wife and doctors have joined in urging the old warrior to step down, persons in a position to know said Wednesday.

Some Conservative party stalwarts are saying that Churchill, 9, must turn over the helm soon to 56-year-old Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. They argue the voters must get used to Eden as prime minister if the Conservatives are to win the general election to be held before October, 1956.

Uranium Deposit Found In Muskoka

TORONTO (CP)—Reports that uranium has been found in the Sparrow Lake resort district in Muskoka—about 100 miles north of Toronto sent members of the Prospectors and Developers Association hustling out of their annual meeting here early today.

By dawn four cars of men and equipment were reported heading north. Another group was reported trying to rent a helicopter to fly to the bush area about 20 miles north of Orillia.

Few details of the reported find were available except that it was made by an unnamed private company which had previously operated in the Yellowknife area of the Northwest Territories.

Word of the discovery reaching here said that the find had not yet actually been staked.

"New Look"

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent quipped the steam out of a question at a press conference here today.

What do you think of the "new look" in United States defence? he was asked.

A broad grin creased the prime minister's face.

"The last time I heard the term applied to something concrete," he replied, "it was to women's skirts."

Ontario Budget Highlights

TORONTO (CP) — Highlights of Premier Frost's budget speech today in the Ontario legislature:

Surplus of $1,009,000 on ordinary account after distribution of $30,850,000 in supplementary payments, compared to forecast of $185,000 a year ago. Surplus of $539,000 forecast for next year.

Provincial grants for construction of institutions for charitable cases to be raised from $1,000 to $2,000 a bed and daily rate per capita for maintenance to be doubled.

Spending on conservation in next fiscal year to total $16,500,000. Plans prepared for conservation projects costing $52,000,000.

Ontario population, growing at at rate of about 150,000 a year, now tops 5,000,000.

Rumor Eisenhower Not Seek Re-election

DETROIT (AP)—Drew Pearson, Washington columnist, said Wednesday that President Eisenhower will not seek a second term.

Pearson told a luncheon audience at the Detroit Boat club that he had been informed by friends of the chief executive that Eisenhower has said he would have to make his mark as president in the next 2½ years.

Pearson also said that the president's age and health were other factors against his seeking a second term. Pearson said Eisenhower was suffering from high blood pressure.

Air Defence Test To Be Held March 20

MONTREAL (CP)—Air defence headquarters at nearby St. Hubert announced today the RCAF will hold a week-end exercise March 20 to test air defences in eastern Canada.

The exercise—Dust Devil II—will see regular and auxiliary forces in action.

An RCAF spokesman said regular air force units will operate out of Montreal, Toronto, London, Ont., and Hamilton.

Sealing Vessel Sighted By Planes

SUMMERSIDE, P. E. I. (CP)—Navy planes today spotted the sealing vessel Truls stuck in heavy ice southwest of the Magdalen islands and a helicopter was sent to take off two injured crew members.

One man was reported with a bad head cut from a sealing knife and the other suffered a broken arm. Their names were not available here.

Canada To Admit 2,500 Italians

ROME (AP)—Canada will admit about 25,000 Italian emigrants in 1954, including for the first time in years several thousand Italian workmen.

During 1952 and 1953, only close relatives of Italians who had already emigrated were admitted into Canada.

Now, according to excellent sources, the "backlog" of relatives is nearly used up. This will permit the entry of approximately 5,000 laborers in addition to 20,000 family members.

In Ottawa C. E. S. Smith, immigration director, said it is impossible to estimate how many Italians in the non-priority class will be accepted since applications to join close relatives receive priority.

Accuse Combines Of Price Fixing

OTTAWA (CP) — The anti-combines commission accuses two trade organizations and 31 gasoline dealers of combining illegally to fix retail gasoline prices in the Vancouver area.

In its strongest action since it was set up two years ago, the Restrictive Trade Practices Commission urged the government to seek a court injunction, forbidding the accused from continuing their alleged illegal operations.

The commission's 165-page report tabled in the Commons today by Justice Minister Garson, charged that the combine has been operating since 1951, and despite "condemnation," the gas price boosts fixed by the operators "will probably continue" unless a court ban is obtained.

Named in the report are:

The Retail Merchants' Association of Canada and George R. Matthews, head of the association's B.C. board; the Unincorporated Automotive Retailers Association of Vancouver and its secretary, J. L. Kinneard; and 31 Vancouver area retail gas dealers.

Mrs. St. Laurent Anxiously Awaits Premier's Return

By BERTRAND THIBAULT

QUEBEC (CP)—Like all wives whose husbands are off on a trip, Canada's first lady is waiting anxiously for the return of her husband, Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Mr. St. Laurent, who left on a world tour last month, is expected in Ottawa March 17. Wednesday he arrived at Tokyo where a letter from Mrs. St. Laurent awaited him.

Mrs. St. Laurent said happily in an interview that she had received a telephone call from the external affairs department informing her of the prime minister's arrival in the Japanese capital and sending her his greetings.

Mr. St. Laurent is a diligent letter-writer.

Writing in French from Madras, India, he said: "They received us like princes and true friends."

However, he added: "I am anxious to see an end to this packing and unpacking."

Mrs. St. Laurent said her husband has always preferred to do his own packing to make sure nothing is left out.

"On a trip like this where there are many stops, it is evident the task is tiring," she said.

"My husband only finished packing the morning he left. He started the previous evening, but interrupted it to reply to three letters. It was the first time I saw him write letters on the evening of a big trip."

One of Mr. St. Laurent's trunks contains personal gifts from Pope Pius XII—rosaries for himself and his wife.

The ailing pontiff could not receive Mr. St. Laurent in person, but the prime minister was given the rosaries at the papal apartments.

It was that day, Feb. 15, that the telephone in the brick St. Laurent home on Grande Allee street here brought the first lady a call from the Eternal City. The prime minister called to let his wife know he was well.

Mr. St. Laurent has written brief letters from each of his ports of call. In the Madras letter, he mentioned that the "talks with (India's prime minister) Nehru were very interesting and more numerous than foreseen. . . ."

Only Sensible, Real Approach To World Stability

TOKYO (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent lunched today with the Emperor of Japan after a press conference this morning at which the controversial issue of Red China came up again. The Canadian leader predicted to reporters that eventually the West will deal with the Communist government of China and resume trade with the Communist world.

He told the press conference that it is "only the commonsense, realistic approach" that Allied countries eventually will deal with Red China as the government " in effective control of the China mainland".

On East-West trade, the prime minister said:

"If we want stability in the world, there will have to be all kinds of relations between various countries in the world. . . . This includes commercial relations."

The prime minister drove to the royal palace in a 19th-century horse-drawn state coach for the luncheon with Emperor Hirohito.

TALKS TO PRESS

At the morning press conference he took note of the current stops of the tour, in Korea and the Philippines.

In his remarks on China, the prime minister said "I think I had better keep away from that world 'recognition', because there's been a lot of controversy."

The United States opposes recognition of Communist China, while Britain and some other Commonwealth governments favor it. Britain recognized Peiping soon after the Reds drove out the Nationalists in 1949.

(In Ottawa Wednesday, External Affairs Minister Pearson told the House of Commons that Canada has no immediate intention of recognizing the Communist government of China. He made the statement after earlier questions by Opposition Leader Drew, who had challenged statements concerning the recognition of Red China attributed to the prime minister in other press conferences during the world tour.)

DESIRE FOR PEACE

The prime minister also told reporters here:

1. "Canada will certainly do its best" to get Japan admitted to the United Nations.

2. "I think there is a genuine desire now to try and keep this world at peace."

3. "Neutralism or isolationism are not practical for Canada or the United States. We have come to the conclusion that we need to build up our strength."

During his tour, which took him to London, Paris, Bonn, Rome, Karachi, New Delhi, Colombo, Jakarta, Manila and Korea before coming to Japan, he said he found a genuine desire for peace throughout the world.

Railroad Strike Averted At 11th Hour

DETROIT (AP) — A strike of 2,000 Michigan Central Railroad employees was averted early today—six hours before it was scheduled to start—when union and management negotiators agreed to submit claims and disputes to arbitration.

The successful negotiation session also cancelled a planned freight embargo and the layoff of 12,000 other Michigan Central employees, many in southwestern Ontario.

The 15½-hour meeting was attended by W. E. B. Chase, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, L. W. Lasoske, general manager of the Michigan Central, and L. W. Horning, vice-president in charge of personnel of the New York Central Railroad, of which the Michigan Central is a division.

WORKING AGREEMENTS

The strike was scheduled by the BRT after a dispute involving an interpretation of working agreements.

Michigan Central spokesmen said only a few workers were involved in the issues under dispute, and claimed strike action by the brotherhood was unwarranted.

The brotherhood includes 220,000 American and Canadian members, the largest group of "operating" rail brotherhoods. Its membership is comprised of conductors, trainmen, switchmen and yardmen.

Toronto Trading Prices Higher

TORONTO (CP)—Most prices were higher in moderate early afternoon stock market trading today.

Papers, steels, financial institutions, refining oils, liquors and manufactures were stronger in industrials.

Base metals were ahead with seniors in the lead and juniors also up in mixed trading. Noranda and Hudson Bay, Wednesday's senior leaders, were again in front. Junior changes were slight. Manitou-wedge-area issues were a little stronger in cautious trading.

Golds drew little interest and were almost unchanged.

Western oils advanced with higher - priced issues dominating. Peace River was up 600 cents to lead, followed by Gridoil, up 40 cents.

Uraniums were active but slipped a little. Gunnar was down five cents and Algom dropped 10 cents to show the only more-than-fractional changes in light volumes.

Obituary

CHARLES M. FREEBURN

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—The death occurred Wednesday at Civic Hospital of Charles Malcolm Freeburn, 66, of Lakehurst.

Born in Smith township, son of the late Richard Freeburn and Mary Anne Mowry, he had lived in Lakefield, Peterborough and Bobcaygeon, before settling in Lakehurst 22 years ago where he farmed.

Mr. Freeburn is survived by a sister, Mrs. Stella Pearson, of Toronto and a brother, Gratton Harris, of Peterborough. He was a member of the Lakehurst United church.

Funeral service will be from the Hendren funeral home, Lakefield, on Saturday, at 2:00 p.m. for burial in Lakefield cemetery. Mr. Kenneth Stewart will officiate.

Shipping Chief Dies

MONTREAL (CP)—J. Montague Bate, 71, until his recent retirement chief of auxiliar services for Canada Steamship Lines, died at his home here Wednesday. He was born in Ottawa.

He is survived by his widow and two daughters, Miss Barbara M. Bate of Montreal and Mrs. Robert D. Prince of St. Catharines.

Not Planning Extra Help Textile Industry

OTTAWA (CP)—Revenue Minister McCann said Wednesday he has told a textile union delegation that the government is not planning any new action now on behalf of Canada's slipping textile industry.

He told the delegation, he said, that the industry became over-expanded during and after the war and now is in the process of a shakedown that he described as "an evolution or a revolution."

Dr. McCann, whose own Renfrew South constituency has been hit by closing of textile plants, said he specifically rejected four proposals advanced in a Monday conference here by the Textile Workers' Union of America (CIO-CCL).

These were for the immediate limitation of textile imports, defence orders for depressed textile areas regardless of whether they had the lowest tenders, further strengthening of anti-dumping regulations and delaying action on the proposed Japanese commercial treaty until there is agreement on limiting textile imports.

DISLIKES PROGRAM

Dr. McCann said in an interview he told the union its program is "impracticable."

If trade barriers were set up, he said, other countries could retaliate against Canada. Further, boosting tariffs and putting in quotas could be in violation of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

As to issuing defence orders, he said, the services now are heavily stockpiled on textile products.

Meanwhile, it was reported that an $85,000 defence production contract and the jobs of 120 textile workers at Carleton Place have gone by default.

R. M. Brophy, deputy defence production minister, said that at the request of the Renfrew Woollen Mills Limited, a contract with the Carleton Place mills had been "terminated" and would be placed elsewhere.

M. J. Murray, managing director of the company, said the Carleton Place plant took the contract at 15 cents a yard below cost, hoping to offset the loss through production for the domestic consumer market. The domestic consumer demand did not develop and prospects of a serious loss forced cancellation of the contract.

Trenton Meorial, 68, $20,400.

Wilberforce Red Cross Outpost, 2, $600.

Kingston has three hospitals: General 470 beds, $141,000; Hotel Dieu, 288, $86,400; St. Mary's of the Lake, 103, $30,900.

From Max J. Swanston, chairman of the board of Civic Hospital, and John Hornal, superintendent, it was learned today that they had no information about the intentions of the government.

A corresponding grant last fiscal year was $100 a bed, amounting to $22,600.

"Apparently, the government has decided to give us three times that amount," Mr. Hornal said—$300 instead of $100.

Both officials said it certainly would be a help to the hospital and would react in the favor of the taxpayer. Their finance committee meets tonight, preceding a meeting of the hospital board. They have an item of $5,223 in their capital account which would be absorbed by the assistance from the government.

"We have not received a supplementary grant on the basis of $300 a bed, and we have had no news that it was coming," Mr. Swanston said. "If it is in the budget it will be good news to us."

Drilling For Oil Near St. Thomas

ST. THOMAS (CP)—Exploratory drilling for oil in the north part of Southwold township about 11 miles northwest of this city is well under way this week on the farm of Chester Brown and Son.

Evan Smelser and his son, Douglas, who have brought in many of the oil wells in the new Aldborough township field during the past three weeks, have sunk a hole to a depth of 600 feet and are hopeful of discovering either oil or gas before the 1,400-foot depth is reached.

Wheat Sales Prospects Considered Excellent

WINNIPEG (CP)—There appear to be "excellent prospects" for wheat sales in the Far East, William Riddel, commissioner of the Canadian wheat board, said Wednesday, on his return from a trip to the Orient as a member of the Canadian grain commission.

Grain men in every country agree that Canadian wheat and flour is their "number one preference," he said. Unfortunately, it is not always "economically possible" for countries to buy as much Canadian wheat as they would like.

Russians Told All About "Mighty Soviet"

By DON DALLAS

LONDON (Reuters) — Russians read in their newspapers today the strongest hints yet given that the Soviet Union is fighting fit if a third world war should break out tomorrow.

That was the theme of a major speech made Wednesday by the Soviet defence minister, Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, who also is a vice-premier and one of Russia's "big five." Bulganin's speech contrasted in tone with recent pacific and "co-existence" declarations from the Kremlin.

Most responsible observers of Soviet affairs believe that the Soviet army, in the background, holds the real power in Russia today. Bulganin was clearly speaking for the army Wednesday — and he pulled no punches. He publicly admitted that for the last four years Russia has been building up her military strength—and intends to continue.

RECRUITING EXPERTS

Bulganin disclosed that the Soviet army and navy at present are drawing into their ranks skilled technicians from industry and agriculture, men "who are well trained in the handling of machines and whose practical and theoretical knowledge is adaptable to service conditions."

This is being done at a time when there is the greatest need for skilled men in industry and agriculture in view of the Kremlin's drive to boost living standards. Thus Bulganin is taking away the skilled men badly needed by Nikita S. Khrushchev, who is directing the reorganization of agriculture and is faced by a shortage of skilled manpower.

CONTRARY TO KREMLIN

Bulganin said in effect that Russia has no time to lose in the arms race. Yet the Kremlin has recently been advocating publicly an all-round reduction of armaments in the interests of "reducing world tension."

The Soviet president, Marshal Klimenti Voroshilov, said shortly after Bulganin spoke that Russia is using atomic energy for "the service of socialist economy" and "the further consolidation of the country's defensive capacity," Moscow radio said. It quoted him further:

"Comrades, the foreign policy of the Soviet Union is known to everybody. The aim of this policy remains unchanged: To prevent the outbreak of another war, to achieve mutual understanding among the states and to lessen international tension in order to preserve and strengthen peace in the world."

we would have to recognize any government of China which the Chinese people themselves recognized as their government, regardless of whether we liked the government or not.

"He added that if there was to be any solution to problems in which China was directly involved, and which could not be settled without co-operation from the Chinese government in control of that country, it seemed clear we would have to deal with that government.

"That, concluded the prime minister, was merely common sense and did not mean in any way the acceptance of responsibility for or the giving of endorsation to the actions or views of any particular regime."

Seoul: "I do feel that some day we are going to have to be realistic. We are going to have to admit the present government of China is the government the people want."

Given 15 Years For Manslaughter

TORONTO (CP)—James Houghton, 26, today was sentenced to 15 years in penitentiary on a charge of manslaughter in the mutilation death last November of Mrs. Sadie Thompson.

"If it weren't for your age, I would give you life," said Mr. Justice Kelly in passing sentence.

He said the killing was the most horrible in his experience, and described Houghton as "sadistic, barbarous, and cruel."

Houghton was tried for murder, but an assize court jury found him guilty on the lesser charge after his counsel entered a plea of guilty of manslaughter.

Mrs. Thompson, 32, a divorcee and mother of three children, came to Toronto from Sydney, N.S., and police said she had been living with Houghton. She operated a cleaning shop on downtown Jarvis street, where her half-naked, mutilated body was found Nov. 18.

Ask Increase Confession Safeguards

Prevent Acceptance False Statements By Innocent Men

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has been asked to increase the legal safeguards around the acceptance of false confessions of guilt by innocent men.

John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative lawyer from Prince Albert, Sask., made the request in the Commons Wednesday as he told of a man who confessed to a murder he did not commit.

He said the man made a voluntary, detailed confession of the murder of a little girl at Naicam, Sask., in 1933 and held to his statement even after he was exonerated by a farmer who proved the man's innocence. The farmer said the man was working for him 300 miles from the murder scene at the time it occurred.

He asked the government to consider having judges make a declaration setting out the proper practice in the taking and use of confessions. The present practice was "haphazard" and there should be safeguards "against the possibility of a false confession being made or exacted."

IMPOSSIBLE REQUEST

Justice Minister Garson said no law on the admissibility of confessions could be drafted which would apply generally in criminal trials and still exclude confessions made "quite irrationally and voluntarily" by innocent men.

He said he will consider Mr. Diefenbaker's proposal. However, he said, a large number of judges admissibility of confessions are "in pretty good condition as they now stand."

The discussion arose as the Commons renewed detailed study of the proposed new Criminal Code, the first complete revision in 62 years.

Dow BREWERY LIMITED

Cobourg Suggests Counties Erect Their Own Offices

COBOURG (ENS) — Delegation from counties council, composed of Warden Reg. McCann, Reeve Sid Little of Bowmanville and Reeve W. W. Archer of Seymour township, Tuseday night asked the town council what was planned in regard to imporving the facilities in the town hall for the administration of justice, as demanded at the November session by the counties bar association. This included enlarging of the room for the law library, a robing room for lawyers, a solicitor-client conference room and a room for the lady jurors.

Following a discussion between members of the council and the delegation it was agreed that the counties property and town property committee meet next Monday afternoon to see what could be done.

ERECT NEW BUILDING

The Reeve of Bowmanville reviewed what Mr. German had told the counties council last November about the need for improvements. Reeve Little said that the committee had seen Judge M. A. Miller who was not very well pleased with the existing facilities. Mr. German had sugested to counties council that they buy the lot at the back of the town hall and erect their own building for county offices. The problem was so large that the counties council increased the original small committee by adding all the chairmen of the various committees of counties council. Last year, he recalled, the counties had asked the town council to move the police cells out of their present location in the town hall, back of the courtroom, to some other place so that the room thus vacated could be fixed up into a room for the lady jurors but no reply from the town was received. Some of the rooms rented by the counties in the town hall were in very poor shape, the engineer's office in particular. The windows in the clerk's office were so dirty that one couldn't see through them. The gas from the furnace was so bad tat the counties council was nearly gassed out last November and it was also thick in the court room until Mayor Burnet took steps to remedy the situation, said Reeve Little.

Councillor Lilian Richards said that she was chairman of the town hall committee last year at which time she went into the proposal of moving the cells but the chief of police wanted them left where they were as it was not feasible to take prisoners down the stairs to the basement. The request to redecorate did not come until after the town council had brought in their estimates.

"If you want to erect your own building, I think it would be a good thing for us," said Mayor Jack Burnet, "because we can use the space that the county offices now occupy. It would be a wonderful thing if you could."

Reeve Little reminded the council that the lease bound the town to keep the offices clean. It cost the counties $8,000 a year to occupy those offices and it was felt that they should get something in return.

Warden McCann said that in regard to the room for the lady jurors the counties three years ago thought they had it solved when they got the room off the deputy-sheriff's office but it turned out that it was not regarded satisfactory because the lady jurors had to come through the crowds in the lobby on the way to their jury room. The warden declared that he was not in favour of a new building.

Councillor Roy Dodge pointed out that the town hall basement would be ideal for offices. He asserted that the counties were good tenants and he would not want the town to lose them.

A letter from the consulting engineers on the west end sewer job advised that installation of special valves to cope with the factory creek flooding the Tweed street pumping station should be deferred until the system had been in operation for a while. A request from a citizen to have a tree cut down on his boulevard in order to permit him access to a garage he planned to erect, was tabled in order to ascertain who should pay the cost, the town or the man who wanted the tree cut down.

MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT

SUBMARINE SHERIFF—Al Locke, Lyon County, Mo., sheriff, hugs the bottom of the swimming pool at Emporia State Teachers College during a recent demonstration of his new springboard suit. The suit, which is an underwater rescue or body recovery device, includes a face mask, a tank of compressed air to serve the diver, goggles, weight belt, and "frogman" fins for the feet. Sheriff Locke demonstrated the outfit in eight feet of water to Emporia firemen and Emporia State students. The device will be used to rescue swimmers in distress and to recover bodies.

Man Asphyxiated In Hotel Room

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. John McDonald, about 55, of Little Current, died of asphyxiation and burns Wednesday night in his room in a downtown Toronto hotel.

Police said they believed Dr. McDonald fell asleep while smoking a cigaret in bed. A hotel guest in the hotel staff found Dr. McDonald's bed clothes in flames. The staff put out the fire and a doctor was called who pronounced Dr. McDonald dead.

Surviving is a sister, Mary McDonald, Toronto.

Complainant In Family Row Pays Costs

COBOURG (ENS)—When witnesses for the complainant showed a reluctance to testify against the accused, Magistrate R. B. Baxter dismissed a charge of damaging property against Calvin Smoke, of Roseneath.

Smoke was charged with damaging a wall in a house owned by Moses Smoke, who was assessed $5 court costs.

Mrs. Moses Smoke, mother of the accused, testified that she called the OPP on the morning of March 6 because Calvin and Sandford Smoke were fighting in the house. A hole was broken in the wall by the stairway, she said.

It was just a little hole, Mrs. Smoke declared. She added that she called the OPP to have the fight stopped, not to have an arrest made. She said she didn't know who knocked the hole in the wall.

FIGHT OVER

OPP Constable Ralph Tremill said that when he arrived at the scene the fight was over. The call came in at 5 a.m. The hole in the wall was two feet by three feet.

"This is getting to be a nuisance," declared Crown Attorney Harry Deyman. "They call the police out there and then conspire in court to protect those who caused the trouble. It might be necessary to tell the police to ignore any further calls from out there."

"They may call 'wolf' once too often and the police, thinking it was another case such as this one, decide to ignore it and perhaps somebody be murdered and no police respond," said the magistrate. "The charge is dismissed and five dollars court costs are assessed Moses Smoke.

"If you are going to have your fun, you'll pay for it," he told him.

Chief Asks For Modern Parking Lots

COBOURG (ENS) — Although Cobourg is only a town, the police on night patrol travel 33 miles on each of their three tours of the town in the police car, it is pointed out in the annual report of Chief Constable H. Pearse for last year. His report was presented this week to town council.

The men work a 48-hour week. In addition each averages 120 a year attending court, for which they draw no extra pay. The force comprises the chief and five constables. The men are called out on special duty such as parades and public functions for which no extra pay is drawn.

The chief recommended that school zones be clearly marked, cross-walks indentified, parking meter posts straightened and numbered and that parking meter signs be replaced where lost and repaired where damaged. The chief also recommended that the parking lots be modernized in view of the steady increase of traffic.

STATISTICS

Convictions in 1953 under the Criminal Code were 40; Liquor Act, 128; Highway Traffic Act, 276 and infractions of town by-laws, 532. Cars stolen numbered seven and recovered, seven.

Out-of-town cars recovered totalled four. There were 156 accidents investigated of which two were traffic fatalities. There were 11 people injured. One person was drowned. Bicycles stolen numbered 38, of which all but three were recovered. During night patrol of police, 137 doors were found insecured.

Five juveniles were brought to court. There were 42 seizures of liquor. Total fines amounted to $3,784.

Parking meter collections amounted to $6,268.90 and parking fines, $483. Income from dog licenses was $553, poll tax, $400 and bicycle licenses, $330. Total from these sources, $8,835.40; total from all sources, $11,819.40.

Budget News Not Blues

Premier Frost, presenting this afternoon his eleventh annual budget as Provincial Treasurer, also presented the people of Ontario with an eleventh successive surplus. It is a remarkable record. The surplus is substantial, more so than it appears on the surface. Mr. Frost said this afternoon that the surplus was $1,009,000, for the fiscal year ending the 31st of this month. (All his figures, by the way, are not final; those for February and March are estimates.) When one considers that the budget of last year estimated the current year's surplus to be only $185,000, the million dollars of revenue over expenditure is a surprise. Actually, the surplus is considerably greater, if one adds to it the 10½ million extra, unbudgeted dollars drained off into the Highway Reserve Account and the extra 2½ million dollars, extra above what was planned, put into the Sinking Fund. Hiding—or rather hoiking—these extra millions has reduced the surplus on paper, but the fact is that the total surplus was not $1,009,000 but closer to fourteen million dollars.

* * *

This large surplus (against the estimated one of $185,000) indicates some pretty wide estimates a year ago when revenues and expenditures were calculated for the present fiscal year. Today's record of revenues and expenditures put against the budget estimates of them in March 1953, shows how wide of the mark the estimates really were. Here is the story:

	ESTIMATE	ACTUAL	GAP
Revenues	$334,733,000	$362,176,000	$27,443,000
Expenditures	$334,733,000	$361,167,000	$26,619,000
Surplus	$ 185,000	$ 1,009,000

As we have shown above, the real surplus was about fourteen million dollars.

* * *

We do not worry about the surplus, but about the inexact budgeting. Of course, the total budget is so large that errors in estimates of many hundreds of thousands of dollars are unavoidable. The anxiety lies in this: that while revenues were much higher than those budgeted for, so were the expenses. In fact, the Provincial Government spent 26½ million dollars more than it told the Legislature it would. That is a lot of money to play around with. Another big and enticing chunk of not fully budgeted money is the $40.5 million put into the Highway Reserve Account during the year. That account has become a really big plum in the provincial pudding.

* * *

Why were the revenues so much greater than anticipated? Was the Federal grant resulting from the Tax Rental Agreement so much bigger than expected? It was larger—$131,000,000 were budgeted for, $134,448,000 received. This does not account for most of the greater revenue. An examination of the accounts indicates that revenues were higher than expected because the level of prosperity of the Province was higher than the cautious budget-makers had counted on. Liquor profits were bigger, succession duties received were larger, receipts from the Land Transfer Tax were more than anticipated.

* * *

In budgeting for the coming fiscal year (to the end of next March) Mr. Frost is showing considerable caution. It seems that while not expecting a lessening of the tempo of expansion (and therefore of provincial revenues) he is not unaware that this could happen. Therefore, despite this year's revenues being in excess of $362 millions, the budget brought down this afternoon calls for expenditures during the coming year of a little more than $353 millions, and of revenue of $354½ millions to meet these expenditures, allowing for a surplus of $539,000 only. Included in this is provision for the Sinking Fund of $17,536,000 which is more than the $16,-245,000 put into it this year. It is planned to put $23 million into the Highway Reserve Fund, instead of the $40.5 million put into it this year. Thus the budget forecasts, even if the budget-makers do not believe it, a year ahead of declining revenues, or at least, not one of mounting revenues. Mr. Frost's remarks this afternoon on the need for full Federal-Provincial-Municipal consultation and co-operation on unemployment matters are a thoughtful comment on the "rather painful adjustments which have occurred in several industries". The Province's prosperity depends on the prosperity of the country as a whole, on export markets and on international affairs, Mr. Frost reminded the Legislature.

* * *

Our readers will be particularly interested in the fact that there are no new taxes, that grants to municipalities are increasing, and that the additional grants to hospitals are being continued. The rate is $300 a bed. (Differing from last year's grants of $100 where capital grants had already been made). Thus St. Joseph's hospital will get $54,000 and the Civic Hospital $67,800 in their special grants. Only $22,600 was provided the latter in last year's budget.

Not All Safe And Successful Then

As a new Elizabethan age, the present times seem to lack the assurance, enterprise and glory of the great Elizabethan Age. Despite a facile grasp of the name Elizabethan as a description of our own age, one cannot quite accept as a hope, let alone a fact, that a new Elizabethan Age has dawned. The dawn is against a silhouette of atom bombs and is noisy with the shouts of nations, coloured by fears of war, and dulled by plodding utilitarianism. Office-encased men in business suits or laboratory smocks make progress reports, test-tube analyses, and grapple with dollar figures and scientific equations. These, one thinks, are not the swashbuckling Elizabethans of old voyaging into strange new worlds and creating far-flung realms and lofty kingdoms of the mind.

The memory of history, like the mind of men, comfortably tends to forget the dull and the bad, the failures and the hardships, and to glow from the peaks of recollected achievement. The fact is, despite history's rosy colouring, that the first Elizabethan age did not dawn great and gloriously, nor did it go from triumph to triumph in a grand and exciting series of enterprises of mind and physical prowess. Brave men failed; every single member of the first colony in Virginia died before relief came from England. There was trouble with Russia; British emissaries sent there were frustrated by Ivan the Terrible and his successors. Expeditions to Cadiz and other places were a complete fiasco.

Bertrand Russell, O.M., Britain's grand old philosopher, has hope that the new Elizabethan Age can achieve its own glory. He said in a recent broadcast: "Many Elizabethan adventurers failed; but those who succeeded, succeeded so gloriously that the failures, by comparisons, seem insignificant. Throughout the reign of the first Elizabeth the country was in danger, but year by year the danger grew less owing to the indomitable hopefulness of our ancestors. Is it too much to hope that, with the same spirit of courageous adventure, we may make our age equally glorious?" If such hope can spring from a wise octogenarian, why should the hearts of younger men be faint?

Many Standards For Movies

Mr. Peter Manley, the Liberal member of the Legislature for Stormont, has accused the Ontario censors of movies of having a double standard, which permits movies to be shown in large cities which would not be shown in the same form in towns or villages. Mr. Manley seems to think that this is a very bad thing, but we are not convinced that he is in the right. Why should there be one standard for all movies? The needs and capacities of different groups of spectators vary widely.

Mr. Stanley no doubt thinks, as do many of our legislators, that Ontario movie showihg should be governed by what is considered suitable for rural districts. But why should rural areas carry this amount of moral weight? They are not particularly moral. Ontario statistics suggest that crime is commoner, on a population basis, in the country than it is in the large centres of population. Does not this suggest that city movie-goers are able to withstand the influence of movies of the sordid sides of life more readily than their rural brothers. They possess, perhaps, a greater degree of sophistication and are less influenced by what they see in mediums of entertainment.

Surely it is clear that there are several movie publics in Ontario. There are those who look simply for a good evening's distraction from their own cares and responsibilities. There are those who want a thrill. There are those who look for some criticism of life, such as they might expect in a good legitimate theatre. There are those who want to see foreign film, in order to widen their horizons. There are those who regard movies as an art, and want to see the best that the movie-makers of the world can offer. Why accuse the Ontario censors of having two standards when they really need five or six? We do not all like the same food, or find it wholesome. Why should we be expected to enjoy the same films?

NOTE AND COMMENT

Because this is a democracy, says a contemporary, a street sweeper can become a professor. That is, if he's prepared to make the financial sacrifice.

THE AMERICAN SCENE

Battle Of Railway Giants

By ALASTAIR BUCHAN

ONE of the most interesting struggles for power now going on in the United States has nothing to do with Senator McCarthy or President Eisenhower. It is the struggle for the control of the New York Central Railroad, the second largest in the country, by Mr. Robert Young, one of the most ruthless and able financial strategists in the country. It is a struggle reminiscent of the fights between the railroad barons of the nineteenth century, the Vanderbilts and Goulds and Morgans, and Mr. Young is more like some dynamic figure out of America's turbulent industrial past than the carefully orthodox and progressive contemporary American capitalist.

✧ ✧ ✧

SOME seventeen years ago Mr. Young, who has already made a considerable fortune in playing the stock markets, acquired control of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad which covers roughly the industrial areas of Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Michigan, after a battle with what he calls the "dambankers," the New York financial interests, principally the house of Morgan, which wanted to see one of their own nominees in control. In the past twenty years railways in the United States have, with increasing competition from road transport, become as unprofitable as they have elsewhere, and their standard of comfort is often lower than that of subsidised railways in Europe. Mr. Young revolutionised the C. and O. He invested far more in new equipment and rolling stock than any other railroad was prepared to, made rail travel more attractive in a number of ways and actually made the C. and O. run at a profit.

✧ ✧ ✧

AFTER the war Mr. Young turned his eyes on the New York Central which, with two and a half times the track mileage of the C. and O., connects most of the rich industrial cities between New York and the Great Lakes. Its capital assets are about 2,000 million dollars. He ran a series of newspaper advertisements attacking the old-fashioned management of most American railroads such as: "A hog can run across the United States without changing trains — but you can't," or "Nine out of every ten American sleeping-cars belong in museums" (with which anyone who has ever travelled overnight in the United States will agree).

He poked fun especially at the stuffy conservative management of the New York Central as "run for the Morgan Banks rather than the public." Meanwhile he was buying New York Central shares, and at the end of January this year he put forward a claim to be made chairman since he now owned five per cent of the shares and was therefore the largest single shareholder. The Board of Directors replied with a dignified and firm negative. His own railroad, the C. and O., has itself twelve per cent. of the shares in the New York Central, but American anti-trust legislation prohibited Young from using this as a claim to a directorship. At the beginning of February he therefore sold his holdings in the C. and O., to a friend, thus ensuring that its large share of New York Central stock could be used without legal hindrance to promote his claims to control.

✧ ✧ ✧

MR. YOUNG'S COALITION is now estimated to control about twenty per cent. of the Central's stock, and the American business world is waiting eagerly for the dramatic battle which will be fought in the boardroom in Albany of the New York Central at the annual meeting in May when it will be seen whether the present management can resist Mr. Young's claims to be given the chairmanship and effective control of the great company. Both sides are trying to gain support of the company's thousands of small shareholders — the "Aunt Janes" as Mr. Young calls them. The present management has accused Mr. Young of being a power-hungry opportunist who will run the company into bancruptcy with his unsound innovations. Judging, however, by the letters to the Press, Mr. Young's originality and daring have so far attracted more support from the "Aunt Janes" than they have repelled.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE DEPARTURE of Sir Gladwyn Jebb from the post of permanent British representative at the United Nations to become British Ambassador in Paris has been the occasion for expressions of genuine regret in many American newspapers. One would not necessarily imagine Sir Gladwyn as the type of English diplomat who would endear himself to Americans. His impassive, somewhat glacial, good manners and his barbed sense of humour are of a kind that in other men has alarmed or offended American susceptibilities. But he has been a success for the only reason which ever makes foreigners a success in the United States — he likes America and Americans and is not afraid to show it. Any foreigner can be as critical as he likes of American institutions or attitudes if he can convince Americans that he is criticising them out of affection and not malice.

The unusual point about Sir Gladwyn Jebb's position was that he had been throughout almost all of his four years at the United Nations, a national figure in the United States; certainly many more Americans know his name than that of the present British Ambassador in Washington. It is probably fair to say that Sir Gladwyn and Mr. Lester Pearson, the Canadian Foreign Secretary, have done more to educate Americans about the true nature of the United Nations than any American has done.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE HAS BEEN considerable agitation in Congress recently about the alarming increase in the rate of juvenile delinquency in the United States. One reason that seems only too obvious for this increase is the flow of gore, horror and sex which any child who has ten cents in his pocket can purchase at any drug store. Fortunately my own children are so far immune both because of shortage of pocket money and inability yet to read, but a little research on my part the other day in a big drug store produced horrifying results. One magazine published by Farrell Comics has an illustrated story called "Bloody Mary" about an enfant terrible who strangles her mother with her dressing-gown cord, gives evidence that sends her father to the gallows for the crime, and then murders the psychiatrist at the orphanage to which she is sent, because the psychiatrist discovers that she is really a midget. There was another book ostensibly published for children which was more sadistic and obscene than anything to be found in adult "pulp" magazines. And there are shelf after shelf of these so called "comics" wallowing in murder, arson, rape, and full of rotting corpses and ghoulish children. The element of comedy was not in evidence.

An American Opinion: SHADOWS AND SPECTRES

The Margin Mystery

By IVOR BROWN

IT is well known that Alan Keen acquired from the sale of a Yorkshire library a copy of Hall's Chronicles, one of Shakespeare's principal source-books. It carried its owner's name, Richard Newport, and the date of his inscription, 1565. It also carried 3,500 words of annotation in writing accepted as of that period and a "doodled" sketch that seems to portray Bardolph. Since these marginal jottings frequently stress points stressed in the Historical plays and since sometimes words not in Hall are used both by the note-maker and the dramatist, it is a reasonable guess that Shakespeare himself may have worked with this actual volume. But whether he or somebody else made the actual notes is another matter. If he did, if we really have Shakespeare's own notes in his own hand, oh what a wonderful morning for Alan Keen!

Comparisons with the known Shakespeare signatures were disappointing, and at one time Mr. Keen did not press the identity. But now with the authority of Mr. H. T. F. Rhodes, an expert on script problems, to say that there is probability (but no certainty) that the poet's and the annotator's writing are the same, he can be rather more confident.

But how could Shakespeare have come to own or borrow the copy possessed by Richard Newport in 1565? This had led Messrs. Keen, Lubbock and sundry colleagues into a Newport hunt. At first the scent led to Stratford-upon-Avon itself, where New Place, bought by Shakespeare in 1597, had been owned by the Underhills, who were linked by marriage to a Richard Newport. But in this case the hands do not agree; so the hunt moved away to the draw coverts in the north-west in Shropshire and Lancashire.

At this point the Newport trail becomes so thickly covered by family trees, up which the huntsmen clamber nimbly as it were after a tree-fox, that the ordinary reader may lose interest. But he will recover his zest and join the chase when William Shakespeare is identified with the young player William Shakeshafte, who is mentioned as belonging to a private troupe of players run by the Houghton and later, Hesketh families at Rufford in Lancashire. This would give a futher link with Lord Strange and the great house of Stanley, famous in the London theatre for their patronage of acting companies. Shakespeare's Histories are full of Lancastrian sympathies and the Stanleys are not forgotten.

Messrs. Keen and Lubbock, carrying a vast screen of trees (family) like Macduff's army, manage to associate a Shropshire Newport with the Rufford-Knowsley set and therefore believe that their Shakespeare-Shakeshafte came across the copy of Hall in one of the great northern houses and there wrote in the marginalia.

Nobody can prove this theory on the existing evidence. Nor can anybody disprove it. The authors develop a series of side-line arguments which it would take further volumes to mention and discuss. In any case, hunting with the Lancs and Salop pack is good sport for Shakespeareans and, as a contribution to detective fiction. The Annotator is considerably more exciting than many of our corpse-in-the-ashcan whodunnits. ("The Annotator," written by Alan Keen and Roger Lubbock and published by Putnam.)

Greenwich Village

By ALASTAIR BUCHAN

THE recent murder of a one-well-known novelist and poet, Maxwell Bodenheim, in Greenwich Village, has drawn attention to that curiously uncharacteristic part of New York. "The Village," as it is called by every New Yorker, is an area of downtown Manhattan, not far from the tip of the island, which used to be the artistic centre of the city, and indeed of the nation. Until the end of the last century it was the downtown part of New York which contained the big houses and princely establishments of the rich. Now the rich live in apartments around Central Park or commute from the country; the Village consists mostly of mews and quiet alleys which once housed the carriages and servants of the big houses around Washington and Sheridan Squares.

It is, or it was, very like London's Chelsea, both in respect of its appearance and type of inhabitants. Many famous Americans, Edgar Allen Poe, Mark Twain, Henry James, O. Henry, Sinclair Lewis, to name only a few, lived in the Village; and each year young artists and musicians and poets still flock to New York as to the cultural Mecca of the nation, and move among its sooty little alleyways or drink beer in its little bars. In a thriving bustling city, amid the skyscrapers and chromium, and in a country that believes in hard work and early rising, the Village is a backwater where it is still fashionable not to wash or shave.

The great days of The Village were in the nineteen-twenties, the gin-in-the-bathtub era. Now, the place is a little sad. It is becoming increasingly hemmed in by enormous office buildings; many of its most pleasant houses have been bought by fashionable New Yorkers who are rather artistic, and many more, such as Mark Twain's house, are disappearing under the relentless hammer of the demolition squads. There are still a few eccentrics, like the sixty-year-old Jack Gould, who has for years been engaged on a ten-million-word "Oral History of Our Times," and who lives on ketchup, acquired free from restaurants and bars. But the real favour of life in the Village is departing.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

And Jesus came and touched them, and said, Arise, and be not afraid. And when they had lifted up their eyes, they saw no man, save Jesus only. And as they came down from the mountain, Jesus charged them, saying, Tell the vision to no man, until the Son of man be risen again from the dead. (Matt. 17:1-9.)

Letter To The Editor

FRAUDULENT PROMISES TO IMMIGRANTS

SIR: I read with interest your remarks concerning a letter by "Belfastman" in the Larne Times. In all fairness to Canada and the Canadians I am willing to accede some of your remarks concerning your opinion about his experiences, and those of other Ulstermen (and women) who have made good here. For my part I have met few people here who have ever shown me any animosity because I am filling a job that a Canadian could do if I was back home in Ulster. And I did find work in 5 days after I came to Peterborough and haven't missed a day's work since.

I feel bound to disagree with your sweeping statement regarding "jobs at 3 times the pay that people get at home." This part of your comment reads like what your Immigration Officers told us in our home town about a year ago. It's easy to give a wrong impression by telling half the truth and omitting the the unpleasant parts of it. Neither you nor your campatriots based on Chichester St., Belfast, take the trouble to carry your comparison of income into the expenses column. Your rents are anywhere from five to ten times what they are in the rural districts and country towns of N. Ireland. And the area of accommodation available for dollars is in exact reverse to the size of the rents. A 3-bedroom semi-detached council-owned house fitted with hot and cold water and electricity costs per week, including rates, 2½-3½ dollars. What I pay here for one week's food for my family would buy our groceries for 3 weeks in N. Ireland. This argument could be carried into every item in the cost of living with equal divergency in the figures. I admit that there is a greater variety of goods to purchase, but then your country hasn't taken comparable financial and physical blows that the UK has during the last 15 years. I don't find that your higher standard of living goes for any more happiness or security. The first thing I noticed when I came here was the small number of smiling people you meet on the streets.

One last point I want to make is this. If the unemployed Canadian wants to pick a scapegoat for his unhappy (and I hope temporary) plight, let him look to the smiling, well-fed Canadian Immigration Officials that are touring the cities and towns of N. Ireland and in conjunction with eager travel agents are coaxing the young people of Ulster over here on false promises and pledges that are only made to be broken. We were told in a tone of easy indifference that we would be given names of employers just gasping for workers until we met the boss of our dreams. Why is this colossal fraud allowed to be carried on? Is it, as one Toronto newspaper says it is, just a cozy scheme hatched between the Federal Government in Ottawa and the leaders of big business concerns to push down wages by causing unemployment —or is it just the good old N. American habit of using a big adjective where a wee one would do? I do hope you find it possible to give this letter equal prominence in your paper that you give to your own opinion on what, it seems to me, is becoming a more vexed question every day.

I remain,
Yours faithfully,
"RED HAND"

Yugoslavia Battles Against Ice

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

BELGRADE (AP)—The rumble of high explosives has been echoing along the Danube and Sava rivers in Yugoslavia, recalling memories of wartime years when the area was under heavy artillery and air attack. But this battle is against ice.

The winter has been the most severe in 25 years. Whole sections of the country were isolated as snow clogged road and rail lines. Tiny mountain-rimmed hamlets had drifts reaching to the rooftops. For a time, Yugoslavia had neither cable nor telephone communications with the outside world. The Orient Express ran more than 24 hours behind schedule. Short of coal, luxury hotels were put on a fuel ration barely sufficient to take the chill out of the air.

Packs of hungry wolves prowled through unlighted city streets.

On direct orders from President Tito, his personal bodyguard stopped standing chilly sentry duty, racked their tommy-guns, armed themselves with shovels and broke open a road leading to a snow-bound restaurant for a formal dinner.

SPRING BREAKUP FEARED

Serious as the snow was, the gravest danger remains ahead—when the ice breaks up.

The greatest potential danger appears to be at the shaky temporary bridges spanning Sava and Danube rivers and at the "iron gate" of the Danube between Yugoslavia and Romania. The river here races between narrow mountain walls, difficult even under normal circumstances.

To protect the bridges, temporary spans replacing those destroyed during the war, army engineers have begun blasting the ice above the bridge pillars. Helicopters are taking dynamite to the "iron gate." Horse-drawn sleighs bring in other supplies. Where horses fail, soldiers resort to ski and snowshoe.

If the operation proves successful and floods are held to a minimum, the heavy snows may prove a blessing. Yugoslavia was parched by a late summer and fall drought. The moisture could go a long way toward providing good conditions for spring and summer crops this year.

Turn Down Big Project

TORONTO (CP)—Board of Control Wednesday rejected John S. Galbraith's $15,000,000 plan to redevelop the Yonge-Church-Wellesley-Alexander area in central Toronto by construction of 10 16-storey apartment buildings. The board refused to hear Mr. Galbraith.

Woman Robbed In Home

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Kuba Zaifman said she spent a terrifying 15 minutes in the bedroom of her home Wednesday with a knife-wielding man who threatened to kill her if she did not tell him where she kept her money. The man escaped with $30.

THE FIRE WRECKED hulk of the 20,000-ton liner, Empress of Canada, floats upright in Gladstone Dock, Liverpool, Eng., after being raised in a 56-minute operation costing nearly $1,000,000. The wreck will be sold for scrap for approximately $120,000.

Montreal Doctor Big Name In Russian Medical Circles

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW (CP)—A big name in Russian surgical and medical circles is Montreal's Dr. Wilder G. Penfield.

He is remembered for a post-war visit made in 1945, and known throughout the Soviet union for his book "The Cerebral Cortex of Man."

In it, says one of Russia's greatest surgeons, Penfield was one of the first to confirm a particular theory of the famous Russian physiologist Ivan Petrovich Pavlov.

Pavlov is the basic figure in Russian physiology, medicine and surgery, and his theories on the function of the nervous system are all-important. Pavlov, who died in 1935, won a Nobel Prize in 1904 for his research.

Penfield's Moscow admirers are Professors Alexander A. Vyshnyevsky and Peter K. Anokhim.

Vyshnyevsky is director of the surgical institute of the Academy of Medicine of the U.S.S.R., a general of the Red army medical corps, and one of Russia's greatest clinicians. Anokhin heads the institute's physiology department. He met Penfield here in 1945.

Vyshnyevsky is a squat 47-year-old dynamo with sparkling brown eyes and a direct, vivacious approach. His father before him directed the institute. The son was on the western front during the war then became general of the Red army's medical services in the Far East, was in the thrust down through Manchuria and Korea against the Japanese, and remained briefly in Korea after that campaign.

His is one of the several types of specialized institutes working on particular problems in Russia. The surgical problem, he said, is that techniques today have out-run theory.

"So we have planned the work of this institute to further the theoretical physiology," Vyshnyevsky said.

One of the problems being studied by the institute is that of transplanting organs from one body to another.

The institute claims to have wholly removed the left hind legs of three dogs, keeping them apart from the body for periods of 45 minutes, then restoring the legs to the body, reconnecting bone, nerves, muscles and tissues. The animals are still romping around and I saw motion pictures taken during the operations.

Within one year the dogs were running and jumping, although the legs were imperfectly co-ordinated. Within another year they were normal.

The Russians call this "autoplastic" surgery—the restoration to the same organism of elements earlier removed from it.

From this they have gone on to the problem of transplanting organs from one organism to another.

"In this we must say that so far we are not making much progress" said Vyshnyevsky. "We have managed to transplant the heart from one dog to another but after eight to 12 days of apparent post-operative recovery the dogs die. The same is true of our work with kidneys.

"But we keep at it. We know that one day one of us is bound to succeed—once we have caught up with our theoretical knowledge."

The work on the nervous system, for instance, produced the technique of painless surgery under local anaesthesia.

"Now where does Penfield come into our major work? It is in his book, 'The Cerebral Cortex of Man.'

"The results it gives of direct action on the human brain confirm entirely Pavlov's point of view, which was expressed in 1930, on the physiological possibilities of a 'moving analyzer.'

"While most neurologists said the locomotor region of the surface of the human brain directed movement only, Pavlov on the basis of his work said it also 'analyzed' the sensory impulses coming from the periphery.

"The work of Penfield on the brain confirms this point of view because activity on the locomotor region caused sensation in the related part of the patient's body.

"Penfield and Pavlov both link sensation with movement.

"This opens new fields in research into the function of the nervous system."

No Isolation Pay And Mail Service Principal Beefs Of Men In Korea

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—One of the biggest beefs among men of Canada's 25th Brigade is the absence of some sort of isolation pay.

Members of the brigade say the government was a little unthoughtful in the way it cut off foreign-service gratuities and re-establishment credits after they had been used to advantage in signing up many soldiers for an aditional stint abroad. The gratuities were cut off when the Korean war ended last July.

The men claim they are even more isolated than troops serving in Canada's northerly outposts who often can get flips to Winnipeg, Edmonton or Montreal for a week-end. They added they shouldn't be put in the same category as troops of the 27th Brigade in Germany who can have their families with them and who can live quiet civilian lives in civilized surroundings in off-duty hours.

RUGGED COUNTRY

The 25th, of course, is dug in in the rugged terrain north of the Imjin river and quite a distance from Seoul, which offers little but ruins and no entertainment. A potential enemy against whom they were fighting until six months ago is facing them and is the object of a 24-hour watchdog operation.

Isolation pay would not take the place of the other credits but it would help, say the men.

Another beef the men have had has been about the mail service. All three flights with mail from Canada arrived at the end of the week.

This meant that it took as long as 15 days for a letter from Canada to reach Korea.

Now the authorities have attempted to fix things by scheduling planes from Vancouver on Tuesday Wednesday and Saturday. It's hoped now that a letter mailed anywhere in Canada will be in the soldier's hands within six or seven days.

The troops like the new arrangement better although they still think it's not perfect. The airmail is met at Seoul by two vans and rushed to the Canadian brigade for distribution among the units, with the sorting done on the run to save time.

The men have heard stories of apathy at home about the Canadian role in Korea.

One officer at brigade headquarters, for instance, has emphatically told one of Canada's biggest insurance companies that the nation has a brigade in a key spot in the Korean defence line.

When he sent his cheque to pay his premium he included the usual return address which, for the brigade, is care of the postmaster at Vancouver, accumulation point for mail to Korea. The insurance company wrote him noting his change of address to Vancouver, hoping he'd be happy in that city and advising him that his policy had been transferred to the Vancouver office for his convenience.

Another but less discussed beef that has been heard in the brigade is about the lack of some suitable recognition for outstanding Korean service. A feature of this question that should be considered, in the opinion of one officer, is that such a decoration would also be available for reciprocal exchange for the decorations from foreign countries which go to Canadian soldiers.

Petes Beat Ponties In 6-3 Playoff To Lead Series 3-2

By CEC. PERDUE

Before the biggest hockey crowd of the season at Civic Arena, 2,224 paid admissions, the TPT Petes trimmed Orillia Pontiacs 6-3 Wednesday night to take a 3-2 lead in their best-of-seven OHA senior "B" group semi-finals. The sixth game is in Orillia on Saturday, and seventh—if it's necessary—back here Monday. Spotting the visitors a 1-0 lead in the first period, the local squad dug in hard in the second stanza to blast three by Goalie Bob Shropshire while Goalie Jack Donlevy in the home cake blanked the Ponties. The Petes managed a 3-2 sniping margin in the third chukker to earn the win decisively.

RIP-SNORTING PLAY

It was pell-mell hockey all the way wtih few slowdowns as both sides playing a hustling hard-hitting brand. Two players had to retire from the game after accidental cuts on the face in fast action. Bruno Favero of Orillia left in the first frame and Gus Leonard of the Petes in the third, both being cut near an eye by sticks. They may have to miss the next playoff game.

The big crowd kept up a steady din, punctuated by excited voluminous screams as rapid-fire plays piled-up at either goals, or bumping defencemen bashed speedy forwards down to break up scoring threats. The Pontiacs never quit trying, scoring the last goal of the game and threatening to rack up a few more but for brilliant net-minding by Donlevy.

Eight penalties went to Orillia and seven to the Petes, all being minors. Several times brief fist fights threatened but players were quickly parted by referees and chased for roughing. It wasn't exceptionally chippy or real rough, but nevertheless the hockey served up was stiff and of the playoff variety with a few feuds building up in this fifth fray between the rivals. The arbiters handled it well.

SPREAD AROUND

Scoring for the squad coached by Eddie Redmond and Drake Jopling was well spread around, six Petes lighting the lamp once each. They were Denny Peterson, Bill Crowley, Rod Belisle, Ted Collins, Toodie Greenlaw and Chum Fryia. The latter, Crowley and Belisle also had an assist apiece, single assists going to Bert Hill and Jim Munro, while Doc Prentice aided on two tallies.

Ab Bowen, Moe Richardson and Ron Nelson did the sniping for the visiting club, two being solo efforts, as Bowen and MacDonald each earned one assist. There were no disputed goals, but the Petes twice cashed in on a man advantage to score with an Orillia player sitting out a penalty.

EARLY PENALTY

Play had just nicely started (and on time) when Robertson of the O's was waved away for boarding. Favero shortly afterward fell after a scramble near the boards and was helped off with a cut near the eye. McMaster was gated for charging, both sides being a man short when Nelson scored for Pontiacs. He did it on a breakaway after two Petes collided by the Orillia blue line and let him get away. Nelson slamming a hard angle shot into the far net corner. One sinner returned when Montgomery got it for tripping to leave them short two for six seconds. But both returned with no damage done and it was hot and even.

A Peterson-Belisle thrust was close but, with Shewchuk off for holding, the Pontiacs ragged so well that Petes got but one shot on their net in his absence. Petes hustled plenty but were a bit disorganized in this period and Orillia had more and better scoring chances to hold a little edge on play. A Collins-Crowley try just missed, and then Grigg got it for tripping near the finish.

THREE IN ROW

Grigg returned early in the middle heat and Payne made Donlevy jump to save. Crowley scored then to tie it on the neatest goal of the night. Munro started it back at defence with a passup to Hill, who timed a perfect pass to his left wing and it hit Crowley on the fly, Bill racing in on goal and picking the short corner to sink the disc. Petes turned it on with Redmond stickhandling on a nifty rush and the Belisle line pressing. Wood and Redmond roughed it up to draw penalties and Aitkin followed for hooking. Peterson cashed in on this with a slap shot on a passout on a play with Prentice and Belisle at close range.

All were back when Richardson got the finger for charging and Montgomery followed for hooking. Fryia at the crease edge steered in a blazer from the side by Redmond as Petes ganged up to make it 3-1. Munro went over for slashing and Richardson for roughing together, Redmond followed shortly for tripping. Fryia and Leonard checked well and Donlevy starred in goal till all were back on the ice.

AB GETS ONE

Bowen blasted in a screened shot from close-in to open the third with the Petes bunched up and failing to clear the puck from in front of their cage. Collins got off a hot shot and Wood was thefted on a berakaway. A McMaster-Belisle stab nearly paid off and play was very fast and even for a space. Then the Petes struck hard for two more goals. Greenlaw slid in a Fryia passout with the goalie doing the splits in vain. Belisle got the other with a quick backhander from the side with a forward push-up by Prentice in a scramble deep in Orillia territory.

Grigg was chased for interference and Leonard went off with a cut by the eye after a faceoff accident. Collins scored with a slap at Crowley's passout near the crease to make it 6-2 before Grigg got back. Then Orillia tore in to threaten and finally score their last one, Richardson notching it from MacDonald and Bowen on speedy close-in combination. Belisle was penalized for cross-checking and Crowley and Hill did some fine forechecking till he returned. Teams:

Orillia: Goal, Shropshire; defence, Shewchuk and Robertson; centre, Bowen; wings, MacDonald and Richardson; alts., Payne, Favero, Aitkin, Nelson, Wood, McCrone, Grigg, Pearsall and Desroches.

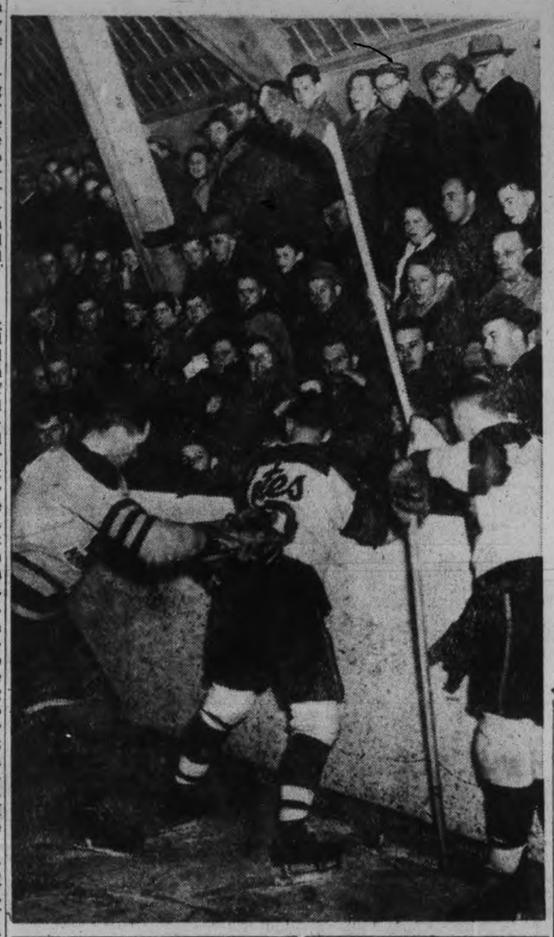
Petes: Goal, Donlevy; defence, Redmond and McMaster; centre, Leonard; wings, Fryia and Greenlaw; alts., Hill, Crowley, Collins, Belisle, Prentice, Peterson, Montgomery, Munro and Armstrong.

Referees, S. Bosier and J. Crombie.

Summary:

FIRST PERIOD

Orillia—Nelson	2:20
Penalties — Robertson, McMaster, Montgomery, Shewchuk, Grigg.



SECOND PERIOD

Petes—Crowley (Hill, Munro)	2:34
Petes—Peterson (Prentice, Belisle)	9:08
Petes—Fryia (Redmond)	14:51
Penalties—Wood, Redmond (2), Aitkin, Richardson (2), Montgomery, Munro.

THIRD PERIOD

Orillia—Bowen	2:26
Petes—Greenlaw (Fryia)	6:51
Petes—Belisle (Prentice)	9:21
Petes—Collins (Crowley)	11:43
Orillia—Richardson (MacDonald, Bowen)	12:18
Penalties—Grigg, Belisle.

Lakefield High Splits Games With Norwood

Norwood and District High School entered the collegiate basketball scene Wednesday night and broke even in games with girls' and boys' teams from Lakefield and District High.

Both schools are making their debuts this season in basketball play, the Lakefield school stepping up into COSSA play against the more experienced teams from PCVS, St. Peter's High, Kenner Collegiate and Lindsay.

Since basketball is new at both schools, the teams were more evenly matched than in regular league play. This was evident in both games as the score jogged back and forth.

A fourth-quarter rally by the Lakefield girls enabled them to overcome a four-point deficit at three-quarters and then tie the game 41-all. Paced by Jeannette Staples and Joan Hewitt, the Lakefield quintette had taken a 12-0 score at half-time, after being down 8-2 at quarter time. But in the third Norwood again took the lead 26-24, only to have Lakefield tie the game in the fourth.

Norwood's Joan Quinlivan easily led the game, scoring with 18 points, while Pat Atkinson scored 16. Norwood's top scorers were Joan Hewitt with 12 and Jeanette Staples with 11.

The boys' game was close from start to finish, but the Norwood quintet finished stronger in the second half for a 33-24 victory.

Lakefield, led by Neil Wasson and George Moore, took a slight lead in the first quarter and kept it until half-time. But in the third Norwood started its rally, gaining a two-point lead at three-quarters. Early in the fourth Norwood lengthened the winning margin which was cut down by a late Lakefield rally.

Lloyd Oliver paced the Norwood boys with 19 points while Wasson had six and Moore four for Lakefield.

Truckmen Win 8-2 Against Goodyears

KINGSTON (CP) — Oshawa Truckmen beat Kingston Goodyears 8-2 Wednesday night, thereby gaining a 3-1 advantage in the best-of-seven group semi-final series in the Ontario Hockey Association senior B circuit. The fifth game will be played in Belleville Friday night.

Scott scored three times for Oshawa, Thaler and Eicher twice each and Samanski once. The Kingston goal-getters were Gerow and Jim McKeown.

The visitors, who scored their third consecutive triumph, drew six of the nine minor penalties.

Marmora Pucksters Said In Top Form

MARMORA (ENS)—Marmora's hockey team appears to be in best form now, since travelling to Newmarket to meet Vandorf in the second of their intermediate C series Tuesday evening.

They took the game by the score of 8-6 which few expected after their stiff tussle with Havelock the previous evening.

They rest for the rest of the week until Saturday evening when Vandorf returns to the Marmora area again.

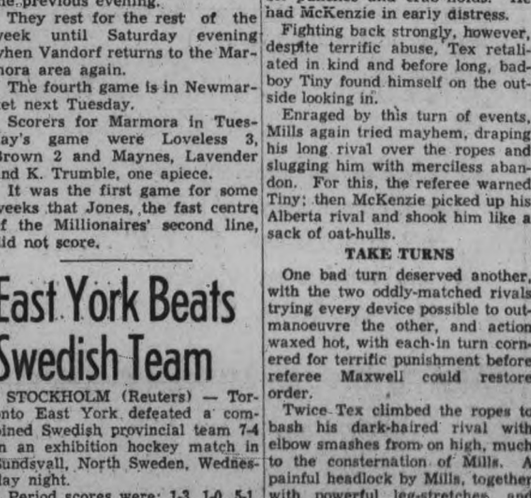
The fourth game is in Newmarket next Tuesday.

Scorers for Marmora in Tuesday's game were Loveless 3, Brown 2 and Maynes, Lavender and K. Trumble, one apiece.

It was the first game for some weeks that Jones, the fast centre of the Millionaires' second line, did not score.

East York Beats Swedish Team

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — Toronto East York defeated a combined Swedish provincial team 7-4 in an exhibition hockey match in Sundsvall, North Sweden, Wednesday night.



Period scores were: 1-3, 1-0, 5-1.

The match was played on poor ice with the temperature just above freezing.

Best players of the Canadian team throughout the match were rightwinger Moe Galand and centre Bob Kennedy. Kennedy scored three goals, followed by Don Couch with two and Galand and Russ Robertson with one each.

About 3,900 persons watched the match.

Tex McKenzie Rides Mills To Two Falls To Win Popular Decision

Tex McKenzie, a comparative newcomer to wrestling circles, decisively subdued Tiny Mills at the Brock Wednesday night, in the main bout.

The towering 6' 9" Texas youth, took his older and more experienced rival in straight falls, gaining the first advantages after 18 minutes of action, with his latest specialty, the "Texas bronc-bouncer". He followed up with the same treatment to take the second fall in five minutes that left no doubt as to who was the better man on the night's show.

Mills at 274 began his campaign in his usual rough style, using his lithe opponent as a sort of chopping block for a general assortment of elbow smashes, rabbit punches and crab-holds. He had McKenzie in early distress.

Fighting back strongly, however, despite terrific abuse, Tex retaliated in kind and before long, bad-boy Tiny found himself on the outside looking in.

Enraged by this turn of events, Mills again tried mayhem, draping his long rival over the ropes and slugging him with merciless abandon. For this, the referee warned Tiny; then McKenzie picked up his Alberta rival and shook him like a sack of oat-hulls.

TAKE TURNS

One bad turn deserved another, with the two oddly-matched rivals trying every device possible to outmanoeuvre the other, and action waxed hot, with each in turn cornered for terrific punishment before referee Maxwell could restore order.

Twice Tex climbed the ropes to bash his dark-haired rival with elbow smashes from on high, much to the consternation of Mills. A painful headlock by Mills, together with powerful leg-stretches, and occasional crab-hold kept McKenzie in continual jeopardy, when Mills held advantage.

But the young Texan battled tenaciously to even up all scores with his powerful reverse armlocks and body scissors, which he applied whenever opportunity afforded.

Near the 12-minute mark, Tex clamped a series of stepover toeholds on his long-haired rival, subjecting Tiny to much punishment and softened him up. When Mills squirmed for the ropes, the Texan greatly amused and pleased the crowd by hauling his suety rival back to the centre area. Realizing that strategy alone and defence was of little avail, Mills tore back to mess up his southern foe with elbow smashes sprinkled with some eye-gouging.

THE END

Not to be denied, however, McKenzie pulled his ace trick when he clamped his Texas bronc-bouncer on Tiny and smashed his shoulders to the mat firmly, after a series of reverberating thuds. (The hold is a series of strong body slams by the use of a vice-like body scissors). The fall came at the 18-minute mark and was greeted with loud applause.

Five minutes after the return bell, Tex duplicated his feat, despite a desperate effort by Mills to soften his young opponent with tactics not often used in company. But the popular Tex pleased his friends, to win the bout handily.

MORGAN-PAIDOUSIS DRAW

Toar Morgan, popular Lindsay star, and Mike Paidousis, erstwhile All-American football star, from Steubenville, Ohio, and another young wrestler of four years' pro experienced, battled to a great 30-minute draw in the prelim, with honors about even. Paidousis proved strong and aggressive in the early stages, had Morgan in trouble at times, but Toar used his experience to outwit his younger rival later, and dumped him out of the ring a few times; then kicked him out as he climbed the apron.

But it was nip-and-tuck as Mike hammered Toar unmercifully in some back chops and painful armlocks late in the bout, and threatened to down his husky rival. Both held to the finish however, and the bell found each striving for advantage in mid-ring as Maxwell assumed a prayerful position alongside, and the big crowd roared approval.

COLORFUL SEMI-FINAL

The semi-final pitted Ike Eakins, a mighty blond giant of 270, from Kentucky, against the veteran Jan Gotch, 232, of Hamilton. This bout proved possibly the most colorful of the evening with Gotch the aggresosr, though, as it turned out, hardly a match for the man from Kentucky.

Action was fast and clever both ways after a rather slow start. Gotch established himself early as the villain-of-the-piece by attempting numerous questionable tactics then reverting to friendly gestures. Eakins would have none of this; but returned Gotch's medicine with a stronger brand to keep the fans in a dither of excitement as toeholds, crab holds, headlocks and armlocks were a dime-a-dozen with plenty of hair-pulling a specialty.

Finally, after 24 minutes of hectic battle, Eakins came up with his specialty, the Mountain Drop, to down Mr. Gotch and leave him a helpless heap on the resin. A hold similar to a well-directed pile-driver in reverse, the Mountain Drop finishes up with the victim striking the bent knee of the victor in an upright position. The jolting effect stuns the victim into submission, following a series of flying headlocks as applied by Kentucky "Ike".

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Bill McGowan, former major league umpire, is conducting some ball umps' schools in Ontario and Quebec this spring. As usual, stories on umps crop up again in the gazettes at this time of year. Baz O'Meara of the Montreal Star (his dad was a lawyer here years ago for a time) tells one tale. Seems McGowan tossed a player of the Athletics out of the game. Manager Jimmy Dykes tore in to argue with his nibs and he, too, was thumbed out of the game. The enraged Dykes wanted to know why. "For intimidation", retorted McGowan. Dykes yelped: "Intimidation? You don't even know what the word means." But McGowan smiled gently and said: "I do. It means delaying the game. You're out for intimidation!"

* * * * * *

Half a dozen of the Brantford Indian lacrossers were up the other day to check on the local situation. Ross Powless, Roger Smith and the four OLA juniors who played here last summer. They said St. Kitts was interested in some of 'em as senior players this year. But 'tis likely they'll prefer Peterborough again when signing-up time comes. Meantime, Bob Thorpe has started selling season ducats for Petes' home OLA games already. Annual meeting of the Ontario Lacrosse Association is next month, and the local club will ask the OLA to go after the CLA for a proper share of the 1953 Mann Cup series gate for the championship Peterborough Trailermen.

They Were Sixth-Raters

Toronto Leafs' bid to go on a puck tour of the Soviet Union in the spring will be passed up for this year since the Communists are presently only building their first indoor artificial ice arena. The Canadian rumblings against the CAHA for sending a senior "B" team to the world's amateur hockey championships in Europe are dying down now. Gord Walker of the Globe pointed out the other day that Lyndhursts actually are a sixth-rate club according to hockey standards on this side of the ocean: NHL comes first, and the AHL second. Next is the Pacific Coast League, and then the Quebec Senior League. Fifth, one must rate senior and junior "A" circuits; followed by the OHA senior "B" loops. Both Oshawa and Orillia of our league beat Lyndhursts in exhibition matches ere they went overseas to represent Canada.

* * * * * *

Barrie and the local Shamrocks tangle at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena in the return joust of their home-and-home OMHA midget "A" playdown series. Pat Doherty's team (sponsored by the Police A.A. here) holds an eight-goal lead and should win out to go into further Ontario playdowns. They deserve fan support, these boys: Frank Daley, Pat Baker, Bill Forestell, Peter Stewart, Wayne Haig, Val Armstrong, Newman Olmstead, Gary Darling, Rickie Pace, Bill Mahoney, Terry Welsh, Junior Riel, Ron Jay, Cyril Coombes, Bob Shaw, Jim Heron and Jim McCarthy. Team manager is Dave Hayes. As bantams last year, this team won provincial honors.

* * * * * *

Just One More Victory

The Petes could wrap up this series Saturday night on Orillia ice, but failing that they'd have another chance here Monday. Looks like they'll take it now, leading 3-2 in the best-of-seven senior 'B' group semi-finals, but the Pontiacs can't be sold short. Especially at home. They're plenty tough. However, if the Petes continue to play as they've done in their last two games against 'em, the local pucksters will be meeting Oshawa or Kingston for the group title in another week. There were 2,224 paid fans at the playoff fray last eve (best crowd of the season) and they sure whooped it up. Had plenty to yell about, too, as it was a fast, exciting struggle throughout. Good, hard hockey with that playoff importance to really rouse puck followers. Any future senior playoffs here should bulge the walls at Civic Arena.

* * * * * *

Local scoring was well spread around, showing a fine team effort rather than individual stuff. Jack Donlevy was brilliant in the net, and he had dandy aid from the hard-working defencemen, with playing coach Eddie Redmond again turning in a heady, effective game. All three forward lines hustled from start to finish. Bill Crowley got the neatest marker of the night, assisted by Bert Hill and Jim Munro. Chum Fryia, Rod Belisle and Crowley were each in on two tallies, but there were other classy forwards on parade, as well, in this tilt. Not forgetting the husky Pontiacs. They didn't lay down late in the tussle with the sour side of a 6-2 count—nope, they kept pouring in there and finally whittled it a bit with the last goal of the night. The Saturday scrap in Orillia should be worth seeing.

Committee Approves Lake Ontario Swim

TORONTO (CP)—The proposed 30-mile swim across Lake Ontario during the Canadian National Exhibition this year was approved by the CNE sports committee Wednesday night.

The final recommendations for the marathon, which would start at Fort Niagara, N. Y., and finish at the CNE waterfront, now will be put before the board of directors of the annual exhibition.

Rangers Still Have Small Chance Win Playoff Berth

By JIM BASTABLE, Canadian Press Staff Writer

New York Rangers, behind hockey's eight-ball all season, still have a chance to make a Stanley Cup playoff berth. But things are getting to the mathematical stages even with the Rangers winning some clutch games. The Blueshirts moved to within a point of catching the fourth-place Boston Bruins Wednesday night by taking a 4-2 National Hockey League victory over Chicago Black Hawks. Unless the Bruins lose a few games the Rangers haven't a hope because Boston has two games in hand.

The New Yorkers picked up their 26th victory in 65 starts by scoring two goals in the third period. They have five games left in the 70-game schedule.

It was the only encounter of the night and the end came when rookie Camille Henry and Bob Chrystal drove two shots past Chicago netminder Rollins in the last 12 minutes.

MEET BRUINS TONIGHT

Coach Muzz Patrick and his Rangers will know tonight just how tough the race will be from here on. They meet the Bruins at Boston in a key game for both clubs.

In two other games tonight, second-place Toronto Maple Leafs go against third-place Canadiens in Montreal and the last-place Hawks, with only 11 victories in 65 starts, clash with the league-leading Red Wings at Detroit.

The Hawks made it tough for the Rangers at Madison Square Garden. They battled from behind a 2-0 count to tie the game early in the third period but couldn't do anything after that.

The other Ranger goals were scored by Eddie Kullman and Nick Mickoski. George Gee and Lou Jankowski scored for the Hawks.

Gov't Members Discuss College Rugby Move

TORONTO (CP) — Dropping of McMaster University from the Intercollegiate Senior Football Union was brought up in the Ontario legislature Wednesday.

Ray Connell (PC — Hamilton-Wentworth) described the move as "discrimination in its worst form."

He said:

"The real reason was that a lot of good rookie players are produced in the Hamilton high schools and Queen's, Western and Varsity like to have first call on them."

50 Canadians Enter Skating Tourney

By PHIL ADLER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CALGARY (CP)—The Canadian figure skating championships open today with Sheldon Galbraith, 31-year-old Toronto instructor who makes a habit of moulding champions, launching two of his 12 students in the junior women's compulsory figures.

About 50 of Canada's top amateur skaters from 16 clubs are entered in the 10-event program. Competition lasts three days.

Barbara Jean Jacques and Mildred Harris of the Toronto Skating Club, where Galbraith is instructor test their skill against 13 other skaters in the first section leading to the junior women's singles championship. The title was won last year by Sonja Currie of Calgary who is a senior this year.

A champion won't be crowned until after the free skating Friday night.

Galbraith, teacher of Barbara Ann Scott for two years, has a host of champions. Among his stars are Frances Dafoe and Norris Bowden, winers of the world's pairs title at Oslo last month, who will be defending their Canadian laurels for the same event; Barbara Gratton who will try to repeat her 1953 senior women's singles victory; and Douglas Court who will skate the senior men's singles after last year's win in the junior class.

TITLE VACANT

The senior men's title has been left vacant by Peter Firstbrook who turned professional after winning the event last year.

The junior dance elimination round will be held tonight with three pairs taking part.

The experts pick the Dafoe-Bowden team to retain their pairs honors but none offered a guess on the other nine events.

Junior men's compulsory figures, senior dance elimination round, junior women's and men's free skating and junior dances are scheduled for Friday.

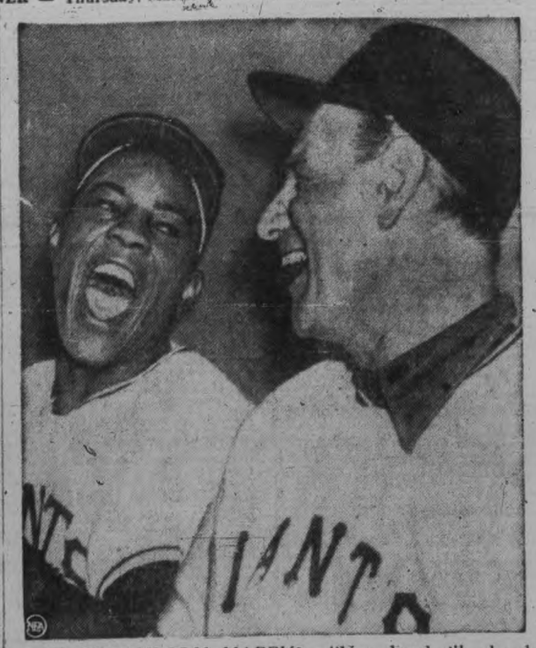
All senior women's and men's classes, senior fours, senior pairs and senior dance competition will be held Saturday.

Bears Defeat Hornets 7-4

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hershey Bears took a commanding three-point grip on second place in the American Hockey League Wednesday by defeating third-place Pittsburgh Hornets 7-4.

The Bears took over second place from Pittsburgh Tuesday by trouncing the Hornets 8-1. The Hershey victories clinched first place for the idle Buffalo Bisons.



In Providence, the Reds left the AHL cellar by downing fourth-place Cleveland Barons 6-2. The Reds advanced to fifth place, ahead of the idle Syracuse Warriors.

Hershey's Arnie Kullman scored twice for the Bears. Single goals were added by Andy Branigan, Lorne Watters, Dunc Fisher, Don McKenney and Obie O'Brien. Frank Mathers, Bobby Hassard, Willie Marshall and Andy Barbe were the Hornet marksmen.

Paul Larivee, Tod Campeau, Zellio Toppazzini, Ken Davies, Al Bacarri and Ed Jryzanowski ran up a 6-0 lead for Providence Reds before Gus Karrys and Edie Olson put the Barons on the scoresheet in the last period.

10-Round Verdict

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bobby Jones, an unranked middleweight from Oakland, Calif., won an upset split 10-round verdict over Philadelphia's flurry-punching Gil Turner Wednesday night. Turner weighed 151, Jones 155.

ESKS SIGN COACH

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos have reached into their favorite Oklahoma spawning grounds for a new coach, 38-year-old Frank Ivy. He brings to nine the parade of Oklahoma Sooner talent to the Western Interprovincial Football Union club.

Eskimo president Ken Montgomery announced Wednesday the signing of Ivy as successor to Darrell Royal, 29, released last month from the remaining two years of his three-year contract so he could become head coach at Mississippi State. No salary figure was announced.

Like Royal, Ivy was signed for three years. Annis Stukus and Frank Filchock before them got only one-year contracts.

Eskimos sought a split-T coach to continue the formation which Royal introduced to Canadian football last season while leading Eskimos to first place in the WIFU. Montgomery said Ivy is "sold on the split-T."

Ivy will be one of three new head coaches in the five-team WIFU this year. Winnipeg Blue Bombers have signed Al Sherman former backfield coach of New York Giants, and Calgary Stampeders will go under Larry Siemering, 1953 line coach of Washington Redskins. Saskatchewan Roughriders retained Frankie Filchock for a second year and Stukus British Columbia Lions' coach, is no stranger to the league.

LIKES BANNISTER

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Scottish track coach think England's Roger Banister will defeat Australia's Roger Landy if they meet in a mile race at the British Empire Games here this summer.

Ben Rodden, 50-year-old Scot who coached the Edinburgh University track team before coming to Canada last October, voiced the opinion in an interview Wednesday. He said:

"I think Banister will improve much more than Landy this year and I think the English runner will beat him in the Games here.

"Landy is being worked too hard and you will notice his times are getting slower and slower as he tries harder and harder for a four-minute mile."

WANTS DYNAMO TOUR

MIDLAND (CP) — Russia's Dynamo hockey team, which defeated Canada's Toronto East York 7-2 in the final of the world hockey championship at Stockholm may be asked to visit Canada for a cross-country series of games.

George Dudley, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Wednesday he favors inviting the Russian team, but no action will be taken until the return from Sweden this week of W. B. George, CAHA president.

✦ ✦ ✦

WOULD HELP LEAFS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor Fred Hume says he has some money to help back any trip Toronto Maple Leafs make to Russia. He has wired Maple Leaf managing-director Conn Smythe: "I like the idea of sending your team to play Russia and am willing to make a personal donation towards the expenses."
